Election Commission Sues For Retirement

Four members of the Loudon County Election Commission have filed a lawsuit in Chancery Court against the Loudon County Court Judge William Russell and the members of the Tennessee Board of Retirement System. The Election Commissioners are asking for a declaratory judgment placing them under the State Retirement System, which is funded by the state, county government and employee payroll contributions.

The Commissioners participating in the lawsuit are J.Y. McNabb, H.E. (Pete) Littleton, C.F. (Buddy) Brooks and Commission Chairman John O. Gibson.

Commissioner J.L. Thompson was not named as a participant in the lawsuit. The action was filed in Chancery Court with Clerk and Master Lyle Black last Saturday. The Commissioners are being represented by a Knoxville law firm.

In effect, the Commission is challenging the County Court action taken last year declaring that the Election Commission members were not eligible to participate in the retirement program as county employees. Loudon County joined the State Retirement System last year.

Presidential Primaries, Sales Tax Votes Tuesday

Sheriff's Race Leads Voter Interest

Between 5,000 and 6,000 Loudon Countians are expected to vote next Tuesday in the combined, County Republican Primary, Republican Presidential Primary, Democratic Presidential Primary and the sales tax referendum.

The bottom half of the ballot contains the local Republican Primary and the sales tax referendum. The only county-wide race is for sheriff incumbent Sheriff Guy Russell, who will complete his first term in August, is being challenged by five term former sheriff Freeman Russell. The two men are cousins. Many voters expect the battle for the sheriff's nomination to be a knock-down affair because of differences between the two candidates, but both have quarters of a cent. The increase in the sales tax would generate an additional $300,000 in revenue for local governments in the county. Of that County Schools would get $23,000 which is about the amount of their proposed budget increase for the year. Superintendent of Education and County Judge Bill Russell both support the sales tax increase. They say the revenue is badly needed for schools and other areas of government service and without the increase in the sales tax either the school system faces possible program cuts or the property tax payer will be hit with the bill.

County teachers have been promised a $300 a year local raise by the school board based on passage of the sales tax. The sales tax question is located on the right side of the ballot next to the Republican Primary. Anyone voting in any of the primaries can vote in the referendum, or a person not wishing to vote in any primary may also vote on the sales tax question. When the count passed the selection and the delegate selection, if the voter has no preference. Anyone choosing to vote in the Republican Primary can automatically vote in both the local and presidential issues, but a person wishing to vote in the local Republican Primary and the Democratic Presidential Primary cannot. A choice should be made before going to the polls. Election Commission Chairman John Gibson said.

The Democratic candidates spread across three columns of the machine are Jimmy Carter, who is expected to win in the state easily, Frank Church, Fred Harris, Henry M. Jackson, Elton McCorkack, Milton Shapp, Morris Udall, and George Wallace. Persons with no preference may vote uncommitted. Carter, Jackson and Wallace all have delegate slates. Voters may select four delegates, all from one state or a mixture if they wish.

Loudon OK's Fluoridation On 3-1 Vote which helps prevent tooth decay. Councilman Bernard Swiney with a second from Vice Mayor Joe Carter made the motion which was also supported by Councilman Kenneth Thomas. Although he did not vote Mayor Eugene Lambert added his endorsement to the proposal. The only dissenting vote was Councilwoman Aileen the people to decide the issue for themselves. "Fluoridation only benefits children and they can get the protection if they don't want it," said the doctor. Many people believe fluoride is harmful to persons with heart problems or high blood pressure," she said. Dr. Foy Green of the State Health Department assured Mrs. Richesin that in the absence of a health department dental decay protection, one per million, there was no evidence of any serious harmful effects.

The supporters still proven cases of success for fluoridation, which has late the expectant mother has had fluoridated water available while carrying the child and the use of fluoridated water in the growing years of the child. The Health Department officials said that 96 percent of the persons in Tennessee who do not have dental caries are the advantages of fluoridation, which effects 75 percent of the total population of the state. Quizzed on whether or not the chemical was a poison by Fowler, it was pointed out that twice as much chlorine was used in the water supply which itself is a poison used in the amounts the chemicals are for treating water neither a health hazard, they said. Concerning possible accident through malfunction of the chemical to pose a health problem if it were to dump its entire contents into the system, the council was told that the equipment used does not hold enough of the chemical to pose a health problem if it were to dump its entire contents into the system. Dr. King said that up to eight parts per million were considered safe and only one part per million was injected into the water supply.

One parent said that all the medical professions were supporting the issue and he could not see them doing anything to endanger the health of anyone. Vice Mayor Joe Carter said that Loudon provide the same fluoridation as that which most of the state already is providing. Union Carbide Corporation's Plant Manager Ray Birkholz said that Loudon

Three Hurt In Two Weeks Saturday Night

Three persons were injured in two separate traffic accidents in Loudon City Saturday evening. The first occurred about 7:20 p.m. on West Hill Drive about a half mile from West Hill School, when a car and motorcycle collided. Timothy Grubb, 15, Lenoir City, operator of the motorcycle was admitted to Park West Hospital with a broken forearm, severe bruises and lacerations of the shoulder and multiple lacerations of the legs.

Lenoir City officer Dolph Myers said that from indications at the scene the driver of the car, Jerry Parks, 30, of Philadelphia, was on the wrong side of the road and struck the motorcycle head-on. The youth was thrown onto the roof of the car by the impact. Both vehicles were heavily damaged. Parks was charged with driving while intoxicated by officer Myers.

The drivers of two vehicles were injured about 9:30 p.m. Saturday when their vehicles collided at the intersection of Broadway and Oak Street in Lenoir City. A report filed by officers James Messingill and Jack Rogers stated that a car driven by Mary M. Waller, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Waller, Jr., Rt. 5, Old Stage Road, pulled from Oak Street into the path of a pickup truck driven by Joseph Lee Down, 23, Collins Street, Loudon. The truck was traveling East on Broadway. Miss Waller was admitted to Children's Hospital in Knoxville with concussion and other injuries. Downs was treated and released from Loudon County Memorial Hospital for injuries to the mouth. Miss Waller was charged with failure to yield the right of way, officer Messingill said.

School Board Sees . . .

New Philadelphia School Design

The Loudon County Board of Education got a look at a new proposed design for the Philadelphia School early in the afternoon after a school in Cooke County that was built for less than $21 per square foot, much less than the $29 a foot the architect had projected for an earlier design in Philadelphia.

Superintendent of Education Edward Headlee told the board the new design and type of construction would mean that the new Philadelphia School could be built within the $750,000 ceiling set by County Court when they recently approved $4 million in bonds for four school projects. Construction of the building would be a steel frame with a brick exterior. Headlee said in the first proposal there was more than 2,600 square feet of hallway, but in the new proposal there was almost no hallway in the building. The classroom areas had outside entrances. There are removable walls between eight of the classrooms so that classroom size can be adjusted to meet space needs for various grades. The library and gymnasium separate the lower grade portions of the building from the upper grades and the architect (Hartman & McMurray) go ahead with detailed drawings preparing for letting on the project. When it was learned the Board Committee of Headlee, Gary Kinsinger, Lloyd Duckworth and Host had not met on the design because of conflicts in schedules, the board decided to delay the approval. The committee is to meet if they approve it and the state department of education and the state fire marshal approve the design then Headlee can give the architect approval to continue. If there are any questions he is to call a meeting of the entire board.

On a related matter the board denied awarding a contract to a firm to make the preliminary mapping survey of the Philadelphia property and the final elevations when demolition of the present building is completed. Chairman Ted Wampler said he had heard any complaints and personally liked the nine week grading, but suggested there could be valid points both ways. He made a motion to make a study of each system, (Continued on Page 12)

Monroe Homes Tour Is Sunday

A tour of historic Monroe County homes is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 23 from 1-5. Two pre-Civil War Homes are included along with a newer home which contains within its walls an older home. Some public buildings of historical interest round out the tour.

Special guests for the tour will be Carson and Alberta Brewer of Knoxville. The Brewers will take the tour beginning at 1 and will be at the Madisonville First Presbyterian Church from 4.5.

Their book, "Valley So Wild", will be on sale at the church by the Madisonville First Club. Sponsors of the tour are the mothers of children attending Happy Hill Kindergarten. The nonprofit kindergarten was founded in 1971 by Buckner Memorial United Methodist Church. The church, site of the kindergarten is located at Hiwassee College two miles north of Madisonville.

Proceeds from the Tour are used for buying teaching aids and large pieces of equipment. (Tuition paid by parents covers only the cost of salaries for the teacher and teacher's aid.)

Stops on the self-guided tour include homes owned by Mrs. Joe Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. McCone George, and the Wright-Davis "Homeplace".

The grounds and farm cemetery at the home of the late Senator Estes Kefauver are included. The Monroe County Courthouse will be open in the afternoon. Pre-war graves in the City Cemetery will be marked.

Happy Hill Kindergarten facilities will be open for viewing. Madisonville's First Presbyterian Church is also included on the tour.

Tickets are $2.50 each and are available from Mrs. Robert McFee, teacher of the kindergarten, kindergarten mothers, and Mrs. Donna Iven at Loudon High School. Tour maps and tickets will be available at each stop on the day of the tour.

Visitors are reminded to dress casually because some walking will be necessary for enjoyment of the tour.

Following is a thumbnail sketch of each stop on the tour.

STICKLEY HOME
The Stickley Home, oldest on the tour, is believed by Mrs. George Cannon, one of Madisonville's first doctors, built the Greek Revival style house according to the plans of an out-of-state architect named Blanchard. The brick 3-story house sits majestically amid stately old trees on a hill 2 blocks from the Monroe County Courthouse.

Some of the walls in the house are 14 inches thick. The bricks were made on the premises. The walls are lathed and plastered. One of the 2 stairways is a spiral one. Directly beneath the spiral staircase is a curved door.

GEORGE HOME
The George home, located on the Vonore-Sweetwater road in the Fork Creek community, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. McCone George.

The home was built (finished) in 1853 by John and Priscilla McCroskey. The story is told that John McCroskey went to California during the gold rush of 1849. He brought back enough gold to pay for the house. The house, located on a farm that was part of the original 2,000 acre plantation, was built by a Pennsylvania contractor.

John was the first sheriff in Monroe County. He served for 10 years and then devoted his time to farming. The McCroskeys, along with other family members and slaves are buried in the family graveyard located on a hill behind the house. (This can be toured if people want to walk up there.)

"WRIGHT-DAVIS HOMEPLACE"
This rustic contemporary home located near the Monroe-Loudon County line is approximately 18 years old. The present house was built around (swallowed up) an old farm house which was about 100 years old. The house is owned by Dr. and Mrs. James Davis and their 6 children.

The bricks used in building the home were a part of the old Jewish Community Center in Chattanooga. The gates are made of hand-cut limestone. The stone came from a Chattanooga hospital which was razed. Stone used in the pool came from Cameron Hill at Chattanooga.

The log cabin, which was built by Cherokee Indians, was found in the Tellico Plains area of Monroe County. The cabin was dismantled brought to the site and reassembled a few hundred yards from the Wright-Davis homeplace.

KEFAUVER GROUNDS AND CEMETERY
The Kefauver home was built around 1940 by Dr. R.F. Cook, ancestor of the late Senator Estes Kefauver. The home is presently occupied by Dr. and Mrs. David Kefauver son of the late Senator. The home and farm are inside the Madisonville city limits on Tellico Road. Although the house will not be open, visitors are invited to the grounds and to view the burial site of Senator Kefauver.

THE WRIGHT-DAVIS "HOMEPLACE" is located in the East Creek Nobs area near the Monroe-Loudon County Line. The rustic contemporary home has within its walls an old farm house around 100 years old. A log cabin built by Cherokee Indians is also on the grounds.

THE MCCONE GEORGE HOME in the Fork Creek community of Monroe County is one of several historical homes and buildings included on the 1976 Tour of Homes' on May 23 from 1-5 p.m. This home was built by John McCroskey in 1853. He was the first sheriff of Monroe County and is said to have obtained the money to build the house in California during the Gold Rush.

Ambulance Service, Hospital Rate High In Drill

by Gayle Davis
Staff Writer

Members of the Loudon Ambulance Service and Rescue Squad were involved in a serious accident last week and were actually guilty of causing the wreck. The two combined efforts in making a mock accident at the intersection of 1-75 and Hwy. 11.

The purpose of the mock wreck was to give EMTs an exercise in a critical accident of this type. The simulated wreck also gave them an opportunity to evaluate their strengths and weaknesses.

Everything possible was done to make the scene of the accident as realistic as possible. Bogus Auto Parts, Duggans Wrecker Service, both of Lenoir City and James Body Shop, of Loudon furnished the already totaled automobiles and towed them to and from the scene of the accident at their own expense.

The "patients," members of the Loudon and Lenoir High Schools' health occupations classes, were patched up to look as realistically as the scene of the accident. The injuries came from a prac-toplast kit and after being smudged with actual blood donated by Mike Langley and Danny Kincaid, both EMTs with the ambulance service and immediately began work on the patients.

The first ambulance set up a triage, in which all the patients are checked to determine the seriousness of their injuries and which should be treated first and transported. The triage also informs other ambulances on the scene as they arrive of the patients' conditions that have already been diagnosed and prevents any repetition of treatment to save time.

At this time the hospital was notified of a multiple casualty injury accident and to set up for a disaster alert.

After only 12 minutes after being notified, two more ambulances arrived along with Sheriff Guy Russell whose department also participated in the exercise, along with the Highway Patrol.

After fast, but efficient treatment of the "victims," the first ambulance was ready to depart for the hospital with the most critical patients, after only 16 minutes after the call. Within an additional six minutes, another four patients were transported, followed by two more patients in a Rescue Squad ambulance. Two less injured patients were removed within four more minutes. The last ambulance left with two supposedly DVA's from the crash.

Dr. Harold Freedman met each of the ambulances with a team of nurses as they arrived with the patients and conferred with the EMTs about the victim's conditions and needs to X-rays, emergency care, or surgery, as would have been done under real circumstances.

In the remarkably short span of only 24 minutes, the EMTs removed all living patients and had transported them to the hospital. After 36 minutes all the victims were removed.

One of the EMTs participating in the simulated accident was Ronnie Willis, who commented, "I think the whole thing went real well and we had a very good response."

Richard Land, EMT consultant for this region, was on hand to evaluate the operation and said the patient treatment, time in response, and cooperation between the sheriff's office, the police department, the rescue squad, and the ambulance service, was hard to believe and the treatment was good.

condition. That was the purpose of the whole thing, to determine our weaknesses." Concerning any real accident, he further added statements from an article written by Glenn Allen in the "Emergency Product News": "In time of emergency medical crisis, people expect the best medical service. If they are met with anything less, no excuse for amateur emergency care will suffice. They will blame the ambulance service, the EMTs, the paramedics or the emergency room personnel. But the service they expect can only be as good as the support they give to the emergency medical program in their community."

COOPERATION WAS THE WORD USED BY MANY to describe the simulated car wreck last week, a joint effort of the ambulance service, rescue squad and hospital. Here local EMT's aide the "injured" while local law enforcement officers help by loading and carrying the patients to be transported.

IMMEDIATE ATTENTION TO THE CRITICALLY wounded in the first responsibility to the trained EMTs. Ronnie Willis straps Bonnie Smith, a victim of a simulated chest wound, onto a stretcher to prevent further damage to his already serious condition.

A PASSENGER IN THE THREE-CAR smashup is removed from a car "unconscious" by EMT J. C. Walker with the help of Jim Coumors and Dennis Moubenbauer, members of the Loudon Police Department. Besides helping at the actual scene of the accident, the Loudon Police also helped direct traffic along the ambulance route to the hospital.

Local Firm Bids On County Waste Disposal

East Tennessee Disposal Company, a firm owned by Luke Bright of Philadelphia and James Chaney of Loudon, was the only bidder on a five-year contract to dispose of solid waste (garbage) for the county and cities. The bid was opened by the County Purchasing Department last Friday night.

Bids on a new contract were taken after the David Witherspoon Company, who has furnished the disposal service for the past several years, said it could no longer provide the service because of financial problems. The firm has filed for bankruptcy.

A meeting of the County Sanitation Committee composed of representatives of the county court and the cities of Loudon and Lenoir City, who jointly finance the waste disposal, has been called for Thursday to discuss the bid submitted by the new firm.

East Tennessee proposed four alternatives. The one accepted by the county purchasing committee and recommended to the Sanitation Committee is for a price of $7,889 per month. The firm will operate the transfer station, haul and dispose of the garbage in the Red Ridge Landfill in Monroe County, for that monthly charge for the entire five years.

The firm has an option to purchase the equipment now owned by Witherspoon and a lease on the landfill in Monroe County. The county presently manages and operates the transfer station, with the contractor called for $7,638 per month, but with an annual adjustment of the rate based on an escalator clause, determined by the Consumer Price Index. With this option to continue to operate the transfer station the firm bid $6,000 per month with the escalator clause and $2,000 without the clause.

The rate paid under the Witherspoon contract is $3,000 per month with the county operating the transfer station.

Revenue Sharing Threatens County Tax Rate

The threat by the Federal Government to cut off Federal Revenue Sharing to local governments poses a serious problem for the Loudon County Budget Committee as they prepare the 1976-77 fiscal county budget.

Close to $300,000 which was pumped into the operation of the Loudon County Sheriff's Department and Ambulance Service may not be available after December 31 of this year. This means six months operation of these departments would fall back on the property tax payer or some other revenue source.

The Budget Committee met last week to review the County General Fund Budget for the first time after the lengthy page by page review of the 20 page document. Budget Director James Costello said that a tax rate of $1.58 cents would be needed to finance the General Fund budget at the approved as submitted by the various county departments. The needed rate is 41.11 higher than the present rate. It was also pointed out that if the $4 million in school bonds is sold this year it will mean an additional 62 cents on the rate for interest payments on the issue and the county bond debt will take an additional four cents making a total rate next year.

Members of the Budget Committee this week started a series of meetings with the various departments about their budget requests. Meetings on the General Fund were held Monday and Tuesday night.

The General Fund includes the operations of all county offices and services except school, highway department, and bond debt. A five percent salary increase for all county employees under the General Fund budget was built into the budget requests. The county maintenance budget is up $71,000 mainly because the school maintenance budget is being reflected in the General Fund, plus two additional employees were included. The total government operation budget showed an $86,100 increase. Other increases were Central Accounting $7,000; Purchasing Department $600; Property Assessor $3,600; General Sessions Court increases $1,500; Sheriff's Department needs $171,000 additional county funds because of the Revenue Sharing cut. Jail operations does not show any salary increases, but they have asked for two additional men and the purchase of three new cars for the year.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS
CALVIN LINSFORD

Many times as we go back through our picture collection we run into pictures that remind us of other things related to people, places and events in our town Loudon and in our lifetime. Maybe we should say, in the years we recall, they are pleasant memories.

One of our pictures this week is of a couple of people that have made a lot to me across a span of a number of years. They are Mrs. Emma Ross and her son, A. C. For many of our childhood days, we played with A. C. and found Mrs. Ross to be a very patient woman to put up with our wild indian screams and cowboy bang bangs, and a thousand other kinds of noise that boys, by nature seem to emit just about all the daylight hours and sometime into the dark of night.

As I mentioned, this family, along with the others that made up our community, were dear to our hearts. What we lacked in worldly possessions, we made up for in love and concern for each other. The sharing of a bar of candy, half of an apple or whatever a boy might have been given was shared by a buddy. It is always a pleasure to recall this part of sharing in our growing up in Loudon.

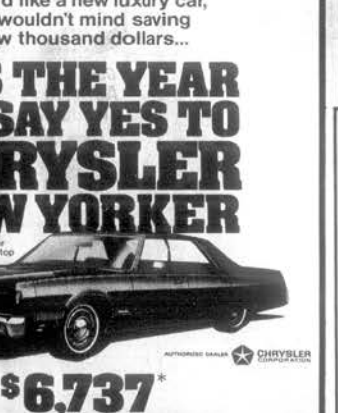

Our other picture this week is of a boy and girl from these parts. The link we don't have, but the names on the back of the picture are Mary and Jessie Vinson. Except for the fact that the picture was made many years ago, that is all we know. Possibly someone will recognize the faces and names and give us a call. We will post it along next week.

Branthoover And Lefler Lose Bid For Berth In Regional Tennis Tournament

Loudon has been eliminated from the district tennis competition at Harrison.

The Redskin netters nevertheless did make a stable showing and provides a bright hope for better results next Spring.

Four boys were entered in the singles play and two boys doubles teams also participated.

Three girls were sent to the tournament and one girls doubles team.

The Redskin tennis players,

Loudon's number one singles player Mike Lambert captured his first match, advancing over Jim Powell of Tennessee Military Institute 4, 6-3.

Mike fell to the tournament's top rated singles player in Oak Ridge's Greg Carter 6-1, 6-3.

Mike was the only Redskin boy to advance a round in the boys bracket. Neither doubles team managed to win either although Lambert and Bill Horner did force a full three match decision in their loss to Rhea County Central's Hillary and Boyd 7-6, 4-6, and 3-6.

Other Loudon scores were: Horace McQueen fell to Oak Ridge's Ben Stelson in three matches, 6-2, 0-6, and 4-6.

Kim Branthoover lost to Oak Ridge's Danny Kubota 1-6, 2-6.

Steve Millsaps dropped a 0-6, 1-6 contest to Rockwood's Patrick Minn.

In boys doubles McQueen and Millsaps were eliminated by Rhea County Central's Zopfi and Nichols 1-6, 2-6.

The Loudon girls had a better success as Kim Branthoover and Jennie Lefler both captured opening round wins in the singles play and then missed the doubles finals and a berth in the regional tournament by a match.

Miss Branthoover, who performed as Loudon's number one player in girls this Spring, won her first singles test, beating Karen Housley of Rhea County Central High School, 6-2, 6-3.

Number two player Jennie Lefler ousted Rockwood's Patty Brown 6-1, 6-0, while Becky George was eliminated by Harrison's Melissa Houston, 6-3, 7-6.

Miss Lefler was defeated by the tournament's highly rated Sharon Klein of Crossville's Cumberland County High School, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Lefler and Miss Branthoover really came into the Spring peak of their tennis play in the girls' doubles matches.

The Redskin duet pounded

Oak Ridge's Tewes and Woody, 6-4, 6-1. Gaining weekend from their stout singles play and early doubles victory, routed Clinton's Tate and Ridemour 6-1 and 6-2. A win in the doubles semi-and highly rated young tennis performers, wiped out the Loudon entry 4-6, 6-1.

Loudon tennis coach Gordon Watson was extremely pleased with the determined play of his district entries. They gave their best overall efforts in the tournament, stated Coach Watson. "I really thought Kim and Jennie were going to storm right into the doubles finals I feel for our first year in district competition that we did real well as individuals and as a team representation. Loudon should do much better next year since only two graduate from the boys team and none from the girls squad."

The district tournament was a blind draw with no players seeded or ranked for the pairings.

In the Handicap Play John Lennox has stretched out a working margin of seven strokes over runner-up Ted Lomax. Lennox has 38 points to date while Lomax has 51.

Loudon Tennis Tournament Schedules Pro Exhibition

The Loudon County Open Men and Women's Biennial Tennis Tournament, scheduled to end with championship matches this weekend, is presently waiting out the sudden open of the sky in the form of five straight days of rain to the area.

Tournament director Gary Laphor has a special treat for all the tennis buffs in Loudon County and surrounding communities come Sunday afternoon.

Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Lindner, an accomplished tennis player himself and tournament aide Bill Custard, who also plays a torrid net game, have acquired the exhibition services of two tennis professionals for a Sunday exhibition on the Loudon courts starting at 3 p.m.

The two professionals will stage a short competitive match between themselves for warm-up and then will challenge the "Advanced Men's Finalists" for a test match. The 3 p.m. exhibition, open to all, should provide plenty of excitement and fun as well as a tennis clinic within itself.

The scheduled "icing" to the biggest tennis tournament ever held in Loudon County will also mark the first time any professional tennis players have ever played on the local courts.

The touring pros to be in Loudon Sunday are Lennie Simpson and Mike Bales. Both have performed in Knoxville at the Vic Tanny Health and Basketball Club.

Mr. Simpson has traveled with Arthur Ashe, he's a former member of the Detroit Loves Team headed by Rosemary Casals, where with Alan Stone and Phil Burt he was one of the top three men's players; in 1974 he played at Wimbledon, losing a close fifth set in the semi-finals to V.J. Armitraj; he's won so many state championships we can not list them all here (including the Tennessee Interscholastic Championships) and best of all he knows how to teach.

Mr. Simpson will be available to discuss individual games and how to improve.

Lenoir City All-Sports Banquet Brings Down Curtain On County High School Sports Scene

The Lenoir City All-Sports Banquet, sponsored by the combined efforts of the Lenoir City Civic Club and Lenoir City Rotary Club, was held Tuesday night at the Lenoir City High School Cafeteria.

The event marked the third straight year the athletic banquet has been hosted by the two civic organizations. H.T. Harris, a Lenoir City lawyer, served as the banquet's Master of Ceremonies.

Civian President Charles T. Eblen and Rotary President Will A. Hildreth made opening remarks in welcoming the athletes that make up the Lenoir City sports scene, their parents, and loyal Panther sports supporters in attendance of the annual Spring affair.

Girls' basketball was the first team sport to be recognized. Coach Mike Pickle presented school letters to his "B" team and varsity squads.

Coach Pickle, prior to announcing individual awards in girls basketball, stated he was pleased with his team's close of the season efforts that placed them second in the district and a berth in the region. He hopes for a higher goal and even better finish for those girls that will return to the Pantherettes next season.

Honored as key individuals on the girls basketball team were hustling guard Bet Thaxton, the 100 Percent Trophy for continuous effort shown both in a game and in practice.

The Best Free Thrower Shooter Trophy went to junior Patty Cook with a season marksmanship of 61 percent at the foul line.

Miss Cook also won the J.

Guy Buckner Award for the Best Offensive Player.

Senior Guard Sandy Thompson was honored with the Tommy Bradshaw Best Defensive Player Trophy.

Both Miss Thompson and Miss Cook were named to The Loudon County Herald's All Loudon County sextet and received trophies and certificates from Loudon Herald Sports Editor Danny Gibson.

Boys Basketball players were recognized by head coach Willie Joe Smalley. The Panthers, who stood 4-7 at one stage of their past season came on to win nine of their last 12. The three defeats in the stretch run came at the expense of teams who later made it to the State Tournament.

A pair of trophies not normally given at the annual banquet were given this year. Those being for a Lenoir City player to hit 50 or more foul shots in practice and for a senior player making 60 percent or above in field goal accuracy.

Johnny Richmond performed the foul shooting accuracy, not once but twice. Richmond hit 91 straight foul tosses, under the pressure of both teammates and coaches keeping count, on December 17th. He later on January 29th fired in 66 straight shots from the foul line.

The foul shot trophy has been in "moth balls" for the past eight seasons as no player has been able to survive the pressures to get their name added to a plaque that remains in the school trophy case and receive the trophy that goes with the honor.

Senior Craig Harvey connected on 63.7 percent of his floor shots this past season, making 38 of 91 attempts at the hoop. A player must shoot at least 80 times in a season to qualify for the trophy given.

Other boys basketball hardware went to sophomore Pettie Littleton as the Panther's top individual rebounder with 219, 62 of offensive and 157 defensive. The talented sophomore also was awarded the Best Poul Shot Shooter in varsity competition with 46 of 71 attempts (64.8 percent). A minimum of 40 must be attempted in a season by a single player to qualify.

The Most Assists Trophy went to senior playmaker Terry Parton with 126 or 5.4 scoring passes per game.

Superintendent of Lenoir City Schools Harold Duff awarded the Clarence H. Littleton Memorial Trophy for the Best Defensive Player to senior Grayling Littleton. This trophy has become an annual award since 1972 when guard Ed Shipley became the first to receive the honor.

A trophy that dates back to 1963, The Lenoir City News Outstanding Player Award also went to senior Grayling Littleton, who led the Panthers in scoring this past season with a 17.7 points per game average and made 46 percent of his floor shots.

Grayling Littleton and Pettie Littleton were honored as All Loudon County performers on The Loudon County Herald's top quart for 1975-76.

Lenoir City head football coach Henry Blackburn and his staff of assistants Bo Burnett and Grady Thompson, who all resigned at the close of the grid season, completed their final duties with the passing out of school letters to their team and naming individual standouts.

The Most Outstanding Football Player was recognized with a trophy in senior Steve Arnold.

The Best Blocker Trophy went to senior lineman Tony Williamson.

THE ATHLETES' CHOICE—Senior Jeff Stamps hard playing football and basketball was honored by a vote of the Lenoir City High School athletic teams as the "All Sportsman Trophy" recipient which includes ability to perform spirit and sportsmanship. Panther boys' basketball coach Willie Joe Smalley made the trophy presentation in behalf of the athletes and coaches at Lenoir City.

LENOIR CITY WOMEN'S SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

Harriman Wins District Baseball Tourney

Harriman came out of the losers bracket to upset Oak Ridge for the District Nine baseball championship Monday night, edging the Wildcats 2-1 in nine innings in the opener and then coming back to win the finale, 3-2.

Larry Wright and Barry Oody pitched four-hit baseball in each contest to spark the Blue Devils, who had bowled the host Wildcats 12-0 earlier in the double-elimination meet after narrowly squeaking by Loudon 7-6 in the tournament opener.

The Blue Devils, who eliminated Oak Ridge from tournament play for the fourth consecutive year, opened defense of their Region Three crown Wednesday night, meeting District Nine runner McMinn County at Oak Ridge in a game set for 6 p.m.

The winner of the Harriman-McMinn game will meet the winner of a Wednesday night game between District 11 champion Clinton and District 12 titlist Alcoa at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday) for the championship.

Mike Weaver supplied the winning hit for Harriman in the opening game Monday night after Oak Ridge had deadlocked the contest at 1-1 in the seventh game to send the game into extra innings. With two outs in the bottom of the ninth, Weaver smashed a 1-2 pitch 70 feet off the centerfield wall to score Rusty Hall from second with the winning run.

Harriman dropped behind 2-0 in the nightcap, but scored two runs to tie it in the sixth on RBI singles by Glen Randolph and Greg Scandlynn. Randy Wright led off the winning rally in the bottom of the seventh with a single and after a walk, an infield out, and an intentional base on balls loaded the bases. Randolph walked on a 3-2 pitch to force in the winning run.

He also stated his 28 seasons as head baseball coach of the Panthers had been most enjoyable with fond memories that would never be forgotten. recently purchased by the Bank of Loudon County at the corner of Mulberry and Carter Streets was removed from residential to professional. Bank President Ed Bell said the bank planned a nice building that would be an improvement to the area and add improved service to the banks' customers in the western section of the community.

Blair Bend Annexed
The final reading on an ordinance to annex the Union Carbide Corporation and the Blair Bend Industrial Park was approved by the council. A plan of services to the area was also approved.

Police Shifts Changed
A change in the city personnel policy was approved to allow for placing members of the police department on a rotating shift schedule. The members would work the same shift for 28 days, then rotate to another shift. The change has the support of the finance, City Manager Hensley said.

To Enforce Ordinance
During their annual discussions of what to do about parking peddlers using produce meter spaces to sell their merchandise the Council ordered that all parking ordinances be enforced to eliminate all day or extended time parking in the downtown area.

Several merchants had complained to various council members about store employees parking at meter spaces all day, cutting down the number of areas customers can find to park in the downtown area.

Other Business
An ordinance was adopted on first reading requiring taxi owners to renew franchises on July 1, 1976, whether they now hold a franchise or not.

Another ordinance will make it illegal for a taxi driver or owner to transport or possess intoxicating beverages of over five percent alcohol content. If they are found in violation the franchise owner would have his franchise revoked by the city.

Jim Woodard was appointed to the City Housing Authority Board by Mayor Lambert. Councilmen Swiney and Carter to serve as the City Industrial Park Board.

Students Rescued From Flood

Thirteen Greenback High School boys had to be rescued Saturday morning after being trapped by a rain swollen river at the Blue Hole on Clisco about five miles from the Broken Arrow Resort.

The young men planned the trip some time ago to take place following their High School Class Day. Friday afternoon they set up camp and planned to fish during the evening, night and Saturday.

Heavy rains caused a fast rise in the Clisco water level which was discovered by one of the boys, Don Bailey about 4:30 a.m. Already two trucks, owned by fathers of two of the youths, Bob Smith and Neil Wolfe, was partly underway and camp equipment was beginning to wash away.

Chris Hawkins braved the 150 foot wide roaring water and about 9 a.m. was picked up by a rural mail carrier. The Monroe County and Greenback Unit of the Loudon County Rescue Squad was called in to rescue the boys.

A line was secured on both sides of the water and a boat was used to bring them out two at a time.

Most of the camping equipment was swept away by the water, but some was recovered from tree limbs along the creek. The two trucks which eventually were completely covered were pulled out Saturday night, but were heavily damaged.

The young men were not in any serious trouble after they were awakened and moved to higher ground, but one said afterward, "we were scared we would run out of feed (chewing tobacco) before we got out."

BREAKIN SOLVED—Sheriff Guy Russell, Deputies Larry Proops and Allen Clemmer examine items taken from the W. F. Parton home at Highland Park in a break-in on May 11. The items, a radio, diamond ring, gold pocket watch and two necklaces were recovered Friday from a juvenile who entered the home a second time Friday morning. But was seen by the Parton's son, Terry, who was asleep in the house. The 16 year old youth was charged with breaking and entering after his arrest Friday afternoon by Deputy Proops. He told officers where the items taken in the earlier break were and everything was recovered. Nothing was taken from the attempt Friday.

School Board Sees . . .

New Philadelphia School Design

(Continued from Page 1) with each board member making an individual survey of parents they knew and to report back. They also asked for teacher input and preferences from students.

Title I Schools
As has been a past problem the Board spent quite some time in selecting the eight schools in the county to receive the Title I reading and math programs. Title Program Director Bill Lawson said that two methods were used in ranking schools for the program. One by number of low-income in the school and one by percentage of low income. Ten schools, all except the two high schools were eligible, meaning that two schools had to be cut.

After considerable discussion a motion by Leonard Lales and John M. Hutton the top eight schools in the percentage table were accepted. They are Browder, Sikes, Glendale, Philadelphia, Davis, Highland Park, Greenback Elementary, and Eaton.

Previously Eaton did not have the program, director Lawson said he did not know where the Title programs would be placed in the school because no classroom space was available. Loudon Elementary, who has had the program for one year, was dropped. Lawson said he felt the state would frown on this and might insist the school be kept in the program for at least one more year. The other school left out of the title program was Loudon Junior High.

Budget
Superintendent Headlee said that the budget he presented in the court last week, totaling $3,222,274 called for $122,961 in new county tax funds. "If the sales tax question passes on May 25 the county schools will get $28,000 annually from it and that would take care of almost all our local increase," he said.

Transportation
J. B. Hagler told the board that a bus driver that the board had instructed to pick up a few children in the edge of Monroe County had refused to continue the extra pickups unless paid more money, even though the recent bus survey showed the owner was not driving the miles he was paid for. "It boils down to who is running the bus system, the drivers or the school board," Hagler said.

The board voted to have Superintendent Headlee instruct the bus owner some time to get the pickups or be in violation of his contract.

On the subject of transportation Randolph made a motion that Headlee try to find persons with a degree in transportation to apply for the proposed new post of transportation coordinator for the county. If none can be found for the proposed beginning salary of $8,350 then to take applications from non-degree persons.

Chairman Wampler appointed Randolph, W. D. McCarroll and Hagler to serve as a committee to work with an attorney to draft a new bus owner contract that would guarantee the county service it was paying for and the bus owners a decent return on their investment. The present contracts expire in 1978.

Middle School Sites
Superintendent Headlee said that he and State Department of Education Official Hassel Evans along with others, visited the six proposed sites for the two new $1.25 million middle schools in Loudon and the Highland Park-Eaton areas. He said Evans made notes on each site and said he may suggest changes in priority from what the committees reported, but did not think he would rule out any of the sites.

Teachers Elected
Four new teachers were elected to pools in the system and Charles A. Bailey, a coach-teacher at Greenback was named Assistant Principal at that school. The new teachers are Joyce Whetstone, Greenback Elementary;

Edward Lee McCollum, Greenback, math; Henry Blackburn, Loudon High biology, assistant football coach; and Ann Dunn, Greenback, kindergarten.

One year leaves of absence were granted to Joan Marie Brockett and Jean S. Broda.

"You Be The Judge"

TWO YEARS AGO, Guy L. Russell asked you the citizens of Loudon County to elect him as your Sheriff for the first time. At that time Guy promised to enforce the law to the best of his ability, to be fair, honest and compassionate. Guy promised to make necessary changes in the operation of the Sheriff's Department which would benefit the citizens and tax-payers of Loudon County.

Has Sheriff Guy L. Russell lived up to those promises?

Has Sheriff Guy L. Russell given us better law enforcement?

Has Sheriff Guy L. Russell made improvements in the operation which will save the taxpayer any dollars?

"You Be The Judge"

When Guy L. Russell became sheriff he and his deputies started making it hard on the professional thieves and rogues who were preying on the citizens of Loudon County. The majority of the robberies, burglaries, thefts and acts of vandalism were being committed by thieves and rogues from outside Loudon County. Guy has made sure that these people got the message, "If you are a thief or rogue, stay out of Loudon County or wind up in jail." During his first year as Sheriff, Guy and his deputies arrested dozens and most are in the penitentiary or in jail.

WHEN GUY L. RUSSELL took office he served notice on the wide-open dealers of illegal whiskey that this type of activity would not be tolerated. Some believed Guy, some didn't. You, the citizens, know what happened. Guy said, "We may not be able to stop all the illegal whiskey selling, but I'm sure going to slow it down and it will not be rubbed in the faces of our good citizens and children who don't have any use for it."

WHEN SHERIFF GUY L. RUSSELL took office he immediately started sending his deputies to the police academy in Donelson so that they would become more knowledgeable in all aspects of their jobs. He has hired only top-notch men to complement the men he retained from the former administration. Guy made those changes in personnel he felt absolutely necessary. Guy then started working each man where he would be the most effective. In order to do this shifts were changed and priorities were reorganized.

YOU THE CITIZENS WILL NOT FIND Guy L. Russell sitting in his office or around the courtroom unless he is required for a conference or as a witness in a case he is prosecuting in the courts. Guy is a working sheriff, who spends most of his working hours out in a patrol car where he can be of assistance to the citizens who may need help. Guy says, "The citizens do not pay their sheriff $15,000 per year to sit on his rear-end or to politic every day, or to run in a popularity contest. The citizens pay me to do my job and my job is out in the county protecting and helping our people."

WHEN SHERIFF GUY RUSSELL took office in September, 1974, he took steps to save you the taxpayers some dollars. First he took steps to see that proper records were kept and correct reports were promptly sent to the state so that the sheriff's office would be re-imursed by the State and Federal Governments for the housing and feeding of prisoners. This one step has resulted in an increase of thousands of dollars (over $25,000 this year alone) being turned over to the county treasury by the Sheriff's Department.

SHERIFF GUY L. RUSSELL and his men have served the people of Loudon County without regards for the hours they have to work or their personal safety. They have been honest, fair and helpful.

NOW SHERIFF GUY L. RUSSELL IS ASKING YOU, the good people of Loudon County, to return him and his dedicated men to the very important office for another two year term. Guy says, "Sometimes I feel we just started yesterday. There are many things we still need the time to do."

Water Plant Expansion Complete . . .

Dixie Lee Names New Commissioners

A GROWING COMPANY—An expansion that doubled the treatment facility output of the Dixie Lee Utility Water District in upper Loudon County was recently completed at a cost of some $225,000.

The addition of two new Commissioners to the Dixie Lee Utility District, which serves a portion of eastern Loudon County and into Knox County, and the completion of a major expansion project by the water district was announced this week by the Utility Chairman and executive officer Ralph Blackburn.

Mrs. Dewey (Betty) Easton and Bert Barger have been certified as Commissioners of the water district. Mrs. Easton replaces Mrs. Glen Mills and Barger succeeds the late Gillis Purdy. Mrs. Easton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Scarborough of Lenoir City. The Eastons have two daughters, Sloan and Becky and the family resides in the Ford subdivision. She was employed for 10 years with the CIT Finance Company. Mrs. Easton will coordinate all general office procedures. Bert Barger is owner of Barger Electric Company in Lenoir City. He will coordinate all plant operations and field problems. He has had professional licenses in Oak Ridge for 15 years, Knoxville for 15 years and Loudon County for 20 years. He is married to the former Frances Thurmer. They have two children, a son, Robert Eugene, employed by his father as an electrician, and a daughter, Rebecca Jo, a graduate of Knoxville Business College. The Bargers reside on Rt. 4 Lenoir City near the Dixie Lee Utilities plant.

The new additional filtering system will produce 800,000 gallons of water per day, doubling the former pumping station capacity. The addition had been planned for about five years, but was delayed until a new 250,000 gallon storage tank was built. It was completed two years ago at a cost of $75,000. Cost of the new Filtering Plant addition was $228,516. It was built on the original plant site at Fine Spring, which produces 2 million gallons of water per day.

Blackburn said the plant is operated by two men, Don Pace and Ed Easter. Easter served as construction superintendent at the plant saving about $10,000 in costs. The Utility has some 1,548 customers and continues to grow in the West Knoxville area as well as around Lenoir City. Equipment in the plant is the most modern and automatic on the market. Chemicals used in the process are chlorine, alum and calgon. It would be possible for the district to add fluoride at a very small cost. Daily chemical, alkaline, CO2 checks and other checks are made on the water supply. The water quality is said to be one of the highest in the state. Some 300,000 gallons of water are used by customers of the Utility District every day.

In its 23 year history the rate for a minimum 2,000 gallon billing has increased only $1, from $2.75 per month to $3.75. The first directors in 1953 were O.D. Hall, Bill Parche and John Cardwell. New Commissioners came into the system in 1956, including Blackburn, along with J.W. Wilburn, Jr. and Vernon Logan. Later, at various periods, Neil Spicer, Tom Ingram, Clyde Ford, Juanita Mills and Purdy have served as Commissioners.

The system went into business with 675 customers. Some 300 customers were transferred to the Lenoir City Water System several years ago when West Hill was annexed by the city. Mr. Blackburn adds that he is proud of the progress thru the individual help of each of the past commissioners and feels the District will continue to meet present standards. "New inspection facilities was included in the Filtering Plant addition and our system is equal or superior to any water operation in the state of Tennessee. One main factor in our favor is the Spring Water, that could be fit permitted by state regulations, used without filtering; however, of course it is better that all of the various inspections are made before it goes to the consumer," he said.

I feel with the past experience Mrs. Easton has had in various office management and the knowledge Barger has in the electrical field the district will continue to keep us in line with present and future developments," Blackburn said.

Other system employees are Mrs. Bill (Priscilla) Jackson and Mrs. Don (Barbara) Parche, who have been with the company for 10 years. Plans are being made for an open house at the new facility in the near future. A memorial plaque honoring Purdy has been ordered and will be unveiled at the open house event.

ED EASTER ADJUSTS A VALVE in a treatment tank of the newly expanded Dixie Lee Utilities Water District filtering plant.

Your Vote For The Sales Tax Increase On May 25 Will Help Keep Your Property Taxes Down

The passage of the additional local sales tax will greatly lessen the future burden on the property owner. It will also forestall the advent of other types of taxation.

It is a clear fact that the sales tax is the most fair tax in existence. The impact of the sales tax is far less burdensome to the property owner than an equal or larger increase in the property tax.

Everyone pays sales tax and only the land and homeowner pays property tax.

The question is not whether there will be new taxes or no taxes. There will be a tax increase of some kind; better that it be the sales tax than the various taxes that have been proposed in recent months.

Who Can Tell?

Many claim their love for God and interest in doing His will is the maximum priority of their lives; but, is it really? The Lord taught, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mk 16:16) while many today say baptism is not necessary for salvation—who says? Yet, many who have actually obeyed the Lord and have become Christians do not live the life of their calling. When questioned they have no difficulty telling you the life a Christian must live, but we all know actions speak louder than words. Yes, I know many who find it difficult to attend and work faithfully for the Lord. We need to learn to set our minds on things above and not on things on the earth (Col 3:2). In the New Testament we read of many who lost their lives for the cause of Christ. Today, if you were arrested for being a Christian would there be enough evidence to convict you?

JIMMY CARTER. HE'S TALKING SPECIFIC SOLUTIONS TO SPECIFIC PROBLEMS.

EMPLOYMENT: "I believe in the work ethic, which means that anybody who is able to work ought to work. And he or she should be given a chance to work. There are millions of jobs crying out to be filled. We need to repair our railroads and complete our interstate and rapid transit systems. And there's the design, manufacture and installation of solar heating units—an industry that must be developed. The federal government can initiate a lot of these things if they'd clear away the red tape."

ENERGY: "We only have enough oil in the whole world to last about 30 more years, so supplies will be dwindling. Whatever we have left ought to be allocated to the different states on an equitable basis. Then we need to shift toward alternate sources like coal—we've got 200 years worth of coal."

SENIOR CITIZENS: "My mother joined the Peace Corps at age 68. I know the tremendous contribution that older people can make. Yet, they've been treated like second-class citizens. We must find an efficient way to keep Social Security payments in line with the cost of living."

BUREAUCRACY: "When I was elected Governor, we had 300 state agencies. We abolished all but 22 of them and set up a simple system that cut administrative costs by 50%. Today there are over 1900 departments in the federal government. We can cut these back as we did on the state level and give better services to our people while saving money."

RACIAL EQUALITY: "The best thing that happened in the South in my lifetime was the passage of the Civil Rights Act and the granting to blacks and other minorities the chance to live a decent life and have equal opportunities." (Many of the nation's most respected black leaders stand behind Jimmy, including Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., who said: "I have never met a more sincere person than Jimmy Carter. I think he would make one of the finest Presidents we've ever had. I'm with him all of the way.")

Loudon County Needs Jimmy Carter Jimmy Carter Needs Loudon County

TAX REFORM: "I think it's time our tax laws are fair to working Americans instead of favoring multi-million dollar corporations. There were 24 people in this nation last year who made over a million dollars and didn't pay a nickel in income taxes. That's not fair and it's got to be changed."

WELFARE: "Our welfare system is an insult to those who pay the bill and those who honestly need help. Some combined welfare payments exceed the income of the average working family. Other needy families are unable to obtain a bare subsistence. We have heard promises of welfare reform too long. It's time to act now."

GOVERNMENT MANAGEMENT: "Zero base budgeting, a tough accounting procedure we used in Georgia, cut administrative costs by 50% and left a surplus of more than $100 million when I left office. I intend to initiate zero base budgeting on the federal level when I become President."

IN my travels throughout the country, I find two questions that are uppermost in the minds and hearts of American people.

CAN OUR GOVERNMENT WORK? Can it be competent, well organized, effective and economical? Can it meet the needs of our people?

CAN OUR GOVERNMENT BE DECENT? Can it be honest, open and compassionate? Can our government be a source of pride once again, instead of shame and embarrassment?

I believe the answer to both of these questions is yes. I believe that our government can be as great as our people are.

TVA Power Up In June

Charges for TVA power will increase in June, after following a downward trend in seven of the last eight months. The increase, amounting to $1.46 per 1,000 kilowatt hours used, is based on fuel and purchased power costs to TVA for the month of April. The increase had been expected, since unusually low streamflows in April caused hydroelectric generation at dams to drop to the lowest level in five years. This reduction in hydro power had to be made up from higher-cost sources, including sharply increased power imports from other electric systems and operation of oil-burning peaking power turbines. Under the most widely used residential rates for TVA power, the basic electric bill in June for a home using 1,000 kilowatt-hours will be $24.84.

Reunion Sunday

The Watkins Family reunion will be held Sunday, May 23 at the Loudon City Park. All family members are invited and urged to attend.

Under the most widely used residential rates for TVA power, the basic electric bill in June for a home using 1,000 kilowatt-hours will be $24.84.

Loudon Countians purchased $34,818 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds during March, according to County Savings Bonds Chairman Will A. Hildreth. First-quarter sales of $105,886 represent 23 percent of the county's 1976 goal as set by the Department of the Treasury. Tennesseans bought $8.1 million worth of the securities during March and $24.4 million during the first three months. For the nation as a whole, January-March sales of the two series were nearly $2 billion, with E Bond sales setting a 32-year record. Hamilton Stock Purchase Finalized

The purchase of the Hamilton National Bank of Loudon stock from the bankrupt Hamilton Bancshares has been completed.

Donald Carter, President and Chairman of the Board of the bank called a special meeting of the bank's board to announce that he and a group of businessmen had been successful in acquiring substantially all the stock of the bank. Carter and his group, five businessmen from Alabama and Mississippi, entered the high bid for the bank's stock.

Trustee in Bankruptcy which was accepted by Federal Judge Ralph Kelly subject to the usual 10 day waiting period.

could best serve the citizens of its county when the bank was owned and operated by local people who are part of and familiar with the needs of the county.

Carter also announced that action would soon be taken to get approval from appropriate state regulatory authorities to change the name of the bank to a name more identifiable with the bank's market area.

Following Carter's announcement, upon motion by John Greer and seconded by John Harris, by joint resolution the Board of Directors approved release of the following statement: "We, the undersigned of the Board of Directors of Hamilton National Bank, applaud Mr. Carter's effort to retain ownership of our bank to local ownership and commit to the people of this county our determination to operate the bank as a locally owned and locally operated bank, and to improve the economic life of this county and the citizens of this county."

Hamilton National Bank was formerly First National Bank of Loudon. It became totally affiliated with Hamilton Bancshares, Inc. with the completion of stock transfer in January, 1974. Carter stated that it was the sole objective of his group now to return ownership of the bank to local citizens. He states that, in his professional opinion, a bank

Three Hurt In Police-Cycle Chase

Fire Destroys Police Car

A Loudon City policeman and two teenagers were injured in an accident during a high speed chase on Highway 11 north of Loudon City Monday morning. The police officer, Verlin Littlefield, was reportedly in pursuit of a motorcycle ridden by two teenage boys, Mike Walker, 16, and William Ellis, 18, both of Loudon City.

State Trooper Rick Chester, who investigated the accident stated he was told that Littlefield, driving a city police cruiser, attempted to stop the motorcycle on East Broadway for a possible muffler law violation, but, Littlefield told Chester, the cycle did not stop for the blue lights or siren and sped away.

Littlefield chased the cycle several miles up the highway toward Dixie Lee Junction. Witnesses who saw the chase told Chester that the two vehicles were traveling between 70 and 80 miles at times.

When the two vehicles were about a mile south of the junction the cycle went into the gravel throwing the two riders off and down a bank. Littlefield said he tried to miss the cycle and his car went out of control in the gravel and plunged down the embankment near the home of Dr. Dan Thompson.

When the patrol car slammed to a stop it burst into flames and was destroyed. Littlefield got out of the car before he was burned, but sustained multiple cuts of the face requiring 20 stitches, plus a leg injury and other bruises. He was treated and released from Park West Hospital.

Walker, who admitted to the intensive care unit of Park West for observation with leg and head injuries, is reported in stable condition the afternoon of the accident. Ellis was treated and released from Loudon County Memorial Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Chester said he was bringing reckless driving charges against the driver of the motorcycle, Chief Joe Sims, who said he was told Walker was charged of failure to yield to police blue lights.

BURNED CRUISER-The burned hulk of a Loudon City police cruiser is being looked over by Rescue Squad Captain John Harris and others after it wrecked on US 11 Monday while in pursuit of a motorcycle. The police officer, Verlin Littlefield, was treated at a Knoxville hospital for injuries.

Judge Says School Bus Contracts May Be Illegal

County Judge William Russell said Monday night if he finds the school bus contracts made by the county school board in 1974 to be in violation of the county purchasing act he may declare them invalid. If this is done, he would ask the school board to submit to the purchasing committee a new contract and take new bids on the transportation of school students from the private carriers, although the present contract does not expire until 1978.

Russell said Monday night if he finds the school bus contracts made by the county school board in 1974 to be in violation of the county purchasing act he may declare them invalid. If this is done, he would ask the school board to submit to the purchasing committee a new contract and take new bids on the transportation of school students from the private carriers, although the present contract does not expire until 1978.

Judge Russell brought up the matter of whether or not the purchasing department was involved in making the contracts. He said that only the purchasing department can sign contracts that obligate county funds.

Kimsey said he felt, unless the Judge was correct, there is little that can be done about the present contract, but if the court allows the addition of a transportation coordinator to the school staff, he feels that many of the problems and inadequate areas of the system can be corrected by the time a new contract is awarded.

Randolph said the school transportation costs have skyrocketed since 1966 and Loudon County pays half as much for student transportation as the state average.

A discussion followed of the recent school board study of the system, where it was alleged that the bus owners are being paid for a total of 222 miles per day at 27 cents per mile that are not driven.

When asked why the pay was not cut to meet the miles driven, the school board said the four year contract of the bus owners stipulated a certain number of miles and if

12 Machine Keys Lost, Ford, Carter Win Here, Sales Tax Clobbered

Twenty votes was the unofficial margin Sheriff Guy Russell won the Republican nomination over former sheriff Freeman Russell in Tuesday's primary election. The unofficial canvass conducted by the newspapers at each of the polls in the county showed Ford with 188 votes and Freeman with 160 votes.

Briefly other major races saw the proposed increase in the local sales tax soundly defeated by almost 700 votes. President Gerald R. Ford carried the county by 127 votes over Donald Reagan, and Governor Jimmy Carter ran away from the Democratic field capturing 1084 of the 1369 votes cast in the nine municipal elections.

noted Tuesday night that a machine by machine count of the vote totals will be made next Monday and Tuesday before the outcome will be certified by the Commission. The keys to all the voting machines, those used in all the Loudon precincts, Greenback, Dixie Lee and Philadelphia in order to hold the election in some cases the machines malfunctioned. Gibson said this did not mean the vote was wrong, but the precinct officers had to clear the machine and advance the voter count by one to get the machine working. He also said it is possible that when the votes were recorded by election workers from the machines errors could occur causing changes in the vote that were gathered unofficially Tuesday night.

The official canvass will start Monday and should be completed by Tuesday. Gibson said there is always a chance of errors and with the staff's race being so close it will be open to both candidates to make every effort to make sure everything is in order. This is the 100th anniversary of the 15th Amendment and the 100th anniversary of the election of James M. Smith as the first Governor of Tennessee.

Full precinct charts with the complete unofficial counts on all the votes are published on pages 1 and 12 of this issue. Democratic votes plus the votes in the Presidential Delegate races will be published after the Democratic caucus next week.

Budget Requests Would Mean 50% Tax Hike

Published elsewhere in this issue is the public hearing on the 1977 county budget.

The budget figures published are those requested by the various county departments, which in most cases have not been acted on by the county budget committee.

Should the budget be adopted as it is published and it is a safe bet it will not, it would take a tax rate of $5.00 per hundred dollar assessment. The present tax rate is $1.51, meaning the proposed budget would take more than a 30 percent local property tax rate increase to fund.

Arts Festival Expanded To Two Days, Set For June 5-6

For the first time, the annual Lenoir City Arts and Crafts Festival will be a two-day affair. The event will mark its 14th year when it opens June 5—again located on the peninsula of Lenoir City Park on Fort Loudoun Lake.

The Festival will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, June 5, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. In case of rain on Saturday, the Festival will be rescheduled for the next week end.

For several years, both exhibitors and visitors have asked members of the Suburbia Junior Woman's Club, sponsors of the Festival, to expand it to two days. This year, in honor of the Bicentennial observance, the club decided to do so.

The Festival annually draws 15,000 to 18,000 visitors to browse and buy from among the more than 100 artists and craftsmen exhibiting their work. There is no admission charge.

This year, in addition to several Bicentennial displays and activities planned for the Festival itself, there are additional activities scheduled between the two days.

A special invitation is given to boaters along Fort Loudoun Lake. Just east to Fort Loudoun Dam, and the peninsula and Festival site will be visible.

A pleasant dance will begin at 8 p.m. in the parking lot of the Lenoir Shopping Center in Lenoir City. Available throughout the two days will be hamburgers, hot dogs and barbecued

63 Drown In TVA Lakes Last Year

Sixty-three people drowned in 1975 while participating in water recreation on TVA lakes, according to figures compiled by TVA's Division of Environmental Planning. This was an increase of 17 drownings over the 1974 figure and was a more than the average for the past 10 years.

"These figures represent a tragic waste of human life, many of them young lives," said Dr. James A. Oppold, who heads TVA safety programs. "It's particularly tragic because most of these accidents could have been prevented by following a few basic water safety precautions."

Oppold noted that there were a record 65.6 million visits to TVA lakes in 1975, and said that this could have partially accounted for the increased number of drownings. "However, in previous years we have seen the number of drownings decrease despite increased recreation use, so it is clear that more attention to water safety can produce results."

Oppold said TVA encourages boaters to avoid unsafe practices such as standing up in small boats, overloading or overpowering boats, or tying up near dams or locks. He emphasized that boaters and skiers should always wear life jackets or other personal flotation devices.

"We estimate that 24 of the 63 drownings that occurred last year could have been prevented had the victims been wearing life jackets," Oppold said. "Of course, all people using the water should learn to swim correctly, know how to aid swimmers in trouble, and be able to administer artificial resuscitation."

TVA annually publishes a leaflet entitled "Some Facts on Drownings in TVA Lakes" which summarizes the numbers and circumstances of drownings and gives safety tips for water recreation. A water safety film, "Not By a Dam Site," depicts the hazards associated with boating close to dams, locks, and hydroelectric generating plants.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir: Please print this in our effort to remember the Mer. Who Can't Forget. More than one-half of the net proceeds received from the sale of Buddy Poppies remains here in our own community to meet calls of needy veterans and their families. The Post maintains a relief fund, into which is placed all net profits received from the sale of Buddy Poppies. This fund is available to meet any calls for relief from our local veterans. These symbolic flowers of Flanders Field will be sold on the streets of Loudon by a group of volunteer members of the VFW Post 3150, members of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary and other volunteer workers on May 28 and 29. Most of the money collected will remain here in this community to help finance the relief and welfare work undertaken in behalf of our own veterans and their dependents. The balance of the proceeds of the sale is used to help maintain the nationwide rehabilitation service of our organization. For example, one penny for each Buddy Poppy sold is contributed to the operation of the VFW National Home for widows and orphans at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. This is the only home of its kind in the world.

Loudon Bicentennial Tennis Tourney Ends With Pro-Exhibition

The largest tennis tournament to ever be conducted in Loudon County finished play Monday night as 32 shining trophies were awarded to deserving finalists and runners-up.

The tournament was the Loudon Recreation Department sponsored Bicentennial Open Tennis Tournament with entries coming from as far away as Athens and Knoxville to compete in the 10 day event. Gary Lindner and Bill Custead, two of Loudon County's more accomplished men tennis players, served as the tournament co-directors, doing a tremendous job in running a smooth and most exciting tournament.

Rain hampered the early scheduling of the tournament nevertheless large galleries of observers surrounded the Loudon Tennis Courts almost nightly.

each care free volley and made to look easy. The toughest of shots.

Carver and Summers Have Big Week

David Carver and Hall Summers have reaped in second place long enough in the Loudon Union Carbide Golf League standings. Carver and Summers collected 21 team points last week and have now moved ahead of last week's league place setters Ronnie Ledbetter and Curtis Moore with 20 team points to date.

Ledbetter and Moore, who have now been knocked out of the league leadership for the second time, have dropped to third in the standings with 19 team points to date.

In second place this week is the team of Herbert Hodge and Jack Handolph with 18 team points to their credit.

Arthur Hamil and Dick Huff slipped a position to fourth place with 16 team points to their credit.

The top surge of the week came from Charlie Helms and Jack Delaney. Helms and Delaney had been "putting" along in the lower division of the league standings until last week when Delaney captured the individual medalist play with a nine hole score of 31.

Delaney and Helms then teamed for the best team effort of 73 in adding 26 team points to their season efforts and are now up to fifth place in the league with 68 team points to date.

MEN'S INTERMEDIATE TROPHIES GO TO KNOXVILLE—The Men's Intermediate Tennis Singles Trophy and runner-up both went to Knoxville entries. Torrid Scramble For First In Loudon City Golf Leagues

The Loudon City Golf Leagues seem to be having a torrid scramble for the respective division leadership each week.

In the Loudon Scratch League the lead has changed hands for the fourth time in five weeks of play. Inkey Swiney, who has consistently stationed himself in the top five or six positions of the Scratch play since the start of league play, has taken the top position in this week's standings. Swiney blistered the course for 20 points last week, tying John Cobb for low medalists honors with a perfect round of 36, and now has accumulated 71 individual points in his season total.

Harrison Henry, another first place challenger, is in second place this week with 68 points.

Lynn Millsaps, last week's Scratch Division leader, is tied for third at this time with his brother Larry, each totaling 65 points.

A new addition to the 18-player Scratch League is Jack Miller. Jack replaces Dick Ryan, who dropped from league competition. Miller registered two points in last week's league play and will have to be at his best if he is to cut into the point spread already registered by the other league performers.

In the Handicap Division Ted Lomax has again battled his way back into the 14-man leadership with a total of 65 points to date. Lomax overcame a seven stroke deficit held on him by last week's leader John Lemex to swap roles in the standings. Lemex is in second place at this time with 62 points and three points shy of Lomax.

Coming on with some authority is Earl Millsaps with a total of 61 points and Jim Huff is hot behind him with 60 points for a fourth place position.

Jack Kincaid is also looking upward as he has 59 points in the closely bunched Handicap Division.

Jim Hamil made some strides in catching up to the head of the pack with a nine hole round of 33, allowing a severe stroke handicap, and is in sixth place, tied with David Hamil. Each have 57 points to date.

Linginfelter On CN Football Camp Staff

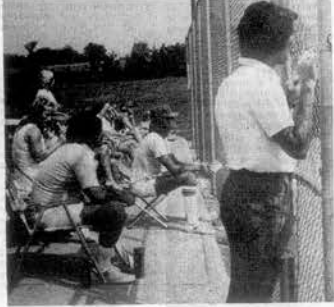

Jim Youngblood, newly-appointed defensive coordinator at Carson-Newman College, has been added to the staff of C-N's Football Camp set for July 18-24.

The young defensive coordinator played one year with the Wheeling Ironmen of the Continental Football League.

Also working in the camp will be defensive line coach Charlie King and quarterback Tony Linginfelter, former Greenback offensive star and offensive lineman Steve Foster.

This year's camps will emphasize all phases of the game: running, passing, blocking, form tackling (no contact), receiving, correct techniques in running pass routes, pass defense, defensive end, linebacker, and line play, kicking, punting, quickness and agility, and special quarterback drills to develop ball handling and passing.

Anyone wishing further information on the camp should contact Johnny Wike, Head Football Coach, P.O. Box 1972, Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn. 37762.

Sgt. Brown Wins Golf Tourney

Sgt. Clarence Brown, a 1971 graduate of Loudon High School, teamed with Glenn Welch in a super exhibition of golf to take first place in the Budweiser-Pepsi two-man best-ball golf tournament held at Aviano's Alpine Golf Course in Aviano, Italy.

Sgt. Brown, stationed with the Air Force in Aviano for two years and the son of Mildred E. Brewer of Loudon, also donated free gifts and beverages for all participants.

Sgt. Brown will be home in Loudon on leave in early August.

Ban On Guns Near

More than 50 percent of the handguns sold in the United States, some selling for more than $500, having barrels a foot long and weighing 4½ pounds may soon be banned, according to Southern Outdoors magazine.

William R. Drake, Director of the Handgun Control Project of the United States Conference of Mayors is quoted as saying, "Nothing has helped this movement as much as the term 'Saturday Night Special'."

In an article entitled "Is your shotgun a Saturday Night Special?" the May-June issue of Southern Outdoors, the following handguns are listed as meeting the criteria of "Saturday Night Specials": Colt's Python with a 2½-inch barrel which costs more than $500, all Colt single-action revolvers regardless of barrel length, and the "Peacemaker" of western fame; many black powder revolvers, of which one weighs 4½ pounds, is 10 inches long, and costs more than $250; all revolvers with barrels less than four inches long regardless of price.

TVA Wins Snail Darter Lawsuit

TVA has won the snail darter lawsuit in Knox District Federal Court. Judge Robert L. Taylor Tuesday released a 25-page opinion in which he denied an injunction to stop Tellico Dam on the Little Tennessee River and dismissed the case brought by environmentalists seeking to stop the dam on the basis of the Endangered Species Act.

The environmentalists had sought to prove that the snail darter, a small species of fish which has been placed on the endangered species list, exists only in the Little Tennessee.

In the opinion Judge Taylor noted that the Endangered Species Act became effective law Dec. 28, 1973. "More than seven years after Tellico Dam was authorized by Congress," Judge Taylor wrote, "a Federal project becomes so near completion and so incapable of modification that a court of equity should not apply a statute enacted long after inception of the project to produce an unreasonable result."

He cited several cases in point. However he made it clear that the boundaries of this decision are narrow.

He said, "This case must be viewed in the context of its particular facts and circumstances. We go no further than to hold that the Endangered Species Act does not operate in such a manner as to halt completion of this particular project. A far different situation would be presented if the project were capable of reasonable modification that would ensure compliance with the act or if the project had not been under way for almost a decade."

He said that taken to its logical extreme the act would halt the impoundment behind a fully completed dam if an endangered species were discovered on the day before such impoundment were to take place.

"We are not suggesting that the Endangered Species Act should be administered grudgingly by the courts, nor that the importance of any endangered species should be minimized when compared with an extensive Federal project. Balancing such interests is a legislative, not a judicial function," he said.

He noted when remarking on the seven-year time difference between the inception of the dam and the passage and effectuation of the Endangered Species Act, that "at that time of the act, $45 million had been appropriated by Congress and approximately $35 million invested. The snail darter was discovered several months before this court approved TVA's final environmental impact statement. It was not listed as an endangered species until November 1975 and the critical habitat was not determined until April 1976."

"It is reasonable to conclude Congress intended the act to halt the Tellico Project at the present state of completion? We think not. The act should be construed in a reasonable manner to effectuate the legislative purpose."

He said the continued funding of the dam by Congress after the darter had been placed on the Endangered Species List is consistent with the theory that Congress intended for the project to continue nonetheless.

Some $80 million has been spent on the $100 million project. The earthfill center and concrete wings are 85 per cent complete and the entire project of dam, roads and clearing is 90 per cent complete, the opinion stated.

He noted that a TVA witness, George Kimmons, TVA engineering chief, said $33 million would be lost if the dam were halted. A plaintiff's witness had said about $30 million would be lost. Judge Taylor said the preponderance of the evidence showed TVA's figures more likely to be correct.

As far as the snail darter is concerned, Judge Taylor noted in the opinion, after weighing the testimony, that it is probable the species will be made extinct. He said that in all likelihood the darter will not spawn in the reservoir created by the dam since it apparently requires clean, swift water over a rock bed to spawn. Also, it was noted that the darter's diet, small snails, would not thrive in the reservoir environment either.

The lawsuit was filed Feb. 18 by H.G. Hill Jr., a law student at UT, Zagnum J.G. Plater, a law professor at UT College of Law; Donald S. Cohen, an assistant dean of the law school, and by the Audubon Council of Tennessee and the Association of Southeastern Biologists.

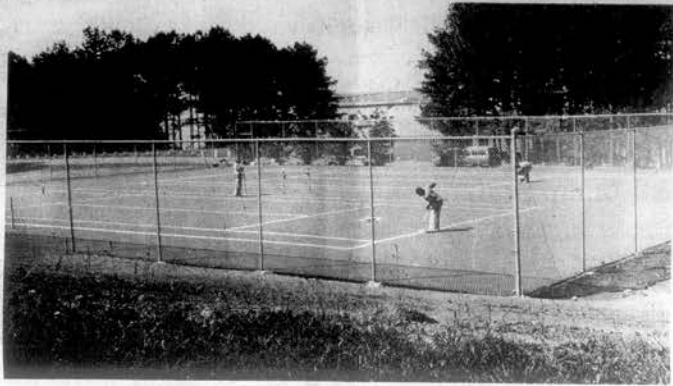

On Feb. 25 the court denied TVA's motion to dismiss the suit and denied plaintiff's motion for a temporary injunction halting construction on the project.

The snail darter was discovered Aug. 12, 1975 by Dr. David Etnier, ichthyologist and assistant professor of zoology at UT, while he was skinning near Coyote Springs at Mile 7 of the Little Tennessee River.

It is called Percina (mostoma) tanasi. TVA has made efforts to transplant the fish into the Hiwassee River where conditions are believed to be similar to those in the Little Tennessee River.

The experiment thus far is inconclusive.

The dam will cover 16,500 acres of bottomland with water and impound the last 33 miles of the river. It is scheduled for closure in January 1977.

ADDING FINAL TOUCHES—Two newly constructed tennis courts are now available for play at the Lenoir City Fort Loudoun Dam Park. The new tennis facilities were made possible by the efforts of the Lenoir City Subartia Junior Women's Club. Pictured applying the final touches to the tennis courts is the Archie McMillan Sealing Specialists Company of Knoxville. The courts, which are open to the public are not lighted.

Exciting Racing Resumes At Atomic Saturday

The high speed game of automobile racing resumes Saturday night at Atomic Speedway and nobody is saying "that's a record which will stand for a long time."

When late model sportman drivers take the track for time trials they'll be shooting for almost 80 miles per hour. It's a lap at well over 78 m.p.h. to lower H.E.

Any appeal would be directed to the Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

The trial was April 29-30.

Vineyard's record run of 13.47 seconds last Saturday night. Ken Phillips' old mark in qualifying for the Dogwood 100. Vineyard started from the pole position and led each lap to notch a two car length win over Phillips.

The season's first powder puff event—a 12-lap affair—for women will be on the program Saturday. The sportman feature is to cover 40 laps, bombers will run a dozen laps and Volkswagen drivers a 20 lapper.

Time trials are to get under way at 8:30. Sportsman drivers also will run two or more heat races. Tickets are $3.50 and $5.

"We were talking before the season started on how the qualifying record was going to stand up," said Atomic owner Bob Martin. "Well, Phillips went out and broke it in time trials for the opening race with a lap at 13.64. Now, Vineyard goes 13.47. Toote Estes had a lap at 13.50, too."

Atomic drivers have another big 100-lapper coming up the night of June 3 with the Anniversary 100. The first race for mechanics also is coming up June 5.

During the season there'll be five races for women and the mechanics.

DOES IT HURT?

Recently a denominational group in our community posted a sign saying, "Truth only hurts when it ought to." In teaching the truth I seek nothing for myself. I simply want others to see, understand, and obey the truth. Though I may wish it different, the Bible does teach one must be baptized to be saved (Mk 16: 16) taking the Lord's supper every first day of the week (Acts 20: 7), and there is only one church (Eph 4: 4). Why do these points upset, antagonize, hurt, and drive so many away? The Lord once talked with a rich young ruler who was seeking eternal life. Because He loved him, Jesus told the young man to sell all he had, give it to the poor, and come following the Lord so the man could lay up for himself treasures in heaven. This young man went away hurt because he felt he had too much to lose (Mk 10: 17-22). Today when the Bible speaks of things we have not done or do not practice does it hurt? What do you do when it hurts?

Cities Say Contract Is Too High

The City of Lenoir City has taken the strongest stand date against a contract proposal by Tellico Area Disposal Company for disposing of the solid waste of the city. City of Loudon and Loudon County, Mayor Joe Grayson said the contract price is just "plain too high."

Two weeks ago the County took bids for the disposal of garbage with an alternate of allowing the disposal firm to operate the county transfer station at Loudon. Only one bid was submitted, that of Tellico Area, owned by Luke Bright and James Chaney.

The lowest bid by the firm was $6,000 per month, with an escalator clause on four of the five years covered by the contract. This amount is twice the present contract with the David Witherspoon Company. Witherspoon has gone into bankruptcy and plans to cease operations in Loudon County the end of May.

Tellico Area has an option on Witherspoon's equipment and the Red Ridge Landfill in Monroe County.

Loudon County favors an option whereby Tellico Area operates the transfer station, something the county has done, in addition to the hauling and disposal, at a cost of $7,938 per month.

The City of Loudon has indicated it favors the county continuing operation of the landfill, but that Tellico Area is about four hundred dollars per month higher on their bid.

There have been several proposals on how to divide the expenses of the contract between the three governments. Presently it is based on population as far as the cities are concerned.

A meeting was to be held Wednesday night between all three governments to discuss the matter further.

passed would mean $128,000 more for schools. Blair felt the budget committee would know more what approach it would need to take on the budget request.

it's AN OPEN INVITATION TO FIRE

An "octopus" outlet like this one is a fire hazard. Such an overloaded circuit will work only if the fuse or circuit breaker has been oversized. Or if someone has tampered with them. Either way is asking for trouble.

When a fuse or breaker continually blows or trips, take at least one appliance off that circuit. Don't try to correct the problem by tampering with the fuse or breaker. For, you see, the fuse or breaker is a protective device. (If it didn't blow or trip, the circuit could become overloaded and get so hot a fire could flame up.)

Safeguard your home and family. Never try to make a fuse or breaker carry more electricity than it's supposed to. And instead of creating dangerous "octopus" outlets, call an electrician to install new circuits and outlets where you need them.

Tax Refunds Here Total $2.5 Million

Residents of Loudon County will have more money to spend in the near future, thanks to checks that will be coming their way from Washington.

Residents of Loudon County will have more money to spend in the near future, thanks to checks that will be coming their way from Washington.

For the most part, the payments represent money due them because they overpaid on their Federal income taxes for 1975. A larger amount than necessary was taken from them in withholding taxes in the past year, via payroll deductions.

Also, many people paid too much on their returns because they were unaware or overlooked changes in the tax law, including one that permitted tax credits of $30 each for most of the exemptions claimed on the returns.

The result is that the government will be refunding an estimated $2,500,000 to Loudon County taxpayers within a short time, based upon figures from the Treasury Department as to the size and the number of checks it expects to issue.

Nationally, it states, the refunds will total $30 billion, with checks going to more than 67 million taxpayers. Last year, by way of comparison, $26 billion was returned.

The individual refunds average $421, as against $391 in 1975. In some areas they run higher than this and, in others lower.

Additional money will also be reaching the local area, beginning in July, for all persons who are receiving Social Security checks each month.

Because of the rise in the cost of living between the first quarter of 1975 and the first quarter of 1976, they will be getting 6.4 percent more. The boost is an automatic one, tied to the Labor Department's consumer price index.

Nationwide, the hike amounts to $5 billion a year in added benefits. In 1975 the automatic cost of living adjustment was 8.0 percent and the cost, $5.7 billion.

Together with the tax refunds, it means that some $35 billion will be pumped into the economy in the months ahead.

The portion of it that will go to Loudon County residents figures out to approximately $2,984,000, based on the data for the local area.

The additional spending money is expected to give the local economy, which is growing in strength month by month, a further upward push.

us why we never run any pictures of ourself. Well, no specific reason, except we feel that people would not be really interested. But we do have one we are using this week. This picture was taken quite a few years ago. It was just after I had returned home from the service. We were out walking on a winter Sunday afternoon and came upon a group of boys playing soldier. We have always loved kids. So we stopped to kid with them. My wife had the camera, so we got this picture. Some of the boys names we can recall. The Bronxer boys and we believe that John (Linus) Brown was in the group. We are not sure about this, but if we are wrong, Injun will let us know.

Of course, as you have already guessed, we are in the background giving the command to fire. This was what the boys suggested I do. And I guess we still had a little military tinge left in us. Takes a while to get it out of your system. We, like a lot of other boys, was glad to be back in Loudon.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

$56 Million Equity In Local Homes

Most residents of Loudon County have one asset that has weathered the depression in fine shape. It is the homes they own. They are zooming in value in the last few years. Because the demand for housing is so great, as in most areas, and the supply so limited, prices have skyrocketed. For some time people had refrained from buying new homes, the conditions were unfavorable. Now, however, with the economy on the upturn, they are in the market in a big way. In Loudon County, the equity that local people have in their homes, representing their market value minus the mortgage debt outstanding on them, amounts to a whopping $56,391,000, it is estimated. This takes into account only single-family, non-farm dwellings that are owner-occupied. It does not include multi-unit properties or units that are rented or vacant. The details on the equity that homeowners, locally and elsewhere, have in their dwellings, are contained in data compiled by the Department of Commerce, the National Association of Home Builders and others.

They show that the average price of a new single-family house in the United States has climbed to $42,300, as of February. A year earlier it was $37,900. Used housing reached $37,200 from the previous average of $33,600. Prices are considerably higher in some areas and considerably lower in others. Going back to 1970, the median value of owner-occupied homes in Loudon County was $9,200, according to the Commerce Department. The total worth of the 5,912 local dwellings was $54,390,000.

Their present value, based upon the average overall change is estimated at $117,882,000. Most of them have mortgages on them. In the regional area, according to the most recent government figures, about 60.9 percent are mortgaged. Throughout the country as a whole, 61 percent are mortgaged. With consumer confidence returning and with mortgage money obtainable at somewhat lower rates, the home building industry is emerging from its two-year slump and is gearing up to meet the rising demand.

DOUBLE WHAMMO-The car in the top photo driven by Frank Coker, 29, Grimes Road, Loudon got a double lick about 8:10 p.m. Sunday. The first was when the car (lower photo) driven by Thomas Etter of Knoxville struck the Coker car from behind on U.S. 11 near the Loudon-Monroe County line, knocking it into a mail box, three fence posts and into a tree which then fell across the car. Both vehicles were heavily damaged, but no one was injured. Etter was charged with driving while intoxicated by State Trooper Steve Davis.

First National Plans New Branch

First National Bank of Loudon County has made application to the Comptroller of the Currency for a Banking Office at Loudon, according to Will A. Hildreth, President. The location of the proposed office is 817 - 821 Mulberry Street.

First National Bank, with total assets exceeding $23 million, was organized May 2, 1967, and has operated continuously as a National Bank since that date. "In addition to commercial and individual consumer loans," Mr. Hildreth stated, "First National's philosophy has also been to serve the local home financing needs of Loudon County." He said that the bank now has over $10 million in local real estate loans.

Mr. Hildreth stated, "First National Bank has a good deposit and loan base in Loudon for a number of years, and this office, when approved, will be First National Bank's fourth banking office within the county." "We are constantly striving to give more convenient and better service to the people of Loudon County," he said. "In addition to the office in Loudon City, other locations are in the Dixie Lee and Eaton communities."

Industrial Appreciation Week Plans Announced

The 27 industrial plants in Loudon County will be honored next week during the annual observance of Loudon County Industrial Appreciation Week, June 6-12. The Loudon County Committee of 100 and the Loudon and Lenoir City Chambers of Commerce are co-sponsors of the event.

Products manufactured in the county are now on display in Loudon and Lenoir City businesses. During the Arts and Crafts Festival this weekend a display will be open to the public.

On Tuesday executives from the various plants will be guests of Committee and Chamber members in a golf tournament to be held at Fox Den Country Club.

Tuesday evening a banquet will be held at the Lenoir City Hotel, following a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Major Candidates To Attend Demo Jubilee

Between 300 and 400 persons are expected to attend the Loudon County Democratic Jubilee at Lenoir City High School cafeteria Saturday at 7 p.m. The jubilee is being held as the major Democratic fund raising function of this election year. Tickets for the dinner are on sale for $7.50. They will be available at the door also.

Most of the major democratic candidates for the United States Senate have accepted invitations to attend. They are David Bolin, a proctor; Synnora Atkinson, Jim Sasser, former chairman of the State Democratic Party; and as yet unnamed candidate John J. Hooper, former party nominee for Governor.

J.N. Doane, Commissioner Department of Personnel for the State of Tennessee will give the keynote address. Bill Owen, Executive Director of the State Democratic Party will also be on the program.

Mike Rowland, a state representative, and Knoxville businessman Oliver Smith, Jr., both seeking the party nomination for U.S. Representative of the Second District will be present.

VOTE CHECK—Members of the Loudon County Election Commission and Republican Primary Board are shown checking the vote in the May 23 election. The boards found only minor errors, but none in the unofficial vote tallies.

20 Vote Guy Russell Win Holds In Vote Check

A two day check of the unofficial returns of last Tuesday's primary elections in Loudon County did not change a single vote in the election. The 20 vote margin held by sheriff Guy Russell over Freeman Russell stood over the checks made of the tally sheets and machines.

The final tally in the election was 1980 to 1960. The only glaring problem was in Loudon Inside East where there were six more votes cast for the two candidates, 224, than were listed on the registrars roll, 218. Some 289 persons voted in that precinct, 60 in the democratic primary, leaving 229 voters in the republican primary. It was found by checking the general registrars list against that of the Democratic and Republican Primary that the names of 13 persons were not recorded by the registrar in the Republican primary, meaning that five of the 11 did not cast votes for either sheriff candidate.

$667,000 Grant For Park Approved

The Appalachian Regional Commission announced last week approval of a $667,000 grant to acquire and develop an industrial site at the Blair Bend of the Tennessee River in Loudon County.

The 280 acre site has 8,200 feet of shore line and is considered to be one of the six best remaining for industrial development on the Tennessee River. The property can accommodate several medium sized industries and one or two major industrial plants. Upon full development the site could accommodate 2,800 jobs.

Aspects of the project include land acquisition, provision of a rail spur, water and sewerage facilities, site grading and drainage. The total project cost is $1,600,000. In addition to the ARC grant, local sources will fund $700,000.

Bicentennial Pageant Termed "Happening"

By Gayle Davis Staff Writer
"A Bicentennial Happening," written and directed by Mrs. Charles Morgan, will be presented June 14 in the area of the old Blair's Ferry. The "happening" is a re-enactment of the founding of Loudon County in 1770, in which the public is invited to participate. Over 50 local citizens will participate in the "happening" in full costume of the 1770 period they will represent. The audience is urged to don the bonnets and buckles of the era and join the activities to create the atmosphere of the people of that time. A narrator will discuss the businesses present in Loudon in 1770, along with their progress and growth. The William Julian storehouse, Leuty's Hotel, the bedstead factory, the marble works, and several warehouses in the area will be recognized for their contribution to the growth of the community. To transport the audience completely to the year 1770, the narrator will point out the local drug store, harness and saddle shop, cabinetmakers and undertakers. Other developments in the community to be recognized will be the Loudon Female School, the Classical and Mathematical School and the Gaylor Finishing School.

All of the features common to the Loudon area in 1770 will be noted, such as the Lenoir Mill, the twelve ferries in operation, and the railroad. The churches, a stagecoach line, and the agricultural progress of the area will be subject of discussion by the narrator.

Local personalities from the past to be present among the audience will include Indian Chief Pathkiller, who once owned much of the land now known as Loudon, T.J. Mason, a riverboat man; Reverend John Winton and wife, Arabella, Dr. Josiah Harrison, and E.P. McQueen and a medicine man peddling his "remedies" to the audience. The re-enactment of the founding of Loudon will close the evenings activities. A pageant for Christiana County (now Loudon County) will be signed by county court members, organizing and incorporating Blairsville (March 22, 1862 into what is now Loudon).

Petitions Ask Vote On School Bonds

Petitions containing what would appear to be several thousand names have been presented to the Loudon County Election Commission asking that a referendum be called concerning the issuance of $4 million in county rural school bonds.

Election Commissioner H.F. (Pete) Littleton said the petitions were presented to him on May 12, but the Election Commission has not started checking the validity of the names on them. The signers must be registered voters who live outside the city of Lenoir City, since the issue is a rural school bond proposal.

Donna Burnette, 26, Killed In Car Wreck

Mrs. Kyle (Donna) Burnette, 26 of Concord was killed Saturday morning when her car ran off a rain-slick Kingston Pike near Campbell Station Road in Knox County and struck a guardrail. Both the victim and her husband are formerly of Loudon.

MRS. BURNETTE

Trooper John Woods said, Mrs. Burnette, of 10706 Sellings Road, Concord, was dead on arrival at University Hospital.

According to Trooper Woods' report Mrs. Burnette apparently lost control of the car just east of Campbell Station Road. Mrs. Burnette's two small daughters, Royal and Brandy, were in the car with her, but apparently escaped injury because they were thrown down in the back seat, the patrol said.

The victim is the former Donna Wilcox, a graduate of Loudon High School. Mr. Burnette is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Burnette of 10706 Sellings Road, Concord, a former Loudon High School teacher, and is now a Vice President with the Clayton Companies in Knoxville.

Funeral services for Mrs. Burnette were held Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church with burial in Loudon County Memorial Gardens.

Rev. Horner To Be Given Knox Church

The transfer of Rev. W.H. Horner, pastor of the Loudon United Methodist Church for the past eight years, is expected to be announced by Bishop L. Scott Allen at the annual Regional Conference in Johnson City on June 12.

WHERE SHOT FRODO—Sheriff Guy Russell and Deputy Junior Teeters examine a door through which Mrs. Dorothy Flemmons fired a shotgun Friday night wounding her estranged husband Roy Flemmons in the leg.

It has been learned that the Bishop plans to assign Rev. Horner to the Central United Methodist Church in Knoxville. The church has a membership of 1,150 persons.

Luttrell Man Shot By Wife, Refuses To Prosecute

Present plans also call for the naming of Rev. Lon Moneyhun as the pastor of the Loudon United Methodist Church. Rev. Moneyhun is presently District Superintendent of the Cleveland District United Methodist Church. It is understood he has had a very successful career in church pastorates.

Both appointments are still tentative, but are expected to be held firm during the conference scheduled for June 8-12. There are 1,800 churches represented in the Holston Conference.

Among the local delegates to attend the conference are Oren Peterson, Greenback circuit; Mrs. Paul Arp, Loudon; Bethel, Mrs. John Winkle, Philadelphia, New Hope.

Rev. Horner will preach his last sermon as the Loudon pastor on June 13, and will be giving his first sermon at Knoxville Central on June 20. The family plans to move from Loudon to Knoxville, one of the four Horner children are still at home with their parents. The other two are married.

Luttrell man has refused to press charges against his wife after she shot him with a 12 gauge shotgun. The man, Roy Flemmons, 32, was taken to University Hospital in Knoxville Friday night with a shotgun wound in the upper part of his leg.

"Loudon has been my longest pastorate and the people of the church and the community have all responded in a most gracious and generous way to me and my family," Rev. Horner said. Horner has had 25 years of ministry in Loudon, Unicoi and Bristol. He was educated at Emory and Henry College, East Tennessee State University and Vanderbilt University.

Sheriff Guy Russell and deputies Junior Teeters and Dennis Moldenbach, were sent to the home of Mrs. Flemmons' parents on Shelton Grove Road about 10 p.m. Mrs. Flemmons, 31, called the Justice Center and reported she shot her husband as he was attempting to break into the house. The couple reportedly were separated.

Lucille Kirkland

The Loudon-Corinth Home Demonstration Club met May 17 at the home of Mrs. Reford Kirkland. Mrs. Margie Perkins presided over the meeting.

New officers for the coming year were elected and are as follows: Lucille Kirkland, president; Lola Stevens, vice-president; Margie Perkins, secretary and Carol Mason, treasurer.

The meeting was closed with the Club Creed and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Lori Riddle, daughter of ETCS and Mrs. Joseph Riddle, was eight years old on May 26. She celebrated with a party with 14 of her friends at her home in Exmouth, Western Australia. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Ruby Riddle, Perry Street, Loudon and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobs, Route 2, Loudon.

Arts And Crafts Festival Features Puppet Show

An innovation at the two day Loudon County Arts and Crafts Festival this Saturday and Sunday will be free puppet shows for the children, staged by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Henderson.

The Hendersons began their puppeteering at the Church of the Nazarene where they hold worship services for children on Sunday mornings.

At the Arts and Crafts Festival, the Church of the Nazarene puppeteers will present a program of patriotic and "just for fun" stories. The puppeteers are young members of the church. All programs are taped with voices and music.

The shows will be seen all day, with performances beginning about 11 a.m. The show is about 20 minutes and a new show will begin each hour.

A special Bicentennial Booth, or exhibit, where various activities will be carried on throughout the day will be of special interest to Festival goers. There will be quilting, chair caning and dulcimer making wheel-thrown pottery, tatting, basket weaving and possibly churning. There will also be an antique bicycle collection on exhibit here.

Buses will leave from downtown Lenoir City each 30 minutes at the two days - from Lenoir Shopping Center and behind the Lenoir City Bus Station. There is no charge for riding the bus which will take visitors right to the exhibit area in the Lenoir City Park at Fort Loudoun Dam. This will help eliminate some of the heavy traffic congestion, Mrs. Joy Kirkland, Festival chairman, hopes.

The two-day event will be postponed until the following weekend should it rain on Saturday, June 5.

Sweetwater Home Tour Set

The Sweetwater Bicentennial Committee is planning a tour of homes, called "A Century of Sweetwater Valley Homes," June 12-14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. One dollar will be charged to visit all 14 sites, and to have tea at Mrs. J.E. Vestal's home. Tickets and maps may be purchased at the Sweetwater City Hall, media, local stores, and at each house.

Probably the oldest house in the tour is the barn-red farmhouse of Milton L. Kilpatrick, probably built before 1820 by Indians. Second oldest is the Federal period home (constructed of bricks made on the place and now belonging to Miss Frances Boyd), which dates from about 1827. Of the same style is the home of Dr. and Mrs. J.A. Sizer, which was probably built in 1834. Another Federal type house is that of Miss Margaret and Ernest Browder, built by their grandfather, Jefferson Browder, a Confederate veteran and miller, in 1870. The enormous handmade brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Tho B. Guthrie, once used as a stagecoach stop, was built around 1840-70.

Victorian houses include the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Patton, III, built in 1874 by the first J.H. Patton, early merchant; the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Wilson, dating from 1887; and the First Presbyterian manse, built by the grandfather of Mr. Patton and Mrs. Wilson, Dr. J.L. Bachman, founder of Sweetwater College (TMI) and former chaplain in the Confederate Army. Another Victorian house is that of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McCarroll, built probably in 1870 and moved to its present site in 1912. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson T. Jones is of the late Victorian period, 1910.

Public buildings include: County Line School, built in 1870 as church and school; the Browder Memorial United Methodist Church, built next door in 1888 on land donated by William Browder and still in use; the Helen M. Cooke Library, organized in 1906 and moved here in 1908 into a remodeled barn given by her sister, Mrs. J.W. Clark; the First Baptist Church, organized in 1860, and this sanctuary built in 1906; and TMI Academy, organized in 1874 as Sweetwater College by Dr. J.L. Bachman, and moved to present location as Tennessee Military Institute in 1909.

General chairman of the tour is Mrs. Joe Little, working with Mrs. J.E. Vestal, Mrs. J.T. Jones, Mrs. O.K. Jones, Jr., publicity and Mrs. Steve Bebb, hostess chairman.

Budget Hearing, Industrial Bonds, Head Monday Night Court Agenda

A public hearing on the proposed County Budget for 1976-77 will be held at the beginning of the County Court session at 7 p.m. Monday at the courthouse. The proposed budget, as presented to the budget committee by the various departments, was published last week. It calls for a tax rate of $6.90, which is more than a 50 percent increase over the present $4.51 rate. Before the final budget is adopted it is expected the Court Budget Committee will make major reductions in the budget, especially following the defeat of the local sales tax increase in the referendum last Tuesday. The Public Hearing is held to give citizens a chance to comment on the budget, make suggestions or ask questions.

A representative of the Tennessee Valley Authority is expected to attend the meeting to discuss problems and plans involving county roads which are being relocated or changed due to the Tolloo Dam Project. Other major items include the election of a school board member. The seven year term of Leonard (Red) Liles is

Don't Blame Pigs For Swine Flu

By Charles F. McCall Extension Leader

Don't blame pigs for swine flu. Because of widespread publicity of a possible outbreak of human influenza suspected of being similar to swine influenza will no doubt cause a lot of concern in coming months. I would like to offer some information to help put the two diseases in proper perspective.

The influenza epidemic which swept round the world in 1918 causing much illness and millions of human deaths also affected hogs at the same time. Prior to 1918, there had been no occurrence of an influenza-like illness in swine. While human sickness and death were occurring due to the influenza virus and its related aftereffects, the swine industry in the Midwest was experiencing a disease in hogs which was very similar to human influenza. The disease has continued to cause illness in hogs from that day to the present. Research later showed that the virus of swine influenza had been in the human population during the 1918 epidemic and had spread from humans to pigs during that time.

Exposure to a virus usually results in the formation of antibodies against that particular virus in the blood of any animal infected. Persons born before 1918 have antibodies against the virus which caused the human and swine epidemics in 1918. Persons born after that time do not have antibodies against that specific virus, indicating that it ceased affecting the human population about that time. However, it has continued to cause sickness in hogs every year since.

The virus which caused the death of the Fort Dix soldier this past winter has been shown to be very similar to the swine influenza virus. Public Health physicians are now concerned that the swine virus, or one very similar to it, may have been dormant in the swine population or some other reservoir for many years and now has the potential for infecting the human population with a disease similar to the one which caused so much disease and disability in 1918.

No one's sure where the virus that infected the Fort Dix soldier came from. Surveys of packing house workers show levels of antibodies against swine influenza virus, though their families do not have similar levels of antibodies. This indicates that the infection did not spread from the workers to their families.

What concerns should one have with swine and pork products in the face of a possible outbreak of swine influenza? The usual means of spreading an influenza virus is by way of droplets and excretions from the nose and respiratory tracts of individuals with an active infection. If an outbreak of swine influenza were to occur, the infection would be spread among individuals by the usual means of excretions from the respiratory tract. The virus in swine, if indeed it is the same virus as that causing human swine influenza, is contained in the respiratory system, and a person is most unlikely to be infected by eating pork and pork products, especially after it has been cooked.

Influenza is a continuing menace to the human population. It is possible that the pig may be a reservoir of a strain of influenza virus that can infect humans. But if you get influenza, it will be from another human being, not the pig.

expiring, but he is expected to be reappointed to the board. A resolution calling for the issuance of $300,000 in county industrial revenue and tax bonds for the county participation in the Blair Bend Industrial Park is to be acted on. The Court will also be asked to ratify the sale of land to Fort Loudoun Industrial Development Company from the Lenoir City Industrial Park.

The remainder of the agenda includes consideration of a solid waste contract; road deviating of extension of 6th avenue to State Highway 85, building commissioner report; TVA report on plans for Clear Branch Road; consideration of closing portion of old 72 in front of Taler Watts property; Vocational School report; election of hospital director.

TVA Reports Industrial Growth For '75

New industrial projects announced in 1975 for the Tennessee Valley region represented an estimated investment of nearly $460 million, according to the Tennessee Valley Authority's latest annual report on industrial growth.

The report lists 375 new plants and expansion projects announced by industry in 1975, involving an estimated investment of $458 million and creating some 18,400 new jobs. Electric power requirements for these industrial projects announced in 1975 total over 200,000 kilowatts.

This rate of industrial growth was less than in most of the past decade, TVA said, reflecting last year's reduced economic activity nationwide.

Over the past ten years, similar TVA reports have shown a total of $6,838 million invested by industry in projects valued at 94,000 new industrial jobs in the region. These projects represented an estimated increase of 4,546,000 kilowatts in industrial power requirements.

Industrial development in the region is one of the specific purposes assigned to TVA when it was established by Congress in 1933.

Thursday night in an 11th hour bid to keep the garbage from piling up on the streets.

The final result of the meeting was an agreed share of the costs of a new five year contract for hauling Loudon County solid waste from the transfer station and disposing of it in the Red Ridge Land Fill in Monroe County.

The new contract, with Tellico Area Disposal Service owned by Lenoir, Bright and James Chaney calls for payments of $6,200 per month for five years. This is more than double the price of the old contract held by David Witherspoon of Knoxville. Witherspoon is now bankrupt and going out of the solid waste disposal business.

Tellico Area has an option on Witherspoon's equipment and the Red Ridge Landfill. Had an agreement been worked out in theory Thursday night there would be no place to dump or dispose of garbage as of this past Tuesday.

The battle for the past several weeks has been who would pay what share of the $24,400 per year contract. Tellico Area was the firm to bid on the disposal although several others were invited to do so.

The agreement reached will have the City of Lenoir City pay $27,200 per year; the City of Loudon $19,733 per year; Loudon County $7,233 per year. The remainder will be state funds amounting to $13,680; and at least $2300 per year from Loudon County Disposal Service, a private collector who uses the transfer station.

A special meeting of the entire sanitation committee is slated for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Justice Center to discuss a fee to be charged by Loudon County Disposal for use of the transfer station and landfill.

The County of Loudon will maintain and operate the transfer station at a cost of about $10,000 per year, which is in addition to the disposal costs.

The main point at the meeting Thursday night was how much should the private collector pay Loudon City Manager Gary Hensley said that Loudon County Disposal puts as much solid waste in the transfer station a week as the City of Loudon and Lenoir City combined.

The City of Loudon dumps 99 cubic yards of waste per week, Lenoir City 176 cubic yards, leaving 549 cubic yards from other sources. Hensley estimated that 300 cubic yards of that comes from Loudon County Disposal.

On the basis of usage Hensley contends that the private contractor is getting a free ride and that he should pay according to the amount of trash he dumps.

County Sanitation Committee Chairman Boyd Duckworth admitted that the county had been lax in enforcing agreements from private collectors for use of the transfer station.

Some members of the committee felt that a fee on the private contractors would put them out of business. Thursday's meeting was the first that Tony Stafford, one of the owners of Loudon County Disposal, had missed. The argument on payments finally got down to $9,200 and the cities asked that this amount be asked of Stafford. Further discussion led to a three way split of $6,700 which is the difference between $9,200 and the $2,500 which Stafford will be asked to pay for use of the station.

The final figures agreed on are more than double the amounts paid by the two cities before, with the county putting $7,233 cash into the operation, beyond the operation cost, which they have provided for the past four years.

Speaking of Sports

By DANNY GIBSON

Run To Keep In Shape

In the recent issue of THE PHYSICIAN AND SPORTS-MEDICINE Magazine, UCLA track coach Jim Bush admits he would like to see America shy away from jogging.

His statement is based on the belief most people can get more out of running than jogging.
'If people would pick up their pace more, they wouldn't jar their body so much. Many people think they need to run two to six miles a day in order to get a good workout. I say if you run a mile properly, you'll get one.' Bush says.
'Asked what is the proper way to run, not jog, Bush says the run should be a pretty fast, relaxed, enjoyable pace.
'Make sure your center of gravity is a little bit ahead of you, especially if you are running, not jogging. This can be done by simply leaning forward and making sure when your foot comes down your body is over or a little bit ahead of it.'
'Joggers tend to run too straight up and down,' Bush explains, 'and when they tire, they lean backwards. But with a forward center of gravity, your legs act as pullers, not pushers. And pushers cause you to tire and fatigue faster.'

A Hero Who Failed

Over 300 people from the British world of sports gave a man who failed to swim across the English Channel a standing ovation this week when Jack Robertson was honored at a over-four luncheon at London's Guildhall.
Robertson, a 28-year-old from Scottsdale, Arizona, failed in his quest to cross the channel when he got within a half-mile of the French coast before he gave up.
Yet his determination, grit and courage captured the entire country of England, as was shown by the huge crowd which attended the awards ceremony sponsored by the Victoria Sporting Club on Friday.
You see, Jack Robertson was paralyzed from the waist down in an automobile accident in 1969. How wonderful this world can be.

Code Of Ethics

Baseball, as a game, has been played for well over a century. As our national pastime, only the highest standards of sportsmanship and conduct are expected of managers, coaches, players and others associated with the game.
That's particularly true of managers and coaches, who must assume full responsibility for the conduct of their players in summer amateur programs, and the following "code of ethics" may serve as a guide:
1) It is the duty of the manager and his coaches to be in control of their players at all times in order to prevent any unsportsmanlike act towards opponents, officials or spectators.
2) Managers and coaches are expected to comply wholeheartedly with the intent and spirit of the rules, and any deliberate teaching of players to violate the rules is indefensible.
3) Managers and coaches should teach their players to respect the dignity of the game, officials and opponents, as well as the team and community they represent.
4) Managers and coaches should confine their discussions with the game officials to the interpretations of the rules and not constantly challenge decisions involving judgement.
5) Although friendly banter between players is not to be prohibited, obscene language, malicious or personal remarks to opponents should not be tolerated at any time. Rather, the players should expend their energies toward encouraging their teammates to better efforts.
6) Managers should emphasize the fact that their coaches (and players) must confine their remarks to their own teammates, not the opposition or the umpires.
7) Managers and coaches, themselves, should refrain from any personal action that might arouse players or spectators to unsportsmanlike behavior.
8) Managers and coaches should expect from the umpires a courteous and dignified attitude toward players and themselves.
9) Managers and coaches should seek help from community leaders, their sponsor and their players in controlling unruly spectators.
10) Managers, coaches and players should play to win, although winning isn't everything.
The 1976 summer season is just getting underway and those associated with amateur baseball - players, managers, coaches - could well adopt the 10 standards of sportsmanship noted above as the foundation on which to build and perpetuate true sportsmanship.
Even those in administrative capacities can benefit from the 10 standards of sportsmanship. Basically, it's a matter of semantics and those in administrative capacities at local, state and regional levels are really the front-runners and responsible for developments in leagues under their jurisdiction.
In the final analysis, sandlot baseball is nothing more than a game; and when it becomes more than that - when victory is put above everything else - baseball at amateur level ceases to be fun.

"I let the fellows get it out of their system before every game, and they love it!"

Loudon-Roane County Connie Mack League Season Starts; Loudon Nips LC

Loudon and Lenoir City opened the Loudon-Roane County Connie Mack-Senior Babe Ruth Baseball League summer action Monday night with a game at Loudon.

The summer league opener turned into a sterling pitchers' dual between Loudon's curve balling right hander Danny Isbill and Lenoir City's left hander Duane Bowers.

Loudon and Isbill managed to edge Lenoir City 2-1. Loudon recorded but three hits off Bowers, who was at his pitching best for the Lenoir Cityans. Bowers, who pitched for the Lenoir City High School baseball team, struck out 14 Loudon batters and walked three.

Still Loudon used their base running opportunities well, as they had batters on the base paths in just three innings off Bowers.

The Lenoir City lefty struckout the side in the first inning but was greeted by back to back second inning singles off the bats of Danny Isbill and Wendell Davidson. Bowers also issued a walk to Loudon third baseman Ricky McVay to fill the bases. Bowers pitched out of the jam however by again striking out the side.

Davidson walked in the bottom of the fourth only to be left stranded at first base. In the bottom of the fifth Loudon came to life with one out as Jim Brown was safe on a Lenoir City fielding error. A past ball and a safe steal of third had Loudon challenging

KO'S 14, LOSE 2-1—Lenoir City left hander Duane Bowers lured a three hitter and struckout 14 only to be handed a suspense filled 2-1 loss by Loudon at the Loudon-Roane County Connie Mack Baseball League started summer play on Monday night.

Bowers. With two strikeouts under his belt Bowers lost Conway Dukes for a base on balls. Bakers stole second to put two Loudon runners in scoring position. A Loudon catcher Ben Fields, who had been a Bowers strikeout victim in the first and third innings, jumped on the left hander's second pitch for a soft looper over the out stretched glove of Lenoir City second baseman Steve Arnold as both Brown and Dukes streaked for home plate and two Loudon scores.

Bowers retired the Loudon bats on a third out fly ball to right field and set the Redskins down in order in the sixth. Meanwhile Isbill was being just as effective for Loudon on the pitching mound, the right hander, making a sharp first game appearance, retired the first eight Lenoir City batters he faced before yielding his only walk of the game to the Lenoir City left fielder Mitch Smith.

Isbill got lead-off batter Mark Morton to ground out second to first as Smith was left stranded in the top of the third frame.

A good stop by Isbill of a smash up the middle by Bowers in the fifth wiped out a Lenoir City chance for a base runner.

Pinch hitter Micky McNabb lived on a wide throw to first base in the sixth inning and took third on a passed ball. Morton was out on a line drive bunt to Isbill and Steve Arnold was nipped at first on a popout from second baseman Freddie Starritt to first baseman Wendell Davidson.

Lenoir City did finally get to Isbill in the top of the seventh as Joey Cunningham, batting left handed, beat out a bobbled grounder to third base.

Two outs later Duane Bowers blasted a pitch over the right fielder's head for a triple that scored Cunningham.

Isbill got first baseman Sam McNabb of the L's into a hit into a routine ground out as the game ended.

Isbill struckout 12 in his night's work, walked one and gave up just one hit.

Loudon will travel to Harrison for a meeting with Harriam Number 2 on Friday night. Lenoir City meanwhile will attempt to get on the victory trail on Saturday night when they host Kingston. Both games will start at 8 p.m.

Mays Admits To Cap Ploy

Willie Mays has confessed! Mays, National League All Star center fielder and super star performer, was famous for running out from under his cap chasing fly balls; and admits it was all part of a "ploy".

"I happened by accident one day," Mays said, "but the fans loved it so I started wearing caps about a fourth of a size larger than I needed so they would come off more easily in the wind."

Atomic Speedway To Celebrate Seventh Anniversary

Atomic Speedway moves into a seventh year of operation Saturday night with the Anniversary 100 Laps model sportsman race. With last Saturday night's program cancelled by rain, it means a second straight 100-lapper for the third-mile dirt facility. Action begins at 8:30. Tickets are $4.50 (reserved) and $4 (general admission).

Also on Saturday's menu will be the season's first powder puff derby which was washed out a week ago. Track owner Bob Martin has scheduled five of these events along with five races for mechanics. The first mechanics event is to be run June 12. "These extra events are always exciting for the fans," said Martin. "The points race should make them just as big for the competitors." Atomic is located east of Kingston, on Interstate 40, at Melton Hill exit.

Loudon Swimming Pool Opens, Softball Tourney Postponed

JUST LIKE MIAMI BEACH—Loudon Pool side sun bathers took the crowded beach form of sunny Florida over the weekend as the Loudon swimming pool opened for the summer.

The Loudon Swimming Pool is open for business and will be in full operation throughout the summer months. The pool observed "Student Day" on Sunday when 296 swimmers took advantage of a free afternoon of swimming.

The pool was scheduled to have opened on Saturday, but rain denied the planned event.

A total of 43 swimmers purchased tickets on Monday, Memorial Day.

While the swimming pool finally opened its water ways to the public, the Loudon Recreation Department's sponsored Fort Loudoun Women's Softball Classic was a big splash.

The annual distaff tournament was completely washed out for this past weekend and due to other tournament obligations by several of the participating teams the tournament was rescheduled for the weekend of July 9-10-11.

The Loudon Recreation Department's Fort Loudoun Men's Classic Invitational has been set for the weekend of June 25-26-27.

The Loudon Dixie Youth Baseball program and the Babe Ruth and Connie Mack Sr. Babe Ruth baseball play which has all been registered into state competition for the first time commenced activities this week with weekly up dates provided by the Loudon Recreation Department expected to begin in next week's paper.

MEMORIAL DAY POOL TURNOUT—The Loudon Swimming Pool opened for the summer this past Sunday with 296 free swimmers taking advantage of "Student Day". A whopping 229 paid swimmers arrived in the first 45 minutes of Monday's Memorial Day crowd that had reached a total of 437 by the 6 p.m. closing time.

Union Carbide Golf Unchanged

The Union Carbide Golf Standing had little change in the overall standings last week.

David Carver and Hall Summers posted 15 team points to their last week's lead the pack with 101 team points to date.

Herbert Hodge and Jack Randolph continued to hold place in second place with an equal 15 point team effort and now have registered 96 team points for the summer.

Arthur Hamill and Dick Huff over come a three point difference held by Ronnie Ledbetter and Curtis Moore to move into third place with 88 team points.

Ledbetter and Moore are in fourth place, while Charlie Helms and Jack Delaney held onto their fifth position.

J.J. Watkins and Walter Babb won the low team medalist honors for last week with a combined round of 68.

Watkins proved to be the top individual performer as he carded a round of 32 for low man of the week and tied him for low net score for the league along with past efforts by Betty Simpson and Claude Tatham.

Jack Handolph is in the catbird seat in the individual play at this time, with 32 in individual points. Claude Tatham is in second with 30 points on the season. Hall Summers is next in the

Growers Cautioned On Pesticide Use

Pesticides containing DDT, TDE, Endrin and Toxaphene are unacceptable for tobacco because of residue. As a result, tobacco on which they are used, will not be eligible for price support, a Loudon County federal farm program official cautions.

John M. Hutton, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASC) says, "Before the 1976 tobacco marketing card is issued, producers will be requested to verify whether any of these pesticides were used on the tobacco after it was planted in the field."

Random sampling of tobacco at the marketplace is continued for 1976. Samples are chemically analyzed to determine residues of DDT, TDE, Endrin, and Toxaphene. "False certification is a violation of federal law," he said.

Tobacco customers, both at home and overseas, have expressed concern over the past few years about the level of these pesticides in their purchases.

Since tobacco is mixed in the redrying and packing process, use of any of these pesticides by even a few producers can affect tobacco from many farms.

"Competition in world tobacco trade is keen," Mr. Hutton stated. "We need the best possible product if we are to retain and hopefully expand our market outlets. Nothing less than total cooperation by all tobacco growers will do. Each individual producer must use care to see that only acceptable pesticides are applied. Information on these can be obtained from Charles P. McCall, County Extension Leader. His telephone number is 986-2671," Chairman Hutton said.

"We are still ignoring the people who invited us to come and take pictures. We are trying to work out our time schedule to be able to do this. Please, we beg for your patience with us. We are always glad to hear from our readers."

"We are still looking for an old American flag. We have heard of some very old ones being around, but as yet, we haven't been able to get a lead on them. Anyone who can help us on this, we would greatly appreciate your help."

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

We are always looking for pictures of things used years ago, but now gone with time. We have had fantastic response to pictures of old cars and we are always very happy to have them to use in the Good Old Days, especially if their ownership or their operators can be connected to our area.

This week we have a picture which we feel will be of tremendous interest to our many readers. Possibly many of you know the man in the picture. Others will find it interesting because of the old vehicle in the photo. We believe it is a very rare picture. The old truck we think may be an old Liberty, which was built during and for use in World War I. We are not sure maybe some of our veterans of this War can tell us. It could very well be another make. We just don't know. The old picture was made in Chattanooga around 1920, which makes it over 50 years old and that is quite a lot of years. Over the years we have mentioned many times the vast musical talent of the Jett family of Loudon. The late Mrs. Jett and all her children were very talented in many aspects of music, singing, and playing of a variety of instruments. You name it, they could master it.

One other picture this week is of two members of this musical family. They are Lucille, now Mrs. Phillip Williams of Indiana and Ed Junior Jett, who also now resides in Indiana. A few years ago Ed cut a record and we got a copy. We thought it was very good. Don't know how it ever came out though. Maybe Junior will read about this in our Good Old Days effort and drop us a line.

Our asking about Martins in our section of the Country has brought us a rash of calls and comments, which we are very grateful for. We would like to

Rowland In 2nd District Race

Democratic State Representative Mike Rowland last week announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. House of Representatives from the Second Congressional District. That seat is currently held by Republican John Duncan.

Speaking to a group of supporters in front of the U. S. Post office and Federal Building on Main Avenue in Knoxville, Rowland said that his decision to run had not been made overnight. He said that as a member of

A Row To Hoe

As we began to write "Theophilus" many questioned why was I against all nations. Still, others commented the cartoon would neither do me or the Lord's church any good. The prevailing thought was just preach the gospel and leave others alone. Yet, preaching the truth has an enlightening way of exposing those in darkness. Sadly, and I wish it were not so, many reject the truth because they love the darkness. (1st Cor. 2:14-16). In recent articles we have discussed the necessity of being baptized to wash away sins (Acts 22:16), of only wearing the name Christian (1 Pet. 4:16), of taking the Lord's supper every first day of the week (Acts 20:7), and of singing praises to God without the use of a piano or any instrument (Col. 3:16-17). Carelessly, without any regard for the truth, many go their way advocating "positive preaching" as in the cartoon above. May we learn: "EVERY PLANT WHICH MY HEAVENLY FATHER HATH NOT PLANTED, SHALL BE ROOTED UP" (Mt. 15:13).

J. D. Lee Seeks Senate Nomination

J. D. Lee pledged a crusade against rising consumer prices in announcing his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.

The outspoken lawyer called for a halt to rising insurance, electric and gas rates to head off what he termed "a continuing inflation crisis for the average family."

"We need to bring common sense back to government spending," Lee declared, "and we need to keep large corporations from crushing the consumer with unlimited price increases."

Lee entered the race against Republican Sen. Bill Brock in an unusual flying press conference that criss-crossed the state this morning in a chartered jet airplane. He spoke from the air by radio-telephone to reporters in Nashville, Memphis, Chattanooga and Knoxville.

Lee lives in Madisonville, hometown of the late Senator Estes Kefauver. He is known throughout the state for his courtroom battles against large corporations, particularly insurance companies.

Committee and the Judiciary Committee.

He was born in Knoxville, graduated from East Tennessee State University and the University of Tennessee Law School.

He served four years in the U. S. Army in Germany and Vietnam, where he was decorated for valor and received three Bronze Star medals.

STEVE SAMPLES, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the 21st Legislative District seat, now held by Benny Stafford, receives a cup of punch from Mrs. Johnnie Myers at the candidate reception held by the Loudon County Republican Women at the Justice Center Saturday.

Whether or not the names of three candidates for local office will appear on the August 3 County General Election ballot apparently is up to the Loudon County Election Commission.

Two Sheriff Candidates Ask To Have Names On August Election Ballot

Whether or not the names of three candidates for local office will appear on the August 3 County General Election ballot apparently is up to the Loudon County Election Commission.

Two weeks ago a tentative agreement was reached to accept a $74,400 annual contract for five years submitted by Tellico Area Disposal Company, owned by James Clancy of Loudon and Loko Bright of Loudon.

Littleton said the local election deadline under the new law was May 25, but the Election Commission may be able to grant relief from that if it elects to do so.

The petitions filed by the three potential candidates were signed by voters asking that the candidate names be permitted to appear on the August ballot by the Commission.

Three candidates, including two for Sheriff, have filed petitions with the election commission asking the Commission to waive the deadline requirement and include their names on the August ballot.

After the ratification of the new solid waste disposal contract agreement by the cities and county Judge Russell said that the Court Committee headed by Squire Duckworth and the Commission of the two cities were to be congratulated and commended for working together on a tough problem.

County Court, Cities OK $74,400 Garbage Contract

After a 20 minute recess to work out final details of a contract between the Cities of Loudon, Lenoir City and the County, the County Court Monday night ratified for the disposal of solid waste for a five year period.

Several changes were in the final draft of the contract during the court meeting at the request of the City of Lenoir City. One major change was that the county would require private collectors, such as Loudon County Disposal, to pay a fee to the Sanitation Committee.

Another major change in the contract gave the two cities two members on the joint county committee, instead of one, giving the cities a total of four members, the same as the county committee.

On the bond resolution it passed by a 6-3 vote with the same court members voting together.

Lenoir City merchant and property owner Bill Matlock urged the court to take into consideration the 100 acre Lenoir City Industrial Park before obligating more bonds for the Blair Bend Industrial Park, where the $300,000 would be spent in cooperation with the City of Loudon.

Public Hearing
Although there were about 40 people in the courtroom for the court meeting there was less public reaction to the published budget proposal calling for a $6.90 tax rate than expected.

Merchants Offer $200 Cash Prizes

Did you know that Swiss cheesemaking was introduced to America in 1850 by Adam Blumer, a native of Glarus, Switzerland? Blumer began cheesemaking as a home dairy operation, with a herd of five cows, in the Swiss colony of New Glarus, Wisconsin.

Milk Keeps America Strong

Nature's most perfect food is produced by dairy farm families throughout Tennessee. Men and women still proud to have the independent spirit that made this country great. Join the 4-H club members and enjoy the many June Dairy Month activities in your community. And Remember to enjoy milk and dairy products all year, because for a stronger Tennessee and America . . . Milk is a natural.

June is Dairy Month

The Dollar Value Of Milk And Dairy Products

Consistently, throughout recent years of rapid food price inflation, milk and dairy products have been the most significant food group in restraining the rise in the average cost of food at home.

Since 1967, the base year used by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, dairy products have risen in price a relatively modest 66.9%, while the average price of food purchased for home use rose 78.8%.

In the past year, the average price increase of dairy products has remained relatively stable in relation to food purchased for home use, and far below the increases in other food groups.

Milk and dairy products are good food buys because they are essential to good health. Only three eight-ounce glasses of milk a day provide over half of all our protein needs, supplying approximately 90% of the calcium needed to maintain good health, and other vitamins and nutrients which are necessary in our diet.

Milk and dairy products were a good buy back in 1967, and they are even a better buy in dollars, and cents, and nutrition in this our bicentennial year. That's something to remember during June Dairy Month as we pay tribute to our friends and neighbors in the dairy industry who help keep America strong.

It is true that cottage cheese is a valuable food for the calorie counters, but in addition to this advantage this delicate flavored cheese is economical, easily digested and rich in important vitamins and minerals.

June Dairy Month Chairman Plans Events

by Gayle Davis Staff Writer
Janet James, 15, was recently chosen as Loudon County Dairy Chairman. She was chosen for this honor from a group of local Senior 4-H participants involved in dairy projects and will compete with other dairy chairman across the state for the best June dairy month promotion.

Janet has been an active member of 4-H for over five years and has participated in dairy foods for over four years. Her interest in dairy products came naturally through her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen D. James, who operate a Grade-A dairy farm with 96 head of cattle, 70 of them milking cows, and her three brothers and sister who previously participated in 4-H dairy projects.

With the help of local businessmen and Dairymen, Inc., Janet has many activities planned during June to promote dairy month. Saturday, June 12, she will serve dairy products to customers at the Philadelphia Branch of the Hamilton Bank.

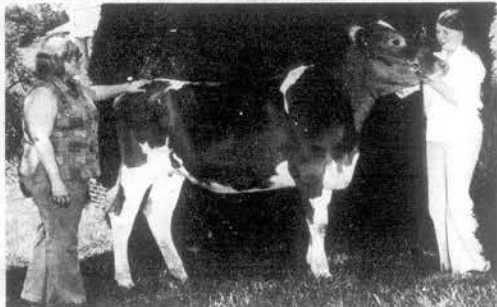

She is sponsoring a milk break June 19 at Arthur Simmons Golf Station in Philadelphia. She will also present several radio spots on stations WLLI and WBLC and will be a guest on the "Farm and Home Hour" on WLLI. Janet attended the kick-off luncheon for dairy month at the Ellington Agricultural Center in Nashville and provided cheese samples to guests of the arts and crafts festival in Lenoir City.

The purpose of these projects explains Janet is to help us become better dairy farmers and to inform the public how dairy products are made and their importance.

As recipient of several high honors in other 4-H fields as well as dairy-related, Janet has won first place at the TVA and I Fair for a 6-jar canning exhibit, and placed fourth in the barbequed chicken division at the Appalachian Fair. She is the county bread baking winner and has served on the foods and nutrition judging team at the TVA and I Fair. She also placed second in the county public speaking contest.

Janet also received honors for showing two registered Guernsey heifers at the Monroe County Fair where she was awarded Jr. Grand Champion. She claimed blue ribbons at the TVA and I Fair and the State Fair in Nashville with the heifers and at the District Dairy Show in Albion placed fourth. This year she will be showing four heifers.

JANET AND HER SISTER, Mary Grace who is a past county and district dairy foods winner, look over their prize Guernsey. The Guernsey has not been shown yet but the James have high hopes for her as she was the top-selling Guernsey at UT Dairy Day. The 15 month old Jr. Yearling came from Bayview Guernsey Farms at Virginia Beach.

Directed Verdict Given In Cycle Death Case

Very few cases in Criminal Court, which ended last week, were tried by jury. Most involved submissions by the defendants, continuances or dismissals.

Two cases ended in court directed verdicts of not guilty. Mike Packett, driver of a car involved in a car-motorcycle accident last year which claimed the life of Dewey Hicks Jr. of Lenoir City, received a court directed not guilty verdict during a trial where he had been indicted for involuntary manslaughter. The other a misdemeanor was returned in favor of Mayford Webb, an appeal from General Sessions Court for a charge of assault on an officer. Other convictions and

Speaking of Sports

By DANNY GIBSON
Sports Editor

Brannon Retires

We noted in last week's Lenoir City News where Lenoir City High School baseball coach of some 27 years, John Brannon, is giving up the coaching duties of the Panthers.

We hated to hear of Mr. Brannon's future decision upon coaching from a second hand source, since Mr. Brannon had acknowledged to this writer faithfully that he would inform all news media of this coaching decision earlier in the spring at the same time. Mr. Brannon had to undergo an operation of an achilles job to break this past spring, some two weeks into the regular high school baseball campaign.

While recovering at home in a full length leg cast Mr. Brannon had mentioned that due to the demands and health needs to be fit and spry to tackle the duties of coaching today's eagerly improving athletes that his serious coaching days might be numbered.

At an annual Lenoir City All-Sports banquet Mr. Brannon addressed the athletes and sports boosters with a different tone of voice than in banquets past stating he had enjoyed the many memories he had in coaching and how much pleasure he had received in the hard work efforts put in by his current diamonders and of all those in past seasons.

Mr. Brannon, who is teaching summer school at Lenoir City High School, will continue to hold down his High School math class as a teacher next year. He most likely will continue to do an excellent job in preparing public relations sports copy, standings, and athletic programs for the Panthers various sports events over the course of the school year.

Also it is expected the departure from the coaching ranks will not affect his "sports voice" of radio WILL or his sports editor contributions for the Lenoir City News.

The absence of Coach Brannon down the third base coaching box, dressed in kahari pants and a sweat shirt or occasional sport shirt in recent seasons, may tend to give opposing baseball teams a suspicion the elite craftsman is up to some new trick.

Brannon, long known for his baseball ruminating game and squeeze'em home one at a time baseball tactics, won 259 games while losing only 157.

I know little of Coach Brannon's early teams only what I've been told since coming to Loudon County some five years ago. But I can tell you some personal playing encounters back in the early 1960's.

As a wild-eyed second baseman on a first year Madisonville High School baseball team Brannon's Panthers managed to get on our schedule. After missing our first scheduled date due to rain we finally played.

The Panthers were well coached and veteran players. They clubbed us. But most impressive of the whole thing was how the cocky Coach Brannon and his team stayed ahead not just in the score but in quickly silencing the third base line rail birds who had begun to squabble with the Lenoir City coach and his players.

Brannon, feeling the game in his hip pocket, reeled back on his heels and started to scowl as a squawking bugler who had done nothing great all day to desperse with the triva of a base hit... only a home run would fill the demands of the Panther Coach. On the first pitch I'm here to tell you the guy hit the Madisonville Grammar School otherwise the ball might never have been found. To a freshman that was some kind of coaching.

We finally got around to adding about three of those 157 defeats to Coach Brannon's record. But all were earned. It was a fun rivalry.

We once, and it may have been the last time the two schools clashed on the diamond. The game was tied and the umpire had already said it was over. The final score would be the last as darkness was setting in on Cwitan Field and the game would have to be called.

Brannon had a quick team meeting. Every batter came to the plate tuning. Even the best of his hard swinging batters. I don't believe we ever recorded an out. The Panthers won at any rate on a squeeze play.

And Brannon, who had done most of us over the years, and finally began to take our meetings serious, told us after the game if he had any surprises were in that "big of a hurry he would have ended the game earlier... he said since it was our last meeting of the season (we were in separate districts) that he wanted his team to have a good work out.

It was always the "last word" of some nature that seemed to carry over the lives to the next ball season and the fun of playing a Brannon coached team.

Lenoir City baseball will seem odd indeed minus the man who has never coached a losing season.

Quail, Rabbit, Squirrel Seasons

Dates for the quail, rabbit and squirrel seasons for Tennessee have been set by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Commission.

Hunters had sought a traditional Thanksgiving Day opening for quail and the TWRC originally proposed an opening for the first Saturday in November.

But the commission compromised and set the opening of quail season for the second Saturday in November.

Opening of rabbit season is set for the first quail season on Nov. 13. Bag limits for quail are 10 daily, 2 possession, and rabbits, five and 10.

Squirrel season is scheduled to begin on Dec. 31. Bag and possession limits on squirrel are 6 and 12.

Approval has also been given for the hunting of big game with high caliber rifles and game tags. Designations must be chambered for .307, .41 or .44 caliber magnum rounds.

Sports Memorabilia On Freedom Train

Film, video tape, replays, uniforms, equipment, Olympic medals, trophies and memorabilia embracing 90 years of U. S. sports are among the fascinating array of documents and documents contained in multi-media presentations aboard the American Freedom Train, which visited Knoxville on Thursday.

There were displays on baseball, football, basketball, golf, tennis, swimming, horse racing, auto racing, ice hockey, rodeo and lacrosse.

The train's multiple-screen monitors replayed great moments in baseball, juxtaposing a homer by Babe Ruth with one by Hank Aaron. The lat Aaron used to hit his historic 714th homer was on display as part of the train's Bicentennial tribute to the impact of sports on American life.

Other greats of the game are depicted as well as bronze plaques of Hall of Famers from Cooperstown, N.Y.

The moving walkway took visitors past a remainder of the days of college football heroes like Doc Blanchard, Glenn Davis, Jim Brown, Rod George, Kyle Rote and Jim Thorpe.

Jerry West, Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain, Bob Cousy, John Havlicek, George Mikan and Meadowlark Lemon among the basketball stars represented, and there is a knockout over four seasons when films of Dempsey, Willard, Mike Jeffries, Louis-Schmeling, Marciano-Wilcott and Ali-Cleveland fights are included.

Here's racing films about Man of War, Citation, and Secretariat and the unique Triple Crown silver trophy on display.

Baseball Director, Jaharis, Jesse Owens, Bill Tilden, Arnold Palmer, A. J. Foyat and other greats are also included in displays. Trophies shown included the Helmsman, Masters Golf, Lambert, O'Connell, World Series and there are many medals including the one won in the Olympics by Thorpe, Johnny Weismuller and Jesse Owens.

CHECKING POOL REGULATIONS

The Loudon City Swimming Pool will again be under the capable management of Mrs. Brenda Crabtree, Mr. John Rose, who will serve as the chief life guard will also be the assistant manager of the summer pool operations. Both worked at the Loudon Pool last summer in the Loudon Recreation Department's summer program.

Helms And Delaney After Carbide Golf Lead

Look out for Charlie Helms and Jack Delaney in the Union Carbide Golf League. Helms and Delaney went on a tear last week as they continued for the low net league in the standings from fifth to second. They are currently just one point behind the league leaders, David Carver and Hall Summers.

Carver and Summers led the Union Carbide golfers for the third straight week with 108 team points.

The teams of Arthur Hamilton-Jack Duff, and Herbert Lodge-Jack Randolph continued to challenge for the top league position as both duets have over 100 team points to their credit.

Teams making excellent progress in last week's action were Ronnie Ledbetter and Curtis Moore, now tied for fourth place; Ken Alford and Mike Orr, Henry Julian and Spencer Watkins, and William Cottor and Don Rose.

Claude Tatham and Ronnie Ledbetter, Mike Millsaps and Jerry Presley, Ken Alford and Mike Orr, Allan Williams and Betty Simpson, J.J. Watkins and Walter Babl, Dick Rosenbaum and Carlos Evans, George Stafford and Doug Montooth.

John Cobb Is City Golf Medalist

John Cobb, who captured the Madisonville Golf Course with a medalist low of 34 only last week has again achieved low medalist honors for the week in Loudon's City Golf League Scratch Division.

Cobb's 34 jumped him some 30 points in the standings above from a mediocre seventh place to second. This week Cobb fired a nine hole round of 35, added another 21 points to his individual season total and now enjoys an 11 point lead over his closest challenger Lynn Millsaps in the 18 player Scratch Division.

Cobb has accumulated 98 points thus far in the season. Millsaps has 89.

Last week's leader Harrison Henry has fallen to a third place with Buck Kirkland, both with season counts of 88 points.

In the Handicap Division of the Loudon City Golf play, Jim Hamill has climbed from a fourth place standing to take over the division lead with 90 points.

Hamill, who plays with a league handicap of six strokes, had an altered score of 35 for his nine hole showing last week and medalist honors, gained 22 points on his total and now leads by standing by two points over Jim Huff with 88.

John Millsaps, who had the division lead, dropped to third place in the week with 84 points. Ted Lomas also has 84 points.

Loudon Idle, LC Wins Two In Connie Mack

In the Loudon County-Roane County Connie Mack and Senior Babe Ruth Baseball action last week, Loudon traveled to Harrison No. 2 on Friday only to find no one available for play.

Meanwhile Lenoir City regrouped from a 2-1 season opening loss to Loudon to down Kingston in a thriller 8-7 and then pummeled Harrison No. 1 12-2 on Monday evening.

In Saturday night's game with visiting Kingston the Panthers were held scoreless for four innings while the visitors tallied four runs in the second on a double and home run, two more runs in the fourth on a hit batter and a home run, and one run in the seventh on a double and a single.

Lenoir City got on the score board in the fifth with a run and used three consecutive walks for a three run sixth.

The Panthers added four runs in the bottom of the seventh as the deciding run crossed the plate off the base hit swing of Sam McNabb. Mark Morton led the Panthers at the plate with a four hit in five official times at bat performance. Duane Bowers had a pair hits for the winners.

Joey Cunningham started for Lenoir City, giving up six runs in a three inning stretch that carried into the top of the fourth frame.

Terry McCulloch came on in relief and was credited with the pitching decision.

Lenoir City hammered out 13 hits on Monday night in a five inning affair over Harrison No. 2 12-2.

Three Lenoir City pitchers shared in the mound duty. Lefty Duane Bowers started and struck out the side only to have his arm tighten in the top of the second.

Bobby Smith then pitched three innings, and got credit for the win while H. K. Savage closed the game, with an inning on the mound.

Lenoir City scored one in the first inning, two in the second, five in the third and two in both the fourth and fifth frames.

Harrison No. 2 did all their scoring in the top of the fifth. Mark Morton was once more the hitting leader with a 3 and 4 showing and three runs batted in. Terry McCulloch was 3 and 4 and H. K. "Rabbit" Selvaige, Jeff Stamps and Joey Cunningham all added a pair of hits each. Stamps contributed three RBIs.

Loudon and Lenoir City will meet again this Monday night at Lenoir City's Civilian Field at 8 p.m.

Goose Experiment Ruined

"The international giant Canada goose restoration experiment, which was conducted by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency and the Ontario Department of Natural Resources, has been ruined by vandals," said Arno Amlinger, Area Manager of the Chickamauga Wildlife Management Area.

According to Amlinger, over ten pair of these 300 geese, which were transplanted from their Canadian winter home to the Chickamauga Reservoir, had successfully nested in Tennessee only to have their nests completely destroyed by malicious vandals. The last of the giant Canada geese (timed on Sunday, May 16th) when some senseless, two-legged scum wearing leather shoes stole the last remaining eggs from the nest. This "finishing touch" culminated a series of depredation which these magnificent birds have been subjected to, assuring the fact that there would be no reproduction this year.

This plundering of the nests of the giant Canada geese on Chickamauga Reservoir has occurred despite pleas by TWRA personnel to stop. The Blythe Ferry Shooting Area, where several pairs of geese had nested, was closed to vehicular traffic to try to stop this thievery, and it was widely publicized that to

Racing Mechanics, Turned Drivers To Head Atomic Show

The mechanics, the unsung heroes of many winning race teams, get an opportunity to show off their driving skills Saturday night at Atomic Speedway.

The first of five races this season for the wrench turners will be an oddball attraction: the weekly late model sportsman show. They are to compete in a 12-lap affair on the high-banked dirt facility. Action gets under way at 8:30 with time trials for sportsman drivers. Tickets to weekly events are $3.50 (reserved) and $3 (general admission).

More than 100 laps of feature competition in top Sportsman cars are to go 40 laps, Class B racers 25, Volkswagens 15 and bombers 15. The sportsman drivers also will run two or more heats. H.E. Vineyard, meanwhile, continues to be the hottest sportsman driver. The Knoxville driver shoots for his fourth victory of the year in a Chevy II after capturing the 100-lap Anniversary event last Saturday night.

McCallie Wins High School Baseball Title

For three days McCallie saw nothing but rain. And Saturday afternoon, when the sky finally dried, the Blue Tornado almost wished it hadn't.

But, despite six perfect innings of pitching by McGuckie's David Polk, McCallie carried home the TSSAA state baseball championship with a five-run explosion in the sixth inning, 5-2.

The key to the throne room was turned when Keith Sloan ended Polk's domination with a first pitch bunt single in the sixth.

Mark Hooper, the Blue third baseman, kicked down the door minutes later, culminating the rally with a grand slam home run to deep left center field.

McGuckie, seeking to become only the third team in TSSAA history to win back-to-back state crowns, threatened to run the series to a third game.

The Raiders scored in the second inning off McCallie starter Franklin Roberts on Mickey Anderson's two-out single, and Polk's two-out three pitching seemed capable of holding the Blue bats at bay.

But then Sloan opened the sixth with a hit and it seemed to rattle the sophomore right-hander.

After one out, designated hitter John Deaton walked. Then, Jeff Strausberger grounded out to first, moving the runners to second and third. Tom Bruning then tied the game with a weak, looping single to right.

Faced with Guy Buser, coach Mel Brown ordered an intentional walk. Then on the next pitch Hooper smashed a hanging curve ball out of the park for the victory.

Roberts was pulled in favor of Buser when he walked the leadoff hitter in the sixth. Buser quickly got into trouble with his control but with the bases loaded and two outs came up with a fielding gem to shut off the rally as one run scored.

In the seventh Steve Gregory managed a two-out single for McGuckie but shortstop Sloan ended the game with a clean catch-off-batted ball.

All McCallie's base runners came in the sixth and the Blue finished with five hits. McCallie managed eight off McGuckie's Chris Van Dyke. Roberts, Buser (6) and Sloan; Polk and S. Little.

Democrat Primary Vote Certified

The final tabulation and certification of the Democratic Presidential Primary in Loudon County was finally completed Monday of this week.

Members of the Democratic Primary Board met, unannounced to the press, last Tuesday night, opened the ballot boxes, certified the vote and then locked the tally sheets back inside the ballot boxes, failing to leave any totals for any of the candidates.

At the request of the Election Commission Registrar the boxes were reopened by that office last Saturday in an attempt to get the vote totals from tally sheets and the certified vote sent to the State Election Commission. Two tally sheets were not to be found and later in the day the Election Commission had to reopen machines in the Lenoir City Outside precinct to get the totals.

Jimmy Carter led all candidates in the Presidential Preference primary with 1100 votes. Others were Church 27, Harris 5, Mackson 21, McCormack 4, Sharp 3, Uhall 40, Wallace 67 and 16 were uncommitted.

Carter delegates also led by wide majorities over all others. The Carter delegate votes were Calhoun 494, Debro 324, Freeman 458, Haskins 318, Lee 365, Petrone 214, Shirley 190, and Susan 178.

Jackson delegate votes were Mull 46, Alexander 35, and Brown 21.

Wallace delegate votes, Huff 47, Herrman 31, M. Williams 36, V. Williams 23, Wayland 47, Whedee 31.

Uncommitted delegate counts were Monger 40, McMillan 37, and Baumgartner 32.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: As you know, I have worked in the elections in Loudon for the past several years. We have been voting on machines for the most part over this period and I never saw any more confusion in an election than there was in the election we just completed. The machines were not set up right, at least one machine had a number of votes recorded on it before they even started voting. We had a number of machines that stopped working during the day and had to wait for someone to come and fix them after a number of calls were made.

I do not know who was responsible for this mess of confusion but in a time when we are for at least political leaders' saying be sure to go vote, every American should vote. We are continuing to confuse the people at the polls. Now after we convinced the voters of the split Loudon County Precinct that there was no East and West precinct outside in the election just completed, there is an East and West Precinct because of the political games being played in Nashville. I for one do not believe they want all the people to vote. If they did they would have to mend their ways or hunt for a job.

I would suggest that the Election Commission get the county to buy some plywood and where there is more Precincts than one in one building to paint signs on this plywood pointing out what Precinct voted where and have someone put these out the morning of the election and take them down at the end of the day and store them somewhere until the next election.

I would suggest that someone check the voting machines to see that they were right before time for the polls to open and if whoever is responsible for this does not have the time then they should get someone who does have the time. Let's stop fooling ourselves and really try to help the voters and get them out to vote for the candidate of their choice. I believe with a little help from our responsible leaders and our officers at the polls we can get the people to vote if this is what we want.

Sincerely, Rollen Bradshaw, Route 4, Loudon, TN 37774

Editor Loudon County Herald To the Loudon County Taxpayers. Do you know Loudon County has the highest tax rate of the surrounding counties around us? Facts you should know—Loudon County tax rates for the past five years: 1971-$2.94, 1972-$2.58, 1973-$3.96, 1974-$3.96, 1975-

$4.51. The surrounding counties' 1975 tax rates: Knox County-$3.89, Blount County-$2.30, Monroe County-$3.70, Roane County-$2.47.

Have you heard what the 1976 tax rate is being talked?

As a taxpayer of Loudon County, if you are concerned about your property tax, you need to contact the Squires in your District. They are our representatives. Also, the County Judge is Chairman of the Budget Committee.

The rates that are being discussed: what will this do to industries and investors when they look at an unrealistic tax rate compared to other counties in our state with much lower rates. Our County Court needs to be realistic about our tax rate and SAY NO to some of the requests that come before them. The decisions they make as Court Members affect a lot of people in our county for years to come. Express yourself to your Court representatives and attend the next County Court meeting.

Why has Loudon County gone from No. 37 to 41 on our state license plates? We need to look at the growth in our county compared with other counties in our state and see why we went from 37 to 41. Bill Marlock.

Tennessee Valley Caravan To Visit County June 22

"Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South," a traveling caravan of exhibits depicting the history and development of the South, will be located at Lenoir Shopping Center and will be open from noon to 8 p.m. There is no admission charge. The exhibit is sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Tennessee Bicentennial Commission, and the Tennessee Army National Guard, and is being locally sponsored by Loudon County Bicentennial Committee.

The caravan consists of five exhibit trailers which will be placed in a connected, U-shaped configuration. The interior of each trailer is designed so that the visitor will be taken back through time to the late 1500's, when Indian villages once dotted the region. Displays and sound effects have been carefully combined to isolate the visitor from the outside world while recreating the movement of history as it took place in the South, from the distant past to the promise of the future.

A unique and exciting audiovisual presentation entitled "Celebration" will complement the historical theme of the caravan by featuring contemporary life in the South. This ten and one-half minute program was awarded a grand prize at the New York International Film and Television Festival last November. It uses 15 simultaneous slide projectors and a large screen built into the side of one trailer. More than 300 slides are presented in synchronization with original music.

An outdoor exhibit of items of historical interest will also accompany the caravan. Over 100 artifacts are included in the caravan displays, and the outdoor exhibit, ranging from a 10,000-year-old Clovis spear point to a moon rock brought back during one of the Apollo space flights. These artifacts have been donated by over 25 organizations, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the Smithsonian Institution, and individual collectors.

A special commemorative newspaper will be given to each individual or family attending the exhibit. In addition, seeds and seedlings from rare and historic plants will also be available for sale. Included among these will be seedlings from Franklinia alabamica, a beautiful small tree which was discovered about 1790 in southeastern Georgia and named in honor of Benjamin Franklin.

Franklinia are quite rare, with less than 100 mature trees in existence, and it is hoped that distribution and planting of these seedlings will ensure the preservation of Franklinia for future generations to enjoy.

During its 11 month tour of the South, the caravan will visit approximately 170 communities in eight states, including Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, and Alabama.

Funding for the caravan is being provided primarily from TVA nonpower funds, with additional contributions from participating states and communities. The caravan has been endorsed by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

Industrial Land Sold
The ratification by the County Court of the sale of land in the Lenoir City Industrial Park to FLIDCO will permit the private industrial development company to construct a prospective industrial building in the 100-acre park.

Lenoir City Mayor Joe Grayson said that 9.6 acres of land will be sold to the company for $47,500. County Industrial Agent Bart Iddins said that the firm will then build an industrial building in hopes of speeding up chances of getting the first industry in the new industrial park. He said four firms were already interested and construction of the building was not yet started.

Other Court Action
Squire Boyd Duckworth read a letter to the court from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henry wanting to purchase one acre of land near the Justice Center. The Henrys owned the land before the county condemned it for the Center. The letter said the land was on the intersection of Highway 11 and the Sugarlimb Connector. Judge Russell said the offer of the couple to purchase the land at the same price given for it by the county will be forwarded to the Purchasing Committee.

Approval was given to the road design plans of the Lenoir City Company to extend 6th Avenue in Lenoir City some 3,000 feet over Town Creek to Highway 95. Some 2,000 feet of the road is in Loudon County. The road would adjoin a major shopping center development being planned by Lenoir City Company.

Building Commissioner Jack Henry reported that 23 building permits were issued in June. Fifteen for new homes, four home additions and four mobile homes. The permits generated $231 in fees and added taxable property valued at $281,988 to the tax rolls.

An unused section of old highway 72, adjacent to new 72 in front of the Tater Watts property was closed at the request of Mr. Watts with the approval of the County Highway Department.

School Superintendent Headlee said that Vocational School Coordinator Coy Gibson has received an agreement with the State to design and install a sewage pumping station on the Vocational School property, relieving the county of the expense. The new vocational center is expected to open this fall.

EDDIE SMITH OF LENOIR CITY, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 21st Legislative District seat in the State Legislature addresses the crowd at the upcoming Primary Election in August.

J.W. MASHBURN, a former County Deputy, announced at the Democratic Dinner that he was a candidate for Sheriff in the August General Election. There is some question as to whether his qualifying petition was acceptable. Under new state law the deadline for filing was May 25.

MRS. JAMES SASSER, wife of the U. S. Senate candidate, and her two children, are shown with campaign aide Paul Bivens, and state campaign adviser Harvey Sproul, as they campaigned for Sasser at the Loudon County Democratic Dinner Saturday night. Bivens, of Loudon, is a full-time campaign aide to Sasser.

Bus Owners, Grade Cards On Agenda

The Loudon County Board of Education will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the office of Superintendent Edward Headlee. Transportation contracts with bus owners, the building program and the grade card system are some of the top items on the agenda.

Several teacher applicants will be interviewed by the board. They are Sharon Benton for Greenback Elementary, Kindergarten; Evelyn Harmon, Loudon Elementary 3rd grade; and Mary Russell, Davis Elementary 3rd grade.

One of the major bus owners W.B. Cosner has requested to appear before the board, but the reason was not stated. Possible discussion on the status of the bus owner contracts, which County Judge William Russell thinks are illegal because they were granted by the school board and not the purchasing Commission, if a committee has a report ready on possible changes in them is ready.

At the last meeting, the board discussed the pros and cons of the nine week grade reporting system now used by the county versus the six week grade card system. The board was to study the matter and get opinions from parents and teachers for possible further discussion at Thursday's meeting.

One item deals with a request by the Loudon High School Band Director. The board will consider the approval of fund transfer at Loudon High; and the possible consideration of a surveyor for the Philadelphia and Greenback schools.

Superintendent Headlee will report on the budget for the next year; possible upgrading of the business education classes at Loudon and Greenback High Schools; and a report on salary increases, across the board versus the index system now used by the county.

Building program reports include status of the Philadelphia, Greenback and two middle schools, plus the middle school sites.

The board is also expected to elect a Chairman, Vice Chairman and Secretary for the coming year.

Air Conditioners...

2 Steps to a wise purchase.

Step 1
Buy the right size. The average home needs about 20 Btu's of cooling per square foot. If you buy an air conditioner that's too small, it won't do the job. If you buy a unit that's too large, it won't dehumidify the air properly.

Step 2
Buy efficiency. To keep cooling costs down, buy a unit with an energy efficiency ratio (EER) of 7 or above. The higher the EER, the more efficiently the air conditioner will use electricity. If the EER is not given on the unit, figure it yourself by dividing the watts into the Btu/hr.

Stop by our office for a copy of the free folder Guide for Buying A Room Air Conditioner.

Firebomb Hits Sale Tent

A homemade fire bomb destroyed a sale tent and caused an estimated $1,200 in damages to appliances and household items in the tent at the Goodyear Service Store in Lenoir City about 4:30 a.m. Thursday.

Lenoir City Police Chief Joe Sims said the homemade bomb was thrown from on top of the Goodyear building to the ground next to the sale tent. The fire from the bomb, a bottle with gasoline and a rag as a fuse, quickly spread up the side of the tent, which was valued at $1,200. A Goodyear employee sleeping inside managed to escape uninjured.

Chief Sims said that about noon Friday a juvenile boy was arrested and faces court action in the case.

ASC Grain Loans Continue

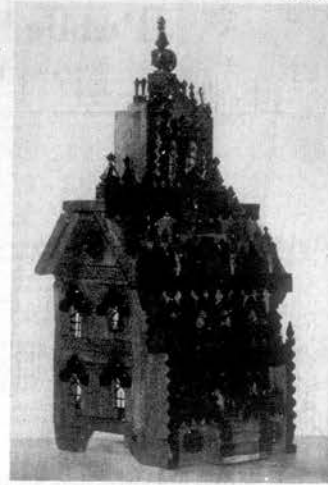

John M. Hutton, Chairman of the Loudon County ASC Committee, announced that anniversary type loans will be continued for wheat and feed grains for 1976 and that loans for soybeans will be reinstated.

"Anniversary loans offer producers an opportunity to obtain cash and hold their crops for later sale and to even out marketings," Mr. Hutton explained. "Such loans mature 11 months following the end of the month in which the loans are made."

Loans on soybeans, corn and grain sorghum are available from harvest through May 31, 1977, and loans on wheat, oats, barley and rye may be obtained from harvest through March 31, 1977.

To obtain a loan a producer needs to certify at his ASCS Office the number of bushels of grain he has stored on the farm in suitable storage. The loan amount will then be computed by multiplying the eligible quantity of grain in storage times the loan rate for the county.

On farm stored loans the producer has the option of taking a loan on a quantity of grain less than the total eligible and/or paying off all or a part of the loan at any time during the loan period. A requirement under the loan agreement is that the producer maintain the quality of the loan collateral and that he notify his county officer prior to using or selling any of the grain pledged for the loan. Applicants for ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

Akard Gives ETDD Gavel He Has Had 42 Years

What's a Chairman without a gavel? Well, of course, East Tennessee Development District (ETDD) Chairman Teddy Willocks and all of his predecessors were gavel-less as they presided over ETDD Executive Committee and Board of Directors meetings for the last nine years. When things got out of hand the Chairman had to risk laryngitis to bring order to the room. But never again, thanks to Mr. R. D. Akard of Greenback.

At ETDD's May Executive Committee meeting, Mr. Akard decided that it was high time Chairman Willocks had a gavel with which to conduct ETDD meetings. Mr. Akard is rather fond of ETDD as he was a member of the first ETDD Board of Directors and also served as ETDD's Treasurer in 1969. Opening up his briefcase, Akard told Willocks "I can't imagine a Chairman without a gavel."

One can imagine that it has been a most attractive gavel and block that he had quite a history. Mr. Akard, a retired railroad employee who now farms and owns a realty company, was presented the gavel in 1934 at a railroads convention in New York City. One can imagine that it has been responsible for a lot of pounding over the last 42 years because Mr. Akard laughingly admitted "I've used it quite a bit."

According to Mr. Akard the gavel was made in the largest cabinet shop in the world located in Altoona, Pennsylvania. But the most interesting part about the gavel is that it is made from a special wood brought to America from Jerusalem. The wood comes from a tree which produces its own preservatives and is considered a symbol of perpetuity. In presenting the gavel and block to the ETDD Chairman Mr. Akard explained that it was a symbol of his desire for ETDD's perpetuity.

ETDD is very proud to have the Akard gavel and now ETDD Chairmen in the future will never be gavel-less again. After thanking Mr. Akard on behalf of the entire Board, Chairman Willocks tried the gavel out immediately. It proved to be very effective.

Two Vehicles Are Stolen

Two vehicles one a pickup truck and the other a car have been stolen from the Jim White Chevrolet sales lot in Lenoir City in the past week. The first, a 1972 Chevrolet Monte Carlo was taken June 1. The car was recovered the following day at Evans' Boat Club ramp. The switch had been pulled out of the steering column.

The second vehicle, a 1973 Ford Ranger Pickup, with an eight foot bed and camper was taken sometime after 4 p.m. June 2. It has not been found. Lenoir City police chief Joe Smms said.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

We have often said (and are able to prove in many cases) that Loudon area has had about everything over the passing years. Some of which has gained national publicity, while other things might have been equally as noteworthy, but somehow, just didn't gain notoriety like other things. We take leave of our normal formal this week to do something a little bit different. It still fits in the realm of the Good Old Days era and deals with our own area people. We thought our readers might enjoy what we are going to write about.

The thing we have pictures of and want to write about gained nationwide exposure. It was the topic of Ripley's Believe it or Not column, which was carried by newspapers across the United States as well as being the topic in other news releases over the years. We are sure many of our readers never heard of it, but of course, many have.

The subject is a little miniature house that Joseph V. Robinson built when he was 14 years old, during the winter of 1877. The late Joe Robinson was an only child, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson, who lived on the C. P. T. Davis farm on the Little Tennessee River. The only tools Joe used in the building of the house was a pocket knife and an old wooden compass. No nails were used. The structure of the house is made from the pith of cornstalks and the logs are put together with the shell of the cornstalk.

The son of the late Joe Robinson, Mr. Sam J. Robinson, is still living and resides on Wharf Street in Loudon. Mr. Sam related to us the following comments and highlights about the little miniature house. He stated that his father told him that he laid the cornstalks in front of the open fireplace and when they dried out, they cut real easily. He said that ornamental trimming on the house was carved from black walnut.

When Joe had finished the house, he gave it to Mrs. C. P. T. Davis in exchange for a pair of homemade Jean pants. According to Sam Robinson, Mrs. Davis stated that she was offered a $100 for the house by a Knoxville man, but she refused the offer. Later, a friend recognizing his ability, offered to send him to study architecture, but his parents would not let him leave home. Mr. Robinson said his father built two of these houses, one was given to relatives who later moved west and he lost track of the house.

When Mr. and Mrs. C. P. T. Davis died, the house was handed down to their son, Charles P. Davis. Years later, during a terminal illness, Charles Davis gave the little house to his living room. Norman McQueen for his kindness during his illness. In January, 1965, Mr. McQueen gave the house to Sam J. Robinson, the oldest living son of Joe Robinson.

Today, Mr. Sam has the little house housed in a clear plastic container and has it sitting in his living room. He has it lighted electrically. It is a prized possession and a real showpiece. Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF TITLE FUNDS LOUDON-COUNTY COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM
Application Grant No. B-76-DN-4-9014
London, Tennessee

An application for federal funds has been prepared by the City of Loudon and County of Loudon, Tennessee, under the Community Development and Housing Act of 1974, Title I, to include the following

1. Rehabilitation within an area bounded by the Loudon County Courthouse to the west (U.S. Highway 11), the new Charles H. Bacon Hospital to the east, Tennessee River to the north and Grove Street to the south.
 2. Small park in the Hunt-Sville Community adjacent to Lenoir City.
- All natural and human environmental factors have been examined concerning these projects. These include I. to include the following activities:

Noise; 2.) Flood Plain; 3.) Air Quality; 4.) Water Quality and Wildlife Standard. Other factors examined were slope stability, foundation conditions, terrain, soil permeability, ground water, natural hazards, man-made hazards, nuisances, compatibility with environment, schools, employment, health and social care, transportation, water and sewer systems, storm sewers, solid waste, geological features, rock and soil stability, soil erosion, plant and animal life, energy aesthetics, historic properties, and the social fabric of the community.

Based on the examination of the above factors, the City of Loudon and Loudon County, Tennessee have found that the proposed activities will have no significant effect on the environment. The reasons for this finding are:

- a. Rehabilitation Project. The majority of the environmental effects will be temporary in nature and the result of normal construction activities. Any adverse effects will be minimized through necessary safeguards. Adverse effects created by displacement will be minimized and mitigated by providing relocation assistance to all displaced individuals and businesses in accordance with Public Law 91-546.
- b. Small Park. The majority of adverse effects are temporary in nature and will be the results of normal construction activities. In summary, the proposed activities will have no significant environmental effects and will not disrupt the quality of the human environment. The proposed activities will aid in improving the physical, social, and economic environment of the area.

The City of Loudon and Loudon County are maintaining and have on file, an Environmental Review Record pertaining to the above proposed activity. It may be examined and copied by interested parties at the City of Loudon during normal working hours. No further Environmental Review of this proposed activity is anticipated to be conducted by the applicants.

On Monday, June 21, 1976, the City of Loudon and County of Loudon, Tennessee will submit to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development its request for release of funds and certification. Comments may be submitted to the City for a period of at least five (5) days following this notice, or until Friday, June 18, 1976.

The City of Loudon and County of Loudon will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (H.U.D.), under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Loudon being the designated lead agency, is certifying to H.U.D. that the City of Loudon and the Mayor, in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Loudon and County of Loudon may use the BLOCK GRANT funds, and H.U.D. will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. H.U.D. will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is in one of the following bases:

- a) That the certification was not, in fact, executed by the chief executive officer of the applicant; or
 - b) That applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision; finding, or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process.
- Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to H.U.D. at One Northshore Building, 1111 Northshore Drive, Knoxville, Tennessee, 37918, Attention: Mr. Carroll G. Oakes, Area Director.
- Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by H.U.D.
- No objection received after Monday, July 19, 1976, will be considered by H.U.D.

City Tax Rate To Remain Same

In a brief meeting Monday night the Loudoun city Council authorized the issue of $200,000 in industrial bonds to Farmer's Home Administration at an annual interest rate of 5 (five) percent and approved the City budget for the next fiscal year (1977) in the amount of $933,286.

The budget will not require a tax increase. In this budget message Mayor Lambert extended his appreciation to the City Council for their work on the budget. Lambert stated, "the original budget requests would have required a tax increase of at least 50 cents and some hard decisions had to be made to avoid that. The Council has trimmed budget requests without vitally affecting essential services and I am extremely proud of them for it." The Mayor also indicated that the budget did not reflect revenues in excess of $2 million which the city will receive this year in federal grants. It was explained that the city was relying to some extent on revenue sharing funds to balance the budget, but most of those funds were used in capital projects rather than in operations.

In authorizing the industrial bond issue various councilmen indicated that they were confident that the industrial park would more than pay its way with the location of new industry. Mayor Lambert stated that at least two industries were interested in sites at this time.

Herald Wins Awards For Sports, Photos, Advertising

The Loudoun County Herald was one of the Tennessee newspapers to win awards in the annual University of Tennessee Press Association Contests. The awards were presented at the Summer Convention of TPA in Gallatin last weekend.

The Herald won three awards, placing second among the larger weekly newspapers in Sports; third in spot news pictures and sixth in advertising campaigns. Attending the Convention from the Herald were Editor Larry Cate, Sports Editor Danny Gibson and Advertising Manager Bob Fair.

UT Vice President Joseph E. Johnson named the winners and presented plaques and certificates to the winners. A total of 75 newspapers submitted 734 entries in the various contest categories in four separate divisions — two for weeklies and two for dailies based on circulation.

Sports Editor Danny Gibson accepted the second place award in Sportswriting among weekly newspapers. It is the third time in five years the Herald sports editor has won an honor in the press contest judging.

A series of photos of a police chase involving county deputies in February won the Herald third place in Sports News Photos. Herald Editor Larry Cate, who took the pictures accepted the award.

An advertising campaign in May of 1975 keyed to the Tax Rebate which featured 56 area merchants in a four week promotion won sixth place in the Advertising Campaign group for weeklies. The campaign was designed and sold by Danny Gibson, who works in advertising as well as his duties as Sports Editor.

Judges in the contests were faculty members of out-of-state journalism colleges at the University of Georgia, Louisiana State University, Wayne State University,

The Loudoun County Election Commission this past Saturday voted not to allow the names of three persons who filed petitions after the May 25 deadline, to appear on the August 3 general election ballot.

In another major move the Commission disallowed a petition from a group of Loudoun Countians asking that a referendum be held on the $1 million school building bond issue.

The three candidates, J.W. Mauburn, Democrat for Sheriff, Kenneth L. Brown, Independent for Sheriff, and Gene Arden, for constable Second District, were notified that their petitions were late under state law the Commission finds they are not entitled to be placed on the ballot.

Commission Chairman John Gibson said that the Commission received petitions signed by 923 persons asking that the Commission call a special referendum on the bond issue. After checking all the registered voters in Loudoun County, the Commission found that there are 13,469 registered voters, of which 10,116 are registered outside the corporate limits of Loudoun City, and the signatures of 923 people, whether qualified to vote or not was insufficient. The bond issue is a rural bond issue as adopted by the County Court making City of Loudoun City residents exempt from repaying the bonds, thus ineligible to vote on or call for a referendum.

The Commission did find that approximately 200 persons who signed the petitions

Moneyhun Named Methodist Pastor

Rev. Lon Moneyhun, a veteran of 38 years in the ministry of the United Methodist Church, will deliver his first sermon Sunday as pastor of the Loudoun United Methodist Church.

Rev. Moneyhun was appointed to the Loudoun pastorate late last week at the annual conference of the Holston Conference meeting in Johnson City. He will succeed Rev. W.H. Horner, who had been in Loudoun for eight years and has now been named as pastor of the Central United Methodist Church of Knoxville.

The Herald announced the tentative appointments two weeks ago. They were made official in announcements made by Bishop Scott Allen Saturday.

Rev. Moneyhun is a native of Kingsport. For the past two years he has been Superintendent of the Cleveland District and spent four years in a similar post in Kingsport. Before that he was pastor of Second United Methodist Church in Knoxville for five years.

His other assignments have been in Gatlinburg, Rogersville, Oak Ridge, Chattanooga, and Morristown.

Rev. Moneyhun and his wife, Elma (Pyle) will be moving to Loudoun on June 24. He is a graduate of Hiwassee College and Emory and Henry University. The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Charles Hart, who resides in Maryville, with her husband and son.

Rev. Moneyhun said in his long association in the Holston Conference he has developed many friendships and will look forward to his association with Loudoun United Methodist Church, its members and the people of Loudoun," he said.

left on the four year contract, thus far there has been no move on the part of the bus owners to keep the county from offering new contracts.

A recent school board study showed that the county is paying for 222 miles per day of student transportation that was not driven. The study also showed that a bus with 46 seats paid on the $7 per seat

Bus Contracts-Hot Issue

The Loudoun County Board of Education Thursday night made it clear to the owners of school buses they intended to draw up new contracts before the next school year in attempt to get a dollars worth of transportation for a dollar paid.

The bus owners, five were present, representing more than half of the 26 school buses contracted to the county, let the board know that they were willing to negotiate a new contract but it would have to pay more than the present $7 per seat base and 27 cents per mile.

Several weeks ago County Judge William Russell expressed an opinion that the contracts the bus system is now operating under is illegal because it was not handled and signed by the County Purchasing Department. Although there is no two years

Six Weeks Grade Reports Returning

A move to scrap the nine week grade reporting system and return to six week grade systems was approved by the Loudoun County Board of Education last Thursday night.

The action followed a discussion of the matter last month and a more lengthy discussion this past week. Dick Huff of Loudoun, father of two elementary age children expressed his desire to see the six week grade reporting system to return. "I would really like to see a monthly grade system, but six weeks will be half again better as what we now have. Grades coming home more often in forms of report cards gives a parent a better idea of what his children are doing and where they need help," he said.

Huff said he could think of no good reason for the nine week grade system. Superintendent Headlee and Greenback Principal Hank McGhee both said it was originally designed to lessen the bookkeeping a teacher had to do which in return would give them more time for classroom work with the student.

Board members Ted Randolph said he could see a definite advantage of the six week report system in the lower grades. "Parents who care will appreciate the frequent grade reports because they can deal with problems a child is having," he said.

After the board had approved the return of the six weeks grades Huff also questioned the term of Citizenship on the report cards. He said a child who talks, runs in the hall or chews chewing gum and sometimes cuss, but I think I am a good citizen." Huff stated, "This is not so, I chew gum, smoke and sometimes cuss, but I think I am a good citizen." Huff stated, "He preferred the use of department of conduct on the cards.

Chairman Ted Wampler said he would have the Superintendent and Supervisor of education to look into the design of the new report card concerning citizenship along with changes made necessary by the changes in reporting schedules.

Four Hired

Four new teachers were hired and placed by the board. They were Sharon Benton, Greenback Elementary, Kindergarten; Evelyn Harmon, Loudoun Elementary, 3rd grade; Mary Russell, Davis Elementary, 3rd grade; and Arthur Kello, Browder Elementary, 7th and 8th grades.

The attendants wore apricot quiana jersey dresses with matching chiffon capelet jackets. The junior bridesmaid wore an ivory organza and lace dress with an apricot satin sash. They each carried cascade bouquets of tulle-type roses and stephanotis.

At the request of Loudon Board Director John Culvahouse approval was given to remove several risers in the band practice room at Loudon High. Culvahouse said the riser arrangement in the room can be removed with no damage or expense, and it would allow for a more realistic sound of the instruments in preparing for band competition.

Superintendent of Education Headlee said that the school building program architects had requested the county move quickly to get surveys made on the property of Philadelphia and Greenback schools which are scheduled for immediate renovation programs. The board hopes to select a surveyor and get approval by the Purchasing Commission within the week.

Philadelphia Superintendent Headlee said that plans to use two churches and the lodge hall in Philadelphia to house students there next year have changed somewhat.

He said while demolition and reconstruction of the school is underway, because of the size of the sanitary drain fields at the churches only the Kindergarten will be placed in the Philadelphia Methodist Church, Grades 1, 2, and 3 will be housed in the portion of the school not being demolished and grades 4-8 will be brought to the old Loudon High School and use space which is being abandoned by vocational classes which are moving to the new vocational school in the fall.

Considerable discussion centered around the state recommendations for middle school sites.

The Loudon middle school sites remained unchanged from the priority set by the board committee. First was the J.J. Griffith property, second the Cline property and third the Thomas property. All are just South of Loudon and are along either Highway 72 and the Maresmont Road or Highway 11.

In making his recommendations State Education official Hassell Evans did not recommend the C.J. Smith property for the Eaton-Highland Park middle school, which was the first choice of the board committee. He mentioned that it was only one mile from the Knox County line, did not lay well requiring considerable excavation and a half mile from a water line. The board committee did not agree thinking Evans looked at the wrong property.

Evans' recommendations, which were then adopted by Dr. Nile O. McCrary, Director of School Plant for the state, were the Rader property and the Summit property, both in an area serviceable to the two communities.

Ted Randolph said he was wrong when he earlier stated the Griffith property contained 28 acres. It is actually about 12 acres but abuts the Cline property.

Reports on the property have been sent to the Purchasing Committee, but to date no action has been taken by the Commission on seeking to obtain any of the sites.

Several board members appeared upset with a comment made by Nile in his letter stating that he did not feel the county was making progress toward the development of plans for the building program. "I don't see how we could move any faster," Chairman Wampler said.

Business Program
The Board voted to include $4,000 in the education budget to acquire new electric typewriters and a dictation system for the Greenback High business classes. Principal McBee said the program would be an asset but was not the highest priority at the school.

Wampler Re-elected
Board Chairman Ted Wampler and Vice Chairman J.B. Hagler were both re-elected to hold the positions during the 1974-75 fiscal year by unanimous vote of the board.

July 4 Sing Slated By 12 Area Churches

Twelve churches from all areas of the county will be participating in the Sunday, July 4th Christian Community All-Sing set for the air conditioned Loudon High School auditorium from 2 to 5 p.m.

The singing events will include congregational singing at the opening and close of the service with choirs, solos, duets, quartets and groups filling the three-hour program. Promoters of the program said with the 200th birthday of the nation falling on Sunday they felt an event in the community thanking the Lord for what he has done for America and Americans would be part of the community Bicentennial program. The Sing is free and open to the public.

FLATBOAT VISIT PROCLAIMED—Lenoir City Administrative Assistant Gary Mabrey reads a proclamation from Mayor Joe Grayson and the Lenoir City Council commemorating the stop the three boat flotilla made in Lenoir City Monday retracing the settlement of Nashville by land and water. base would only have 19 to 23 riders. Bus drivers have disputed most of the county survey claims, but the school board continues to stand behind the state figures that Loudon County pays more than 30 percent above the state average for student transportation. The bus owners were also told they may find themselves paying for liability insurance, which has been paid for by the county in the past.

Board Chairman Ted Wampler said he believes the privately owned bus system can work, but it will take a great effort to remap routes.

Demo Women Plan Picnic

The Loudon County Democrat Women's Club met Tuesday night, June 8 for their regular monthly meeting.

Regular speakers were Oliver Smith, candidate for Congressman in the Second District and Eddie Tom Smith, Lenoir City candidate for Representative in the 21st District. Other guests were Mrs. Oliver Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ely, campaign managers for Oliver Smith.

The main business of the evening was plans for a covered dish picnic to be held Friday, June 25 at 7 p.m. at the Fort Loudon Dam Park. Those wishing to attend are asked to bring a couple of covered dishes.

agree on policy, reporting systems, and hopefully that the county will have a full-time transportation coordinator to carry out the policies and work with the bus owners.

Board vice chairman J.B. Hagler says the problems in the transportation system are not the fault of the bus owners, but of the board of education by over the years failing to install controls and balances within the system.

Ted Randolph said having to deal with transportation and the administration of the educational system should not both fall on the superintendent. "Had we had a person whose duty it was to run the bus system this problem would not exist. There are just too many places where the county is paying for something it is not getting and everytime a new mile is added to a bus owners route it gets worse," he said.

The bus owners were asked to form a committee to present the Board committee drawing the proposed new bus contract with the items the bus owners expect in the document.

Lenoir bus owner W.B. Costner said if the new contract does not provide for additional mileage allowances and other areas to protect the investment of the bus owner there may be a lot of buses parked in September.

"There is no time to lose in getting ideas from the bus owners and the school board committee into a working contract so both sides can try and agree on a livable solution," Wampler said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Tennessee Valley South Caravan In Lenoir City Next Tuesday

More than 650 individuals, most of them volunteers, will have played some role in keeping the "Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" caravan of exhibits on the road when it finishes its eight-state southern tour in November 1976.

From January through late November, the caravan will visit some 170 communities in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee covering some 9,000 miles. The caravan will stop in Lenoir City on Tuesday, June 22 from noon to 8 p.m. It is being locally sponsored by The Loudon County Bicentennial Committee and will be located in the Lenoir Shopping Center parking lot.

About 300 retired TVA employees and their spouses will serve as caravan guides at individual stops throughout the year-long tour. Serving in two-week shifts, the retirees will contribute nearly 500 man-weeks of time with the caravan.

Army National Guard units in the participating states will be responsible for moving the caravan from town to town with six Guard-provided tractors. Guardsmen will also provide necessary security and will assist in putting up and taking down displays and outdoor accessories which will accompany the caravan. Some 230 Guardsmen have volunteered to serve their two weeks of active duty in 1976 with the caravan.

In addition to these volunteers, individuals in participating communities throughout the region are donating time, talent, and money to make the caravan a success. Three full-time employees will accompany the caravan throughout its tour.

The caravan consists of five exhibit trailers which will be placed in a connected, U-shaped configuration. The interior of each trailer is designed so that the visitor will be taken back through time to the late 1500's, when Indian villages once dotted the region. Displays and sound effects have been carefully combined to isolate the visitor from the outside world while recreating the movement of history as it took place in the South, from the distant past to the promise of the future.

The caravan's exhibit vans will contain more than 100 artifacts and items of historical interest which have been donated by more than 25 public and private collections. These range from a moon rock brought back during one of the Apollo flights to a 10,000-year-old Clovis spear point.

There is no admission charge.

"Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" is being sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Tennessee Bicentennial Commission, and the Tennessee Army National Guard.

Three Arrested With Bogus Prescriptions

Three Lenoir Citizens were arrested by Loudon County and Lenoir City officers Saturday for passing and possessing forged prescriptions.

Oak Ridge Police notified the county about 4 p.m. Saturday that Tony Mark Fields, 32, Charles Nick Fields, 25, both of Ft. Lenoir City, and Michael Edward Young, 31, of Broadway, Lenoir City, were wanted for selling forged prescriptions in that city.

The three were spotted at a tavern near Lenoir City just a few minutes later and arrested for Oak Ridge.

Officers found one prescription from Loudon County Memorial Hospital with the name of a Loudon doctor forged to it. There were three blank prescriptions from Fort Sanders Hospital in Knoxville.

COURT SWORN IN—Judge William Russell playing the part of Judge Samuel A. Rodgers, first Loudon County Judge, gives the oath of office to the first County Court. Many of the 24 original squires were portrayed by direct descendants or family members. The scene was part of the Loudon County Bicentennial Pageant held in Loudon Monday.

The Pageant was written and directed by Mrs. Charles Morgan. The event was held in front of the old Arp Grocery, which in the 1800's was the William Julian General Store and overlooked the busy river harbor that was the basis of the Loudon economy.

Hospital Pay Increase On Board Agenda

A possible pay hike for employees at the Loudon County Memorial Hospital, the possible elimination of pay for hospital board members and the introduction of a new board member head this week's meeting of the Loudon County Memorial Hospital Board of Directors.

The meeting was held Wednesday night. Those items to be considered on the lengthy agenda were:

- Report on resignation from the board of Dr. Harold Freedman.
- Welcome of new board member John Young.
- Recommendation to adjust salaries to level of the local hospital labor market.
- Report regarding Greenback Clinic.
- Announcement of policy statement of annual bonuses to employees and whether to discontinue expense payments to board members.

ARRIVE IN PEARL HARBOUR—The three flatboats arrived in Loudon's Pearl Harbour about 4:30 Monday afternoon as a crowd of about 200 watched from a nearby boat ramp. The boats and their crew of some 24 persons spent the night in Loudon and took part in the Loudon County Bicentennial Pageant.

Speaking of Sports

By DANNY GIBSON
Sports Editor

The annual Tennessee Press Association Convention was held in Gatlinburg this past weekend. And if you failed to read the article on our front page, the Loudon County Herald was thrilled and pleased to receive stand-out recognition in three newspaper categories in this year's awards portion of the convention among weekly newspapers.

The one I cherish most was The Loudon County Herald's second place ranking in Sports among weekly newspapers in Tennessee.

This is not the first time The Herald sports has been recognized, having won a fourth place honor and a second place position prior to this year's honors.

While I make us at The Herald feel very proud, the honor can not end truthfully that easy.

No way!
Receiving state recognition in Sports three years out of a five year tenure as Sports Editor of the Loudon County Herald can do a lot for a person's ego. I had the good fortune of a fifth place honor in 1969 before coming to work in Loudon County.

Still the more recent weigh heaviest with what will come to be fond memories to look back on.
The only catch being how terrible a wrong I would do the many, many people in Loudon County sports if I took the sole credit.

Like a team effort in the traditional Loudon County "WINNING" sports theme that seems to never have an ending. The continuous assistance we receive from the coaches, players, managers, stat keepers, score keepers, knowledgeable fan opinion that provides us with both a critical and favorable approach of our sports workers and the overall good people of Loudon County play a major part in any if not all such awards that have come our way.

On my journey back from Gatlinburg I had the time to give some thought as to just what had the "SPORTS" been like in Loudon County.

Not wishing to take away the glamour of any era or declare any victorious sports campaign of athletic teams in Loudon County over the years as being wasted or forgotten, just that I can not relate to them since I was not in the position to be acquainted with their successes, only of stories of their greatness.

But in my five short sport years of covering Loudon County sports activity did you know, that there has been a football team in the state playoffs in every year. Two state football champions crown the Double-A division. A bowl team, participating in the oldest recognized high school football classic in the state.

The basketball season has never ended with the first round of tournament elimination. Five times Loudon County hoop teams have won district titles. One region championship, three sub-state winners, and three teams have made it to the top of the ladder with state tournament berths.

This does not start to recognize those Loudon County basketball teams that have advanced in tournament play with a high qualifying finish of a fourth place or better requirement to compete in the next level of eliminations.

The County has had two district baseball champions, a district golf championship, and several individual golfers capturing high district and regional honors.

Standout efforts in the Annual Special Olympics are also custom each spring.

Only this year in their first district encounter in tennis a rookie Loudon High School group of netters made a stout showing against veteran tennis players representing area schools.

Recreation sports in summer always manages to battle their way to the limit in prestigious tournaments.
While we think of the surface or major sports achievements, how about the fact that Loudon County has a highly recognized youth football program, the top junior high and elementary basketball tournament in the state, a pair of horse shows not be equaled anywhere, industrial sports programs, recreation swimming, tennis, hunting and fishing, waterways for all types of water sports enjoyment. Even a bowling alley will soon be in operation for still another avenue for individual sports interests.

It is a big sports world in Loudon County with a large field of participation all blending together to make our community one of the most envied in the Southeast. Thus, it goes without saying that with the sportsmanship, zest to excel in the athletic scene, and the cooperation and interest shown by the people of Loudon County in backing their community athletes to we might capture their achievements in pictures and words certainly share with them our small token of journalism recognition.

Plans For Loudon Quarterback Club Horse Show Announced

The Loudon Quarterback Club's annual Fourth of July Horse Show will be held on Saturday night, July 3, this summer.

Quarterback Club President Ben Woods says he believes this year's annual event may draw a record number of entries along with an overflow crowd of weekend vacationers.

There will be 20 classes for this year's horsemanship with horses competing for over 1700 dollars in prize money.

Other than the cash awards for a first, second, or third place ribbon there will be the grand wrap up to the show which features the awarding of the giant challenge trophies.

The two challenge trophies have become traditional with the annual Quarterback Club's summer gala. The first trophy goes to the Racking Championship horse in memory of Mr. Riley Wain.

The second trophy goes to the Walking Studs and Geldings Challenge Trophy Championship horse in memory of Colonel Charles H. Bacon the owner of the first World Championship Walking Horse to be named at the initial World Walking Horse Celebration in Shelbyville.

Should a horse in either division capture their respective Challenge trophy for three straight years the giant trophy would become the sole possession of the horse's owner for life. Otherwise the trophies are kept for yearly time periods.

Should a horse in either division of the year for this area will get underway at 7 p.m. at the Loudon Legion Field. Classes include Pleasure Racking (not eligible for other Racking Classes), Two year old Walking Horses, Style Racking (saddle bred), Three year old Walking Horses, Western Pleasure, Juveniles on Walking Horses for 17 year olds and younger, Headstater Ponies, Walking Mares, and Style Racking (none saddle bred).

Loudon County Pleasure Horses, Pleasure Walking Horses, and of course the grand finale the Racking Championship and the Walking Studs and Geldings Championship.

The judges for this year's horse show will be the Honorable Bill Keller of Morrilton for the Walking Horse Classes, and the Honorable James Johnson of Ringgold, Georgia evaluating the Racking Classification. The Ring Master will be Mr. Roy Bledsoe of Philadelphia, who has served the Quarterback Club in this capacity for numerous years with a high degree of professionalism.

The Master of Ceremonies will once again be Lenoir City's Ross Wilkerson, who also has an accomplished knowledge of horses. The music will be provided by organist Connie Getsay of Manchester.

Quarterback Club Officials heading the arrangements for this year's Bicentennial Year's tribute to horse beauty will be Mr. Ben Woods and Mr. Don Campbell.

Former Carbine Champ Again In Command

It has taken them a while, but like the Yankees of professional baseball, the one time dominating kings of the league have returned to the top of the standings. We refer to the Union Carbine Golf League in comparing league leaders. For this week for the first time in a long while Dick Huff and Arthur Hamill are leading the Union Carbine Golf wars. The duo, once the premier golfers in the league not so many summers ago, added 20 team points to their season totals and are currently setting the league tempo with 122 team points.

Summers, whose one point league advantage last week disappeared to drop them to fourth place, 13 points back. Charlie Helms and Jack Delaney who have really tented in recent weeks are stationed in third place with 110 team points.

William Cotter and Don Rose moved into a fifth place tie with Carver and Summers with 109 team points following their low net team score of 69.

Carlos Evans carded a 22 four-his hole record allowing a 10 stroke handicap to win the individual low medalist honors for the week. Claude Tatham's individual department, Jack Randolph and Dick Huff are tied with 32 individual points in second place.

ATOMIC SPEEDWAY
I-40 Melton Hill Exit

H.E. Vineyard Setting Torrid Pace

H.E. Vineyard has joined the list of late model sportsman drivers on the bounty list.

You won't find H.E.'s picture on any posters but any driver who can outrun the Knoxville at Atomic Speedway will earn $200. The only requirement is that Vineyard be running at the finish of Saturday night's 40-lap feature race.

Vineyard now has four victories in seven starts this season at the dirt facility. It's the biggest start for a driver at the track in recent seasons. Vineyard, who drives a 1974 Chevy II, has been the fastest qualifier in each of the three most recent events at the speedway.

Vineyard's spree recalls how Bill Morton of Church Hill was dominating the sportman class at the track two years ago until owner Bob Martin posted a bounty on the Church Hill standout.

Saturday night's show, which gets under way at 8:30, will be one of the busiest of the year. Also on tap is a demolition derby, a 12-lap race for mechanics, and class B and bomber events.

"Vineyard is running better, and faster, than any driver has ever been able to do at this track," said Martin. "I'm sure we'll have some people here Saturday that will give him a real run."

Another upcoming attraction at the speedway is the championship Go-Kart races on June 27. Several classes are to be contested and as many as 100 karts are expected to be on hand.

Martin announced that this weekend's races will be rescheduled Sunday night in the event of rain.

LC Avenges Senior Babe Ruth Loss

Loudon City has taken a firm grip on the Loudon-Roane County Senior Babe Ruth Baseball League Standings. The Panthers won for the fourth straight time Monday night, avenging their only summer loss to visiting Loudon by the score of 2-1.

Right handed Terry McCulloch proved to be the winning pitcher for Loudon City, coming in for a fourth inning relief effort to Panther starter Joey Cunningham. Loudon's Danny Iabill, who had hurled the Redskins to a thrilling 6-1 decision in the two club's first summer meeting, was handed the pitching loss Monday night.

Loudon scored a first inning run on a walk to Bumper Webster and a RBI single by Iabill.

The Redskins struck again in the third on a second walk to Webster, who was thrown out on an attempted steal of second base, starting the activities. Catcher Ben Fields lashed a single, and Danny Iabill put the lumber to a Cunningham fastball, a two run circuit blast and a 3-0 Loudon lead.

Conway Dukes and Windell Davidson both followed with base knocks, but McCulloch came on for Cunningham retiring the side.

Loudon City broke the ice in the bottom of the third as Sam McNabb struckout but made it to first safely as the ball got away from Fields for an error. I.K. "Rabbit" Selvaige slugged a double and McNabb scored.

The Panthers took the lead for good in the bottom of the fourth as Jeff Stamps opened with a double, Mark McCulloch drew a base on balls, Albert Sprouse was safe on an error, Mark Morton singled, Joey Cunningham lived on a bobble at first base, and Sam McNabb lofted a sacrifice fly to account for a final run.

When the dust had settled

Loudon starter, Danny Iabill had been lifted for reliever David Grimes and the Panthers had tallied four runs.

Loudon made the game close with a single run in the top of the sixth. Conway Tuck drove in the Panther's third error of the night, Paul Watkins walked, and Freddie the win! recorded a base hit to fill the bases. Ben Fields was hit by a McCulloch pitch and forced Tuck home for the score.

Selvaige (2 for 4), Stamps (2 for 3), and McNabb (1 for 2) were the batting leaders for the Panthers.

Danny Iabill was Loudon's top batter.

Joey Cunningham in three innings struckout three, walked three and yielded three runs. McCulloch fanned six, walked three, and gave up a run in a one hit pitching performance over the last four innings.

Danny Iabill was tagged for five runs, walked three and struck out three in his four innings. David Grimes was most effective in his relief role, giving up to hits, walking two and striking out one.

Loudon left nine men stranded on the base paths while LC had to base runners to die on base.

In an earlier contest last week Loudon City defeated Harrison No. 2 at Harrison. 9-2. Joey Cunningham was the winning pitcher, while Rabbit Selvaige was the batting star with a three for three appearance at the plate.

Suicide Ruled In Loudon Man's Death

Andrew Wilson, 27, Woodland Drive Route 2 Loudon, was found dead of an apparent self inflicted gun shot wound about 5:15 p.m. Tuesday behind his mobile home. The body was discovered by the victim's sister, Mrs. Austin Scarborough.

Sheriff Guy Russell, who along with deputy Larry Propps and deputy coroner Ray Hook investigated, said Wilson did not leave a note but family members said he had been worried about finances in recent weeks.

The man apparently had gotten on his knees, placed the barrel of a .22 Cal. rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. X-rays showed the bullet was lodged in his brain.

Sheriff Russell said from the condition of the body Wilson had been dead for six to seven hours. Wilson reportedly was not married and had been employed by the Don P. Smith Chair Company. The body was taken to Karnes Funeral Home in Loudon.

Fairview Has Half Game Edge In Loudon Softball

Fairview of the Midway Community has taken the early lead in the Loudon Recreation Men's Softball League Standings.

The Fairview team lone loss thus far came at the hands of a fired up Sunnyside team by the score of 1-0. Al Cox, Eddie Jenkins and Jim Brown led a 20 hit assault on the league leaders.

The Hamilton Bank has lost but one in three outings. They also fell to Sunnyside 13 to 5, as Van Rattedge, Jim Brown and Marlon Brown supplied the winning punch.

Fairview meanwhile registered a 7-6 win over Union Carbide, a 10-8 thumping of winless Kingston 66, and then caught Kingston again 8-6.

The Hamilton Bank sipped Union Carbide 11-10 and stopped Kingston 66 by 5-4.

Jim Birkohts and Doug Kincaid have been the early batting leaders for the Hamilton team. Robert Devine, Gary Beason, Mike Humphrey, Bobby Ladd, Delmer Collier, Wayne Paterson, Stanley Moser, and Roger Cantrell have all shared in the Fairview wins.

Union Carbide has been the hard luck team to date with all three of its losses being by one run.

J.C. Mosner, Tiger Hughes, Dewayne Piemons and Tony Stamey have been the leading batters for the Union Carbide team.

Jacked-Up Cars Violation Of Law After July 1

The rear end of a car is jacked up, or the front end is lowered excessively, the event of a fire in a collision is increased due to increased vulnerability of the gas tank.

As for four wheel drive vehicles, which are normally built with a high road clearance, Lt. Nichols stated that unless specially modified, they should fall within the law.

Lt. Nichols went on to explain that when enforcement begins, July 1, warnings will be issued on the first inspection. A fine will be levied if the condition is not corrected within 14 days, however, he said the amount of the fine will vary from county to county, as it is the responsibility of the judge to determine the amount of court costs.

Another traffic law passed by the General Assembly this year also goes into effect July 1. This law will allow motorists to turn right on a red light after coming to a complete stop. Many cities have had ordinances to this effect for some time, but in July, it will become statewide.

The General Assembly reasoned that the law would result in gas savings since cars intending to turn right could do so through a red light, and be on their way, rather than waste gas sitting still waiting for the light to change.

These are just two of the Eagles Get Two Running Backs

Carlson-Newman football coach Johnny Wike added two outstanding running backs to his stable of ball carriers for the 1976 campaign. The latest to ink with the Eagles were Paul Maynard (6-2, 205) and Victor Sloan (6-1, 210). To date Wike has signed 33 players for the upcoming season.

10 Road Projects Status Reported

Ten highway projects by the Tennessee Department of Highways are in various stages in Loudon County.

according to a status report released by the Department through State Representative Benny Stafford.

Two projects let in May were a 2.18 mile section of roadway from the Monroe County line to Luttrell. The other May letting was for repair, cleaning and resurfacing of the Highway 11 river bridge at Loudon.

The Watts Road interchange, under construction since early 1975, is due for final completion this month.

Four projects involve new roads, relocations and bridges in the area of the Tellico Lake project.

They are a diversion canal bridge and approaches near the Tellico Reservoir at Fort Loudon Dam. This project is not due for completion until July 1977. Bridges at Fork Creek, Bar Creek and LAN Railroad and one at Island Creek between Robinson Mill are due for completion in January of 1977. All are now under construction at various stages of completion.

A 12.8 mile section of State Route 72 being relocated in part because of Tellico, from Vanore to Robinson Mill is in design development.

A 3.2 mile section of road at Luttrell, northeast of the community, is in design development.

A location study is complete and design survey is scheduled to start in the near future on State Route 95 from Highway 70 to Interstate 40.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Over the past few years, we put forth quite a bit of effort in trying to locate pictures of some of our old Loudon County baseball teams, and along the way we have had a few pictures loaned to us, which we ran in the Good Old Days effort. Of course, our search continues. We mention this from time to time and now then our efforts are amply rewarded by someone finding and sending to us an old team picture, such is the case this week.

This picture goes back farther than a lot of our lifetimes. In fact, as best I can determine, based on information which was sent to us along with the picture, it was made in the early 1920's. It could well be the oldest baseball team picture existing in our area.

The team uniforms, which were up to date in their era, is quite a bit different from our baseball uniforms today. Possibly, not the uniforms were different, but I am sure the rules were also. I really don't know just how much the game has changed in this time period.

This team, from the Greenback area, was possibly a very successful team. In those days, teams of second rate status didn't get uniforms. Of course, we don't know any of the team's history, but most likely it was a good ball team. This picture was loaned to us by Mrs. Louise Kerr of Route 2, Greenback. Mrs. Kerr tells us that her uncle was a member of the team and his name was Ed Peterson. He is the one on the right in the back row. She stated that this wasn't in any order, but the others were as follows: Joe and Walter Anderson, Bob Clark, Bob Logan and Fred Logan.

We are grateful to Mrs. Kerr for the loan of this interesting old picture. Maybe some of our other readers has other information on the team. If so, let us know. Again, we thank Mrs. Kerr and we are glad to hear from one of our Greenback readers. We would like to hear from others in this section of our County.

Our other picture this week is of the Tom Gaylon family. Some of those in the picture are now deceased. This was a well known Loudon family. Many from the Good Old Days, including me, attended school with the Gaylon children. Mr. Gaylon was a dear friend of ours and was truly a highly respected Christian gentleman.

We were traveling through Alabama, just south of Birmingham last weekend and yacking with some 18 wheelers trying to keep us out of bear traps, and in the course of yacking we had said that we were from Loudon. Back came a voice on my C.B. saying, "This is the local police (Giving my Handie) and asking that I stand by which I did, dumb-founded at what was taking place. When he came back on my C.B. saying, "This is the home town was, when I told him Loudon, he said that he lived in Lenoir City for 50 years. Before we could find out what his name was, we were out of C.B. range. If anyone knows who this policeman in Alabama is, please give us a call.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Planners To Discuss Sites

The Loudon County Board of Zoning Appeals and the Loudon County Regional Planning Commission will meet Thursday beginning at 7 p.m.

The Appeals Board will hear an appeal from Gene Bridges to allow the issuance of a building permit for a structure on a lot with another dwelling. They will also discuss mobile home variances.

The regular Planning Commission agenda includes one rezoning request by Charles Eilen.

A discussion of the school site evaluation plan completed by the Land Use Committee will be held.

The work program of the Commission for the coming year will be a topic at the meeting, plus a continued review of the new Zoning Resolution.

Coker Stationed At Fort Lenardwood

PVT. Kenny Coker is presently stationed at Fort Lenardwood, Mo. where he is in AIT training with the U.S. Army National Guards. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coker of Philadelphia.

CB Coffee Break To Benefit Crawley

Members of the Loudon Area Citizens Band Club are planning a Benefit Coffee Break Saturday from 10 a.m. to midnight at the Philadelphia Park. Much work and planning has gone into this project with recreational activities, games, food and musical entertainment as part of the program.

Ricky Joe Crawley of the Corinth Community was seriously injured when a truck tire he was working on suddenly flew apart injuring his leg and crushing his mouth and requiring surgery. Crawley will be unable to work for some months, therefore the local C.B.'s are doing what they can to assist him and his family until he is able to return to work again.

Glen McKinley, Club President and Wayne Wilson, Vice President along with some 75 other club members are promoting the Benefit Coffee Break. They expect C.B.'s from all over East Tennessee and Western North Carolina to join in on this project.

The general public is invited to take part in the many games and activities such as cake walks, pitching horseshoes, fishing for gilts, dancing, and more. They will have food and drink on sale. Link Shubert and his Band will provide the music.

A BULLETIN BOARD showing some of the artwork and a photo display of activities at the Adult Activities Center, a $90,000 a year operation sponsored by the Loudon County Association for Exceptional Citizens, drew much attention by the more than 300 persons who attended Open House at the center Sunday.

CRAFTS DISPLAYED—Crafts manufactured by the 12 students at the Loudon County Adult Activities Center were on display at the open house of the facility Sunday. The program is expected to soon have 25 mentally handicapped adults receiving benefit from training there.

CENTER OPEN FOR INSPECTION—Several hundred persons toured the eight rooms of the Bacon Building occupied by the Adult Activities Center, a training center for mentally handicapped adults, Sunday, saw crafts manufactured by the students, classrooms and methods used for instruction, and heard Center Director Paula Hawley tell of the benefits the center is already showing in the lives of the 12 persons now enrolled.

Bank Directors OK Change Of Name

Donald L. Canter, President and Chairman of the Board of Hamilton National Bank of Loudon, announced that a stockholders meeting was held on June 15 with the stockholders ratifying the name change.

The new name as announced previously will be the First Heritage Bank of Loudon County, N.A. and will be effective on June 28.

Canter also announced that the article in the previous week's issue of The Herald was erroneous in that it listed only five purchasers and Canter was one of the original purchasers with each purchaser owning a one-sixth interest in the stock, which was formerly held by Hamilton Bancshares, Inc.

Canter added that the stock would be split ten for one effective June 28 and that he hoped to see a wide distribution of the stock so that the bank would be totally locally owned with a great feeling of pride which a locally owned bank generates.

Power Rates To Climb

TVA power charges will increase in July, bringing them up to near the peak level they had reached last summer. The increase amounts to 87 cents per 1,000 kilowatt-hours used, and is based on the TVA system's costs for fuel and purchased for the month of May.

A typical home electric bill in July will be about 6 percent more than the bill for the same amount of electricity in July a year ago.

Under the most widely used residential rates for TVA power, the basic electric bill in July for alone using 1,000 kilowatt-hours will be $25.71. This bill had reached a high of $26.10 last September, then declined in the fall and winter months before rising again due to higher costs the past two months.

Completely wooded - near Oak Ridge Nuclear Developments - on Paint Rock Game Preserve

in Roane County, 4 miles East of Kingston, Tenn.

3 miles south of U.S. 70 on Greasy Run Road

Subdivided Into Tracts Of 5 To 50 Acres

Saturday, July 3, 10:00 A.M.

DIRECTIONS TO SALE: Traveling from Knoxville: Take I-40 West to Buttermilk Rd. Exit; turn South on Buttermilk Rd., follow Buttermilk Rd. to US 70, turn left & go approximately 1 mile, turn right on Midway Road, follow it into Greasy Run Road, proceed to property. Traveling from Kingston: On Highway US 70 toward Knoxville, go 5 1/2 miles, turn right on Midway Road, follow Midway Road into Greasy Run Road which deadends into the property.

AUCTIONEER'S COMMENT: This magnificent tract of land is bounded on 2 sides by approximately 2 miles of County Roads, and on the other 2 sides by the Paint Rock Wildlife Management Area, and approximately 1 1/2 miles of beautiful Watts Bar Lake frontage. The Wildlife Reservation restricts the building of docks on the lake frontage; however, these public access areas are near this property and boat launching is permitted.

This land is basically rectangular in shape and varies from level to gently rolling to "mountain peak-like" elevation with a magnificent view of the area from atop the ridge line. Every type hardwood tree seems to be on this property, and several springs and streams provide water. This is truly an unspoiled tract of land that has been intentionally left as natural as possible, with road construction being kept to a minimum and by dividing the property into 5 acre or larger tracts, so as to maintain an uncluttered development look and retain the rustic charm of the area!

The massive development of Oak Ridge, Anderson and Roane Counties, and the Nuclear Energy related projects will be taking place only a few miles North of this land, and if you are one who is associated with these developments, now is the time to buy your land before greater demand inflates prices. Other persons wishing to avail themselves of the fishing and recreation of Watts Bar Lake will find this land only 28 miles from Knoxville (12 miles from Eaton's Cross Roads), 15 miles from Lenoir City, 18 miles from Oak Ridge, 5 miles from Kingston.

FREE HOT DOGS, WATERMELON, DRINKS ON DAY OF SALE!

INSPECTION: Sunday, June 20 and Sunday, June 27, 1-5 P.M.

Board Starts "Cutting" Bus Contract Fat

Work on drafting a new contract for school bus owners who transport county students began last Thursday night by a three member committee of the School Board.

Board members J.B. Hagler, Ted Randolph and W.D. McCullough met with Superintendent Edward Headlee to formulate several points the board thinks would give the county more for the $250,000 spent annually for student transportation and hoping to reduce that amount.

A recent state survey showed Loudon County was paying more per pupil for transportation than any county in the state and about 30 percent above the state average. A local check of bus routes showed many buses were not driving the number of miles they contracted for and many buses being paid for 66 student were only transporting half that many or less.

Recently County Judge William Russell gave an opinion that the present bus contracts were illegal because they were not granted through the county purchasing department. The contracts now in effect have two years remaining, but after the judges ruling the school board took the stand that there was no contract and told a group of bus drivers at a recent meeting that a new contract would be prepared.

One of the points made by the contract committee would put the county in the bus business. They proposed to purchase at least one bus to transport students from Greenback and Loudon High to the new Vocational School. Presently the county pays $1,182.40 per month for that service and they think they can buy a bus and pay the driver and have up to $3000 per year. They said the bus could also be available to school classes and groups. Trips at a savings over what is being paid to the private bus owners.

Another proposed point in the contract would save another $3800 per year. Bus owners are now paid for a 180 day school year, when actually they only transport students on 175 days. This would save the $3800. The contract will call for 175 days, with 15 day month being placed on the front of the annual contract, which will be the same as the first school month. All other months will be 20 days.

As mentioned the contract proposed would be for one year, and not four as in the past. Other points are the contracts will be non-transferable to stop the practice of bus owners swapping or selling routes to other owners. The committee also said the size of buses will be determined by the board according to the route size and student load. Most of the buses in the county are now 66 passengers, but the board feels they are paying for many seats that are not needed. They propose as the bus owners trade buses in the future they will be told what size bus they will pay for, thus having an influence on the bus size. The owners purchase. Presently the county pays 77 per seat base per month, plus 27 cents per mile. It is anticipated the mileage figure may increase.

The committee also mileage to be paid for routes will be (Continued on Page 5)

Radiology Contract May Lead To Court Battle

Controversy over an exclusive contract for radiology at the Loudon County Memorial Hospital awarded Dr. Harold Freedman for radiology in January may be headed for the courts.

Dr. Elsie Thomkinson, a board certified radiologist, is challenging the contract.

The issue was one of the major items taken up by the hospital directors Wednesday night. Until a month ago Dr. Freedman was a member of the hospital board, having served 20 years. Dr. Thomkinson's attorney recently brought up state laws that prohibit a person serving on the board and having a contract with the hospital. This, along with other provisions of the law which says a person holding with the law could be made to pay back all fees collected on a contract, led to Freedman's resignation. He has been under contract to handle radiology at the hospital for more than 10 years.

Harvey Sprad, attorney for the hospital's radiology committee said that there is a possibility the contract signed with Freedman in January is invalid because of the state law.

Harrison Crabtree, attorney for Dr. Thomkinson, said that there was no question of conflict and strongly suggested a new contract be awarded.

A discussion followed as the hospital board's radiology committee proposed that a new exclusive contract be given to a doctor to handle the department.

Dr. Freedman argued the illegality of an exclusive contract, but the board brought up state laws that prohibit a person serving on the board and having a contract with the hospital. This, along with other provisions of the law which says a person holding with the law could be made to pay back all fees collected on a contract, led to Freedman's resignation. He has been under contract to handle radiology at the hospital for more than 10 years.

Harvey Sprad, attorney for the hospital's radiology committee said that there is a possibility the contract signed with Freedman in January is

LATEST SQUAD VEHICLE—A new emergency rescue truck has been added to the equipment of the Loudon County Rescue Squad. Squad members Bill Fox and Brent Davis are pictured with the truck. The vehicle was purchased used and then completely rebuilt by members of the squad. It carries 300 gallon of water and pump for fires, cutting torches, power wrenches, jacks, power saws, block and tackle, fire extinguishers, ladder, hose, climbing equipment, patient baskets, oxygen, radios, public address, siren and other equipment. The Squad has spent about $5,000 in purchasing, rebuilding and equipping the new truck, which according to Squad Captain John Farris can handle about 60 percent of the calls the Squad receives without sending out larger equipment. To have purchased the truck and contracted the work done would have cost over $12,000. The new truck will be on display during July 4th activities throughout the county.

The Centennial Planning Committee said that some members have indicated they will arrive for the service in horse and wagon.

Rev. Ralph Millsaps will be the closing speaker for the service. The church has 318 members.

Mount Zion was organized under the leadership of C.B. Martyn and T.S. Allison, who at the time were recognized as elders and became pastors of the church. With its 11 charter members, Jonathan H. Simpson, Margaret C. Simpson, Rachell R. Simpson, William B. Ragains, Nancy M. Ragains, Ellen Ragains, Gavis Ragains, Nancy H. Ragains, Mariah H. Ragains, Andrew J. Brummitt and Henry Beard, was organized and meetings were held at Ragains School House in the vicinity of the present church.

Mount Zion affiliated itself with Providence Baptist Association and adopted the Holy Bible and the Articles of Faith as its rule and guide. Gavis Ragains was an ordained deacon, becoming the first deacon and was also appointed church clerk. There were not accurate records kept from 1876 to 1899 within which time the first church building was constructed. This building was repaired in 1899 and was used until 1911 when $219.74 was left to the church from the will of James Wiley with which a new building was constructed. Since the building of 1911, many changes have been made. Associations have changed, faces have changed, and the building itself has changed. The entire building was recently reconstructed with some work still in progress.

Special services, singing, dinner on the grounds, and awards will be given during the day-long service.

Three Face Drug Charge

Three men, George B. Watkins, Eddie Logan and Alvin Bart Barron, were charged with public drunkenness and possession of legend drugs by county deputies Vloyd Carruth and Jim Lindsey about 1 a.m. Tuesday.

The three were arrested on State Perry Road and were said to have in their possession about 100 pills described as legend drugs. They are being held at the county jail under $3,500 bond. A hearing is set for Friday in General Sessions Court.

Council Gives Budget Approval

Loudon City Council Monday night in a very short meeting passed on final reading the adoption of the 1967-77 city budget. As announced last week, the new budget, although several thousand dollars higher than last year will not require a property tax increase.

A discussion was held, which ended in giving City Attorney Arthur Fowler authority to file a lawsuit against a person who has water damaged several trees at the new city park during a traffic accident.

The council also approved a salary hike of eight percent for hospital employees was approved by the Board Administrator. Hamilton said the percentage would be less in some departments and higher in others. He said the raises would be given to bring various departments in line with the current level prevalent in the hospital labor market.

Dr. Peter Stimpson and his wife, Joyce, a nurse practitioner, were given verbal approval to continue to operate the Greenback Clinic for a six month period, with an agreement that if a full time

Miss Webster Conducts PE Training

Miss Betty Webster, Assistant Professor of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, David Lipscomb College conducted spring in-service programs for the Murfreesboro City Schools.

In-service programs for public school teachers are conducted throughout the year to share new trends in education. New ideas are shared by colleagues who have tried a new method of approach with good success and feedback from the students. Miss Webster said, "our problem in education is getting teachers to try any original idea they might have. Teachers assume that if an idea has not been tried it must not have value. This is a fallacy many teachers share. Discipline problems could be greatly curtailed if we teachers would search out for new 'ideas' in educating our children."

The three programs presented to the teachers were "The Search for Self-Identification", Health Projects for Elementary School Teachers, and the Handicap Child in a Changing Educational Program.

Miss Webster is the daughter of Mrs. E.R. Webster of Loudon.

 determined by the county school bus transportation coordinator as the mileage necessary to pick up students on the route.
 A complete revamping of the bus routes is also being sought by the committee, depending mainly on whether or not the proposed transportation coordinator materializes.
 In order to provide savings to the bus owners the committee also proposes to designate definite bus stops on the routes, especially in the city of Loudon. They feel that bus owners are making unnecessary stops and transporting children who might not be eligible to ride buses under state law.
 The committee is expected to take its points to an attorney to have a contract drawn and present it to the bus owners, then take their requests and begin talks on compromises to arrive at a contract.

James Price, 23, of Lenoir City, faces five charges by local law enforcement officers following a chase by car and on foot about 2 a.m. Sunday morning.
 Deputy Jim Lindsey said he and Deputy Dennis Moldenhauer spotted a Volkswagen pull on 95 from Towne Creek Road just missing a car on Highway 95.

FOUR INJURED-Four persons were injured Saturday about 1:45 p.m. when these two cars collided on a curve on Martel Road near Lenoir City. Drivers of both cars, Chester L. Ball, Rt. 4, Loudon and Connie V. Smith, Rt. 5, Lenoir City were injured. Also injured were passengers in the Ball car, Carol Snoderly and Sherry Peters of Lenoir City. All four were taken to Fort Sanders Hospital for treatment. Ball was charged by trooper Joe Lemmons with reckless driving.

Cardwell Heads Rowland Effort

MR. CARDWELL.

State Representative Mike Rowland, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second District, announced this week that Jim Cardwell, an employee at the Film Packaging Division of Union Carbide, will be chairman of Rowland's Loudon County campaign.
 Cardwell, 47, will be responsible for coordinating campaign activities on a county-wide basis.
 In making the announcement, Rowland said he was pleased to have Cardwell accept the position and said he had great respect for Cardwell's leadership and management ability. "Jim is a good worker and an able chairman," Rowland said. "He is the kind of man that I'm proud to have on my campaign team."
 Cardwell is a native of Loudon County. He is married and has three children and is a member of the Episcopal Church.

Dear Editor:
 After reading Mr. Bradshaw's letter in last week's paper, I decided to air my gripes about the recent election.
 I like Mr. Bradshaw, have worked in elections for several years and have to agree with him that this was the most confused mess we have ever had.
 When the boxes were opened at our precinct, two of them did not have books for the clerks to use nor the official papers which were given to voters to present to the ones who were operating machines. These we had to get by calling back to the office at Loudon. This held the election up for a while.
 I think the worst of all, was our registrar books. I have always thought that the voters cards were filed so you could instantly locate them by reading down the page. Not so this time. Some cards were filed three deep. You had to take time to lift up each card on a given page in order to locate the one you were searching for. Several cards were still in the books of the Election Commission that the registrar books be up-dated, the dead wood taken out, and the others filed in the correct order.
 Sincerely,
 Mattie Hicks, Route 2, Loudon.

Loudon Countians Save $6,331,000 During Year National Survey Shows

Because residents of Loudon County accumulated a record amount of savings in the past year, they are in better financial shape now than they have been for some time.

The reports show that, for the United States as a whole, personal savings during the past year amounted to nearly $81 billion, or about 8.3 percent of disposable income after taxes. This compares with $74 billion the year before, when the rate of saving was 7.5 percent.

The large nest egg of savings in the hands of local families represents a treasure trove of additional spending power. When their confidence in the stability of the present economic recovery returns and they decide the time is right, this pent-up money could spark a big buying surge.

One highlight of the Convention was a message from Virginia United Methodist, who were holding their State Conference in Hampton, Virginia. The message expressed prayerful consideration to the Baptist Convention and that they would be much in prayer for the Baptist Convention and its efforts to build a stronger Christian America.

On Thursday night, with many messengers already on their way back home, the Convention concluded its business and adjourned. The convention will be held next year in Kansas.

Baptist Convention Was Experience

BY CALVIN LUNSFORD
For my wife and myself (elected delegates of Loudon First Baptist Church), the Southern Baptist Convention in Norfolk was a rewarding experience. One only has to visit 18,670 Baptists singing the praises of the Lord to be moved in a special way. This was the official count of registered messengers in attendance.

One impression of the City of Norfolk and it's people was excellent. We, like the thousands of other baptists, found the people trying to be helpful when their city's motels, restaurants, etc. were taxed to the extreme limit. We were spotted right off as out of towners. Baptists and were afforded the courtesy of a visitor from out of town.

And on to Scope (the meeting place of the Southern Baptist Convention) and the activities to follow. We, like a few hundred other messengers found ourselves shared from the Scope Center. Only 10,000 were permitted inside during the address by President Ford and these were admitted only by a special pass, which was issued earlier. We arrived after the allotted number had been given out. There was an air of disappointment, but after the President departed and all the messengers got inside, we heard very little comment about this and the convention proceeded as scheduled.

The convention elected as its new president, Dr. James L. Sullivan of Nashville. Dr. Sullivan succeeds Jaroy Weber of Lubbock, Texas.

Dr. Sullivan, the newly elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention said that a politician's morality is "everybody's business" whether it relates to public or private life. "I would say that it is the public's business, and I don't care what the situation is," said Dr. James L. Sullivan of Nashville, Tenn., who for 21 years was president and chief executive officer of the Southern Baptist Convention's Sunday School Board before his retirement in 1975.

Dome, the results were not announced until Wednesday. The broadening sex scandal in Washington has been widely discussed and denounced during this session which ends today, and Sullivan's first press conference as president was no exception.

The first question asked Sullivan had to do with what the public has a right to know about the morals of public leaders.

"I do not believe you can separate conduct and moral life from an official's public life," Sullivan said. "Morality ought to be maintained at all times," he said, adding that what a public leader "does will speak loudly."

He praised the moral commitments of both Ford and Jimmy Carter, who appears to have the Democratic nomination sewed up. He would not, however, endorse either man.

Both are men of high moral qualities," he said. Sullivan said that he has not decided whether he will vote for and will not do so until after the political conventions.

Sullivan indicated that he would be satisfied with either man as president. Noting that Ford's visit had upset some Baptists who were unable to get into Scope, Sullivan said that he thinks "they will cool off. I regret that it had to happen."

In other action, three resolutions were adopted by the messengers on religious freedom, transcendental meditation, and support for the Soviet Union of George Vins, secretary for the Council of Churches of Evangelical Christians, and other Christians for the "alleged crime" of serving the congregations which elected them as pastors.

A resolution was also passed that protested government sponsorship of public school classes in transcendental meditation. Another resolution called for churches to support the American Bible Society.

The amount of new money that the Loudon County population stowed away during the year in the various types of savings came to an estimated $6,331,000. The finding is based upon national data gathered by the Federal Reserve Board, the Conference Board and others and upon income and spending figures for each area of the country.

The reports show that, for the United States as a whole, personal savings during the past year amounted to nearly $81 billion, or about 8.3 percent of disposable income after taxes. This compares with $74 billion the year before, when the rate of saving was 7.5 percent.

VIEW FROM THE HILL
By Edward Headlee
Loudon County
School Superintendent

The Vocational Center...
The Vocational Governing Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. on July 8, in the superintendent's office in Loudon. At this meeting it is anticipated that several personnel will be recommended for employment at the new center. Mr. Coy Gibson, the director, has been holding interviews for several weeks and is now ready to make some recommendations to the Board. The center now appears to be near enough to completion that we can occupy it this fall.

Budget

After several sessions with State Department assistance and a couple of meetings with the Budget Committee of County Court, the school budget has reached the point where an increase of approximately 38 cents would be needed to fund the total school budget as requested. This could be accomplished by utilizing a sizeable portion of the surplus fund remaining at the end of the fiscal year. While we realize that the possibilities of receiving the entire 38 cents is remote, we do feel that this is a small increase when the cost of materials, books, and other items has risen over the past couple of years. We sincerely hope that the County Court can see its way clear to fund the major portion of this request.

Bus Contracts

The Board is presently involved in meetings to attempt to draw up a new contract for bus transportation for the Loudon County School System. While it may be difficult to develop, it is most important that any new contract have provisions to protect both the interests of the County and the bus owners. It is hoped that the new contract can be worked out and agreed to before the schools open this fall.

Eaton Corporation To Open Loudon's Fort Loudoun Softball Classic

A slow pitch softball tournament, particularly one of the caliber of the Loudon Recreation Department sponsored Fort Loudoun Men's Softball Classic which will open this Friday night at Loudon's Legion Field, is a combination of fraternity reunion and Fourth of July picnic set against a backdrop of fierce competition. The players from Chattanooga, Knoxville, Maryville, Oak Ridge and Loudon County may cross each other's path only once or twice a season, usually during a weekend tournament. The rangy shortstops who can go to their right, the reindeer outfielders and the guys who can hit a softball over 300 feet against a 20 mile per hour wind all show up, in some tournament, nearly every weekend. The name of the team may change, the color of the uniform may vary from one season to the next, but in general, the faces stay the same.

On the sidelines the kids race here and there, waving cotton candy, snowballs, cups of soft drinks or bags of popcorn.

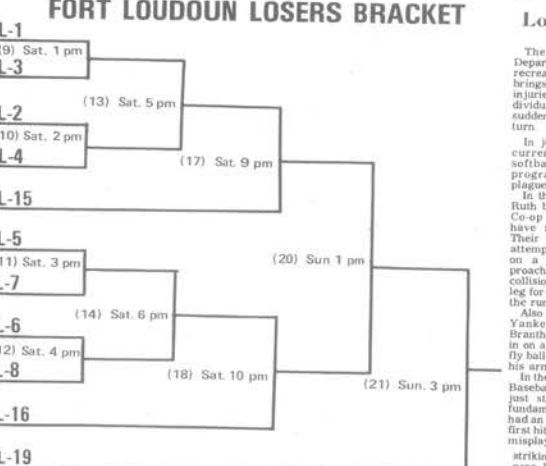

In a tournament like the Fort Loudoun Men's Classic softball invitational, called by many one of the premier young slow pitch invitational in the East Tennessee area, plays is top drawer. Home runs are common and sensational fielding plays almost run-of-the-mill.

Many spectators bring their own lightweight folding chairs to be set up as close to the playing field as possible. They chat together, quietly, at times almost appearing to be unaware of what is happening on the field.

Sunnyside Is Leader Of Loudon Softball

Sunnyside has opened up a one game advantage over the five team field of Loudon Recreation Softball League teams. Sunnyside has won seven of 10 contests, while the Hamilton Bank, which is equal in the loss column but has played two less games than the front runners.

Fairview, which has taken a tail spin in recent games, lost to Kingston '66' in their last outing by a 13-6 score. The win was Kingston's second of the summer.

Ricky Dixon was three for three and scored twice as Union Carbide zipped by the Hamilton Bank of Loudon 7-1. David Birkholz and Buddy Swiney each had a pair of hits for the losers.

Sunnyside clipped Kingston '66' by a score of 6-5 in extra innings. Butch Brown scored the deciding run off an RBI single by left fielder Roy Jones. Jones was 4 for 4 for the league leaders.

Two teams of high caliber from the Greenville area will be the Roofers and Amusement. Knoxville will be represented by the team hitting outfit from Mormon Transmotive and Bob's Country Store.

Maryville will come with Rule Construction and Johnson City Amvets are common to the Loudon tournaments.

Oak Ridge teams entered are Peter Starr, Merchants, and Solway Hardware. Kentucky entry WACO is also back for the big turnout of the summer.

Loudon County's lone entry comes from the Lenoir City recreation league in the form of Eaton's Corporation. Eaton has long been a Loudon County softball power and are considered to be a certain challenger for the top trophy

The Hamilton Bank pointed out 17 hits with Andy Hamilton leading the parade with three while Ronnie Jenkins, David Birkholz, Doug Kincaid, Bill Birkholz, David Grissom and Jeff Nichols all had two hits each in a 11-2 thrashing of Sunnyside in the final league game of last week. Donnie Tharp was best for Sunnyside with two hits and a run scored.

Mike Humphries of Fairview is currently leading the league in batting with a .561 effort. Jim Brown (Sunnyside) and Jim Birkholz (Hamilton Bank) are close behind, both with better than .500 batting marks.

Loudon Recreation Keeping Doctors Busy

In the Loudon Recreation Department whose year round recreation activities seldom brings more than a half dozen injuries to participating individuals in a year have suddenly had the tables to turn.

In just four weeks of the current summer baseball, softball and swimming programs injuries have plagued all.

In the Loudon Junior Bebe Ruth baseball play Farmer's Co-op sponsored Yankees have really been hit hard. Their catcher Ricky Sutton attempted to block the plate on a close tag of an approaching base runner and the collision resulted in a broken leg for Sutton and even worse the runner was safe.

Also in a practice session Yankee outfielder Kerry Brantboover was ranging in on a shoe string catch of a fly ball when he fell and broke his arm.

In the Loudon Minor League Baseball for young players just starting to master the fundamental play of the game had an awakening start as the first hit ball of the season was misplayed by Don St. Pierre striking him squarely in the nose breaking it on impact.

with just the collar bone fracture for what could have been a more serious injury. Loudon Recreation Director Bill Birkholz says while he keeps his fingers crossed that the "injury bug" has departed for a long while he might just have his office padded so as to quietly slip off and have a nervous break down. "If this keeps up says Bill (half serious and half with humor) it may be wise for the Recreation Department to go into competition with the county in the ambulance business and forget about recreation."

Giants, Indians Win In Loudon Dixie Youth

The Loudon Dixie Youth Baseball League had a weathered and rainy afternoon rain storm Monday to meet their Monday night scheduled play.

The storm may have concluded by the 6:30 opening game time but the VFW sponsored Giants of Coach Frank Henson sent runs across the plate like the rain falling from the sky. The Giants totaled 21 runs on seven hits and 12 walks to defeat the Smith Chair Company Phillies, who managed to only score three runs.

Tony Lennox had three hits in four times at bat and Randy Lethgo added a couple of base knocks including a triple for the Giants leaders.

Phillie second baseman Tim Kirkland was 2 for 2 with a double and a run scored for the losing Smith Chair Company sponsored baseball nine.

In the second game of the evening the Loudon Indians collected 11 hits and scored 14 runs to out distance the Union Carbide Pirates who tallied 13 runs on 11 hits. Pirate pitching also issued 11 walks to Indian batters.

Randy Campbell and Ricky Wells each had a pair of hits for the winning Indians. Wells hitting included a double.

David Grimes (2 for 3) and Charlie Hooker blasting three hits, two for extra bases with a double and triple led the determined efforts of the Union Carbide sponsored Pirates.

Loudon Dixie Youth baseball games are played every Monday and Thursday at the Loudon new City Baseball field and Recreation Park adjacent to the Loudon High School campus.

The Bank of Loudon County Brewers have received their second win in as many games of Loudon Junior Babe Ruth play.

The Brewers coached by Allen and Harold Brookshire and J.C. Monger opened the season with a 10-6 win over the Stop-n-Shop Athletics.

The Brewers used 13 walks to their advantage in the season opener with Tim Moore, Zed Hawkins, Clayton Mitchell, and Mark Iball collecting base hits.

Tim Moore was the winning pitcher over the Athletics starter Ronald Braman.

Monday night saw the Brewers and Reds lock into a pitching duel between the Reds' Joe Watson and Brewers' Mark Iball.

The Reds took an early lead on Joe Watson's first inning walk and hit by Travis Kiser. The Reds were up by a 2-0 score after three innings as John Cardwell reached base as a hit batter and both Kiser and Donny McCollister delivered base hits.

The Brewers answered back in the fifth inning with a single run on an error and hits by Tim Moore and Clayton Mitchell.

The game became deadlocked at 3-2 in the sixth when Timmy Russell walked and scored on a passed ball. The contest went into extra innings with David Carter finally ending the marathon play in the ninth inning, drawing a walk and scoring on successive hits by Jeff Purdy, Tim Moore and Mark Iball. Young Iball struck out 24 batters for the Brewers in a sterling performance while Watson in a nifty showing of his own fanned 12.

Iball gave up only three hits, two to Travis Kiser and one to Donny McCollister.

In other games the Loudon Reds slipped by the Co-op Yankees as Joe Watson was the winning pitcher and David Lambert and Paul Harrison stroked key hits.

Jimmy Niles pitched for the Yankees, hitting a double and driving in two scores.

The Yankees also dropped an extra inning game to the Athletics on Monday as Kent Everett scored twice. Arden home in the bottom of the ninth inning for a 10-9 difference.

The Monday night Junior Babe Ruth double header at Legion Field got underway at 6:30 p.m. and with both games going extra frames finally concluded at 1:15 a.m., Tuesday morning.

Loudon Sr. Babe Ruth Team Tied For Second Place

The Loudon Connie Mack-Senior Babe Ruth baseball team (16-16) are moving along at a pace of four wins and two losses. This being in a second place tie in the league standings with Lenoir City who has an identical record.

Kingston is the current league leader with only a season opening game loss to Lenoir City. Kingston has since won over both Loudon and Lenoir City while the two Loudon County teams have each split with each other in two meetings.

Loudon won over Harrison last week 10-11 in a real slugfest. Ben Fields slammed a home run and double to account for five Loudon RBIs. Freddie Starrilt had a single and triple, with Windell Davidson and Rick McCrary both adding a pair of hits.

McCrary was the winning pitcher.

Loudon lost to Kingston as the league's top pitcher, Ken Bevel, a 19 year old college freshman stopped Loudon in five hits in a 5-2 decision.

Danny Iball pitched for Loudon yielding all of the Kingston runs in the second inning. Five runners crossed home plate in a eight batter frame.

Iball led Loudon at the plate with a pair of singles of his own. Burpeter Webster scored both Loudon runs on a base hit and two walks. Andy Hill and Ben Fields had Loudon's other base knocks.

Jim Huff meanwhile appears destined to control the standings for a while in the Loudon City Golf League's "Handicap Division". Huff, with 116 points leads the division standings by four points over Jim Hamill who has 112.

Tom Lemax continues to jump up and down the scale, this week parred in third place with 109 points.

Harold Grimes is fourth in the handicap play with 97 points registered and David Hill is barely a notch behind him with 96 in fifth.

David Hamill was the handicap low medalist last week with a mixing 32 for nine holes on a sinisul four handicap.

Kirkland's 35 Gives City Golf New Leader

The Loudon City Golf League "Scratch Division" has taken aim at two week division leader John Cobb and finally tripped him from his hold on the division lead. Cobb dipped to second place last week as Buck Kirkland surged into the division lead for the first time this summer.

Federal Aid, Grants Here To Total $5,268,000 In 1976

To what extent has Loudon County been sharing in the billions of dollars of Federal funds that are distributed annually by the government through grants-in-aid?
 Of the $48.2 billion handed out by Washington in the past fiscal year, including $6.1 billion in revenue sharing grants, how much reached the local area?
 On the basis of Treasury Department figures and a state-by-state analysis of them made by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization that keeps track of government taxation and spending, Loudon County received a relatively large share.
 An estimated $5,268,000 was earmarked for local purposes during the year under a variety of aid programs.
 Throughout the State of Tennessee as a whole, the grants totaled $88,000,000, the Tax Foundation reports.
 They were awarded for such needs as education, welfare, health, job training, urban renewal, food stamps, road construction and the like.
 The amounts, it is explained, represent only grants-in-aid and revenue sharing and do not include Federal expenditures in local areas for goods and services.
 Also considered in the study is how much these benefits cost the communities that receive them. They are paid for, in whole or in part, by the portion of their income and excise taxes that goes into the aid programs.
 Loudon County's contribution to them in the past year was approximately $4,500,000, according to a breakdown of the Tax Foundation's figures. The state's total amounted to $786,000,000. These costs are exclusive of matching funds.
 In 20 of the states the contributions exceeded the aid that was received. Two states broke even. The others used up ahead of the game.
 The tax burden fell most heavily on residents of Florida. They paid $1.46 for each dollar of aid received. Alaska, who paid only 42 cents per dollar of aid.
 No attempt is made to balance the grants and the costs, it is pointed out. The awards are determined by a community's needs and requirements.

LCAEC To Meet Friday Night

The Loudon County Association for Exceptional Citizens will meet on Friday June 25 at 7:30 p.m. at New Providence School. Members are urged to attend.

always had a deep interest in helping to develop young people in their churches. We are always glad to write about Blairland. We have many friends who have and do attend this Loudon church.

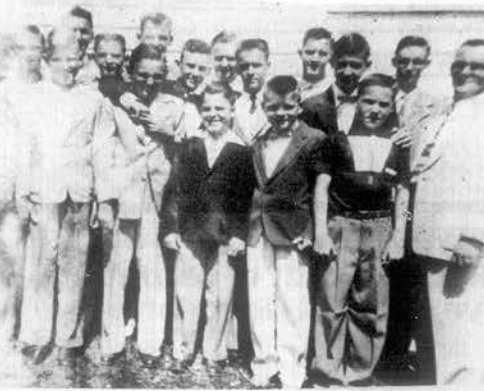

We recall when the church was first organized and have attended its services many times. The present pastor, Rev. Bernard Courtney, has been a life long friend of ours as well as having an effective influence on our life as others who have known him both as a friend and pastor.

I am not sure of the date Blairland was built, but it was possibly in the 30's, or a little earlier. At that time this section of Loudon was not very thickly populated as it is today. This section, like others, has grown greatly.

Our other picture is one we are proud to run. The people in the picture were all dear friends of ours over the years. The three young men in the picture are Parker Smalton, Homer Newsman and Don Henderson, the man on the left is the late Joe Hudson, who was a very dear friend of ours.

The occasion for the picture was the choosing of these young men to attend Boy's State. They were sponsored jointly by the American Legion and the Loudon Lion's Club. Mr. Hudson was Adjutant of Loudon Legion Post 128. These young men chose varied fields. Parker was in Oak Ridge the last account we had of him. Homer has been with the F.B.I. for a number of years and is moving back to Loudon in the near future upon his retirement from Government service. Don is athletic director at Marra Hill College. Don was an outstanding football player at Loudon High as well as the years Hill. Homer was a star basketball player at Loudon High. We haven't seen Homer in a number of years. These boys were a part of our lives back in our Good Old Days and we enjoyed their friendship greatly.

We are still looking for real old flags or flags that tell something of our Country's history. We are sure there are some around. We are trying to find out about them in conjunction with our Bicentennial. We are also still looking for picture of soldiers or sailors, marines, etc.

BUMPER CHECK—Highway Patrol Sgt. Wallace Mills is shown measuring the bumper of this vehicle to see if it conforms with new state law requiring the bumper at the load bearing point be from 14 to 22 inches from the ground. Anything under or over will be subject to fine and possibly suspension of the vehicle registration after July 1 when troopers will start enforcing the new law.

Bumper Law Goes Into Effect July 1

Tennessee State Troopers and throughout the state will begin enforcing the new state bumper law on July 1. THP Sgt. Wallace Mills said the troopers in Loudon County

Henry J. Bright, age 67, Route 1, Philadelphia, died Sunday, June 20.
Survivors: wife, Dovie Kirkland Bright; three sons, — must be between 14 and 22 inches from the group at the point of the load-breaking members.

Sgt. Mills said that many persons lower or jack up the cars for various reasons. There have been cases where cars with high rear ends have been struck from the rear causing the gas tank to explode causing death to occupants.
The law does not pertain to vehicles not in compliance if they were manufactured outside the limits of the measurements, but vehicles altered by suspension, shocks or springs are subject to the penalty of the law.
The owners or operators of vehicles out of compliance will be given 14 days from the date of a citation to correct the problem. If, upon reinspection the defect is not corrected the operator will be fined from $10 to $25. Upon conviction of the second offense of the law the registration of the vehicle will be suspended until it is corrected.

Last year we brought you $391,623,376 worth of carpeting. You've got a lot riding on us.

We moved a lot of carpeting in 1975. We estimate that the market value for the carpeting shipped amounted to $391,623,376.

Economy is the biggest reason carpeting companies and so many others choose rail. Consider these figures for the thousands of things shipped by rail each year. The average cost per-ton-mile by truck is three times as much as by rail. Air shipping is forty times the price.

And the fuel crunch has made railroad efficiency more than just a matter of dollars and cents. It's a matter of delivering the goods with the smallest possible use of fuel.

When you put all this together with the reliability of rail shipping you have a good idea why there's so much riding on us. And why you need Southern.

So next time you have a carpet delivered to your house, remember we probably delivered it first.

IT'S COSTING US MORE TO SERVE

Our business is serving you, supplying you with the electricity you need to do your work and make your life comfortable.

But in the past few years the cost of serving you has risen sharply. Inflation hit us, too. Coal prices have driven up the cost of TVA generated power. The cost of materials, labor, everything we use to deliver your electricity has increased.

So the next time you get your electric bill, remember that the reason you're paying more is that we're paying more. And we don't like it any more than you do.

Saturday, July 3, 10:00 A.M.

DIRECTIONS TO SALE: Traveling from Knoxville: Take I-40 West to Butterfield Rd. Exit; turn South on Butterfield Rd., follow Butterfield Rd. to US-70, turn left & go approximately 1 mile, turn right on Midway Road, follow it into Greasy Run Road, proceed to property. Traveling from Knoxville: On Highway US-70 toward Knoxville, go 5 1/2 miles, turn right on Midway Road, follow Midway Road into Greasy Run Road which deadends into the property.

AUCTIONEER'S COMMENT: This magnificent tract of land is bounded on 2 sides by approximately 3 miles of County Road, and on the other 2 sides by the Paint Rock Wildlife Management Area, and approximately 1 1/2 miles of beautiful Watts Bar Lake frontage. The Wildlife Reservation restricts the building of docks on the lake frontage; however, three public access areas are near this property and boat launching is permitted.

This land is basically rectangular in shape and varies from level to gently rolling to "mountain peak-like" elevation with a magnificent view of the area from atop the ridge. Every type hardwood tree seems to be on this property, and several springs and streams provide water. This is truly an unspoiled tract of land that has been intentionally left as natural as possible, with road construction being kept to a minimum and by dividing the property into 5 acre or larger tracts, so as to maintain an uncluttered development look and retain the rustic charm of this area!

The massive development of Oak Ridge, Anderson and Roane Counties, and the Nuclear Energy related projects will be taking place only a few miles North of this land, and if you are one who is associated with these developments, now is the time to buy your land before greater demand inflates prices. Other persons wishing to sell themselves of the fishing and recreation of Watts Bar Lake will find this land only 28 miles from Knoxville (12 miles from Ealon's Cross Roads), 15 miles from Lenoir City, 15 miles from Oak Ridge, 5 miles from Kingston.

Youth Rescued From Old Cotton Mill

A 10-year-old Lenoir City boy, Richard Dalton, was hospitalized for observation Friday after he fell from the attic to the left of the three-story historic Lenoir Cotton Mill in Lenoir City.

It took members of the Loudon County Ambulance Service with the assistance of a bucket truck and two men from the Lenoir City Utilities Board to get the injured youth out of the building, which is currently being restored for a public historic site.

The youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dalton, Lenoir City, told Emergency Medical Technicians Mike Langley and John Miller, that he had climbed to the attic of the old brick building through seed bins. While in the attic he fell through the floor into the third floor level.

While receiving first aid a Lenoir City Utilities bucket truck was called to lower the injured boy to the ground because there was no stairways in the building. Operators of the truck, Bill Conner and Teddy Hair, lifted the bucket and lowered the boy on an ambulance service spine board where he was taken by ambulance to the hospital.

The youngster had lacerations, scrapes and bruises, but no broken bones. He was admitted to Loudon County Memorial Hospital overnight for observation.

200th BIRTHDAY

...Parades, Games, Singing

In Every Community . . . Bicentennial Events Slated All Weekend

The 200th Birthday of the United States of America will be celebrated with three days of activity in Loudon County during the July 4th weekend. Because the 4th falls on Sunday the festivities have been spread out over a three day period, thus giving Saturday, Sunday and Monday for the Bicentennial Celebration of Independence Day.

Saturday will be the Lenoir City activities. Sunday a Christian All-Sing will be held at Loudon High auditorium. Monday the annual Lions parade, parade will line up at 3 p.m. The best costume, male and female, and best decorated bicycles, ages 9 and 10-12 will be judged at 2. A 10 prize will be given each.

Leading the parade will be the Lenoir City High Band, National Guard Color Guard and Paul Revere, portrayed by Jerry Park. Several floats are also expected from the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Optimist Club, General William Lenoir Chapter of the DAR, a pony cart from the County Humane Society, Judy's School of Baton and the American Legion Auxiliary. There will also be antique cars, clowns city officials, invited elected officials and representatives of the town's oldest businesses and churches. Pat Gouge is parade chairman and has further information for anyone wishing to participate.

School, Tax Increase Held To 4 Cents

The County Court Budget Committee Monday night cut $8,000 out of the County Education budget, approved the use of $80,512 of school surplus for next year, and established a tentative tax rate of $3.57 for school operations next year. This is a four-cent higher tax rate for schools than last year when the property tax rate for schools was $3.53.

Squire Jim Blair said that a new teacher will get the $350, but a teacher with 15 years experience will get much more. The budget cut made by the Committee came within $10,000 of holding the school department to the same tax rate they had last year.

Concerning the teacher pay scale, Squire Jim Blair said, "The whole question of teacher pay was we figure it is completely out of balance." There was some talk in the Committee to delay setting the school tax rate because of the discussions going on concerning new bus operator contracts. The Committee said there was a possibility the school rate could be cut more if the new contract agreement would save any money.

Although the tax rate for schools is basically the same as last year, the use of surplus funds and the natural growth in what a tax penny is bringing in there will be enough money in the budget for the proposed $350 teacher pay raise for a beginning first year bachelor degree teacher.

Squire J.G. Hulson, who chaired the Budget Committee meeting in the absence of Judge Bill Russell, engineered the budget cuts and suggested the final tax rate figure. It was adopted with approval from Squires Jim Hartsook, Jim Blair and Terry Vann.

The school budget will now total $3,670,533.66, of which $1,313,693.30 would be property tax money from the 1977 tax year. By using the surplus from the present school budget and cutting the budget another $45,000, the property tax which would have been required was held down over 50 cents on the total rate.

If the budget holds a first year teacher in Loudon County will make $8,350. A bachelor degree teacher with a total of 15 years experience would be making about $12,500.

The Budget Committee asked a number of questions about the local index salary scale for teachers and there was considerable sentiment on the group to make the raise across the board instead of increasing the minimum base.

Amburn Joins Loudon Motors Partnership

Harold E. Amburn, 34, a native of Loudon, this week became co-owner of Loudon Motor Company, Loudon's Chrysler-Plymouth dealer, along with Jack Hodge. Hodge announced that he and Amburn had purchased the stock in the firm of Bill Hodge and Harold Bowden.

Amburn graduated from Loudon High School in 1959. He spent four years (1960-64) in the United States Air Force, stationed at Lackland Air Force Base and in Japan. He also served in Vietnam from 1961-62. Since 1964 until now Amburn had been employed by Terminal Transport in Atlanta.

He is married to the former Margaret Forbes. They are the parents of two sons, Cary 9, and Mark 4. He is the son of Floyd and the late Norma Amburn. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Evans Forbes. The Amburns moved last week from Atlanta to 706 Church Street in Loudon.

Three Boats Destroyed By Fire

Three boats valued at more than $100,000 burned and were completely destroyed in a blaze last Wednesday afternoon at the Lenoir City Marina at Fort Loudoun Dam. The spectacular blaze destroyed two plush houseboats and one cruiser, and also caused damage to several runabouts and fishing boats at the dock.

It is understood that the fire started while the 55 foot houseboat of the Russell Burris family was being gassed up at the marina pumps. Sources said as the gas was cut off there was an explosion in the boat. One person, out of the boat, it was reported, was thrown into the water. Several others inside had to jump in the water and were assisted to the dock by several persons. Attempts to control the blaze with a waterhose were futile.

As the blaze increased the boat was cut loose and drifted. It was hoped it would drift into open water, but went toward other docks. The Burris family, owners of Loudon County Memorial Gardens, lived on the boat and lost all their furnishings, clothing and personal belongings in the blaze. Persons witnessing the explosion and fires that followed said it was a miracle no one was killed or injured.

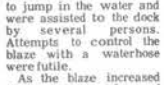

The second boat to burn was a 25 foot cabin cruiser owned by Troy Pesterfield, a TVA ironworker who resides near Lenoir City. The cruiser had just been purchased by Pesterfield and had been delivered to the dock that day. The double plank mahogany cruiser burned to the waterline and sank.

Flames from that fire caught a 50 foot houseboat owned by the J.B. Looper family of Lenoir City. It too was destroyed. Several attempts to get the burning crafts from the dock failed, as did attempts by the Lenoir City Fire Department to extinguish the blaze.

The fire broke out about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and Wednesday afternoon at the Lenoir City Marina at Fort Loudoun Dam. The spectacular blaze destroyed two plush houseboats and one cruiser, and also caused damage to several runabouts and fishing boats at the dock.

Sources said as the gas was cut off there was an explosion in the boat. One person, out of the boat, it was reported, was thrown into the water. Several others inside had to jump in the water and were assisted to the dock by several persons. Attempts to control the blaze with a waterhose were futile.

As the blaze increased the boat was cut loose and drifted. It was hoped it would drift into open water, but went toward other docks. The Burris family, owners of Loudon County Memorial Gardens, lived on the boat and lost all their furnishings, clothing and personal belongings in the blaze. Persons witnessing the explosion and fires that followed said it was a miracle no one was killed or injured.

County Denies Retirement Suit Allegations

An answer to a lawsuit filed by four members of the County Election Commission seeking to be included in the county retirement system was filed last week in Chancery Court.

The answer filed by attorney Don McMurry for Judge William H. Russell, and members of the county court, asks dismissal of the lawsuit by summary judgment. The answer says "the defendants aver that the Commissioners of Election were not intended by the defendants to be eligible to participate in the consolidated retirement system, but it was the intention of the Court that these employees working as full-time employees at the Loudon County Courthouse be designated as eligible to participate in the retirement system."

Last year Election Commissioner Pete Littleton asked that the Commission be given status under the retirement program. At that time he would have been eligible to retire and draw a monthly retirement check far in excess of his monthly pay as an election commissioner. Since that time a loop-hole in the state law has been closed, but the Commission feels if the county court members are eligible for benefits under the program, they should also.

No date has been set for the Chancery Court hearing on the case.

City Industrial Park Loan Closed

The City of Loudon received a community facility loan of $400,000 from Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) according to an announcement by Paul M. Koger, State Director of FmHA at loan closing ceremonies, conducted Tuesday. This loan will be used to purchase a 285-acre tract of land and develop it into an industrial park. This is a joint project between the City of Loudon, Loudon County, the Appalachian Region Commission, and the Economic Development Administration. Loudon County will contribute $300,000 to the development of the Industrial Park. The Appalachian Regional Commission is contributing a $667,000 grant toward the development of the project and the Economic Development Administration is making the City and County a $320,000 grant toward the project, making a total of $1,687,000 to be used to acquire and develop the industrial park.

State Director Koger stated that the closing of the loan represents a step forward in Farmers Home Administrations efforts to assist rural cities and counties in promotion and development of rural areas in Tennessee. This industrial part should be asset to the community by attracting industry and creating jobs for people of the City of Loudon, Loudon County, and the surrounding area.

Koger was very complimentary of Mayor Eugene Lambert and other City and County leaders for their interest in improving their communities by providing this industrial park facility. He stated that another milestone had been reached in revitalizing rural America through the supervised credit programs of Farmers Home Administration which provides financial assistance through a number of programs for individuals and communities that are not eligible for commercial credit elsewhere.

Koger stated that FmHA has over twenty-five different programs through which individuals and organizations may receive assistance to improve rural areas. During the period July 1, 1974, to June 30, 1975, Farmers Home Administration channeled over 167 million dollars through these programs in Tennessee and made it the biggest year ever for Farmers Home Administration in the State.

The loan was processed by Mr. William L. Mason, County Supervisor, Miss Bonnie F.

Estes, County Office Assistant; and Mr. Jacob S. Davis, District Director. The local FmHA office is located on the 1st Floor of the County Office Building, Loudon. The County Office has loaned approximately $2.7 million this fiscal year in Loudon County for Rural Housing, Farmer Programs and Community Facilities Program. Farmers Home Administration programs of credit and management assistance are available to individual and organizations in rural areas (areas of 10,000 population or less) who can not obtain adequate credit from other sources and who meet other eligibility requirement.

In asking for dismissal of the suit by the 12 employees the answer states the claim fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted; and it appears from the pleadings and record that the employee was restricted in personal activity and required to stay at his residence during the 16 hour stand-by period.

City Defends $57,000 Suit, Asks Dismissal Of Claim

Employees of the Loudon Utilities Board, who recently filed a lawsuit seeking more than $57,000 in "stand-by" overtime pay, are not entitled to such payments under the Fair Labor Standards Act, according to an answer to the Chancery Court lawsuit filed last week by attorneys for the City of Loudon and Loudon Utilities.

The reply to the lawsuit brought by 12 employees of the Utilities, denies that the plaintiffs have worked overtime hours for which they have not been paid.

In answering allegations of the lawsuit, the defendants denied that "stand-by" or "on-call" duty during the weeks of the suit, May 1, 1974 to April 30, 1975, involved hours worked. The reply denied that during the time of "stand-by" the employee was restricted in personal activity and required to stay at his residence during the 16 hour stand-by period.

Fair Labor Standards Act. It is expected that a hearing on the lawsuit will be held in Chancery Court in Loudon in the near future, but no date has been set. Court Clerk and Master Lloyd Black said.

An affidavit of explanation of the "stand-by" policy of the Utilities by manager Charles Burnette was attached to the suit reply.

The statement of Burnette is as follows: "At Loudon Utilities, three employees are designated for periods of one week to be on-call so as to provide for the handling of emergencies that occur outside the normal work-day and work-week. Employees so designated are paid two hours per day at their regular compensation, or a total of 14 hours per week, and an additional 12 hours for Saturday and Sunday. In addition, such employees are paid at the rate of time and one-half their respective hourly rates for each hour spent in performing emergency work with a minimum of two hours for each assignment."

"An employee on call is expected to remain at home to be in a position to receive a call for emergency work or to leave work with a responsible person at his home where he can be reached so that in either case the employee will be available within a reasonable period of time that is, approximately 30 to 45 minutes, to perform needed emergency work. With the exception of the foregoing, no restrictions are imposed upon the on-call employee as to the activities in which they may engage."

Palmer Gets Jail Term

Don Palmer, a disbarred Maryville attorney, who was tied in Loudon County in May for several counts for forgery and mishandling a $55,000 lawsuit settlement for a client, formally sentenced Saturday in Loudon.

Palmer had entered guilty pleas to four indictments and was found guilty by jury on two others. At the time he was given sentences of three years on each case.

Judge Sam Lewis of Pulaski, who tried the cases, sentenced Palmer to a minimum and maximum of three years, reduced it to 60 days to be served in the Loudon County Jail and three years probation. It is understood Palmer began serving the jail time last weekend.

Quarterback Club's Horse Show Set For Saturday Night

The Loudon Quarterback Club's annual Fourth of July Horse Show, scheduled this year on Saturday night July 3, will open the Loudon Bicentennial Weekend of Festivities. The Quarterback Club horse page is fast becoming one of East Tennessee's top events for walking horses and not only features some of the top prize money of the yearly circuit but draws a championship class of entries. This year's show will start at 7 p.m. at Loudon's Legion Field. Judges for the 20 class event will be the famous Bill Keller of Morristown and James Johnson of Ringgold, Georgia.

The final two events will be the awarding of the giant Challenge Trophies to the top walk, mane and top walking stud and gelding.

QUARTERBACK CLUB HORSE SHOW ENTRY— The Loudon Quarterback Club's annual horse show, scheduled for 7 p.m. this Saturday night at Legion Field, will have such outstanding featured horse entries as this one pictured here, "Masterpiece Maker", a 1974 World Champon Ladies Amateur Horse. This horse ridden by Marilyn Kelse Limburg of Loudon is owned by Freeman Russell of Loudon and is trained by Ken Kindsy Stables of Knoxville. The horse won the honor at the Kentucky Walking Horse Celebration and Jubilee.

Ring Master Roy Bledsoe of the Philadelphia Community and Mr. Ross Wilkerson of Loudon City, who will be the Master of Ceremonies, will add local names to the show's top officials. The music will be provided by Connie Getsay of Manchester.

Other Bicentennial Fourth of July county events include a Western Style Horse Show at Greenback, parades, and community gatherings for fun, dances, and picnicking.

Sunnyside Tops In Loudon Softball

Sunnyside of the Loudon Recreation Softball League continued to hold down first place in the league standings last week as only one session of play was held due to the Loudon Recreation sponsored weekend softball classic, Fort Loudoun Invitational.

for the week's activities. Fairview exploded for a 15-4 win over the Bankers, despite a 12 hit effort from the losers. Tommy Lambert, Bill Birkholz, and Jim Birkholz all went 2 for 4 for the First Heritage Bank team. Delmer Collier (4 for 4) and Bobby Ladd and Gary Reason both 3 for 4 propelled Fairview.

Sunnyside, with an 8-3 league record, blasted Fairview 14 to 3 as Jerry Kiser hammered out a pair of home runs and Steve Hill and Duck Reynolds combined for five hits in pacing the win. Rusty Patterson, Bobby Ladd and Clifford all scored runs for Fairview.

The First Heritage Bank of Loudon split a double header with two hits.

Kirkland, Huff Set Pace In City Golf Play

Buck Kirkland maintained his seven point lead in the Loudon City Golf League Scratch Division over runner-up John Cobb. Kirkland and Bobb both added 12 points to their season totals last week, giving Kirkland 140 for the season and Cobb 133.

Millsaps, and Ciel Miller, fifth, sixth, and seventh respectively in the Scratch Division are also still very much in contention for division honors as the league swings into its final five weeks of play.

Larry Millsaps picked up a position in the standings from fourth to third place with a round of 35 for the week at the Madisonville Golf Course. Millsaps' low medalist honors gives him 130 points for the season to date and a five point margin over number four Harrison Henry.

Jim Huff keeps rolling along as the individual leader in the Loudon Golf League Standings of the Handicap Division, while his challengers all play swap-out in a dog fight to over take him. Huff, with a minus three handicap, carved out a 35 for low medalist division honors to insure con-

RECEIVE BLACK BELT HONORS— Mr. Edward L. Hoffer, instructor from Knoxville for the Loudon City Harold Log School of Karate presented the first two Black Belt Awards to two of his pupils last week. Pictured is Mr. Hoffer, Loudon City High School senior-to-be Ricky Sutton and Philadelphia's Judy Radd, a spring graduate of Loudon High School. Mr. Hoffer had high praise for both Sutton and Miss Radd exclaiming that their achievements were done in a 18 month daily attendance to the karate school. Normally it takes a person up to three years to master, if they succeed, the title of black belt.

Three Weeks Left In Union Carbide Golf Season

Charlie Helms and Jack Delaney will go into the July Fourth Weekend with an 11 point lead in the Union Carbide Golf League play. Helms and Delaney, who grabbed a hold on first place last week, enjoyed a 18 point week last week and now have 149 team points to date.

Rookies to the summer golf league play, Ken Alford and Mike Orr, are steadily creeping into contention with a current third place ranking in the standings with 132 team points. Ronnie Ledbetter and Curtis Moore are the fourth place team with 130 team points. Ledbetter and Moore totaled a team score of 72 in besting their last week's opponents.

Herbert Hodge and Jack Randolph top team honors. Walter Babb used a minus six handicap in pulling out the low individual medalist recognition for the week with a score of 33.

league's individual point leader with 41 points to date. Charlie Helms and Dick Rosenbaum both have 41 individual points for a second place tie and only three weeks left in the overall summer's regular season of golf play.

ACE FOR INKY— Bernie Ray Swiney (Inky), Vice President of First Heritage Bank, recorded his first hole in one last Wednesday while playing the Buffalo Valley Country Club Golf Course in Erwin. Swiney used a nine iron on the 120 yard 11th hole. He said the ball hit 18 feet back of the hole and rolled back down the sloped green into the hole. He was playing with Earl Millsaps, Jack Hodge and Dexter Beyerly. Inky shows his affection for the ball he hit, which he said would be retired to a proper place in his den.

WACO Easy Shop Is New Fort Loudoun Classic Softball Champions

The Fourth Annual Fort Loudoun Classic Softball Invitational was played at Loudoun's Legion Field this past weekend with another great chapter of softball play recorded.

WACO Easy Shop, a food mart chain sponsored team, headed by the owner of the WACO Enterprises Mr. Bob Meadows in attendance with his team, on hand to receive the giant six foot 1 1/2 inch Championship Trophy to carry back to Louisville, Kentucky.

WACO had to wear down a determined Solway Hardware team in the Sunday finals, which went the full 23 game tournament limit before yielding to the Kentuckians.

Eaton Corporation finished third with an excellent effort from the lone Loudoun County team entry and Rule Construction of Maryville captured fourth place.

Seventy-eight softballs were used in the three day tourney that saw a total of 38 home runs launched over the fence.

Eaton Corporation led with 16 round trippers as a team. Kenny Ratledge, blasting four in a tournament opening 25-17 win over Knoxville Powell's Bob Country Store, had five as did teammate Tommy White to lead all individuals.

WACO, made up of players that all work for General Electric in Louisville, Kentucky, had trouble only in their opening contest. The Kentuckians had to go into extra innings to escape the Oak Ridge Merchants 13-9.

The Champions then turned to a defensive effort stymieing hard hitting Solway Hardware of Oak Ridge, 7-4.

WACO then beat Eaton's 19-4, scoring 10 runs in the top half of the seventh inning to move into the winner's bracket finals.

Eaton, which had destroyed Johnson City Arvets in a Saturday morning contest 9-2 with Junior Collins blasting a home run, lost to Solway Hardware 9 to 4 in the loser's bracket finals.

Solway Hardware, who got off to a tournament start with a forfeit from Rule Construction on a game time misunderstanding, hit Greenville Amusement with a 10 run first inning as Arnold Hawkins and Nancy Hampton each hit home runs in a 12-5 victory.

WACO placed Solway in the loser's bracket and the Oak Ridge based team started to work with four straight wins, defeating Oak Ridge's Peter Star 11-9, Rule Construction 8-4, Eaton 9-4, and then tripping WACO 9-6 with a five run seventh inning to force the tournament into a maximum number of games.

WACO came back with a splendid showing for an 11-4 decision and the tournament title.

Rule Construction playing with their backs to the wall from the start eliminated the Greenville Roofers, Bob's Country Store, and defending Fort Loudoun Classic Champs Chattanooga's Teamsters Pharmacy (St. Luke of 1975) before bowing out with a fourth place trophy at the hands of Solway Hardware.

Eatons, impressed by their ownelves as to how well they battled the "big" names in Southeastern softball ranks, landed the first defeat on the Teamsters Pharmacy with a 12-9 win.

The All Tournament team featured the home run duet of Eatons, Tommy White (pitcher) and third baseman Kenny Ratledge. Solway Hardware had Arnold Hawkins, Gary Kries, Wayne McGee and Don Harvey on the individual trophy list with WACO landing Steve Coffman, Gary Rice, and Dee Shelton on the team along with the tournament's Most Valuable Player outfielder Jerry Witten, who saved five home runs in the final day of play by making leaping catches over the outfield fence.

The tournament was declared a fine success by Classic Director Fred Mode, who participated in his last tournament as an official of any sort, due to personal limitations and reasons.

The smoothly ran Classic, a dues to Mr. Mode, the Loudoun County Officials Association, tournament

THIRD PLACE FORT LOUDOUN FINISH— Eaton Corporation of Lenoir City represented Loudoun County with outstanding honors in the highly competitive Loudoun Recreation sponsored Fort Loudoun Softball Classic Invitational. TOOK HOME CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY— WACO Easy Shop, a softball organization that has roots back as far as 26 years in the Louisville, Kentucky area, captured the championship hardware of this year's Fort Loudoun Classic Mr. Bob Meadows, owner of the food mart chain and team sponsor for the past three years light's up a cigarette for one of his players (Larry Williams) as the tensions build in the championship game on Sunday.

MODE GETS APPRECIATION THANKS—Mr. Fred Mode, who has been the central wheel in the Loudon Recreation Department success over the past four years in hosting highly regarded softball tournaments, and has not only served many, many extended hours of service to see that each event is a polished one, has also been the president of the Loudon County Officials Association. Fred relinquished all of his prior duties as of Sunday at the close of the Fort Loudoun Classic. Mr. Bill Birkholz (right) extends a hearty thanks and appreciation to Mr. Mode for what he has done for the Loudon Recreation Department and Loudon softball. Attending the short ceremony were local umpires from the Loudon County Association from left to right: Ben Woods, Bill Lankford, Smokey Mead, Ernest Evans, James Bunch and Jessie Lawhorn.

KENNY RATLEDGE GETS HOME RUN GRETTING—Eaton Corporation third baseman Kenny Ratledge gets a team reception following a home run in the Fort Loudoun Classic. Kenny hit five to tie team mate Tommy White for tournament honors.

The Fifth annual Philadelphia Community Club Softball Invitational will get under way this Tuesday evening as a field of 12 area teams compete for trophies in the double elimination affair. Doyle Arp, who has headed the tournament in behalf of the Philadelphia Community Club will again serve as this year's tournament director. The tournament will feature the majority of the Philadelphia Community Softball League teams, along with the Vonnore League leading Vonnore Bank team, and two teams from the Loudon Recreation Softball League and three from the Lenoir City Recreation Softball League. A new champion will be assured this summer as last year's defending champion Athen's Merchants will not return to defend their crown. Eaton Corporation, third place finish in the just concluded Fort Loudoun Classic Invitational, and the winner of their own Eaton Invitational at Lenoir City, will be on hand to battle for top tournament honors. Eaton has won the Philadelphia Tournament Invitational three of the past four years. Other top tournament entries are the Philadelphia League leading Loudon Merchants, Walden's Cafeteria, Triple-A Plumbing and Bank of Loudoun County. Four games are set for the invitational opening on Tuesday with the Vonnore Bank and Bank of Loudoun County clashing at 6:30. Games are also scheduled hourly through 9:30 p.m. No games are to be played on Wednesday night and a full four game slate to complete the first round will be held on Thursday night. Four games starting at 6:30 will be played on Friday night. The tournament has a 1 p.m. Saturday start time and finals are expected to begin at 1:30 on Sunday, July 11.

Mr. Arp indicated that the Saturday games might begin in the morning to speed up the tournament due to a wide area interest in the Maryville Recreation sponsored Smokey Mountain Invitational that draws teams from all over the Eastern United States that will be going on that same weekend. "Some of our fans and teams might want to go see some of those games and if so we will start our final rounds earlier," stated Mr. Arp.

Such changes would affect only the weekend schedule of the tournament and would be subject to alteration in time for a schedule change to appear in The Loudon County Herald next Thursday. Tournament admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students ages 4 through high school senior. Trophies will be awarded to the top teams with individual trophies going to the tournament's Most Valuable Player and Home Run King.

Atomic Slates Bicentennial 200

Late model sportsman drivers from three states — Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee — are expected for next Sunday's Bicentennial 200 at Atomic Speedway. Heading the list of non-regulars from Georgia will be Charles Hughes and Snooks De'oor of Chatsworth in Mustangs and Doug Kenner of Dahlonega in a Chevelle. Three standouts from Chattanooga, Jerry Meadows and Joe Lee Johnson in Camaros and Ronnie Johnson in a Falcon, also will be on hand. Time trials for the sportsman drivers get under way at 8:30. Class B, bomber and Volkswagen drivers also will run feature events. "We could wind up with the best field of sportsman cars we've had in a long time," said Atomic owner Bob Martin. "Almost all drivers are available to run a Sunday night race." H.E. Vineyard of Knoxville, who drives a Chevy II, rates as the man to beat. Vineyard has dominated competition at the speedway this season. Another top driver will be Bill Morton of Church Hill, one-time track record holder and winner of five consecutive races at the three mile track two years ago. Among other East Tennessee drivers given a good shot at first-place money are Ken Phillips of Loudon, Gary Duggan of Lenoir City, Buddy Rogers of Knoxville, Tootle Estes of Knoxville, Bill Corum of Marysville and Herman Goddard of Knoxville. "Because of the huge field of sportsman cars anticipated, we'll run a consolation race for those not making the field for the main event," said Martin. Vineyard, who has run qualifying laps consistently in the 13.60s all season, holds the track qualifying record at 13.47 seconds for 78.000 miles per hour. H.E. also has chalked up four victories as the season approaches the halfway mark.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Many things contribute to keeping the people of any area together. It is mainly the things they do together that form the bonds. Sometimes it is the activity of family members as well as the adults that helps to bring people together.

One of the things I feel that has contributed greatly to this is music activity. One has to just look at the number of people that have been brought together by our High School Bands over the period of many years. And this applies to all of our area of Loudon County. But it goes back even farther than this period of time. Many years ago the towns people would get together and form a town band. Just for the purpose of doing something together.

Dur thinking along this line was prompted by one of our pictures we are using this week. It is a picture of Lenoir City's first band. What year it was, I have no idea, but it possibly was around the turn of the century. We had a picture one time quite awhile back of a similar type band (composed mostly of adults) that was formed in Loudon. We don't know the names of any of the people in the band, but we are sure they were all well known Lenoir City men. There were no women in the band, as there are in our school bands of today. I really don't know why. Some of the best band members in our present day are female. Oh well, that was the way it was in those days I guess. When we think of music in Loudon County, we cannot fail to give credit to Mr. Scarborough of Lenoir City, who was instrumental in bringing music to both Lenoir City and Loudon Schools. I know he came down to Loudon years ago to help their High School music program. He was a very talented man with a love for music. We are very proud to use this old band picture and we are sure many of our Lenoir City readers will enjoy seeing it.

This picture possibly has high historical value in the history of Lenoir City. Like Loudon, the railroad played a very important role in the city's early history. This picture was made on the platform of the old E.T.U.G. around 1891. This was the railroad serving the City in this time period.

In those days small railroads served specific areas. This was before the modern systems we know today came into reality. Like all small cities, the railroad and its depot were the focal point for the towns people. Everyone who could, would meet the daily arrival of incoming and departing trains to see who was leaving or arriving in town. Possibility they just wanted to have something to do to pass the time. It was the passing of an era that is now only a memory to many people, but a rich part of life in the Good Old Days. Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Grant Funds County Aging Directorship

The Tennessee Commission on Aging has awarded Loudon County $8,000.00 of State money to hire a full time director for Loudon County Senior Citizens Center. Dr. G. W. McSpadden of Lenoir City has been serving as director on a part-time basis since October and has worked many extra volunteer hours. At her recommendation, a request for a full-time position has been approved by the Commission. The Personnel Committee of the Loudon County Council of Aging will meet on Thursday, July 8 to interview persons for the Director of the Senior Citizens Center. Call the Office on Aging at 438-4456 for applications and additional information.

19 Farms Here Over 100 Years Old

At least 19 Loudon County farms are listed in the preliminary results of the Family Land Heritage-Century Farm program. The program lists 634 farms in Tennessee that have been cultivated by the same family for 100 years or more, said Tennessee Agriculture Commissioner Edward S. Porter.

Of the 19 Loudon County farms listed in the Century Farm program the oldest is the Mrs. Samuel H. Roberson Farm at Loudon which has been in that family since 1790, Edmund McQueen II, County Historian said. Honors will be bestowed on the farms this fall at special Ceremonies sponsored by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture.

The Loudon County farms thus far listed by the Department and the dates they have been family owned are as follows: Mrs. Samuel H. Roberson 1790; Thomas Glen Henry III 1798; Albert James Eldridge 1798; J.J. Blair 1799; J.C. Greenway, Jr. 1807; Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Alexander 1811; Earl Alexander 1811; Miss Kate Blair and Mrs. Thomas F.

Henry Jr. 1815, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Madison West 1815, Dr. and Mrs. William Blair Harrison 1817, Sam H. Holchick 1817, Sam McCollum, Jr. and Mrs. S.B. McCollum, Sr., 1820, Mrs. Horace Terry Bird 1827, Ben M. Roberson 1830, Benjamin Beals Simpson 1848, Mrs. Norman Mason McQueen 1852, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edwin Shipley 1853, H.C. Greenway Jr. 1875, and Mrs. William Thomas McPeake, Jr., date not listed.

"I commend the farm families, who have kept America's first industry, agriculture prospering on 58.6 percent of the land in Tennessee. The Century Farm applications we have received demonstrate the interdependence we all share in agriculture. We hope that this Bicentennial program, recognized by the Tennessee Historical Commission as one of the 13 outstanding preservation projects for 1976, increases our awareness of the resourcefulness of the land and pride in the family farm," said Commissioner Porter.

will be listed with a brief description of their farming operation in the Family Land Heritage Registry to be published by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture. A certificate honoring the productiveness of the land will also be awarded each farm at a later date.

To date 87 of the 95 counties in Tennessee have at least one or more certified Century Farms. To date Greene Co. qualifies as the leader in Century Farms with 36 and also the county with the oldest farm dating back 199 years, followed by McMinn Co. with 34 farms and Obion Co. with 26 farms.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friends at the Herald, Enclosed is $7 check for our paper renewal. We moved to Clarksville the first of June. Bob was promoted to Supervisor of Area 21 with Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency and is over a 10 county area now. I finished two years at Roane State and am now enrolled at Austin Peay State University here in Clarksville as a Junior. We enjoy the Herald each week and miss all the good friends we made while living here. We still think Loudon is the nicest place we've ever lived. Sincerely, Martha Marmon.

Sprout is a member of Sasser's statewide campaign committee, and Richmond is a co-chairman of the Loudon County Sasser for Senate campaign.

WE'RE FIRST, LIKE AMERICA.

For 200 years, generations of Americans have lived and worked, fought and died, to keep America first. Each section of the country has made its own special and significant contributions to the greatness of our nation.

Loudon County can be justly proud of its role, for throughout its history, hard-working, self-reliant citizens have always done their share for community, state, and nation. As an independent, locally owned bank, First National Bank of Loudon County shares in this spirit. As a financial institution dedicated to the principles Americans have lived for, and by, for two centuries, we believe we can serve you best by helping you achieve financial security and independence.

HONORED AT CENTENNIAL SERVICE—Mount Zion Baptist Church Sunday School Director Reelford Kirkland presents service awards to three persons at the church's Centennial Service Sunday. Receiving awards are Franklin Deford as most dedicated trustee; Charlie Miller as oldest deacon, and Clyde Brooks, Choir Director with longest service. Church Pastor Rev. S.A. Mynatt, was also honored with a plaque as being pastor with longest service. Due to a recent heart attack he was unable to attend the services.

Summer Power Saving Suggestions

More than 60 percent of the homes in the Tennessee Valley now use some form of air conditioning, and these consumers can take steps now to help hold down summer electric bills, TVA says.

Air conditioning consumes much more electricity than most homes uses, and can push summer usage on the home electric meter far above the amounts used in the mild spring months, the agency points out.

The first and most direct step for holding down power costs for home cooling is to set the thermostat no lower than 78 degrees, the guideline set in the national energy conservation effort.

Adequate attic insulation is important to avoid wasting electricity in summer air conditioning just as it is in winter heating. Heat trapped in an attic can reach 140 degrees, putting a strain on the air conditioner that wastes electricity and money.

Full insulation can save the average home about $35 a season on summer cooling costs in addition to the larger savings on winter heat, TVA estimates. The agency recommends ceiling insulation rated at R-8, which is equivalent to 6 inches of fibrous insulation. A fan to remove trapped heat from the attic also can reduce the air conditioning load.

TVA suggests insulated drapes at windows that catch the heat of the summer sun. When the air conditioner is on, all outside doors and windows should be closed. When a cooling rain drops outside temperatures to comfortable levels, windows can be opened with the air conditioner off to cool the home.

Information is available from local electric systems on other ways to reduce summertime cooling costs, and on using air conditioner energy efficiency ratings in selecting a model that will use the least electricity to do the cooling job.

DIRECTORS TOUR EATON—Eaton Corporation Directors, Sir Leonard Crossland of England, and E. Mandell De Windt, Chairman of the Board of Eaton Corporation are shown the Lenoir City plant with Division Manager of the Lock and Hardward Division William Butler last Wednesday.

EATON GENERAL PLANT MANAGER Robert Lyons (Lenoir City and Gallatin Plants) (left) discusses operations of the Lenoir City plant with directors Samuel K. Scott and William G. Meese, Eaton Corporation President Paul A. Miller, and director Furman C. Mosley as the directors toured the plant Wednesday. Workman at left is Richard Maples, automated machine operator.

Eaton Directors Meet At Lenoir City

Eaton Corporation's Board of Directors saw first hand last Wednesday at the company's Lock and Hardware Division plant, at Lenoir City, the manufacturing of the new line of Yale padlocks.

The plant tour followed the regular monthly Eaton Board meeting. This was just one of two meetings this year Eaton's Board is holding outside of its headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio.

More than $2 million has been spent in the past two years to improve the Lenoir City Plant, much to support the new padlock line being introduced this summer. The new family design of Yale padlocks combines improved security with a modern look.

Following the Board meeting and tour, Eaton President Paul A. Miller, addressed employees.

All of this dollar commitment here at Lenoir City was made to achieve a single goal: to produce a competitive product in the builders' hardware market," said Miller. "Eaton recognizes the potential of the security industry and we plan to improve our position in this market."

The Lenoir City plant was opened here in 1963 and today employs more than 650 persons. The plant manufactures padlocks, auxiliary locks, exit devices and other security building hardware products.

Besides the plant in Lenoir City, Eaton has another Lock and Hardware Division plant in Gallatin, Tennessee, plus Axle Division plants in Shelbyville and Humboldt, Tennessee.

Eaton is a manufacturer of products serving the capital goods markets, and consumer and commercial markets throughout the world. Its products include truck components, materials handling systems, industrial power transmission systems, automobile components and controls, and home and commercial security products. Sales for the first three months of 1976 were $424 million. Net earnings were $16.7 million or $0.95 per share.

April Bond Sales $25,773

Loudon County Savings Bonds Chairman Will A. Hildreth announced today that $25,773 worth of U.S. Bonds were purchased in the county during April and $131,669 during the first four months of the year. State-wide sales amounted to $7 million, bringing the January-April total to $31.4 million, an increase of 13 percent over the comparable 1975 figure.

Sales continue to set records nationally, with Americans now owning $70 billion worth of Series E and H Savings Bonds, according to the De DePa Department of the Treasury.

When held to maturity of 5 years, Series E Bonds now pay 6 percent yearly. The companion H Bond matures in 10 years and yields the same rate by government check each six months.

In Memory

In memory of Elsie Flanagan. Mom, we remember your gentle face and patient smile with much sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each and you died, Mom, beloved by us all. Mom, you are not forgotten nor will you ever be, Mom, it seems as time goes by we miss you more I think of you when I'm alone and I think of you at Christmas time so much. O, how you loved a Christmas tree and pretty lights on a tree. Mom, you helped us all. Mom, I think of all the things we used to do together. Mom, you've been away with Jesus for three years now, but not a day goes by that we don't think of you. Sadly missed by us all, your daughters, Freida and Martha Dean, sons and Dad.

Mower Stolen

A 26 inch riding lawn mower was reportedly stolen from the J.R. Reynolds residence last Friday, Lenoir City, after James Massogoli said the mower was red and white and had a five horsepower motor.

Food Sales Here Over $14 Million

For most Loudon County families, incomes were up in the past year and the rise was reflected in the amount of business done by local retail stores.

According to a new market report, consumer outlays for goods and services in the local area compared favorably with expenditures made in the previous year. To a considerable extent, however, inflation contributed to the increase in the dollar volume.

The findings are contained in a study just released by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It shows just how much was spent locally and in other sections of the country for food, cars, clothing, furniture and general merchandise.

In Loudon County, a large part of the outlay was for food. Out of every dollar spent in local retail stores, approximately 29 cents went to supermarkets, bakeries, butcher shops, grocery stores, delicatessens and the like.

Elsewhere in the United States, 21 cents was so spent and, in the East South Central States, 23 cents.

All in all, the sales volume in stores selling food for home preparation and consumption added up to a grand total of $14,284,000.

This was solely for take-home food. It does not include the amount spent in restaurants and in other eating and drinking places.

If the expenditures were to be divided equally among the local population they would average out to $3.16 per household.

Sales of automobiles, trailers, motorcycles, boats and other automotive equipment reached $1,515,000.

Department stores and other stores carrying general merchandise recorded a total of $4,260,000.

Apparel and specialty shops, including those selling hats, dresses, coats, shoes and other articles of clothing, had a gross of $1,111,000.

Furniture and home furnishings establishments accounted for $2,400,000.

In recent months there has been a further increase in business activity generally.

Consumers, less worried about the economy, are spending more and saving less.

Completely wooded - near Oak Ridge Nuclear Developments - on Paint Rock Game Preserve

in Roane County, 4 miles East of Kingston, Tenn.
3 miles south of U.S. 70 on Greasy Run Road
Subdivided Into Tracts Of
5 To 20 Acres
Saturday, July 3, 10:00 A.M.

DIRECTIONS TO SALE: Traveling from Knoxville: Take I-40 West to Buttermilk Rd. Exit, turn South on Buttermilk Rd., follow Buttermilk Rd. to US 70, turn left & go approximately 1 mile, turn right on Midway Road, follow it into Greasy Run Road, proceed to property. Traveling from Kingston: On Highway US 70 toward Knoxville, go 1/2 mile, turn right on Midway Road, follow Midway Road into Greasy Run Road which deadends into the property.

AUCTIONEER COMMENT: This magnificent tract of land is bounded on 2 sides by approximately 2 miles of County Roads, and on the other 2 sides by the Paint Rock Wildlife Management Area, and approximately 1 1/2 miles of beautiful Watts Bar Lake frontage. The Wildlife Reservation restricts the building of docks on the lake frontage; however, three public access areas are near this property and boat launching is permitted.

This land is basically rectangular in shape and varies from level to gently rolling to "mountain peak-like" elevation with a magnificent view of the area from atop the ridgepole. Every type hardwood tree seems to be on this property, and several springs and streams provide water. This is truly an unspoiled tract of land that has been intentionally left as natural as possible, with road construction being kept to a minimum and by dividing the property into 5 acre or larger tracts, so as to maintain an uncluttered development look and retain the rustic charm of this real estate.

The massive development of Oak Ridge, Anderson and Roane Counties, and the Nuclear Energy related projects will be taking place only a few miles North of this land, and if you are one who is associated with these developments, now is the time to buy your land before greater demand inflates prices. Other persons wishing to avail themselves of the fishing and recreation of Watts Bar Lake will find this land only 20 miles from Knoxville (12 miles from Eatons' Cross Roads), 15 miles from Lenoir City, 15 miles from Oak Ridge, 5 miles from Kingston.

THIS SALE WILL BE HELD, RAIN OR SHINE, UNDER THE BIG TOP TENT WITH FREE WATERMELON, HOT DOGS, & DRINKS IN 4th OF JULY STYLE!!!

INSPECTION: Sunday, June 20 and Sunday, June 27, 1-5 P.M.

Pictures Bring Local History Alive

EARLY COURTHOUSE SCENE—The pulse of any area is possibly best felt at the courthouse. The Loudon County Courthouse has been the scene of many activities including loafing and telling stories.

THE LATE A.T. MILLER, a lumber and automobile dealer could possibly be labeled as one of the top Mule traders in Loudon history.

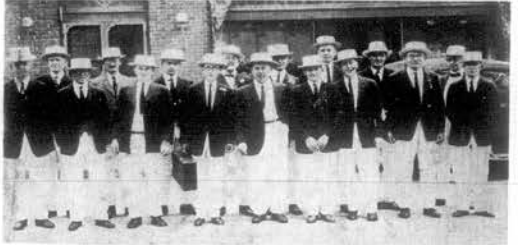

LOUDON'S FIRST RECREATION PARK—Marble Heights, built and maintained by the Modern Woodmen of America was located on the hill just below where the Charles H. Bacon Hospital building stands. It was dedicated and opened on July 4 in the mid 1920's. The Woodmen were promoters of patriotism.

CHECKERBOARD SCHOOL—The blue back speller, McGuffey's Reader and the slate tablet were prominent tools of the students of this old rural school in the early history of Loudon County.

FIRST SCHOOL BUS—This 1931 Dodge School bus, operated by Ben Robinson was the first such vehicle in Loudon County.

TOAD HILL SCHOOL OF 1899—This old well known rural school of Loudon County has special meaning for many of the present residents of the Loudon area. Still standing the old building served students for many years in the late 1890s and early 1900s.

WATKINS' GROCERY—The W.S. Watkins grocery was a landmark in Loudon. It brought the first truck grocery deliveries to town. The late W.S. Watkins, on the right of the store porch was one of the more prominent citizens of the county at the turn of the century. He is remembered by many as Squire Bill.

Many Area Churches Over 100 Years Old

Many churches in Loudon county have the distinction of being well over 100 years old, for almost simultaneously with the organization of the county, came the founding of various places of worship.

MARTEL METHODIST CHURCH

According to available records, Martel United Methodist Church was the first house of worship to be established in Loudon County, dating from about 1792, or before, when John Winton, a local preacher of the Methodist faith, moved here with his family to the Muddy Creek area. Rev. Winton established a place of meeting for religious services, and a log cabin was built on the spot where the Martel Church now stands to be used for worship services.

Methodist Bishop Francis Ashby, the famed "Great Biding Bishop," whose parish extended from New York to Charleston, visited Muddy Creek several times. On Friday, Oct. 31, 1899, Bishop Asbury, accompanied by Bishop Wheaton and Bishop McKendree, preached to a congregation and ordained John Winton as a deacon.

For a long time, the log building was used as a meeting house, then one day it burned, and all records burned with it.

Today in the cemetery beside the Martel church can be found a marker bearing the following inscription:

John Winton
Born Nov. 8, 1761
Died Aug. 2, 1846

Of historical interest, also, is the fact that in this historic cemetery will be found the Rather plot, Sumbine and Frost have entirely wiped away the lettering from some of the tombstones. Here Elizabeth McElwee, the first white child born after the settlement of the site of Knoxville, is buried.

Before the civil war another meeting house was erected at Muddy Creek. It was built of logs and stood near the camp site.

The new log house stood until during the Civil War when General Burnside's men were making his campaign through this part of the country. The General ordered his men to tear down the log church and cabins and move them to Ball Camp Ground in Knox County.

Not daunted by the stealing of their church buildings, members of Muddy Creek Church hauled lumber from a nearby saw mill and built a platform under a large oak tree. The minister would stand on the platform and preach while his congregation stood around.

Sometime during 1867 a new church building was built at Muddy Creek. Many members and community residents gave money material of labor. J. C. Grant, who owned a sawmill, gave lumber in exchange for the old camp meeting shed which still stood on the site.

A Col. Easley, a Presbyterian Minister, contributed to the building and was granted the privilege of having a Presbyterian minister fill the pulpit once each month. This privilege was used for a long time. One donation was made with the provision that the windows in the sanctuary house three shades. The building, which stands today, still has its three-shade window.

The new church was dedicated in 1872 as "The Muddy Creek Methodist Church was established as a place of worship and used as a hospital by the Federal troops. After the War, the building was repaired and used again by the congregation.

The congregation worshipped in this building on Church Street until August 1877, when it was sold to the school commissioners and became the first civil district of Loudon County for the sum of $550.

The school commissioners sold the church building to the Presbyterian Church of Loudon November 1877. The building was used for worship by the Presbyterian Church of Loudon until finally being torn down for the erection of a new church about 1916, which is the present Church of the Nazarene.

One of the reasons for the sale of the property in 1877 was to liquidate an indebtedness incurred in the operation of Loudon High School, which was begun by East Tennessee Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church as a church school in 1870.

In November of 1877, after the church on Church Street was sold, the session voted to donate the sale price of $550 to Loudon High School to pay off the debt which was outstanding provided the school remain synodical property.

From 1877 until 1882, the congregation worshipped with the Methodists in the building which is now the Masonic Hall on Wharf St.

The present building at the corner of Atlanta St. and College Ave. was erected in 1882.

In September of 1955, a planning committee consisting of Dr. W.B. Harrison, Mrs. W. A. McMurray, Gilbert Whateaway, and J. J. Blair, was appointed to consult with the Methodist Church, the United Brethren Church, and the Presbyterian Church to estimate costs of a new church plan.

In 1956, a long-range building program was planned. It called for a building to be erected in three units. The first two units were an educational space and the third to be a new sanctuary.

J. J. Blair was contractor for the first two units. One unit was completed in 1960, which included six classrooms and two restrooms upstairs, four classrooms, two restrooms, a ballroom, and a small office space downstairs. Unit two was completed in 1962, which included a fellowship hall, kitchen, two restrooms, lounge and five classrooms.

PROSPECT BAPTIST

Tennessee was 30 years in her statehood when the missionary Baptist organized Prospect Baptist Church in July of 1826.

The parent church at Prospect Creek in Sweetwater Creek was organized in 1820 and was located on the Sweetwater Creek between Philadelphia and Sweetwater and was said to have been the earliest church organized in that section.

On the second Saturday in July, 1826, this association was made an arm of the Sweetwater Church, taking the name of Prospect Baptist Church. It was in 1827, it was duly constituted and given full powers to transact church business, organized by the Rev. John Moss, who was the first pastor. Charles Tallafiero was the first preacher.

The membership soon grew to a total of 200 white members, and 14 negro members. There were 14 families. By the year 1827, a committee was appointed to enlarge the building. One end of the log house was razed and a frame building 30x30 was added.

On the third Saturday in Feb. 1859, the church agreed to construct a new house of worship. A committee to select a site and draw up plans for the building to be presented to the church at the next meeting. The plan submitted was approved and built. The new house was 40x50 feet and was dedicated in August, 1860.

In 1913 the church was remodeled and again in 1947 in 1955 a new educational building was constructed and dedicated the same year.

SHADY GROVE BAPTIST

The Shady Grove Baptist Church, although located in Knox County, is attended by a number of members in Loudon County and is a member of the Loudon County Baptist Association.

When the church was established on the first Sunday in September, 1827, and some members from the Point Creek Church, near a group at the Shady Grove meeting house, the church members of the Association, which was then known as the Providence Association.

Services were held in a log building on land given by Thomas Harvey, a Baptist preacher. Methodist and Presbyterians also used the log building for meetings.

About 1862 a building of hand hewn timbers was started. The carpenter in charge was constructing an army duty in the Civil War. After the war, the building was completed and was used for worship until it was no longer adequate for the needs of the congregation. The building was torn down in December, 1955, and was replaced by the present building.

LOUDON CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN

There has been a Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Loudon since August of 1853, although the earliest records of the church date back only to May of 1855.

During the War between the States, the church building was abandoned as a place of worship and used as a hospital by the Federal troops. After the War, the building was repaired and used again by the congregation.

NEW PROVIDENCE BAPTIST CHURCH

The New Providence Baptist Church was organized in July of 1834, by elders Richard Tallafiero, Charles Tallafiero and John Moore. FORK CREEK BAPTIST

Generations of proud people in the Fork Creek Community have strived for over 132 years to expand the one-room building into a modern church building.

The church building now has a total of 17 classrooms. On Oct. 12, 1956, the new brick auditorium was completed and dedicated.

During 1969, physical improvements in the church facilities included new furniture for the educational building, including 112 metal folding chairs and three pianos. The church parking area has been blacktopped, new carpet has been installed in the auditorium; the entire church building has been air conditioned; storm windows have been installed throughout the building; musical instruments have been remodeled and enclosed in the auditorium; and two new Sunday School rooms in the basement, which were unfurnished, have been completed.

FIRST BAPTIST OF LENOIR CITY

The First Baptist Church of Lenoir City was organized in September of 1894 with 16 charter members who along with others, had been worshipping in a log school house located on the lot where the Nichols School building now stands at C Street and Second Ave.

A lot on which to construct a building and timber from which lumber was to be sawed for the construction were donated by the Lenoir City Company. The first building, 18 feet by 60 feet, was constructed in 1895 when the Rev. J. A. Robinson was pastor.

In 1905, the Lenoir City Company donated another lot adjoining the one on which the church building was located and a parsonage was built on that lot.

Due to a growth in attendance in the church meetings, the original auditorium was lengthened by 30 feet in 1906.

In 1913, under the leadership of Pastor E. A. Cox, the present auditorium was constructed at a cost of a little over $5,200. This included building, pews, carpet, lights, and other furnishings.

An educational building was erected at the east end of the building in 1915.

Coming of Railroad Brings Greenback Into Existence

Greenback came into existence during the late 1800's with the moving of the railroad into that part of Loudon County.

The earlier river towns of Margaret and Unita died when the railroad extended into Loudon County and a small town developed on either side of the line.

When the railroads ran their lines through Mount and Loudon County in the 1870's, the site of Greenback was a field owned by Robert Thompson and J. B. Hall.

The railroad was completed in 1889 and the first passenger train service was established in 1890. The old L&N depot was completed in 1914 and is now used as a warehouse by the Farmers Co-op.

Tip Isle built the only hotel in Greenback in 1899.

The first bank in Greenback opened for business Jan. 12, 1912. The Bank of Greenback closed March 20, 1931 during the depression. Merchants and farmers bank opened Sept. 12, 1931.

Fire almost wiped out the business section of Greenback on May 4, 1917. Destroyed buildings are where Greenback Drug, King's Beauty Shop and Greenback Hardware now stand.

The Greenback Flour Mill was built in June of 1919 where the coal yard office is now. It was destroyed by fire Jan. 31, 1929 and was rebuilt in April of that year.

In 1907 Greenback was on permanent footing and was helped even more by the construction of a second railroad line. Bill Jones was station master in Greenback for more than 40 years. He was also County Court Clerk and a Squire. Jones married a Squire Jones, who married a Squire Jones, who married a Squire Jones.

The first school in Greenback was opened Aug. 7, 1921. The building consisted of six rooms and an auditorium and cost $20,000. G. L. Miser was the first principal.

Electric lights was first used in Greenback Jan. 26, 1929. In 1929 there were two telephone companies, one in the old hotel and one in the present home of Mac Lowry. At this time persons using the telephone system had to call the operator in order to get their number.

The direct dialing system was put into use in 1951. Greenback today has an industrial section which includes Greenback Industries and the Miltron Co. Greenback has many and many industries making and producing many products for large manufacturing to fabricate into lubricating accessories and bearings. The Miltron Co. makes a non-skid underlayment for rugs as well as several other types of products, including nylon thread carpet.

Probably one of the oldest industries in the community is the Old Hickory Brick Plant which several generations have operated.

We are proud to be a part of such a Great Nation where Freedom can be enjoyed by all and where the free enterprise system can be practiced.

LOUDON COLLEGE IN 1899—Loudon's first and only college. It was operated by the Presbyterian Church and served as a school for almost all grade levels. It was also a model of education in Tennessee in its day. Some of the basic building still stands as county offices at the old Loudon High site.

Episcopal Church, South, and the Protestant Methodist Church, to become The Methodist Church. The two Methodist churches in Loudon continued to hold separate services in their own buildings. However, on Feb. 1, 1948, the Memorial Methodist Church was destroyed by fire. The idea of the two churches uniting to form the Methodist Church of Loudon was presented to the congregations, and the vote was unanimous in favor of the merger. The Board of Stewards from both churches were appointed to plan the merger, to be presented to the Holston Annual Conference. The conference approved the merger in October of 1948.

that year. The old church had to be torn down to make way for the new auditorium and Sunday school rooms. Since 1965, several improvements to the building have been made. Under the guidance of Pleasant Hill Church, during the pastorate of the Rev. Murray F. Jackson, 1948-1951, Kingston Pike Mission was started in a small house near where the new church is now located. The oldest grave in Pleasant Hill Cemetery is for Caroline Amos, who died July 8, 1944. She was born Dec. 17, 1843.

The first Baptist Church of Loudon City has been served by 29 pastors since 1894, when it was first organized. UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF LOUDON The United Methodist Church of Loudon had its beginning in 1858 as The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with six charter members, and the Rev. Crockett Godby as pastor. The first house of worship was the brick building now known as the Masonic Temple. This building was rendered useless as a place of worship during the Civil War, when a group from Sherman's Army, marching through Loudon, ripped out the pulpit pews and floors and burned them.

PLEASANT HILL BAPTIST CHURCH Pleasant Hill Baptist Church located on old Highway 145 near Eaton Crossroads, was started as a mission of Hickory Creek Baptist Church in 1853. It was organized as a Baptist church in 1857.

TRINITY UNITED METHODIST The beginning of Trinity United Methodist Church in Loudon City can be traced back to early Methodism when religious societies were formed and held services before the Civil War. In October of 1866, the Holston Conference Methodist Episcopal Church South appointed the Rev. S.K. Haynes as pastor of Marvillville and Loudon circuit. At that time, there was no church building in Loudon City, but the Rev. Haynes, who was pastor for two years, held services in the Loudon Carpenter Shop.

On Jan. 3, 1891, a lot now owned and occupied by the present Methodist Church, was purchased for $400 from Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Tipson, Sr., and on April 18, 1891, a contract was let to build a new church. The new building was officially dedicated June 11, 1892, with 22 members.

After the Methodist Church unification in 1959, it was necessary to rename the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and in honor and memory of the faithful ones who worked so hard for the growth of the church, the name of The Memorial Methodist Church of Loudon was chosen.

Many years before 1833, however, a log building was built on the hill where the Pleasant Hill church is located today. It was used as a meeting house for all denominations of the community and was called, appropriately enough, "The Meeting House." Each group had certain Sundays or times of the week for their services. Most churches in those days only had services once a month and their preachers traveled on horses from place to place. About 1823 the front of the log structure was weather boarded.

In the early part of 1865, a revival was held in the old Episcopal Church of Loudon, and as a result of the revival, a Methodist Episcopal Church was organized.

Some time before 1900 the Meeting House was torn down, and logs from that building were used for floor joists of the church then built. In 1920 or 1921, more rooms were needed and Ed Rader and men of the church added two rooms. The inside of the old wooden church was in the shape of a cross.

In 1948 the W.M.U. became aware of the need for more Sunday School rooms in the church. The Ladies brought their pedal sewing machines to the church and made curtains to separate the classes for Sunday School. The machines also were used to mend clothing for needy families and to make quilts to be given to the needy. A new brick church was begun in March of 1958 and completed in September of 1959.

The Symbols Of Freedom

As we honor America's bicentennial, let us visualize our symbols of freedom: not for what they are, but what they stand for. For example:

The FLAG is not a piece of material; it is the banner of freedom, depicting the courage, dedication and sacrifice that brought it to us.

The LIBERTY BELL is not a piece of metal; it is the voice of freedom; silent but forever audible to those who will hear it.

The STATUE OF LIBERTY is not a piece of sculpture; it is our message of welcome to those who would begin a new life upon our shores.

The EAGLE is not a bird; it is our determination to remain free, and our guide to freedom's unlimited horizons.

The DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE is not a piece of paper; it was the birth certificate of our newborn Republic.

The CONSTITUTION is not a piece of paper; it is the blueprint and the insurance policy of our freedom.

The UNITED STATES MAP is not a piece of real estate; it is the birthplace and the homeland of man's finest system of self-government.

Our ACHIEVEMENTS OF PROGRESS, like their colonial counterparts, are not material objects; they are the tangible proof that all things are possible in a climate of free enterprise.

Now, as we begin America's third century, let us vow to retain our blessings of freedom, by remembering how they came about.

cemetry on C Street, near the present site of the Calvary Baptist Church.

In 1894, the church purchased the partially finished United Brethren Church, located at the corner of C Street and Second Ave.

The church continued to make changes and additions, and in 1927, the basement under the church was built with the Rev. T.J. Houts, the pastor, doing most of the work. In 1940 church member Z.B. Wilson planned and supervised the interior decoration of the church. A large educational annex was built in 1949-50, under the pastorate of the Rev. J.B. Cooper.

The largest and most extensive renovation of the church occurred in 1962, when an additional and much larger educational annex was built adjoining the church.

DIXIE LEE BAPTIST Although most records of the early history of the Dixie Lee Baptist Church in the Loudon City have been destroyed, some information concerning the origin of the church and construction of the first building which was built about 1877 was available.

All framing used in the first building was of hewn logs, held together by wooden pegs or draw pins, for which Mr. Hartley said he drilled the holes and made the pins.

The church, then known as Midway Baptist Church, had the Rev. Dr. J.B. Ginn as the first pastor. In 1897, a newly organized Sunday School Class started a fund to be applied either in an addition to the old building or to the construction of a new building. When the first contributions from this class fund was made to the church, other classes and individuals started contributing. On June 25, 1947, the church, voted to start work on a new building.

The Rev. W. Bays served as pastor in the "Carpenter Shop Church" until 1870, when the Loudon Brothers, built a small frame church near the present-day site of the J.M. Hair Dry Goods Store on Broadway. When the Loudon Manufacturing Company sold its estate in 1890 to the Loudon City Company, the church building passed into the City Company's possession. The company offered to relinquish ownership of the building if the church membership would remove it from the property. The Loudon Manufacturing Company donated a lot on the reservation, and the building was moved to a lot adjoining the Loudon family

HAPPY 200TH ANNIVERSARY

America: Past, Present And Future. Here's To Our Next 200!

Our Bicentennial. It means more to Americans than just a celebration. It serves as a stepping stone to the future. It's a door leading to bigger and better achievements.

It's an opportunity for all of us to look back at our great historical struggle for Democracy. To look at the present and see how much has been accomplished in only 200 years.

And, perhaps most important, it enables us to see that the future of America now lies in OUR hands. And all of us, as Americans, have the knowledge and foresight to make the next 200 years even better than the first. Happy birthday America!

200 YEARS UNDER "OLD GLORY"...THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Vanguard of Freedom

The U.S. Army was organized by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1775. The battle of Lexington signaled the Revolutionary War and the Army was there — fighting for our independence. Throughout our history, the Army has served in 162 combat situations and has contributed to our peacetime progress. Flood control, dam construction, air mail service, conquest of yellow fever and many scientific achievements are but a few of the Army's contributions. Emergency assistance to people around the world during times of disaster has been provided by the Army. In war or peace, the United States Army has rallied to America's call.

The Bicentennial In Loudon County Thoughts And Misgivings

From the beginning many of us looked with misgivings at the big celebration planned as a whining, gem-clearly now-look to us in the 200th birthday of America. By now most of us are sick of overdone, out-stretched and milked-dry references to our nation. We are well aware of our shortcomings but we just cannot figure out how to go about correcting them. Once we were a world leader because we could demonstrate peace and progress at home and a real desire to help others abroad to achieve this for themselves. Our leaders were received with respect and love and millions around the world had a burning desire to come to the land of golden opportunity.

Today our shame increases with each new revelation of sordid politics at home, meddling in the affairs of other countries, buy-offs, pay-offs, and cover-ups. One of the avowed Communist aims of long ago was to undermine the confidence of a country by taking away its heroes. When leaders and governments of the past are ridiculed, it causes the people to look with suspicion on present leaders. This has been a successful tool of psychology used on country after country and it cannot their downfall without a shot being fired. Experience has shown that people who do not know and study their past do not have a strong sense of patriotism and oneness and, so, become feeble nations.

Today the newstands are private lives of George Washington. Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Patrick Henry, along with many more recent leaders. The dead cannot sue for libel so they are fair game for unscrupulous writers to turn a quick dollar. Sordidness and notoriety always sell copies but the quiet labors of peace on the part of thousands in the diplomatic corps of every nation goes unnoticed. The people-people programs of agricultural and athletic departments, and the exchange programs of universities and church groups is seldom heard.

This is no time to let the antics of a few represent the true character of the American people. We all strive of commercialism and we yearn to rid our society of the shoniness, piddling and bungling image now associated with the name "American". We do not need a new image; we just need the one with which America was founded. The first Americans had to get along with each other merely to survive. Today's society is a jungle and, like our first Americans who faced the wilderness, we must use the same survival techniques of togetherness, peaceful settlement, and helpfulness. As our population grows we can no longer move away from people or lands we do not like. Our courts are becoming battlegrounds instead of places to seek peaceful settlements. Lying, cheating and immorality are not characteristics just of Americans but every nation on earth had its share of these long before America came into existence. We are one of the youngest nations, yet we have lasted longer as a country than the others. There is so much right with America and it is not all buried in past history.

America is going through a period of self-criticism and if it continues it can lead to self-destruction. Just as the person who constantly is criticized comes to have an inferiority complex, a nation can do likewise. The inevitable result will be a smoldering rebellion. One healthy way to deal with constant criticism is to realize that everything you do is not a mistake. We are bound to have been doing a lot of right things in the past 200 years in America. Basically, the only thing that can defeat a country is to stop doing things together. Togetherness was the intangible quality that enabled average American colonists to defeat the three mightiest nations on earth who wanted to divide her among themselves.

In Loudon County the first half of the Bicentennial year is over and the second half is coming up. The highlight will be the week-end of July 2-5th. For the past six months the events drawing the biggest crowds in Loudon County have been the so-called "re-enactments". The Wagon Train enroute to Valley Forge and the Flatboats retracing John Donalson's 1779 journey to settling Nashville drew many people. The passing through of the Bicentennial Railroad Cars between Chattanooga and Knoxville as well as the Suburbia Junior Woman Club's Arts and Crafts Festivals also had large gatherings.

Thus far the Bicentennial celebration in Loudon County has been accomplished on a financial shoe string. A committee of persons from all areas of the county was appointed by County Court. It is hoped that people will express their personal appreciation to the following citizens who gave willingly the time and personal sacrifice it took for months of planning and work to carry out the Bicentennial activities in Loudon County: Mr. and Mrs. Sam F. Forkner, Edna Arvonia, Miss Hazel Alexander, Mrs. Garin Craig, Mrs. E. T. Harrison, Mrs. Ed Easter, Mr. Larry Duff, Mrs. Henry Richman, Mrs. Wylie Zimmerman, Mrs. Doyle Arp, Mrs. M. Anderson, Mrs. Wayne Goug, Mr. B. T. Brewer, Mr. Reilly Bradshaw, Mr. Ross Wilkerson, Mrs. Hex Burnett, Edna McQueen II, Mrs. Lucy Steele Harrison.

In addition Mr. Ralph Hall served as Secretary and Howard Murrill and Mr. Bill Birkholz served as Festival Chairmen.

In addition to these citizens, various clubs and organizations sent representatives among them the following persons: Mrs. Robert MacEachern, Mrs. James Handle, Mrs. Guy Backner, Mrs. Blaise Lillinton, Mrs. Dottie Pace, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McKinney, Mr. John Napier, Mrs. William Curtis, Mrs. Harold Freedman, Mr. Robert Fair. Many of the teachers have worked on special projects, especially Mrs. Lucie Parady, Mrs. Homer Allen Millspaugh, Mrs. Joyce Niles and both school librarians and City Librarians should receive special recognition. Mr. Donald Perkey has done a remarkable job as Co-Chairman in arranging the events and carrying out the program. The County officials, beginning with Judge William V. Russell and every County Court Member and every person in every city or county office have been most cooperative. This truly is a remarkable statement to be able to make.

Knowing the financial problems facing Loudon County, the Bicentennial activities was ever sought from city or county governments. The Finance Committee approached a few large firms for contributions and received immediately from Wampler's and Elm Hill Packing Companies and from the Film Packaging Division of Union Carbide a total of $450.00. This has been used primarily for stationery, postage and a few other necessary expenses. It is also from this fund that supplies have been purchased to use in the research and writing of a history of Loudon County. A special Research Committee has been at work since August 1975, copying county records. This will be one of the most important and long-lasting contributions by some of our historically minded people for the benefit of all our citizens. Of the hundreds of hours of work poured into Bicentennial

LOUDON COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Courthouse Building Closely Followed County's Formation

By Calvin Lanford
Possibly the most colorful places in Loudon County is the courthouse. This is true for two reasons. It has settle Nashville drew many people. The passing through of the Bicentennial Railroad Cars between Chattanooga and Knoxville as well as the Suburbia Junior Woman Club's Arts and Crafts Festivals also had large gatherings.

and continues to be extremely rich in the county's history. Second, it has served as the hub of all county activities. From the county seat it has served for many years as a polling place and around the premises at election time, has been emitted a strong political hand from those holding or seeking out one of the offices doing business from that location.

It is some 100 years the memory of a walk down the large front walk to obtain a marriage license, to witness a trip to the register of deeds for a couple's first home. Then again, maybe it was to purchase a license for the owner's first car.

The first indictment was against Lafayette and Samuel Franklin for the murder of Hozekiah Hunt. The former was arrested and convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary. Samuel Franklin escaped arrest.

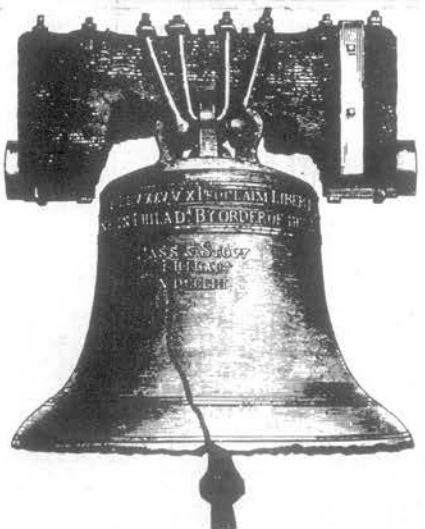

Today it stands, a part of a progressive area, the grounds have seen the passing of the era of hitch racks, an important part of a past life, to the automobile age. As age which has brought with it many changes in the way of life. The county citizens lives at times have evolved around the courthouse which stands as a historical symbol to a people who stand proud of 100 years of living together and serving one another.

Loudon Formed In 1870 From Three Other Counties

Editor's Note: The following is a historical sketch which appears in the "Inventory of the County Archives of Tennessee," Number 23, Loudon County, published in 1941 by the Works Projects Administration.

HISTORICAL SKETCH
Loudon County, one of Tennessee's youngest and geographically smallest counties, lies in the heart of the historic valley of East Tennessee. Loudon County is the county's largest municipality, although the seat of government is the town of Loudon. The creation of Loudon County followed the termination of post-Civil War Reconstruction in Tennessee and the restoration to power of the Conservatives. On June 2, 1870, the General Assembly created Christiana County from fractions of Roane, Monroe and Blount counties, but few weeks later changed the name of the new county to Loudon.

An election of county officers was ordered and held on August 5, 1870. The actual organization of the county took place on September 3, 1870, in the Baptist Church of the town of Loudon. Twenty justices of the peace were present at the organization meeting, and William Y. Huff was elected clerk.

Since the creation of Loudon County its boundaries have been altered by the General Assembly, the county is now delimited on the north-east by Knox County, on the east by Blount, on the south by Monroe and McMinn, and on the west and north by Roane. Loudon County has an area of 219 square miles, ranking eighty-seventh among Tennessee's ninety-five counties in area.

Much of the richest history relating to Loudon County antedates the creation of the county. In 1756 the English erected Fort Loudon on the southern bank of the Little Tennessee River near the mouth of the Tellico River as protection against the French and their Indian allies. The fort was named for John, Earl of Albemarle, commander of the English forces in America at the outbreak of the French and Indian War. Nearly a century after the fort was built, the name of the community then known as Blair's Ferry was changed to Loudon, and that town was later designated as the county seat. The original name of the county—Christiana—was changed by subsequent legislation to Loudon, and one of the Tennessee Valley Authority's major dams, near Loudon City, is named Fort Loudon Dam. Indian title to the area including present Loudon County was extinguished by three separate treaties between the United States and the Cherokee. By the Treaty of Holston, or Blount's Treaty, July 2, 1791, the Indians relinquished claim to that extreme northern portion of the present county which north of the Hawkins Line, surveyed six years later. By the First Treaty of Tellico, October 2, 1790, the Cherokee ceded the area lying below the Hawkins Line as far south as the Tennessee and Little Tennessee rivers, and by Calhoun's Treaty of February 27, 1819, they surrendered the lands south of these streams.

The southern portion of present Loudon County was included in the Hiwassee District, created by the General Assembly in 1819. White settlement of what is now Loudon County seems to have rapidly followed the extinction of the Indian title. One of the most prominent of the early settlers was William Ballard Lenoir, who in 1810 made his home at the confluence of the Tennessee and Little Tennessee rivers. The settlement upon which Loudon City is now located was settled in 1809 by his father, General William Lenoir, a distinguished North Carolinian. At least a portion of the Lenoir lands belonged to General William Lenoir under an entry of 1788 made pursuant to a grant of the State of North Carolina. This settlement, the site of present Loudon City, was early known as Lenoir's or Lenoir Station, and William B. Lenoir seems to have been its first postmaster. There is abundant evidence that Lenoir engaged profitably in land, cotton and milling enterprises—operations that were later continued by his sons under the corporate name of the Lenoir Manufacturing Company.

Among other early settlers in the region were James, William and Samuel Blair, Jesse and Simon Eldridge, Henry Bogard, Jacob Gardinier, John and Pomeroy Carmichael and Benjamin Prater. James Blair operated a ferry at what is now the town of Loudon, and the nearby community was known as Blair's Ferry until given its present name, about 1853.

Blair's Ferry envisioned a golden future of commerce. In 1852 it became the northern terminal point of the East Tennessee and Georgia Railroad, with a daily train operating to and from Dalton, Georgia. As a junction point of rail and river traffic, Blair's Ferry seemed happily situated to prosper and to achieve rank as a large community in East Tennessee provided that it remain the terminus of the railroad. Indeed, so appealing was the prospect that some of the town's more zealous citizens seem to have devised a plan to prevent the extension of the railroad. But their dreams were shattered when in 1855 the General Assembly so arranged the system of state aid to railroads that the East Tennessee and Georgia was virtually compelled to extend its tracks to Knoxville.

Three years later the rail link from Blair's Ferry, now Loudon, to Knoxville was completed.

Like the rest of East Tennessee, which was a stronghold of Unionism, the region of present Loudon County felt the full force of the Civil War.

They welcomed the occupation of East Tennessee by Union forces under General Ambrose E. Burnside in September, 1863, and rejoicingly sought to do what they could for the cause of the Union. To this end there was devised a plan of destroying vital bridges along the rail route from Georgia to Bristol, including that in Loudon. Some of the bridges were burned, but apparently the Loudon bridge was not among those destroyed. In the fall of 1863, the forces of General James Longstreet, moving from Chattanooga to oppose Burnside at Knoxville, crossed the Tennessee River by the railroad bridge at Loudon.

The physical characteristics of Loudon County help to make it a pleasant community in which to live. It is drained by the Tennessee River, which passes through the very heart of the county, by the Little Tennessee River, and by minor tributaries of those streams. The county's average temperature is approximately 60 degrees Fahrenheit, and its average annual rainfall is slightly over fifty inches.

Of Loudon County's total population of 17,205 in 1950, 7,048 persons were classed as urban population, and 10,757 as rural, and of the rural population, 7,591 persons were listed in the category of rural-farm population, although by 1955, the county's farm population had risen to 9,389.

Loudon County's economy is based primarily on agriculture, although industrial enterprise is by means a negligible factor. In 1955, nearly 140,000 of the county's approximately 140,196 acres were in farm lands, with a valuation of $4,217,870. The average size of all farms was 84.6 acres. The chief cultivated crops of the county are corn, hay, tobacco, wheat, oats, and barley. The leading types of industrial establishments in Loudon County are milling and the manufacture of textiles and furniture. Loudon City, where an important car foundry is located, is the county's chief industrial community.

The courthouse in Loudon was built in 1872 and the jail in 1874. Public educational facilities in Loudon County seem to be adequate and measured in terms of the number of schools maintained.

The political and religious affiliations of Loudon County residents are such as one might expect to find among the people of a rural East Tennessee county. A majority of its voters are Republican and most of its people adhere to the Baptist, Methodist, and Presbyterian faiths, although there is one Congregation of Friends.

A significant impact on Loudon County's economy and society is involved in the program of the Tennessee Valley Authority the Fort Loudon and Watts Bar dams. Loudon County's economy and physiography was directly and materially affected by the transformation brought by the building of the dams. The withdrawal from cultivation of farm lands in the reservoir areas; the possible location in the county of new industries attracted by the availability of hydroelectric power; the use of the reservoir lake for recreational

200 YEARS OF FREEDOM

Freedom is the most essential element of human satisfaction. More wars have been fought and personal sacrifices made in the quest for freedom than for any other cause. The freedom to own, to buy, and to sell is the essence of the free market system and is inseparable from other great freedoms such as speech, religion, and movement. It was the "Spirit of '76" that established freedom as the most important element in the quality of American life. A free market system is an essential condition for industrial and agricultural productivity. The fruits of this productivity have made Americans the best fed, best housed, best clothed, and in all other respects, best endowed nation of people in history. The climate of challenge fostered by our economic system has brought about technological advancements in 200 short years that exceed those of all preceding generations. The freedom of our economic system is unparalleled in history in the opportunities it affords every individual to rise from humble beginnings to great achievement. There are but a few of the many benefits our freedoms, of which the free market system is a vital and indivisible part, have provided for Americans during our 200-year history.

Site Of City Purchased From Pathkiller

Loudon Has Grown From River Town To Industrial City

by Calvin Lunsford
The colorful history of the Town of Loudon, Tennessee, not only is the recorded history of the struggling growth of a proud pioneer east Tennessee town, but depicts much of the overall challenge faced by the early settlers who came to Tennessee.

By the Treaty of 1763, the entry in June, 1811, with the Indian family who chose to become a citizen of the United States. The reservation in fee simple title to be in a square to include the improvements as possible the center thereof as follows:

The lands in the Hiwassee District were to be sold. The District was surveyed and mapped to show Townships and Sections.

PATHKILLER
The Pathkiller who made the entry in June, 1811, with the Indian family who chose to become a citizen of the United States made several treaties with the Cherokee Nation. Notable were the treaties of 1817 and 1819, which affected the Hiwassee District.

Treaty of 1817
By the Treaty of 1817 an Indian head of the family who desired to become a citizen of the United States and resided on lands conveyed under that treaty of which might thereafter be surrendered, was granted a reservation of 640 acres, with his improvements as near the center as practicable. A census was to be taken in June, 1818. This reservation was a fee simple title in his children and dower in his wife.

On June 1, 1818, an Indian named Pathkiller made an entry with the Indian Agent for the Cherokee Nation reciting five in his family and claiming a reservation on the Main Tennessee River about 2 1/2 miles above the mouth of Sweetwater Creek, at the place where the ferry is located.

THIRTY OF 1819
Lands in the Hiwassee District were surrendered by the Treaty made on February 27, 1819. By this Treaty it was agreed to allow a reservation of 640 acres to each head of an Indian family who chose to become a citizen of the United States. The reservation in fee simple title to be in a square to include the improvements as possible the center thereof as follows:

For a period of time Pathkiller was a joint operator with James Blair of this Ferry. James Blair kept all tolls on traffic crossing the river from East to the West, or Loudon side, and Pathkiller kept all tolls on traffic originating on the Loudon side. In the winter of 1819 or spring of 1820 Pathkiller purchased a ferry boat for the extinguishment of the Indian title, having settled on Pathkiller's reservation as a tenant of Wray Eldridge. Gabriel Cave and Eldridge threatened to drive Caves out of the Cherokee Nation when Pathkiller interceded and settled the argument and permitted Gabriel Caves to retain possession.

LAND SALES
When the State of Tennessee started selling tracts in the Hiwassee District, William Tunnell, James Johnston and Charles McClung purchased the land where Loudon is located. These purchases were by certificates later redeemed by a deed or grant signed by the Governor. These certificates were transferable. Charles McClung assigned his certificate to James Blair on December 7, 1820, and James Blair assigned to John Blair on March 13, 1823. The grant from the State of Tennessee to John Blair bears date of April 28, 1826.

EARLY GROWTH
Prior to the land sales of 1820 there was a few residents on the Loudon side of the river. John Putnam and then William Caves had milled land near Ferry, James McNabb lived near the Loudon side of the ferry. Gabriel Caves, father of William Caves, before the of 1819, and two judges held he acquired his reservation under the treaty of 1817.

Following this decision of the Court of Appeals and errors that Court issued a writ of possession to put Pathkiller back on his land. This first writ did not get Pathkiller back all the land within the confines his claimed reservation so a second writ was issued which put Pathkiller in possession of the Southwest quarter of Section 13. This second writ of possession issued Aug. 8, 1861, under the Treaty of 1817 and James Blair had died pending this suit and willed all his land on the Loudon side of the river to Wiley Blair.

LITIGATION OVER
On April 12, 1862, John Blair served notice on Pathkiller a petition would be filed with the Supreme Court for writ of restitution to restore to him the Southwest quarter of Section 13, as he was the owner and in possession before Pathkiller started his suit in 1821 and was not made a party to the suit. Upon this application the Supreme Court granted John Blair the relief he sought.

At about the same time commencing the suit in 1821 against James Blair, similar suits were started against James Johnston and William Tunnell who held deeds to lands within the boundaries of Pathkiller's reservation. These were left idle in Court to abide the decision in the James Blair case.

STATE TO RESCUE
The troubles of these land purchasers were brought to the attention of the State Legislature and that body voted in 1831 that the Treasurer of East Tennessee should carry a plea for the residents to return, the hotel keeper to return and the cars to start running.

During the construction of the river bridge for the railroad, a large Indian burial mound much of the burials found was dug up and many skeletons found, upwards of 200 number. In addition hatchets, pistols, pipes, cradles were also found in the mound. The skeletons were all of grown persons and many of them had been cut in two. It was the conclusion was drawn that an Indian battle had been fought and many warriors lost their lives.

LITIGATION RENEWED
James T. Gardenhire and wife, Sarah, petitioned the Circuit Court at Kingston brought an action of ejectment against Wiley Blair, John Blair, James Johnston, John Blair, James H. Johnston, William McLester, John Fifer, Hiram Haskins, Rebecca Tunnell and James Johnston who were trespassers on the Pathkiller reservation. This case never came to trial but was dismissed on June 25, 1861. The file in this case not being available the basis for this suit.

The title of James T. Gardenhire, on his own behalf and as guardian, has not been found, but on the day before the suit was filed he executed a deed to Thomas H. Calloway, Samuel Johnson, James Johnston, John Blair, Wiley Blair and Rebecca Tunnell, in consideration of $3000.00 to be divided in part.

GROWTH SHOWS
In 1822 or 1823 the first church in Loudon, its location being at what is now Steeple Cemetery. A Baptist church was organized and in 1850 the Methodist church was organized on Sweetwater Creek 3 miles south of Loudon. Both churches were organized in 1824 James Johnston established cotton gins in 1824 James Johnston had a saw mill on Steeple Creek 3 miles south of Loudon. The first post office at Blair's Ferry was as 1833 with Hugh Blair as the first Postmaster and James Johnston followed as the second Postmaster.

BIG BOOM
The big growth in the population started about 1851. The coming of the railroad through the town site was the main reason that brought many people to Loudon.

The town site was surveyed and mapped, with a approximately 273 lots. A street map of the town site was bounded by the river, Steeple Creek, the lots just north of the present main line of the Southern Railway and First Avenue. First Avenue is the street now running along the side of the Methodist Church.

In the fall of 1852 the first newspaper in Hiwassee County was started at Loudon, and a saw mill located on the river. The foundation of the Grace Episcopal Church was laid in October, 1852.

Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran and Baptist were raising building funds. Hugh Blair's Ferry on the Kingston road began operations that month.

The boat dock and river deep were built in the early part of 1853. Flat boats loaded at the dock and passenger boats stopped. Six passenger steamers made regular trips. Flat boats carried flour, sugar, bacon, eggs and butter here to be shipped South to New Orleans. The time came to bid and purchase these products, competing with local merchants who also purchased for Southern trade. During this boom period from 1851 to 1853 six institutions of learning advertised in the Loudon Free Press, also Gaylord's Dancing School.

Louie's Hotel was the main stopping place and arrivals of more than 100 a week were registered at this hotel.

WAR BETWEEN STATES
Until late summer of 1863 Confederate had control of Loudon. As Husearans started moving from Middle Tennessee to Chattanooga, they engaged Bragg at Chattanooga and Burnside moved from Kentucky to Knoxville. The Confederate General Buchner was ordered from Loudon County to join Bragg. Buchner took his forces over the railroad bridge at Loudon and into Knoxville.

Longstreet started moving towards Knoxville and transporting an army. On Dec. 20, 1863, 20,000 men by railroad to Sweetwater. From Sweetwater the railroad crossed Loudon and crossed the Tennessee River at Huff's Ferry. This was on November 14 and 15, 1863. Longstreet took over Loudon and started rebuilding the bridge. On Dec. 3, 1863, the Confederates started abandoning Loudon, and ran 3 locomotives and 48 cars into the river. The forces were the Sherman and Longstreet skirmished around Loudon Dec. 4 and 5, 1863, and remained under control of the Federals.

Some interesting old city laws on the books in 1899 were laws dealing with taxes for Southern citizens. The following laws were in effect: Liquor Dealers - $1.50

Lumber Dealers - $10.00
Slot Machine Operators - $5.00
Merchants - $5.00

Loudon was to face the problem of a typhoid fever epidemic, its cause was defined as germ breeding in outside privies and typhoid germ contaminated water. Both of which the improvement that could come with successful incorporation could possibly afford a means of relief.

But Loudon was to face another tragedy, the fire of 1898 which did thousands of dollars damage to the business section of Loudon, and the spread of fire and the excessive damage was contributed to the lack of water supply or equipment capable of keeping the fire under control. The arguments were that the old Arg alone incorporated it could well have had the water supply and equipment necessary to control this disastrous fire.

The local newspaper, the Loudon County Herald was going to be instrumental in helping to save the town from its plight of not completely desiring incorporation of Loudon along with the Loudon County Herald, with the aid of local business men published a special issue of the Herald pointing out the results pro and con of incorporating.

As a result of this and other influencing factors, the present incorporation of Loudon was enacted in the year 1928, and has functioned through the years as an active and progressive part of the city of Loudon. As a short feature in the heretofore mentioned special issue of the Loudon Herald a run down of survey work for a highway bridge across the river at Loudon was given.

On September 16, 1927, the legislature was let for the construction of the bridge.

Whiting and Turner Construction Co. of Baltimore, Maryland was awarded the contract and on December 30, 1929, the bridge was completed at a cost of $1,139,475.38. The bridge length is 2,706 feet long. Declared toll free in February 1947, at which time the toll was paid by the Blair's Ferry across its operation.

Loudon stands proud of its colorful role in the history of Loudon County and the following glimpses out of Loudon's Daily History is interesting to note.

The oldest building in Loudon is the old Arg alone building on Main Street. It was built by Mr. Johnny West and is Loudon's first store. It has been used for a church a produce house, dwelling house and a dance hall.

The town of Loudon, Tennessee, has roots deeply imprinted in pioneer history. Like all other towns striving to grow has had weighty problems to bear. But with the help of time and a confident people has always been able to help will be a town of which its people are proud to be a part of and today as its crossed back over the span of over one hundred years give confidence in it in times past and to the youth of today who are giving of their time and energy that Loudon may continue in growth.

Lenoir City - Wealthy Trade Center In Early Days

EARLY LENOIR CITY BUSINESS-The Blackburn Brothers Merchandise Store was one of the more prominent businesses in Lenoir City during the early years of the city.

The Lenoir City Utility Board was formed in 1939 when the city through the Tennessee Valley Authority purchased the Tennessee Power Company's holdings and combined them with the power plant the city had been operating. Both the Tennessee Power Company and the ice plant were absorbed by the Tennessee Valley Authority in 1939. Lenoir City has come a long way since the formation of the Lenoir City Company only 80 years ago, and a much further way since William Ballard Lenoir moved here with his family 160 years ago, and much more is expected in the years to come.

No history of Lenoir City would be complete without first giving the background of the Lenoir City Family which first owned the great estate on which the city now stands, and later gave their name to the town.

There were four Lenoir brothers who came to America after the revolution of the Edict of Nantes by King Louis XIV on May 2, 1685. One of these brothers, the one across the river from the city, was a Baptist minister.

I AM THE NATION

I was born on July 4, 1776, and the Declaration of Independence is my birth certificate. The bloodlines of the world run in my veins, because I offered freedom to the oppressed. I am many things, and many people, I am the nation.

I am 200 million living souls - and the ghosts of millions who have lived and died for me.

I am Nathan Hale and Paul Revere. I stood at Lexington and fired the shot heard around the world. I am Washington, Jefferson and Patrick Henry. I am John Paul Jones, the Green Mountain Boys and Davy Crockett. I am Lee and Grant and Abe Lincoln.

I remember the Alamo, the Maine and Pearl Harbor. When freedom called I answered and stayed until it was over, over there. I left my heroic dead in Flanders Fields, on the rock of Corregidor, on the bleak slopes of Korea and in the steaming jungle of Vietnam.

I am the Brooklyn Bridge, the wheat lands of Kansas and the granite hills of Vermont. I am the coalfields of the Virginias and Pennsylvania, the fertile lands of the West, the Golden Gate and the Grand Canyon. I am Independence Hall, the Monitor and the Merrimack.

I am big. I sprawl from the Atlantic to the Pacific... my arms reach out to embrace Alaska and Hawaii... 3 million square miles throbbing with industry. I am more than 5 million farms. I am forest, field, mountain and desert. I am quiet villages-and cities that never sleep.

You can look at me and see Ben Franklin walking down the streets of Philadelphia with his breadloaf under his arm. You can see Betsy Ross with her needle. You can see the lights of Christmas, and hear the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" as the calendar turns.

I am Babe Ruth and the World Series. I am 130,000 schools and colleges and 320,000 churches where my people worship God as they think best. I am a ballot dropped in a box, the roar of a crowd in a stadium and the voice of a choir in a cathedral. I am an editorial in a newspaper and a letter to a Congressman.

I am Eli Whitney and Stephen Foster. I am Tom Edison, Albert Einstein and Billy Graham. I am Horace Greeley, Will Rogers and the Wright brothers. I am George Washington Carver, Daniel Webster and Jonas Salk.

I am Longfellow, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Walt Whitman and Thomas Paine.

Yes, I am the nation, and these are the things that I am. I was conceived in freedom and, God willing, in freedom I will spend the rest of my days.

May I possess always the integrity, the courage and the strength to keep myself unshackled, to remain a citadel of freedom and a beacon of hope to the world.

This is my wish, my goal, my prayer for this year and all the years to come.

Philadelphia, 154, Loudon County's Oldest City, Proud Of Past

By Calvin Lunsford
 One of the oldest towns in Tennessee, Philadelphia was founded in 1822 by William Knox and Jacob Pearson who a town named the town. At the time of its founding it was a part of Monroe County. Later the town became a part of Loudon County.

BATTLE OF PHILADELPHIA
 Philadelphia is rich in pioneer history as well as historical events occurring along the Sweetwater Valley. Today in the town square stands a monument erected in recognition of the Civil War, Battle of Philadelphia, which occurred Oct. 20, 1863.

The historical account unfolds in the following way: By Sept. of 1863 the Union Forces had been run over by a strong Confederate Force in the Battle of Chickamauga and were bottled up in the town of Chattanooga as a result of the battle. The Union leaders decided to move to Philadelphia as soon as possible. General Grant and Sherman were sent to the area and thus the Army of the Cumberland was greatly reinforced.

General Longstreet, started his march to Knoxville to route the Union Forces from the area. The opposition forces were commanded by General A.E. Burnside. Calvary was dispatched from Chattanooga. They were to encounter the Union base at Loudon which was under the command of Brigadier General Julius White and a Union Brigade under the command of Colonel Wilford were camped at Philadelphia.

Records have it that the second calvary brigade was under the command of two Colonels, Morrison and Dredell or Dredwell (whichever spelling is correct). Morrison, who had marched the 50 miles from Charleston in a record time of 15 hours, circled Philadelphia near the vicinity of Pond Creek where he encountered the enemy at about 10 a.m. and took about 40 prisoners captive. From the Pond Creek area, he sent troops to each of the roads leading out of Philadelphia to confuse the enemy in regard to the direction in which he would bring his attack to bear.

Morrison was also busy disrupting communications by cutting telegraph wires and sending one regiment to Loudon to prevent General White from sending reinforcements to aid Wilford at Philadelphia.

Bribrel had sent a small party to surprise a few Union pickets stationed at the old Cleveland Church, near what is now known as the Simmon Orchard Hill.

The pickets managed to escape to warn Wilford of the ensuing attack but by the time Bribrel heard guns in the rear and was assured that Morrison had arrived, Wilford, tried an escape plan to Loudon but his forces were surrounded and prevented from getting to Loudon by Morrison's forces coming from the direction of Pond Creek.

As soon as Bribrel was convinced that he had been hearing the sound of Morrison's guns, he opened fire with his artillery and charged the enemy with cavalry, and was joined by Morrison, completely surrounding the enemy. The enemy was routed in a hard fought battle which continued until around 8 p.m. By that time darkness had brought a ceasing of action. With the Federal troops driving within their sight at Loudon, Morrison declared the battle would have been a much greater success if he could have stopped the attack.

There are many and varied reports on the spoils of the battle. The Confederates reported having taken between 200 to 700 prisoners, six pieces of artillery, 10 ambulances, union wagons, supplies, many horses, beef cattle and various other prizes.

The Federals reported a loss of 100 men, capturing 300-400 Confederate prisoners, and assured confidence that more of the enemy were killed and captured than the sum total of their own forces.

EARLY SETTLERS
 The town of Philadelphia has not shown any great population growth through the passing years and has somehow been able to maintain its quiet and peaceful way of everyday living. It is one of the very few remaining towns where everybody knows everyone else.

The first store was opened by Robert Browder in 1824 when the Morgan and Jacobs Company of Knoxville opened a store in Philadelphia. The first hotels in Philadelphia were operated by Robert Carden and Captain James Maddy. Captain James Dodd ran the local still house. A tan yard was operated by Louis Patterson in 1822. A grist mill was put into operation by Jacob Pearson. Around 1850 the town was at its peak and some early business men were R.R. Cleveland, James Messersmith, E. E. Edwards, Hugh Smith and John Stanfield.

CHURCHES
 The first church in Philadelphia was a Presbyterian and was built in 1823. The first minister was Dr. Isaac Anderson of Maryville. The Methodist church of Philadelphia, still a very active part of the religious life there, is rich in history. The church has served its congregation for almost 150 years. It was founded in the years 1822-1823.

The first pastor of the Philadelphia Church upon its completion was the Rev. J.G. Swisher. The first Sunday School on the circuit was organized and put into operation in March of 1873.

The First Baptist Church of Philadelphia was organized in 1885. In the beginning the membership consisted of only seven members but they were filled with determination to have a baptist church in their town. Most of the church was built by Jackson Carter great grandfather of Ernest Carter.

The original church building underwent many changes through the passing years. An extensive amount of work was done in 1941. The church had installed new pews and the interior was completely redecorated. Five days after it was dedicated on April 6, 1941, the church was completely destroyed by fire.

During the period of time the membership was without a church building they met in an example of community spirit.

Within 30 days, a corner stone was laid for a new church. This was on Friday, May 30, 1941, at 4:30 p.m. In record time the beautiful church was ready for services.

On June 6, 1965, the name of the Philadelphia Baptist Church was changed to First Baptist Church of Philadelphia.

The Harmon's Chapel Second Cumberland Presbyterian Church was organized in 1894.

RAILROAD CENTER
 Like many early East Tennessee Towns, Philadelphia was going to become deeply involved in the coming medium of railroads. Philadelphia had a strong hand in area railroad development.

On Feb. 17, 1836 the Tennessee General Assembly responded to a request of many Philadelphia citizens by incorporating the Hiwassee Railroad Company, and thereby giving the company the authority to construct a road from Hilara Ferry (now Loudon), to the southern boundary of the State and unite with the Augusta-Memphis line.

Many early publications carried advertisements pointing up Philadelphia as a possible industrial center and encouraging people to come and settle in the town.

For many years the railroad served a vital link in the progress of Philadelphia and large quantities of grain and livestock were shipped by rail out of town. Another product, barrel staves made in Philadelphia, were shipped in many parts of the country. But the use of the railroad, which for a large part were concerned with activities around the depot, were to come to an end. By 1932 the use of the railroads influence on the town of Philadelphia was almost at an end. The climax came with the closing of the Philadelphia depot on May 6, 1960, at 4:30 p.m.

INDUSTRY
 Possibly next to the largest industry Philadelphia has had through the years was the State Factory which moved from Philadelphia to Madisonville because of the lack of logs of which to make staves.

The largest industry had been the Philadelphia Hosiery Mill. In July, 1921, Edward W. Waller came to Philadelphia to investigate the possibility of starting a hosiery mill. He found the people of the community receptive to the idea and within a short period of time the needed financial support was available.

On August 1, 1921, the application for a charter was filed with the State of Tennessee. The charter was approved and on Aug. 29, 1921, the first stock holders meeting was held.

At first the operation was small in size but made steady progress for a number of years. Improvements were made through the years which included a new power plant in 1928, which supplied electricity to the rest of the town. Additions were made as well as improved machinery to produce a better product. In the early days only infants hose were made and one selling agent was employed. Later there were sales representatives in New York, Georgia and on the West Coast.

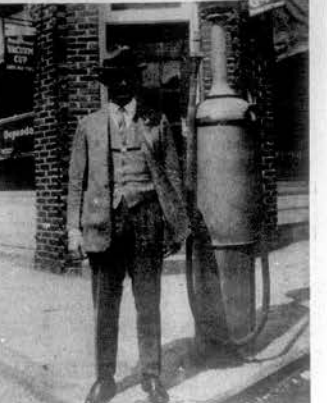

The year 1963 brought a temporary halt to the operation of Philadelphia Hosiery Mill, and for awhile it looked as though it too might be a part of history.

But in the fall of 1966 a charter for the Bar-Knit Hosiery Company was granted. This mill was headed by J. Earl Barger and again the mill was put into operation.

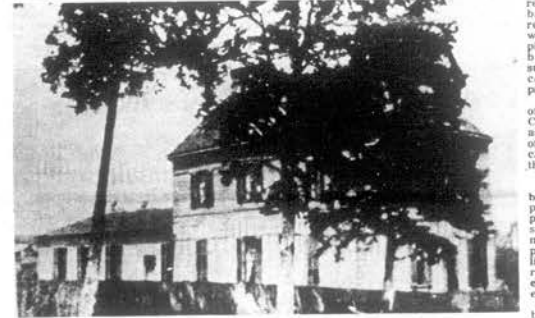

Philadelphia, like all other towns striving to grow had its tragedies and turmoil which included the destruction of a large portion of the business places by a fire on Feb. 6, 1908. Destroyed were a dry goods store, a drug store, Sparks Boarding House, Carter Produce Company, James Chaney's, Blacksmith Shop, as well as other smaller buildings.

COMMUNITY CLUB
 The years in no way have dampened the spirits of those who love and believe in the town. Possibly one of the most beneficial things to happen in the town in recent years has been the formation of the Philadelphia Community Club. This organization has the community's needs at heart and are willing to exert the necessary effort in order to make dreams become a reality. The community club pushed for, the incorporation of the town, and in 1968 it became an incorporated city. The town has a modern fire department owned by the Philadelphia Community Club. It cooperates fully with the city government in supplying fire protection in the corporate limits of the city.

With over 100 years of history to its credit, the town today stands proud of its rich history but moves forward to conquer the problems of the 20th century.

PROMINENT MAN, HISTORIC LOCATION—Dr. Arthur Harrison, father of Dr. Samuel Harrison, stands in front of the old Kimbrough Motor Company, operated by the late Carl Kimbrough, father of Mrs. H.H. Richman. He was also the town's first radio dealer. The photo was taken in 1922.

BOGART SCHOOL was a prominent educational institution in Loudon County many years ago. Located in Philadelphia it attracted students from a wide area throughout East Tennessee. The school was founded in 1892 and closed in 1925 as public education came to Loudon County.

Bodies Of Two Drowning Victims Found

Were On July 4 Fishing Trip Here

THE BODY OF Paul Raymond Stair, a TVA employee at Bull Run, is being carried from Watts Bar Lake below Fort Loudoun Dam where it was recovered Tuesday morning. Stair and his brother-in-law, David Hewitt, are believed to have drowned Sunday morning while on a fishing trip to the lake. Members of the Loudon County Rescue Squad, TVA security guards, Roane County Rescue Squad, County Deputies and Lenoir City police officers are pictured.

The bodies of two Knox County men believed drowned while on a July 4th fishing trip in Lenoir City have been recovered from Watts Bar Lake just below Fort Loudoun Dam.

The two victims were identified as Paul Raymond Stair, 29, and his brother-in-law, David Hewitt, 30.

The body of Stair was found floating above Evans Boat Dock Tuesday at 6:30 a.m. by George Pruitt and his son of Lenoir City. The thought it was a large fish at first.

The final capture came at 6:29 a.m. Wednesday when the only Rescue Squad Boat on the lake at the time made contact with the body about 300 yards downstream from where the two men are believed to have drowned. Operating the boat were Loudon County Squadsman Lonzo Parris, Tom Lee and Jim Conner.

The two victims reportedly left home early Sunday to fish all day below the dam, but were to return home that night. When they did not return the families started their own search.

The car the two men were in was found Monday by TVA security guards near the power house office just below the dam after being alerted to possible problems by the families. A check of the car by TVA, Lenoir City Police Chief, Joe Sims, Sheriff Guy Russell, and members of the Rescue Squad, showed that most of the fishing equipment the men left home with was still in the car.

This led to the theory that they had gone down the high embankment from the powerhouse to the side of the lake to sail for minnows. From about 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday the Rescue Squad and law enforcement officers checked all area boat docks and lakeside areas for the two men, but nothing turned up.

Families of the two men said both were dependable people and if they were all right they would have been in contact with their homes.

Dragging operations continued around the clock after starting about 4 p.m. Monday. At one point Tuesday there were 80 squadmen from Loudon, Blount, Monroe, Roane and Knox Counties operating from 13 boats on the lake.

The theory behind the double drowning is that the two men were probably sailing for minnows when one or the other slipped into the dangerous waters just below the dam, then as the other tried to save him, he also drowned.

The body of the first victim was severely bruised about the head indicating he was in the big rocks near the dam at some point while in the water. Both victims were examined by Deputy Coroner Tay Hook. Examination at the hospital confirmed death by drowning, Hook said.

Families of the two men remained at the lake during the entire operation. TVA Security officers cleared the fisherman's parking lot for use as headquarters for the mission.

Stair was a laborer for TVA employed at Bull Run Steam Plant. Hewitt was employed as a chemist at White Lily Flour in Knoxville. Both were married.

PROSPECT BAPTIST CHURCH near Loudon will be 150 years old this week. Special services are planned at the church this Sunday.

Prospect Baptist To Mark 150th Year

Prospect Baptist Church will be celebrating her 150th birthday on Saturday, July 10. Prospect Baptist Church was organized in July 1826. Its hand-hewn logs, erected for the first place of worship, were to house the congregation for many years.

The influence of Prospect Baptist Church upon the development of Roane and Loudon counties, like her influence upon the social and spiritual lives of her members, has been of great and far-reaching significance. After 150 years of continual service to humanity, her records are marked by the story of a merciful God who has extended His grace, His blessings and His protection from generation to generation.

Tennessee was 30 years in her statehood and Roane county 25 years old when the missionary Baptists organized Prospect Baptist Church on the waters of Food creek.

The parent Church of Prospect was the old Sweetwater Baptist Church, which was organized in 1820, located on Sweetwater creek between the towns of Sweetwater and Philadelphia. The old Sweetwater Church was said to be the earliest Church organized in the section. The first building was built of logs on a site near the present Church and the land donated by Washington Ballard.

Prospect has sent out a number of preachers. The first ordination was in April 1831. A second ordination was in 1832 and the third in 1833. Organized for the salvation of souls the Church in her early years flourished and waxed strong, attaining 200 "white souls" and "34 colored" the latter being slaves of land owners.

On the third Saturday of February, 1839, the Church agreed to construct a new house of worship. A committee was appointed to secure plans and a site to present to the Church for their approval. They decided to build a building 40 x 50 feet with a 14 foot ceiling with necessary windows and doors. The building was completed and dedicated the first Sunday in August 1860. In 1913 this same building was remodeled adding a vestibule.

On May 18, 1947, the Church passed a resolution instructing the following building committee to repair the Church house: Ben M. Roberson, Frank Matlock, Joe Wilson, Rufus Wilson, Mrs. Charles Queener, Mrs. Walter Matlock, Mrs. Walter Shafter, Mrs. Sam Parker, and Mrs. Frank Rose. The building was enlarged and remodeled.

In 1973 the building changed its looks. Brick was added. Then in 1975 new pews and pulpit furniture along with carpeting was added. A new Pastorium was erected in 1970 on a site near the Church.

In the long history of the Church they have only eight clerks. They are as follows: Charles Tallaferra, Thomas Carter, Washington Ballard, J.W. Tallaferra, S.S. Robinson, J.J. Matlock, Mrs. Sam Parker and the present clerk, Mrs. Frank Rose.

The Pastors number twenty-eight. They are as follows:

Farm Market To Open Here This Saturday

The Loudon Farmer's Market and Crafts Fair will open Saturday at the old Southern Railway Depot in Loudon. County Judge William Russell and officials of the City of Loudon spearheaded the project to find a place where local farmers and produce growers could sell their home grown products in a centrally located place. Persons wishing to offer farm produce for sale are asked to use the depot loading ramp and parking area for display. Persons who have locally produced crafts for sale may also use the market.

The Market will open for the first time Saturday morning and will be open daily, Monday through Saturday, whenever a farmer or crafts maker has items for sale.

Judge Bill Russell said that for years local produce growers have wanted a place to offer their merchandise for sale, but due to parking restrictions in Loudon there has been little place for them to do so. "I hope that all produce growers will use the old depot. If having several growers in one area there should be good business as the public becomes aware of the location."

Farmers and producers may pick their location on the depot docks on a first come first served basis daily.

Philadelphia Demolition Underway, Bids Near

Demolition of the old portions of the Philadelphia Elementary School started last week. Superintendent of County Education, Edward Headlee said this week that he expects construction of the new Philadelphia School to start by September.

Barnett Wrecking Company of Knoxville is doing the demolition. Work is scheduled to be completed and have the site cleared by August 30. The firm is tearing down the old gym and all of the school building except a wing of two classrooms and the cafeteria which were built in the early 1950's. Barnett bid to do the demolition for $13,000 and $29,500.

Headlee said that the architect was completing the final drawings for the projects and the preliminary drawings are now being studied by the State Department of Education. Headlee said as far as he knew there were no problems in the design of the new building. Discussions on the planning are now to the area of finishes and floor covering, etc., Headlee said.

The Philadelphia faculty is to meet and look at recommendations for furnishings such as chalk boards, bulletin boards and storage cabinets.

Headlee said if construction starts in September or shortly after he can see no problem in having the Philadelphia students in the new $750,000 facility by the fall of 1977.

This year the kindergarten through third grades will remain in the remaining wing of the school. The cafeteria will be subdivided into two classrooms and the two remaining rooms will be used. These students will be fed from the present cafeteria kitchen. Students in grades 4 through 6 will occupy rooms, now being renovated, that have been used by vocational classes. They will be taken to Loudon Junior High School for lunch each day.

At Greenback, where $750,000 is also budget for renovation and adding new classrooms, Headlee said the project is beginning to shape up with the architect working out the final problems. The only present delay is the new cafeteria. The architect has received state approval to install a fire sprinkler system in the old hallways to meet fire requirements for hallways instead of extensive remodeling which was feared.

DR. JERRY RODGERS delivers the commencement address of the Loudon County Practical Nurse Class held at Calvary Baptist Church Friday night. Fourteen women graduated from the class, first of its kind held in Loudon County.

Dr. Rogers Issues Challenge To Practical Nurse Graduates

The 14 graduates of the first Loudon County trained Licensed Practical Nurse classes were challenged by Dr. Jerry Rodgers to disprove a statement by evolutionist C.F. Lewis, who said, "we laugh at honor and should not shudder to find traitors in our midst." In arguing the point Dr. Rodgers told the nurses that their license is the beginning of a learning process that will go on as long as they practice their profession. "You were motivated to learn, you have gained valuable tools and ability to use those tools. Your patients have paid. Your future is up to you. It can be unless you use your mind. Use your mind and the theory of Mr. Lewis will be disproved," he said.

The graduation ceremony was held at the Calvary Baptist Church in Loudon City with some 150 persons attending. Loudon County Memorial Hospital Administrator Gay Hamilton said that the class, which was sponsored by the hospital, and trained by instructors supplied by the Athens Vocational Technical School, has been one that will add to the efficiency of the health care delivery system of Loudon County and any other place where the workers might work.

The 14 graduates in the class were: Freeda Galle, Betty

Save Energy When Shopping

By Susan Stivers Assistant Extension Agent

There is no magic formula that will guarantee completely satisfactory purchases each time you buy, but there are some general principles which the intelligent shopper might bear in mind when going to the marketplace.

Shopping trips can be eliminated and time and energy saved if you:

-Know fashion directions before planning directions.

-Take an inventory of what you have. Decide which items to keep, which need changes or repairs, and which to discard.

-Make a list of items needed and take it with you when you go to shop.

-Do as much shopping as is practical each time you go.

-Purchase sewing notions at the same time you purchase the pattern and fabric.

-Know the sizes needed and color and style preferences when shopping for family members.

-Compare prices in newspapers, magazines, and catalogs to compare prices.

-Buy the best quality that you can afford in garments that get constant wear, while you may want to invest less money in items that you wear constitutes good fill for each item of wearing apparel.

-Be knowledgeable of fabrics. Know their comfort, ease of care, and wearing qualities.

-Keep in mind the facilities that you have for caring for the garment.

-Read labels and hang tags for fiber content and care requirements. Can the garment be washed or will it require dry cleaning? If it must be dry cleaned, that will add to the cost of the garment.

-Try on garments at the store to check fit and becomingness. This can help to eliminate trips to return undesirable merchandise.

-To make your time really count in the fitting room, always wear the type of shoes, undergarments, and other items that you would ordinarily wear with what you are buying.

By the end of 1975 power supply costs were showing a more stable trend both nationally and in the Tennessee Valley region, after a period of steep cost increases, particularly for power plant fuels. However, average coal cost at TVA power plants in the last half of 1975 still was about double the typical level of early 1974. TVA costs also were affected by the outage of two generating units at Browns Ferry Nuclear Plant, since that power generating had to be made up from sources with higher fuel costs.

Among the factors that contribute to the lower power supply costs in the TVA area are the large scale of TVA production operations, the higher average level of consumer use (which reduces average distribution cost), and TVA's access to large coal supplies within economical transportation distances of its power plants.

Charles Steven Key Jr. celebrated his second birthday June 29. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Key of Vale Street, Loudon. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Junior Key of Loudon, Roy Millage of Corinth and Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Bell Millage of Philadelphia.

TVA Power Cost Explained

Basic costs for supplying electricity in the Tennessee Valley region in 1975 remained well below the national average, even after the impact of sharp increases in fuel and other costs, TVA said today.

For electric utility companies nationwide, the average cost of producing and distributing electricity was about 18.5 mills per kilowatt-hour in 1975, according to a report by the Federal Power Commission.

The comparable average was about 13 mills for TVA and this region's local municipal and cooperative power systems.

These averages are for basic operating and maintenance costs, and do not include such items as taxes, interest, or return on investment. The basic costs totaled $1,255 million for the 103 billion kilowatt-hours of TVA electricity sold to ultimate consumers during the year. At the higher national average the same costs for that amount of electricity would have been about $1,906 million, some $650 million higher.

By the end of 1975 power supply costs were showing a more stable trend both nationally and in the Tennessee Valley region, after a period of steep cost increases, particularly for power plant fuels. However, average coal cost at TVA power plants in the last half of 1975 still was about double the typical level of early 1974. TVA costs also were affected by the outage of two generating units at Browns Ferry Nuclear Plant, since that power generating had to be made up from sources with higher fuel costs.

Radiation Levels In Area Unchanged Around The Farm

Radiation in the air, land and water around Oak Ridge—site of at least five facilities which produce nuclear wastes—was not significantly different last year than other areas of East Tennessee, according to a report released by the Energy Research and Development Administration.
 The ERDA report, on the environmental monitoring system at Oak Ridge, said that from samples and analysis of air, water from surface streams, several food products, vegetation, and soil, all readings of radioactivity were well below established standards.
 The report said concentrations of radioactivity in the Clinch River and in fish collected from the river were less than 2 per cent of the permissible concentration and intake guides for individuals.
 While radioactive discharges met all standards, surveys of non-radioactive materials in the environment showed need for improvement.
 The Oak Ridge Gaseous Diffusion Plant, according to the report, was out of compliance with state emission limits for particulates and visible emissions during winter months when coal was used as a supplemental fuel. A project has been approved to provide precipitators for removing the particulates.
 There were indications of too much chromium, nitrate, acids, and dissolved oxygen in sampled water, the report said, and projects are in progress or under consideration to bring these discharges into compliance.
 Sewage treatment plants at Oak Ridge National Laboratory and the Gaseous Diffusion Plant currently do not meet Federal secondary treatment requirements.
 Recipients of veterans' benefits from the War of 1812 continued until 1946, the Veterans Administration reported.

Around The Farm

By Charles McCall
 Extension Leader
 Since the dawn of time, insects and humans have engaged in combat. We have swatted, stepped on, squashed, and sprayed insects—but still they endure. Their endurance rests upon their reproductive capacity which is staggering to contemplate. If all the progeny of only one pair of house flies lived to maturity and reproduced, the entire earth would be covered to a depth of 47 feet within 3 months. Fortunately, no insect ever has the opportunity to multiply to its limit. Like most living things, insects are susceptible to bacterial and fungal diseases, along with the other perils of life.
 Rather than mankind, the most successful enemies of insects are other insects. Throughout their lives—from egg to death—most insects are surrounded by other insects trying to eat them, lay eggs in or on them, or to seize and carry them off as food for their own young.
 Insects have survived for 250 million years endowed with marvelous mechanisms which should permit them to survive for many more. We know that no species of insects has disappeared from the earth because of human activities, as have the dodo, the passenger pigeon, and several other animals.
 We benefit from insects in endless ways. Thousands of insect species assist in pollinating our entire flora of insect-pollinated plants. We could exist without these pollinated insects; tomatoes and potatoes for example, are wind pollinated, but it would be difficult to find substitutes for such insect-pollinated crops as clover, alfalfa, and fruit. Without insects, a variety of crops ranging from almonds to zucchini would yield considerably less. And spring time would be bleak without gayly colored flowers.
 Bees accomplish most of this work with some help from wasps, butterflies and moths, flies, beetles, and even minute thrips.
 Some insects improve our soil by providing holes for air penetration. Other hasten the decay of animal bodies. Thus insects participate in the endless cycles that involved all life.
 Of the approximately 1,500,000 insects that entomologists have managed to describe and name, only 10,000 are considered harmful to humans and their food and fiber supply. It is upon these "harmful" insects that agricultural research must concentrate—seeking techniques that will hold only these enduring insects at bay.

School Board Meets Thursday

The Loudon County Board of Education will discuss the building program, sites for the new middle schools and budget matters at their monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Thursday. The agenda items listed by Superintendent Edward Headlee are as follows: Interview of teacher applicants Ernestine Brock, Steekee Eicmentary; Joe Allison, Loudon High; Mike Kincaid, Greenback; and Carol Sir, Title I. Reports will be the bus committee, contract and director status; middle school site committee; and building program status. The board will consider a fund transfer from Loudon High School; possibility of continuing the nine week report cards in the high schools; and budget matters for 1976-77. These include areas of reduction in funding for next year and consideration of a called meeting to work on the budget.

Prior to the county board meeting the Vocational School Governing board will meet at the county office at 5:30 p.m. They will hear a report by Director Coy Gibson, get recommendations for employment of instructors and non-professionals. Consider a salary schedule and employee insurance benefits; and consider sites for the building trades house for the year.

BICENTENNIAL BABIES—Two babies were born at Loudon County Memorial Hospital, Sunday July 4 on the 200th birthday of the nation. At left is Mrs. Wayne Currier, Rt. 4, Sweetwater, with her new daughter, weighing 7 lbs. 2 oz., born at 2:55 p.m. Sunday. The father was not present when the picture was made. The nurse in the picture is Jane Arnbom, aunt of the baby and sister of the new mother. At right is Mr. and Mrs. James White, Rt. 4, Harriman, with their new son who was born at 11:45 a.m. Sunday. The baby weighed 8 lbs. at birth.

CAVIN LUNSFORD 458-2581

The years we spend in school account for quite a few years of our life. In many ways they hold the highlights, the of learning new things or the ability to work with others. I have often thought of the child's first day in school or we might say the first year. Being taken away from the family shelter and placed in entirely new surroundings. This, I think is where the teacher accepts a very important role in the child's life.

lines were inspired by one of our pictures this week. It is of a group of Loudon Grammar School teachers. The picture was made in 1954 at the rear of the Grammar School building. Those in the picture are (front row) A.C. Dukes, Mrs. Jody Smallen, Mrs. Bob Cline, Mrs. Blanche Watkins, Mrs. George Cantrell, Mrs. Blanche Robinson, Mrs. Arelea Limburg and Mrs. Helen Windle. Second row: W.A. Gran, Mrs. Albert Ross, Mrs. Joe Tipton, Miss Ree Miller, Mrs. W. F. Zimmerman, Mrs. Dennis Williams, Mrs. Lucille Purdy, Mrs. Tom Galyon, Mrs. J.T. Burnette and Miss Dora Mae Ibbell.

There are two that are not identified and I believe maybe some of our readers can help to fill in the gaps. Some of those in the picture are now deceased, some retired, while others in the group are still teaching. We would like to thank the Cran family for the loan of this picture. Speaking of the late Mr. Gran (who is in the picture), he, for many years was the custodian at Loudon Grammar School. He was well liked by everyone, taking time from his busy schedule to talk to the kids. I am sure he did his job very well and was missed when he left this job. He always meant a lot to me and hundreds of other people, both in school and those around our town.

Our other picture is of a Loudon football team a few years ago. This was an outstanding team, having won 20 games in a row. We only have last names.

We recognize many of those in the picture and we know that most of our readers will recall this outstanding Loudon team.

Grissom Sharp As Loudon Sr. Babe Ruth Team Looks To Kingston

Loudon's David Grissom is proving to be quite a pitcher. The right-hander was 5-0 in high school baseball as a senior at Loudon this Spring and has a 2-0 record in the Loudon-Roane County Senior Babe Ruth League. Grissom's latest achievement was a 6-5, five-hitter over Lenoir City. Grissom only walked two and struckout four in hurling Loudon to within one game of league leading Kingston. "David is becoming quite a pitcher," remarked his high school and summer league coach Bill Thompson. "We'll go against Kingston in a crucial game this week and certainly David has convinced me he is the man to place us in the league lead or Kingston will pretty well salt things away." Jackie Jones drove home the deciding runs with a two RBI single in the fourth inning as Lenoir City used three pitchers in an effort to calm the Loudon attack. Joey Cunningham started for Lenoir City and was replaced by relievers Terry

McCulloch and Bobby Smith before the night was over. Lenoir City scored twice in the first inning on an error and hits by Cunningham and Bobby Smith. Loudon got one in the first on a lead off walk to Freddie Starritt and a hit by Danny Isbill. Base on balls to Wendell Davidson and Rick McCrary and hits from Conway Tuck and Freddie Starritt gave Loudon the lead. Loudon added three more runs in the bottom of the fourth on two walks, a Panther error, and Jackie Jones key hit. Lenoir City answered back with three runs of their own off Grissom in the fifth on hits by Sammy and Cunningham and two Loudon fielding errors. Mark McCulloch also walked and scored a run in the frame. Grissom escaped the Lenoir City rally and permitted only a single base runner the remainder of the game, that a leadoff walk to Bobby Smith in the top of the sixth inning.

HAVE EYES FOR CLASSIC TROPHIES—Mr. Fred Mode, Fort Loudoun Classic Men's Tournament Director, is shown inspecting the trophies given away in the Loudon Recreation sponsored Men's Fort Loudoun Classic held the last weekend in June. Looking over the highly rated hardware are Loudon's Yancy Hampton and Arnold Hawkins who play for Solway Hardware of Oak Ridge, an entry in the tournament. The Women's Fort Loudoun Classic is set for this weekend with trophies complimentary to these shows here ready to be awarded the top four finishers.

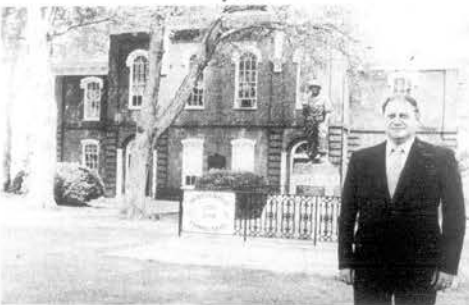

HORSES AND TRAILERS FILL LOUDON'S LEGION FIELD—Over 125 horses were motored by trailer to the site of the Loudon Quarterback Club's annual Fourth of July Horse Show. Pictured is an early scene of arrivals to the big event.

Make Soil Tests Now

Now that planting of spring crops has been completed, it is time for farmers to begin preparation for fall plantings, says John W. Hutton, Chairman of the Loudon County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. "A necessary beginning for any planting is the securing of a soil sample to determine the fertilization needed," he said. "Soil samples submitted well before the planting period will give a farmer ample time to secure the needed materials and thus prevent the need to postpone planting because the needed lime and fertilizer has not been delivered," Mr. Hutton added. Cost-sharing for minerals to establish or improve permanent vegetative cover to solve erosion problems will be available under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) that the ASCS administers. A soil test report is required and it must be made by the University of Tennessee Laboratory in Nashville. "Under the ACP, costs will be shared at the minimum rate for the practices most needed to conserve the soil of the county."

Atomic Ponders Switch to Sunday Nights

Late model sportman racing moves to Sunday night this week at Atomic Speedway.

"We'll run Sunday night," said Atomic owner Bob Martin, "and then make a decision on whether to make the switch to Sundays a permanent one."

Two days of rain washed out the Bicentennial 200 last Sunday. The event will be rescheduled at a later date.

H.E. Vineyard of Knoxville and his Chevy II will be in the spotlight once again. A $350 bounty is riding on H.E., who has dominated competition this season at the third-mile dirt facility.

Vineyard has chalked up three consecutive victories in weekly action and has won five of nine races this year at the track.

"Running Sunday night should bring out a strong field of drivers after the bonus money," said Martin. "We pay $50 to win the 40-lap feature. The bounty money pushes the take to $80. That's more than $7 per mile in winnings for a driver if he beats H.E."

Tickets for the Atomic weekly shows are $3.50 (reserved) and $3 (general admission). Children under age 12 are admitted free with a paying adult.

A strong contingent of drivers is expected from the Chattanooga and North Georgia area. Several from the Tri-Cities (Johnson City, Kingsport and Bristol) areas likely will be on hand.

Action gets under way at 8:30. The program also includes heats for sportman drivers, plus class B and bonnet features.

Bank Of Loudon County Reigns As Philadelphia Champs

The Bank of Loudon County captured the Philadelphia Community League Softball regular season championship this past Friday night by topping the Loudon Merchants 6-5.

The Merchants, who had dominated league play for much of the season, were upset by Paint Rock in the regular season final night of play by 10-9.

Thus giving both the Bank of Loudon County and the Loudon Merchants equal losses for the regular season.

The result force the Loudon Merchants to then play a rain out game with Luttrell on Friday night with the Bank of Loudon County waiting the outcome for a playoff of the possible league tie.

The Loudon Merchants disappointed no one as they handed Luttrell 17-2. Luttrell had won five straight games going into the Friday night meeting.

Gene Barr On Sasser Committee

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Jim Sasser today named Loudon County farmer Gene Barr a member of the Farmers for Sasser Committee.

Barr, a dairy farmer, is a member of the Farm Bureau. John R. Collier of McMinnville has been named Chairman of the Committee. Collier is a farmer and President of the Pleasant Cove Nursery, Inc. Sasser's father, Ralph Sasser, has been named Honorary Chairman. He is the former Tennessee Director of the Soil Conservation Service.

In announcing the Committee, Sasser cited the present agricultural policy in Washington that "ignores the farmer's problems. We cannot tolerate a confused Republican policy that denies farmers a reasonable return on their investment," Sasser said.

"If we are to guarantee farmers a stable income, enough for them to stay on the farm, we must stop the recent fluctuation of prices for farm commodities," Sasser continued. "This is the most important problem facing American Agriculture today. America cannot afford to chase its farmers off the land," Sasser said.

"It's time for the government to start listening to the farmers, and stop misleading them with conflicting advice," he said.

OSHA Extends Farm Deadline

Farmers will have more time to meet safety requirements of the new Machine Guarding Standards for Agriculture, says John M. Hutton, Chairman of the Loudon County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. According to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), the June 7 effective date has been extended to October 25, 1976. This coincides with the scheduled effective date of the standard for roll-over protective structures on tractors. This change was made necessary because it was impossible to secure and distribute educational materials to agricultural employers and employees by the June date. In the past, few safety and health standards have applied to agriculture and a longer time is necessary to inform the agricultural worker about the standard.

To protect farm owners and their employees from hazards associated with moving parts of farm machinery, the standard calls for placement of guards or shields on the power take-off drives and shafts of all farm and field equipment.

VISITS CONGRESSMAN—Kim Brant Hoover of Loudon, who recently attended a Washington Workshop Seminar sponsored by Union Carbide Films-Packaging Division, is shown in front of the capitol with Congressman John Duncan. The workshop was to teach students about the functions of government.

FINAL COUPON WINNER—Mr. and Mrs. Andy Oody, Rt. 4, Loudon, hold a copy of The Herald and point to the B.F. Presley Appliance Company ad on which their winning entry was drawn Saturday. The couple won $50 in merchandise trade with the firm in the fourth and final week of the contest.

Sims, Sproul On Advisory Group

Loudon City Chief of Police Joe Sims and former County Judge Harvey Sproul have been appointed by Judge Teddy L. Willocks, Chairman, East Tennessee Development District to serve as members of the Law Enforcement Advisory Committee. The appointments are for one year and are effective as of July 8.

The Law Enforcement Advisory Committee operates as a technical advisory committee and serves in an advisory capacity to the ETDD. The Committee makes recommendations to the District's Board of Directors, its executive committee and staff on topics of concern in public safety, criminal justice, crime prevention, law enforcement, juvenile delinquency and other related fields.

The Committee will hold its quarterly meeting today (Thursday, July 8), in Knoxville.

Nine Return From Seminar

How are U.S. businesses organized? How do they operate? Nine young people from Loudon County can tell you a lot about these subjects after attending a District Youth Seminar in West Lafayette, Indiana at Purdue University, June 23-25.

The Loudon County "youth scholars" who attended the American Private Enterprise Seminar were: John Sweet, son of Rev. and Mrs. W.L. Sweet of Maryville; Charles Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stafford, Route 1, Loudon; John Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison, Route 4, Loudon;

Andy Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hill, Route 1, Philadelphia; Steve Millsaps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Millsaps, Route 1, Philadelphia; Pam McCulloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCulloch, Route 4, Loudon; Cindy Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Watson, Route 1, Loudon; Nancy Niles, daughter of Mrs. Joyce Niles, Route 4, Loudon and Kim Burnette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Burnette, Route 3, Loudon.

Selected to attend the Seminar at Purdue because of top performances during local studies of the American Private Enterprise System, local youth joined other scholars from three states at the Seminar. States represented were Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee. According to James A. Pope, adult leader for the Loudon County group, youth scholars learned more about how businesses operate by solving management problems such as those faced by real business organizations. Each youth scholar served on the board of directors of a hypothetical company during the Seminar.

Divided into small groups, the Seminar delegation received information on the organizational structure and board policies of their companies, as well as instructions on how to make business decisions. Each group then received several business problems to solve in their role as a board of directors.

Youth scholars were already familiar with the basic structures of U.S.

KNOX FEDERAL SAVINGS and Loan Association's annual Summer Film Festival premiered Wednesday, June 23 with "Comedy of Terrors." Mrs. Basil Mullins took advantage of the free movie to entertain her son, Hunter's birthday well-wishers. On hand to greet the movie-goers were Doug Naugher, manager of Knox Federal's Westown office, and Bill Coury, manager of Westown Theatre. Pictured from left to right are Mrs. Mullins, the birthday girls and boys, Merle Wyrick, Bill Coury and Doug Naugher.

Hill In State Senate Race

A Maryville nursing home operator, Jerry Hill, last week announced that he is a Republican Candidate for the Eighth Senatorial District seat, serving Loudon, Blount businesses, with knowledge gained during study programs held locally during April. In the local American Private Enterprise study programs, students participated in studies of partnerships, proprietorships, corporations and cooperatives. During those local programs, many community businessmen cooperated as resource people to instruct scholars during Private Enterprise classes. Included as local resource people were:

The scholars also had a "profit motive" during Seminar activities at Purdue University. Nearly $1,000 in cash awards and college scholarships were earned by board of directors and students during the course of study. According to Seminar Director John Exeve of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Louisville, the cash awards and scholarships available at the Seminar provide tangible evidence of accomplishments for the hard-working scholars.

Monetary awards were received by all scholars for the decisions of their "boards". Of the 57 youth scholars attending, John Harrison placed 10th in the overall testing competition while Nancy Niles placed third. Miss Niles also received a $150 college scholarship to be used at the college of her choice. Miss Cindy Watson received the $100 Junior Leader scholarship awarded for outstanding leadership during the three day session.

Several well-known speakers and educators served as instructors and resource people during the Seminar at Purdue. Among those participating were: Dean R.L. Kohls, School of Agriculture, Purdue University; Gordon Jones, Extension Specialist, 4-H and Youth, Purdue University; Keith Mohler, Past National Officer, Future Farmers of America; Ms. Edna Lacy, President of Lacy Diversified Industry; and Rev. Joseph Wick, Pastor, First Christian Church, Lafayette, Indiana.

Company and U.S. Steel Corporation in sales administration and finance prior to his association with Marenmont. Hill, his wife B.J. and daughter, Michele, reside in Maryville and are members of Monte Vista Baptist Church.

Community Development Grant OK'd

Loudon and Loudon County have been given final approval for the Community Development block grant of $500,000 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The project, which has been approved by Secretary Carl A. Hill, for which the fund will be used, involved housing and neighborhood conservation in the Mexico area near Lenoir City, and expansion and improvements of the Senior Citizen's Center and around the Bacon Building.

Loudon Mayor Gene Lambert said the work in the City of Loudon would deal mainly with improved utilities in the hospital hill area, but the city hopes to purchase some vacant property for other improvement projects in the area.

School Board Acts . . . To Keep Bus Coordinator, Stands Behind School Site

Keeping the new proposed position of County School's Transportation Coordinator in the County School Budget for next year has been made a priority item by the School Board. At Thursday night's monthly meeting of the board a discussion of the proposed school bus contract with owners of the buses the board made it quite clear that it feels enough savings will be made in the new transportation contracts to maintain the coordinator.

This is in face of a $45,000 cut in the school budget proposal by the County Court Budget Committee last week and possible further cuts by the entire court when it meets on July 19.

Members of the bus contract committee have requested a meeting with a state transportation official for further help in dealing with the high cost of school transportation in Loudon County. The committee, W.D. McCarroll, Ted Randolph and B. Hagler, say they have several proposals that will cut transportation costs, have a suggested bus contract from the state and hope to meet in the next few days with bus owners to explain their proposals and listen to those of the bus owners.

Teachers Hired

Seven new teachers were hired by the board. Their names, school and assignment are Judy Witt, Davis, third grade; Ernestine Brock, Steekee, Kindergarten; Heidi Gebert, Highland Park, half-

Breazeale Bound Over

Charles Breazeale of Seymour, charged with a $50,000 extortion attempt of R.D. Akard at Greenback was bound to the Blount County Grand Jury last Wednesday.

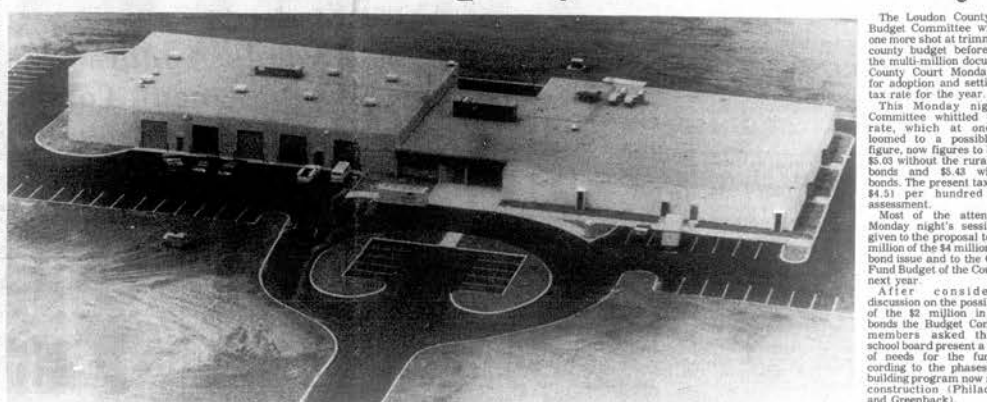

Breazeale, owner of a moving and storage company in Knoxville, was arrested early in April outside an Alcoa restaurant after allegedly meeting Akard, a retired railroad employee and farmer, to pick up the extortion payment.

Loudon County Chief Deputy Luke Bright and investigator Clarence Robbins testified at the preliminary. The defendant did not take the stand, but entered a plea of guilty through his attorney.

The Blount County Grand Jury meets in August.

VOCATIONAL CENTER NEARING COMPLETION—The new $1.2 million Loudon County Vocational Education Center on Harrison Road is nearing completion. The new school for training high school students in vocational skills will open this fall. It will train students from all areas of Loudon County and is being operated jointly by the Loudon County and Lenoir City School systems. The school is being built, equipped and staffed by state education funds.

Vocational Instructor Base Pay $9,000

The final four professional instructors, student counselor and secretary for the new Loudon County Vocational Education Center were hired last Thursday night by the school's Governing Board.

Those elected by the governing board, composed of the Loudon County and Lenoir City Boards of Education are as follows:

- Sigurd Vest - Commercial Foods - Twenty-six years experience in food service.
- Attended Vocational Training School obtained certificate in restaurant and motel management.
- A. Ronald Johnson - Machine Shop - Sixteen years experience in Machine and tool and die trade. Completed four year apprenticeship as tool and die maker, Eaton Corporation.
- Melvin Casteel - Graphic Arts, Printing Instructor - Twenty-eight years in all phases of printing trade.
- Lynn Millsaps - Air Conditioning - Heating - Five years experience in AC heating trade. Two years of supervision experience. Eighteen months attendance at Athens Area Vocational-Technical School in heating and air conditioning.
- Ted Davis was hired as student counselor. He has a BS in Mechanical Engineering from UT-Knoxville. Had six years in design engineering and six years experience as an automobile mechanic.
- Penzie Johnson, who has been a secretary one year in the Lenoir City High School Central office, was hired as secretary at a salary of $3 per hour.

There were several questions asked by the board members concerning Davis' qualifications as a counselor. School Director Coy Gibson said that no one with counseling experience had applied for the position, but he felt Davis' background, education and personality would be suitable and that he would be given practical training in counseling while on the job.

The other 10 instructional positions had already been filled.

Salary Schedule

The fact that a salary schedule which pays the instructors in the vocational school more than degree teachers in the two school systems was approved brought on several minutes of discussion. It was pointed out that persons in the trade crafts generally make more money than school teachers and it was not unusual and was necessary that, under local conditions, the vocational instructor would make more than the regular classroom teacher. Four years trade experience is required to qualify for vocational teaching positions.

The adopted salary schedule based on years of teaching experience in the vocational trade is as follows:

0 years	$ 8,000
1-year	9,500
2-years	$10,000
3-years	$11,000
4-years	$11,000

The schedule was set on a four year level because none of the teachers in the center will be in more than their fourth year of teaching experience in the trades.

Director Gibson said that construction on the building was well within schedule and could see no problems in getting the Center open by September unless there were delays in receiving equipment for the shops and classrooms.

Jim Turner of Lenoir City told the board that he extended his personal thanks to the members for the work they have done toward getting the center and planning the programs. "You have not had the credit you deserve," he said. "I have always supported a comprehensive high school program and the need for vocational schools. Different people have different needs and I appreciate your interest in establishing this facility in our community."

Mr. Turner said.

The Loudon County Court Budget Committee will have one more shot at trimming the county budget before taking the multi-million document to County Court Monday night for adoption and setting of a tax rate for the year.

This Monday night the Committee whittled the tax rate, which at one time loomed to a possible $6.00 figure, now figures to be from $5.00 without the rural school bonds and $5.43 with the bonds. The present tax rate is $4.51 per hundred dollar assessment.

Most of the attention at Monday night's session was given to the proposal to sell $2 million of the $4 million school bond issue and to the General Fund Budget of the County for next year.

After considerable discussion on the possible sale of the $2 million in school bonds the Budget Committee members asked that the school board present a schedule of needs for the funds according to the phases of the building program now nearing completion (Philadelphia and Greenback).

County Judge Bill Russell, chairman of the budget committee, said that the county bond advisor, suggests the time is right to sell bonds for the lowest interest rate and that the money could be invested at a rate at least equal or higher than the interest rate being paid on the bonds, until it is used.

Judge Russell said that to sell the bonds means that money must be included in the tax rate for repayment of the interest on the bonds, which would be 40 cents on the property outside the corporate limits of Lenoir City. Since the bond issue is a rural bond issue and the Lenoir City School System does not participate in the proceeds of the bonds the tax payers in Lenoir City are not to be taxed to repay the bonds.

The Budget Committee asked that the School Board present a schedule of needs for the bond proceeds by the time they meet again at 7 p.m. Friday, hopefully to complete its work on the budget.

County Budget Director June Casteel said interest on the $2 million bonds next year would be $140,000. It will cost about $15,000 to sell the bonds. She said the 40 cents on the rural property would bring in $218,000 and accrued interest on the bonds would amount to $25,000 if $1.5 million were invested for six months, which would leave a surplus of $63,000 to apply toward the next interest year. The bond advisor thinks the bonds will be sold for seven percent interest or lower and the money can be invested for at least seven percent.

Actions by the Budget Committee have trimmed the General Fund Budget tax rate from a needed $1.35 tax to $1.05, compared to the 51 cents for the general operations of the county last year.

Unless further cuts come, and they probably will, the general fund budget for 1977 now stands at $1,037,103.55, with an unappropriated surplus of $48,000.

Deputies Raid Marijuana Gardens, Look For More

County Sheriff's Deputies last weekend confiscated and destroyed three separate marijuana patches, one in a wooded area, one in a corn field and the last in a vegetable garden.

In all they "picked" over 300 growing marijuana plants.

Friday afternoon Deputies Voyd Carruth, Jim Lindsey and fifth district constable Ray Hook confiscated about 75 plants growing in pots in a wooded area about a mile and a half off Paw Paw Plains Road near the Roane County line. The three had to walk over a mile through fields in thick undergrowth to reach the area where the potted pot plants were scattered over a half acre area. The plants were up to four feet high.

That same afternoon the trio confiscated another 125 to 150 plants in and around a corn field in the Glendale area.

Sunday afternoon Carruth, Lindsey, Hook, Sheriff Guy Russell, Vaughn Loveday and deputy Junior Teeters collected another 65 plants from a vegetable garden on the Old Jackson Ferry Road near Greenback.

No one was arrested at any of the three sites, but all three showed definite signs that the plants were being carefully cultivated.

The plants which would have a value of several thousand dollars at maturity, were burned at the Justice Center.

"We know that there are dozens of marijuana gardens in Loudon County and with the help of citizens, such as we have been getting, we can at least slow down this illegal activity," Sheriff Russell said. He urged anyone who knows of places where marijuana plants are being grown to contact him at the Justice Center.

PINEY RURIAN CHARTERED—The Piney Rurian Club was chartered and their initial officers installed Monday night at a covered dish dinner held at Steekee School. Watts-Nichols Nuptials Pledged

Miss Maria Lynne Watts and Daniel J. Nichols were married on June 19, 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Loudon. Rev. Clyde J. Davis officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Annette Watts of Loudon and James H. Watts, Loudon. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Eva Nichols, Loudon and J. P. Nichols, Houston, Texas.

The church was decorated with candelabra with huckleberry greenery with burning tapers and wicker baskets of summer flowers on each side of the altar. A variety of potted plants and greenery were used to create a garden setting. Pots of azalea, assy mum, cushion mums, wandering jew and airplants painted accented the outdoor type setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown and undershirt were of a light organza. The gown's fitted effect accented the separate undergown and the skirt of Venice lace on the illusion neck and yoke added to the look of youthfulness. The bride's gloves were trimmed at the elbow and cuff with the Venice lace as were the panels of the dress. The gown featured a cathedral train and the hem was edged with Venice lace. Her matching hat featured a wide brim with the crown and brim being covered with organza and Venice flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses with a breath in a colonial style bouquet with white streamers. Her jewelry was a Saint Christopher belonging to her sister and a heart necklace, a gift from the groom.

It's perfectly simple. We want you for our customer. We want you happy. And we want you back...week after week.

So that little extra of S&H Green Stamps is our way of giving you a little more for your money than our competition...on top of the low prices, quality foods and good service that brought you here in the first place.

Now, let's take a closer look at that word "extra." Would S&H Green Stamps really be a gift, a genuine extra, if we paid for them by charging more for our food? Obviously not.

S&H Green Stamps are not, in fact, "free." We pay for them. They are a regular business expense, just like our rent, our payroll, and our advertising. We don't tack stamp costs onto the prices you pay.

There's an easy way to check that. It's called "shop and compare." If you've already done that, you know: Give or take a special here and there, nobody beats our kind of prices for our kind of quality. That's what is known as value.

So our S&H Green Stamps are truly a bonus for you. Truly, the little extra that adds up to a lot. S&H Green Stamps are good for both of us. They bring us your business and loyalty. They bring you beautiful and valuable gifts.

These days, that makes pretty good sense.

Pamela Ivens Is Wed

Miss Pamela Ivens became the bride of Michael David Renner in a wedding celebrated in the old English tradition Saturday, May 22 at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church, Chevy Chase, Maryland. The Reverend John G. Marvin officiated over the ceremony composed by the bride and groom.

Miss Ivens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Ivens of Loudon and a 1973 graduate of Sweet Briar College. The groom is the son of Mrs. Otto Washington Renner and the late Mr. Renner of Ambler, Pennsylvania and is a 1970 graduate of Dartmouth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory Quiana and English lace. The cap sleeve gown was accented with a headpiece of English lace and an illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, babies breath and a slight accent of Woburn Abby roses. Carolanets and variations on old English Contra dances were included in the prelude music provided by an ensemble of old English woodwinds and organ. The ceremony proceeded through the background of carillon chimes.

Ms. Teresa Ross of Falls Church, Virginia, served as maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Penelope Renner, Montague of Alexandria, Virginia and Patricia Renner Timm of New Carrollton, Maryland, sisters of the groom, and Ms. Marilyn Ann Williams of McLean, Virginia. The bridesmaids wore sleeveless gowns of floral Spring pastels on a background of white piquet knit. They carried baskets of candied tufts, Woburn Abby roses and babies breath.

Mr. Otto Washington Renner III of Audubon Pennsylvania, served his brother as best man. Other groomsmen were Larry Reid Ivens and Garry Lynn Ivens, brothers of the bride, Dennis James Riley of Alexandria, Virginia, and David Watson Buck of Hartford, Connecticut. Ms. Mary Jo Lipps presented a musical rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" and "Far From the Maddening Crowd". Mr. John Overman served as reader for the ceremony. The groom's nephew, Master Jimmy Renner, was ringbearer. Ms. Pam Carpenter of Rockford, Tennessee kept the bride's book.

Following the ceremony, an English Country dance was given in honor of the newlyweds by the bride's parents. Wedding guests were received at the former McLean County residence of Past Washington news correspondent, Nancy Dickerson. Mrs. Ivens received her guests in a cap-sleeve, knit gown of a melon rose color. She along with Mrs. Renner, who wore a blue chiffon gown and cape, wore corsages of Phlox and Orchids. A giant fruit tree of melon-balls and berries and country ham biscuits prepared by the bride's mother, were special highlights for a romantic Spring evening.

Following a wedding trip to the Caribbean, the bride and groom will return to the groom's summer residence in New Hampshire. The couple will later make their home in Arlington, Virginia. Among the many out-of-town guests was the bride's aunt, Dr. M. Sue Ivens of New Orleans, La.

Rodney Eugene Webb was nine years old June 27. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Webb of Philadelphia and Richard Sampson of Loudon. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davis of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Webb of Athens and Mrs. Edna Sampson of Loudon.

Lowe and Dorothy Liford. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Liford and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Maynard.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of open weave blend tulle and polyester with a split jewel necklace and long bell sleeves. Confirmation Service Set At St. Thomas

The Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered at St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic Church Sunday, at noon. Bishop James D. Niedergese, Bishop of Nashville will be in Lenoir City to celebrate Mass and administer Confirmation.

Approximately 10 persons will receive the sacrament. Mrs. Jon Kopkau, CCD Director, assisted by Rev. John Schroder, Pastor, and Mike Sweeney, seminarian student, instructed and prepared the confirmands.

During the Sacrament of Confirmation, the Holy Spirit will come to the recipients in a special way so that they will be able to profess their faith as present and perfect Christians. After praying for the gifts of the Holy Spirit, the Bishop will dip his right thumb in holy oil and make the Sign of the Cross on the forehead of the persons being confirmed. He will address each person by the special confirmation name he has chosen and say: "I sign thee with the Sign of the Cross and I confirm thee with the chrism of salvation, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. Amen." The Bishop will then strike the newly confirmed person lightly on the cheek saying, "Peace be with you." This blow will remind the confirmands that they may be asked to suffer for their Faith, and that with the Holy Spirit they will have all the strength they need to do so.

THEOPHILUS

WHY CAN'T WE SEE THE BIBLE ALIKE?

Sadly, many people wear spiritual sunglasses which filter out part of the light of the gospel. Do you wear such prejudicial shades in your study of God's word? I am sure all would reply absolutely not. Yet, when you read the Lord saying, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved", what do you do? Do you filter out baptism and say you only have to believe to be saved? Paul stated, "But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine into them" (II Cor. 4:3-4). Shade your eyes no longer. Allow the light of the glorious gospel to shine into you.

School Board Acts . . .

To Keep Bus Coordinator, Stands Behind School Site

(Continued from Page 1) between the two groups. Nine Week Grades. Nine week grades or six week grades continues to be discussed by the board. Last month they voted to return to six week grades at a parent request, but it has developed that at Loudon High School at least where English is offered in four nine week segments, the program would have to be eliminated if six week grades return. After some discussion of leaving the high school at nine weeks and putting six week report periods at other schools, board member Gary Kimsley made a motion seconded by Leonard Liles to leave the reporting period at nine weeks as it had been for several years. Chairman Wampler said he felt the board owed the courtesy of taking any action changing their earlier action in the presence of Dick Huff, who had originally requested the change. The motion was withdrawn. Greenback Principal James McGehee said he would be happy with either six or nine weeks, but could not break his reporting periods because he has all 12 grades in one school.

Funds Requested. Greenback Vocational Agriculture instructor Wilson Becher requested that the board include money in the county budget to pay for transportation for field trips by students. He said it costs from 75 cents to $1.25 per pupil to take needed field trips and some students cannot afford to pay. This means, he said, that the teacher pays, school pays, or the student does not go. "The field trips we make and some other groups make are a very important part of the instructional program. It would appear to be a legitimate expenditure for county school funds, taking the burden off the students," he said.

School Power Cost. Loudon High Principal Dr. Gary Dutton reported that he had had Loudon Utilities to make a study of the cost of power per hour in various parts of the school. He said the study showed that the gymnasium used $6 per hour in power; auditorium (with air conditioning) $8 per hour; cafeteria $5 per hour and a classroom $1.50 per hour. Dr. Dutton said he wants to utilize the full utility availability of the school for school purposes. "If we need air conditioning, we should be able to use it," he said. "The feeling of the board is that if non-school groups use the school they should pay not only a custodial fee, but also a per-hour power fee so the cost of their use of the facilities would not come from the schools budget." Dr. Dutton said he is strongly in favor of the program will be community using the schools, but the school program should not suffer from it.

Dr. Harrison Resigns As County Coroner

Dr. W.B. Harrison, who has been Loudon County Physician and Coroner for over 20 years, resigned this past week in a letter to County Judge William Russell. Dr. Harrison cited ill health as his reason for giving up the post. Judge Russell said that appointments to the position will be made at a future meeting of the County Court.

CITIZENS FIND MARIJUANA—Loudon County Deputy Junior Teeters looks at a bag containing about 10 to 15 pounds of marijuana found by Raymond Walker of Deland, Fla., G.W. Rollins and son Stanley, of Greenback at the old Jackson Ferry in the third district Sunday. The discovery of the marijuana was near a place where deputies confiscated a number of plants from a garden that afternoon.

52 To 92 Cent Property Tax Hike

(Continued from Page 1) funds for the final half of the year, is the cause of 19 cents of the General Fund tax increase. Judge Russell says he is extended and thinks it should be anticipated in the budget to hold down the tax rate, but the comptroller of the state treasury says the budget must be adopted without those funds being anticipated. Continuation of the County Juvenile Officer's post was discussed. The Budget Committee left the $12,500 item in the budget, but has asked the cities of Loudon and Lenoir City to share the expense with the county on an equal one-third basis. The cities are currently paying a combined one-third of the program. There has not been a Juvenile Officer since Joe Sims resigned about three months ago to take the post of Lenoir City Police Chief. Continuation of the program has been debated, but has had the backing of the law enforcement agencies and personnel, who say that prosecution of juvenile violations has dwindled since the office has been vacant.

TVA To Restore Fort

TVA said this week final plans have been completed for the protection of British Colonial Fort Loudoun, a National Historic Landmark, when filling of TVA's Tellico Reservoir begins in January. Under a contract recently signed by TVA, the State of Tennessee, and the Fort Loudoun Association, TVA will raise on a landfill and reconstruct the portion of the fort which would have been flooded by the reservoir. The agency will also build a new access road to the fort from the Vonore-Toluck Road and will provide a parking area and boat landing. TVA will also provide $100,000 to the state for its use toward developing a visitor center and museum where artifacts and materials associated with the history of the fort will be displayed.

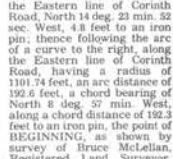

RURITAN CHARTER PRESENTED—Ruritan District Governor Wallace Harvey (of Lenoir City) presents the president of the new Piney Ruritan Club Joe Russell with the club's charter at the Charter Night Dinner held Monday at Steeple School. There are about 20 charter members in the organization which hopes to mount several projects to assist the community and Loudon County.

Supersonics "Wear Down" Tri-Stars For Ft. Loudoun Title

The Supersonics of Morristown won the Loudoun Recreation sponsored Fort Loudoun Women's Softball Invitational over the past weekend. Taking home the giant six foot one inch championship trophy was no cake walk. The Lenoir City Tri-Stars, a team consolidated from the sponsors of Lenoir City First National Bank, Holymatic Sales, and Chrysler Credit, finished second but certainly captured the hearts of the tournament crowd with their showing. The Tri-Stars "opened the tournament on Friday night with a modest 5-2 win over Maryville's Coiffure Villa.

3 a.m. on Sunday morning going scoreless for the final six innings. The Blount Cougars scored five in the top of the seventh to send the game into extra innings. The Tri-Stars then found themselves once again fronted with Friday foe Maryville Coiffure Villa. The Lenoir City based team wasted little time establishing themselves the superior team with six first inning runs in route to a 10-3 victory.

Marietta Blackburn had four hits and Teresa Melton hit two doubles followed by a double and triple by Sylvia Hawkins in posting the win. The game which had everyone sitting on the edge of their seats was a 14 inning loser's bracket marathon game between the Tri-Stars and Reeder's Roadrunners.

Neither team would give up as to the pressures of the game and tournament. The score was tied at 3-3 after seven innings. The Tri-Stars held a 1-0 lead after four frames. The Roadrunners came back with three scores in the bottom of the fifth. Tri-Stars added single runs in the sixth and seventh to draw even at 3-3.

Meanwhile the Morristown Supersonics were polishing off first the Roadrunners 4-2, and then All American Athletic 7-2, and Sterling IGA 19-5. The Sterling IGA loss and the Tri-Stars win matched them in a loser's bracket finals affair. The Tri-Stars atoning for the nine inning setback won midnight hour inning 11-7. The Tri-Stars, showing a "second wind" used the days momentum to upend the hated Supersonics 6-4 in the first of two games necessary to determine the Fort Loudoun Classic Champion.

OUT BY A STEP—Lenoir City Tri-Star shortstop Marietta Blackburn is thrown out by a step as she attempts to dig out a hit in the Fort Loudoun Softball Classic.

Maryville Sterling IGA handed Knoxville All American Athletics a 13-4 setback in Friday night's second attraction. Cookeville Budweiser forfeited the final game to Oak Ridge's Reeder's Roadrunners. Saturday's tournament play opened on a pair of forfeits as Cookeville Budweiser again failed to show, advancing Maryville's Coiffure Villa.

The Hawkeets did not arrive as both the Morristown Supersonics and Knoxville's All American Athletics received wins. When the tournament would finally get underway on Saturday the Lenoir City Tri-Stars would take part in six games, play 31 innings, and at

Eaton Again Philadelphia Tournery Champs

Eaton Corporation of Lenoir City has once again captured the Philadelphia Community Club Invitational Softball Tournament. The championship crown is Eaton's fourth of the tournament's five year reign.

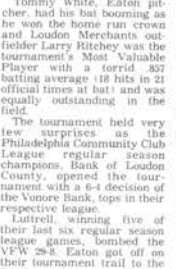

In second round play the VFW eliminated the Sweetwater Merchants 8-1 as Ernie Millsaps and Charles Windel paced a 15-hit attack. Walden's walloped Triple-A Plumbing 16-1 and Eaton's checked Paul Creek Mill by 18-6.

The First Heritage Bank slaughtered Luttrell 26-5 as Bill Birkholz hammered two out of the park. In a match-up of regular season rivals, the Loudoun Merchants averaged a half-game edging by the Bank of Lenoir County for league honors, by collecting 28 hits in a 18-6 victory. Union Carbide ended the Venable Bank's tournament stay 17-7. Pond Creek surprised the Bank of Loudoun County 11-9, and Eaton disposed of the only team to beat them in regular season league play at Lenoir City, Walden's, 13-4.

Luttrell bowed from play, losing to Triple-A 23-3. The Loudoun Merchants handed the First Heritage Bank its initial loss 18-7 as Larry Ritchey was four for four and a walk, scoring four times. Wayne Pool added a home run to the Merchants efforts. The VFW scored twice in the bottom of the seventh on Eddie McAllister's single to Union Carbide 12-1. Jim and Gary Chambers added three hits each. Larry Ritchey had four hits, including a home run to lead the Merchants. Bobby Russell, Jerry Russell, Stretch Holland, and Wayne Pool all had a pair of hits for the losing Merchants also. The Loudoun Merchants returned to the bracket opposite Eaton with a dramatic seventh inning rally of four runs to squeak by Triple-A Plumbing 9-8 in the loser's bracket finals.

Tommy White, Eaton pitcher, had his bat booming as he won the home run crown and Loudoun Merchants outfielder Larry Ritchey was the tournament's Most Valuable Player with a torrid 357 batting average (18 hits in 21 official times at bat) and was equally outstanding in the field. The tournament held very few surprises as the Philadelphia Community Club League regular season champions, Bank of Loudoun County, opened the tournament with a 6-4 decision of the Venable Bank, tops in their respective league. Luttrell, winning five of their last six regular season league games, bombed the VFW 29-8. Eaton got off on their tournament trail to the finals with a sound 24-4 drubbing of Union Carbide. Walden's Cafeteria and Bus Stop had to score 11 runs in the final two innings to turn back a stubborn Sweetwater Merchants team 18-12.

Ke O'Dell (home run) and Arnold Brookshire were the hitting standouts for Triple-A. The Loudoun Merchants, playing their fourth game of the day, and third in succession, fell to Eaton in the first game of the championship match-up 13-3. Eaton jumped out to an early 7-1 lead and were never to be headed as the Merchants managed just eight hits. Larry Ritchey had four safeties for the Merchants. Danny Russell, Junior Collins, Junior Johnson, Doug Williams, and Gene Ratledge all had a pair of hits for Eaton.

HOME RUN KING—Eaton pitcher, Tommy White, says by to another home run as he "powered" his way to the home run trophy awarded at the Fifth Annual Philadelphia Community Softball Invitational Tournament this past week. This picture was taken in the final game of the Loudoun Merchants. The Merchants catcher is Ted Stitzer.

PHILADELPHIA TOURNAMENT MVP—Larry Ritchey, who cracked out 18 base hits, including a home run, in 21 official times at the plate was awarded the Philadelphia Community Club Invitational Softball Tournament's Most Valuable Player. Here he shows his hitting style in slugging out a .667 average. He is also a fly ball hawk in the outfield.

Union Carbide Golf Play In Final Week

The Union Carbide Golf League is into its final week of regular summer play and the championship seems to rest between only two teams.

Jack Delaney and Charlie Helms who took over first place in the league several weeks ago have managed to fight off all challenges and will carry a "not so safe" four point edge into this week's play.

Ronnie Ledbetter and Curtis Moore, who captured last week's low team medalist honors with a combined score of 68 have 177 team points to date. Delaney and Helms have 181 points.

A distant third is Ken Alfard and Mike Orr. 20 points off the pace and a doubtful if not impossible too far back to catch the leaders.

Low individual for the week wound up in a three way tie with Ronnie Ledbetter (a minus one handicap), Allen Williams (a minus 11 handicap), and Jerry Presley (a minus 13 handicap) all carrying rounds of 53 for the week at Martel YMCA.

Charlie Helms stands to be a double winner following this week. Not only does his duel loom as favorite to win their second Union Carbide Golf League season crown, but Helms is currently setting the pace in the individual point race with 53 to date.

The closest challenge comes from runner-up Curtis Moore and Claude Tatham.

Huff And Lomax Look To Final Week In City Golf Schedule

The Loudon City Golf League Handicap title race may be winding down to the final week of the season. Jim Huff, who has held on to first place for the last three weeks, barely has a three point advantage over the continuous efforts of second place Ted Lomax.

But with both golfers playing a strong game no one seems to be standing in their way from stand out weekly efforts, thus bringing us down to the final week of the season and you guessed it. Huff and Lomax will go head to head in what will be the "deciding" challenge for both golfers.

Huff presently has 149 points, Lomax 146.

Trailing in third place in the Handicap Division is Jim Hamil with 141 points and by any means out of the running for division honors.

John Lennox, Billy Bishop, Eddie Ambars, Ernest Vincett, David Gray

Loudon Was Host For Girls Softball Round Robin

A girls' softball round robin was played at the Loudon City Baseball Field this past Saturday at 1:00 p.m. Participating in the three-team, 12-15 year old softball activities were the Philadelphia Athletics, Greenback East, and Loudon Reds.

The Loudon Reds, playing only their second game of the summer, played Greenback East in the first game of the afternoon.

Greenback East brought a 10-5 season effort to the round robin, having won the Greenback Community Girls' Recreation Championship over girls teams from Lanier, Vonore, and Benefield community between Greenback and Maryville on Morganston Road.

Loudon, despite having season experience, jumped on the Greenback diamonds for four runs in the first inning and three in the second to carry a 7-0 lead into the top of the third inning.

Greenback exploded for 16 runs in the third inning to take the lead at 16-7. Loudon were tied to regain the lead after five full innings at 17-16 but Greenback scored once in the bottom half of the sixth and seventh for a 15-17 decision.

Tonia Dailey scored three runs for Greenback, while Robin Kizer smashed four hits including a triple, and Tammy Kerr had a double and two singles.

Cindy Oran had four hits and scored three times for the Loudon Reds. Gail Brown, Tracie Glass, and Kim McCaskill all hit home runs for Loudon.

Philadelphia played the victorious Greenback East in a second game. Greenback moved out to an early 2-0 lead but had to stave off a determined effort by Philadelphia as they prevailed 15-13.

BACK IN THE

It is always a joy for us to have area school pictures to use in the Good Old Days. This week we have an old picture from Lenoir City's Nichols School. Those in the picture are as follows:

ster, L.D. Arp. Sorry, we don't know what year it was. Our other picture this week is of a top notch Loudon girl's basketball team. The team was coached by Mr. Albert Dukes, who did much to promote basketball at Loudon during those years. This team had the best three year record in the entire state. Those in the picture are (left to right) Betty Ridings, Helen Thomas, Vivian Chubasz, Betty June Mays, Inez Stamey, Mildred Thomas, Cto Grigoby, Fericie Franks, Katherine White, Betty Watkins, Helen Tilley, Mildred Ridgins, Thelmas Wicker and Mildred Presley. The publication of our Bicentennial issue brought many comments from our readers. The picture lay out was a good cross section of the area for the past span of half a century and some cases dated back even farther than that. Although it entailed a lot of work for a lot of our people, it was a joy to us to be a part of it.

Some of our readers were talking about the old hitch rack controversy that was a big thing many years ago. We were not familiar with this, but we have heard some real good stories through the years about it. It really was a big thing. I guess the anti-pollution people would have had a field day if they had been around then. But, the hitch rack incident, like other things that have cropped up over the passing years has long ago been put aside for more current things for people to be concerned about. But Loudon folks seem to always work it out. Someone was asking me the other day if I remembered when people forded Sweetwater Creek down on Highway 72. We have heard about this, but can't recall it. I don't know how old the old steel bridge was. It was torn out when the new concrete bridge was built. We do recall the dam and swimming hole. The swimming hole was very popular with Loudon boys who would gang up and walk down for a cooling swim on a hot summer day. We always enjoyed this event in our days of growing up.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

It's time Washington heard You.

"As a child in rural Tennessee I grew up respecting those in public office. My father, Ralph Sasser, was Director of the Tennessee Soil Conservation Service. He worked in the public service over 30 years. From him I learned that public service is a public trust.

"I believe elected officials have a responsibility to the people to conduct their private and public lives honorably. We can no longer afford to be suspicious of those who hold public office.

"We can have a government that reflects our decency and inspires our trust. Together, we can make the difference."

Have You Found The One Church Jesus Built?

THEOPHILUS

WHY DO YOU GO TO TWO CHURCHES?
EVERY OTHER WEEK I GO WITH DAD TO HIS CHURCH, THE REST OF THE TIME I GO WITH MOM TO HERS.
I DON'T UNDERSTAND WHAT?
UNDERSTAND WHAT?
IF JESUS IS SO SMART AND DOES EVERYTHING FOR THE BEST FOR EVERYBODY...
WHY DON'T HE MAKE JUST ONE CHURCH SO YOUR MOTHER AND DAD COULD WORSHIP TOGETHER?

Come And See!

Carelessness can be FATAL

... especially around power lines.

If you're handling long metal ladders, poles, or pipes, or if you're working with any kind of machinery that can touch a power line, you must be extra cautious. The same goes for installing a CB or TV antenna.

Look up. Stay aware of where power lines are located. And stay away from them.

One careless mistake could be fatal.

Court Delays Setting Loudon County Tax Rate

Squires May Double Pay, Reappraisal Is Mentioned

Adoption of a budget for the county operations for the 1976-77 fiscal year, which began on July 1, and the setting of a tax rate were postponed until Monday, August 2 at 7 p.m. by County Court Monday night. The court session was expected to be a sparker due to the proposed tax rate and school taxes, instead only 20 minutes.

When the budget and tax rate came up, Squire R. P. Hamilton, Chairman of the Purchasing Committee, which contains five members of the court, moved that any action on the budget be delayed to give members of the court who were not on the budget committee a chance to study it.

The Budget Committee, composed of Judge William Russell, Southern Bell Executive, J. G. Hudson, Terry Vann and Jim Hartsook, had presented Friday night by a 5-2 vote to recommend a 5% property tax rate, which did not reflect a needed 40 additional cents to pay a year's interest on selling $2 million of the $4 million in school bonds which had previously been approved by the court.

Conner told the officers that he had caught Johnny Elbert McGhee as he was running from the Stafford home and that Tony Stafford and another neighbor M.E. Stephens were watching the man McGhee, also of Knoxville, is a prison parolee.

The third person, believed involved in the attempted break-in, was arrested nearby by Lenoir City policeman Floyd Williams.

Judge Russell said, in bringing up the reappraisal, that being faced with a possible $5-a tax rate, a 12% increase in the county would make Loudon County one of the highest dollar tax rates in the state.

Although none of the candidates for the last General Election seeking office have opposition there is a question of major local interest on the August 5 ballot.

The particular bill on the ballot this year is quite different from any in the past, but is seen just as controversial as any other.

The new bill, which was drafted by Judge William Russell, then amended by a majority of the court.

After the court meeting Monday night one square said he had understood that the budget committee was to bring the final budget to a meeting with the Purchasing Committee members before it was presented in court, but since the budget was not completed until this past week there was no joint meeting.

One item in the pending budget calls for the members of the county court to get a pay raise of 2% per meeting. This would see the court members receive $10 a meeting.

Hartsook, who was driving, was admitted to St. Mary's hospital with a broken leg, arm injury, cuts and bruises. Parris was treated and released from the hospital with head and leg injuries and other cuts and bruises.

Rev. Charles E. Dennis, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Loudon last week is pictured with his wife, Cathy, and daughters, Cherrod, 9, and Christi, 5.

Charles Dennis New First Baptist Pastor

The Rev. Charles E. Dennis, new pastor of the First Baptist Church of Loudon, and his family moved to Loudon last week to assume his new pastorate. Rev. Dennis came to Loudon from Bradford, Tenn., near Memphis, where he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in that city.

Rev. Dennis, 29, is from Tullahoma, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Dennis. He graduated from Tullahoma High School in 1947. He received a bachelor of science in Business Administration from Tennessee Tech in Cookeville in 1949. It was near the end of his Senior year at Tech when Rev. Dennis was called into the ministry and he immediately entered Southwestern Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas, where he received a Master of Divinity in 1952.

Before spending two years as pastor of the Bradford First Baptist Church, he was pastor at the First Baptist Church of Waynesboro.

Dennis is married to his childhood sweetheart, Cathy Couser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Couser of Tullahoma. They have two daughters, Cherrod, 8, and Christi, 5.

His hobbies are football, track, golf, swimming and tennis.

Slander Suit This Friday

A $100,000 slander lawsuit brought by Loudon County Deputy Vovil Carruth against William A. Goley of Lenoir City, over remarks Goley made about the deputy during a county court meeting last July is scheduled for trial in Circuit Court Friday.

Two weeks of trials were set to start Monday in the split session term of court before Judge Willard Kirtrell.

Deputy Garruth claims that Goley made statements damaging to his character before the county court last July following a disturbance in which Goley and several others were arrested on July 4. One of the points made in the lawsuit was that Goley continually harassed black citizens and had "nigger" written on his trigger finger.

Two of the cases set for the first day of court were settled out of court. They were Pat Plear vs. Milas Anderson, malicious prosecution, and Margaret M. Selvidge vs. City of Loudon, truck-pedestrian accident.

Other cases set for trial this week were Orville E. Conner and wife vs. Loudon County, inverse condemnation for Tuesday. Wednesday's case was to be Janice Ann Key and Calvin Key vs. Loudon County Sheriff's Department and Thomas G. Jessen.

Thursday a personal injury case of Ella Geneva Moore, conservator for the use and benefit of Nina Lela Deal vs. Leon Sams and wife, Falsy. Cases scheduled next week are as follows:

Monday, July 26 - Doris L. Broadrick, Horace B. Broadrick, Edwina Blakely and Machella Blakely vs. Samuel Neely, auto accident. Alternate - Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Davis vs. Don E. Johnson, appeal from general sessions court.

Tuesday - July 27 - Alice Jean Miller vs. Raymond Cephas and Edphas Brothers Transport, auto truck. Alternate - Archie B. Hicks and wife, Wilma vs. Richard Earl Elkins and Barbara Elkins auto accident.

Wednesday, C. E. Rose, Rose Feed Company vs. Cleason Riches vs. Appellate general sessions court. Alternate - Violet Imogene Streedon vs. Archie B. Hicks, auto-bus accident.

Thursday, July 29 - Ben L. Patten vs. Southern Railway Company, Rudder Construction Company, George L. Huddler and T. A. Veazley, train; Also Southern Railway Company vs. Ben L. Patten, damages. Alternate - J. Merchants and Partners Bank vs. Troy Pesterfield, appeal from general sessions court.

Trio Caught Breaking Into Rep. Stafford Home

Two men and a juvenile were quickly arrested Saturday after a burglar alarm sounded at the residence of State Representative Benny Stafford in Eaton Forest Subdivision. The arrests were made by a neighbor and law enforcement officers.

Deputy Allen Clemmer was at the residence of Fifth District Constable Ray Hood, about a mile from the Stafford home when the two were notified by the alarm. When they arrived Tony Stafford and Scott Conner, Lenoir City High football coach, told them there were two men on foot.

They went with the officers and just down the road arrested William Henry Proctor, a five time prison inmate, of Knoxville.

Conner told the officers that he had caught Johnny Elbert McGhee as he was running from the Stafford home and that Tony Stafford and another neighbor M.E. Stephens were watching the man McGhee, also of Knoxville, is a prison parolee.

Chiefman Ted Wampler, Kinsey, members Leonard Liles and John Hutton said the resolution was a surprise to them and thought the matter deserved looking into before taking such actions.

Wampler said he agreed that he felt some of the responsibilities of the School Board were being taken over by court committees, but felt that it was very important to remain in a working relationship with the court. He named Hagler, Kinsey and Hutton as a committee to discuss the matter with Judge William Russell and the county court.

Sheriff Guy Russell is shown with back to camera. The car in the foreground was driven by the men arrested.

Attempt To Withdraw Schools From Purchasing Is Delayed

County Board of Education member Gary Kinsey said the school board would be opening a can of worms if they tried to remove the education department from the County centralized system of budgeting, purchasing and accounting.

The issue first came up two weeks ago when it was mentioned that a law had been found giving the school board authority to purchase property for the school system.

At last week's meeting of the Board, Vice Chairman B. Hagler introduced a resolution asking that the board be removed from the centralized purchasing and budgeting system.

WHEREAS, the system in Loudon County has proven unsatisfactory to both the Board of Education and the administration of the school system;

WHEREAS, the system in Loudon County has never elected to participate in such centralized systems;

WHEREAS, the City of Loudon and Loudon Planning Commission has asked the purchasing committee not to consider a site composed of property owned by J. G. Griffin and the Cline farm because of its high value for industrial and commercial value. It is said that a major shopping center development is now being planned for the Cline farm in the area of the first site choice.

Hartsook And Parris Injured

David Hartsook and Ros Parris of David Hartsook and Associate Auctioneers, were injured about 10:30 p.m. Saturday in a two-car accident in Knoxville.

Hartsook and Parris were returning to the hospital following a car accident in Knoxville when their 1975 Corvete was struck broadside by another car on Broadway in front of K-Mart. Their car was knocked into a utility pole. Both men were pinned in the wreckage for about 20 minutes.

Hartsook, who was driving, was admitted to St. Mary's hospital with a broken leg, arm injury, cuts and bruises. Parris was treated and released from the hospital with head and leg injuries and other cuts and bruises.

12 CB Radios Are Stolen

Twelve Citizen band radios and two desk radios, valued at $2399.80 were stolen from Loudon CB Radio Sales sometime last Tuesday night. Loudon policeman Ted Hitting said that entry to the building, located at the corner of Ward Avenue and Mulberry Street, was made through a window at the rear of the building and then smashing the bottom panel out of a door leading to the shop.

Campground Setting For Wedding

The National Campground near Greenback was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sharon Jane Howell and Rufus Matthew Walker, III on the afternoon of June 19, at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Overt C. Howell, Mulberry Street, Loudon. The groom is the son of Mrs. Rufus M. Walker, Jr. and the late Mr. Walker.

Antique wooden churns filled with daisies, brown-eyed susans and Queen Ann's lace flanked the podium centered with a lighted lantern with streamers of lace tied in love knots and held by love birds on top and a draped garland of greenery accented with daisies and roses made from material of the bride's dress created the surroundings for the non-traditional ceremony performed by Tom Hillier. The double-ring ceremony had special significance as the bride's ring belonged to her late maternal grandmother, Mrs. B.E. Ridenour and the groom's band belonged to his late father.

Prior to the ceremony, Mike Idom played the dulcimer and sang "Riddle Song," "Twelfth of Never" and "Wedding Song." At the wedding party entered and departed, Jerry Howell, brother of the bride, sang "For Bobbie" by John Denver.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of tulle featuring a V-neckline accented with old fashioned lace, and long sleeves gathered at the wrists with lace. Her long veil was trimmed with old fashioned lace and she carried a bouquet of daisies, roses, carnations and baby's breath. She wore a lacy agogot ring, a wedding gift of the groom.

Mrs. Earl Ridenour, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Amy Ridenour Roy Sherrill, and Mr. and Mrs. David Sherrill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant back to Philadelphia and visited with relatives in Knoxville. Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Sherrill, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson and Recinda, Mr. and Mrs. relatives. Finger Is Methodist's New Bishop Holston Conference of the United Methodist Church has been assigned a new Bishop, H. Ellis Finger of Nashville, for the next four years. The action closed a three-day meeting of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference held at Lake Junaluska, N.C., July 12-18, and becomes effective Sept. 1, 1976.

Bishop Finger has served as pastor, Navy Chaplain, and president of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., before his election as bishop in 1964.

The Mississippi native, selected to give the State of the Church address for the eleven bishops of the nine states of the Southeast, called for the Bible-belt states to "take the lead in providing nourishment for the world's spiritual needs at the same time as the grain-belt states provide food for the world's physical needs."

The conference was challenged by its leaders to make "every local church a functioning center for evangelistic ministry by 1980."

LOUDON WINNING PITCHER—Loudon Dixie Youth pitcher Terry Hand only was used for four innings as the right hander was an impressive figure, allowing just one hit and striking out six. Pitchers are allowed 13 innings of pitching per tournament and the Loudon coaches chose to save Terry for later in the week since Loudon had built a 11-0 lead in the game.

NILES SCORES FOR LOUDON—Loudon Dixie Youth second baseman/pitcher Neil Niles crosses home plate ahead of teammate Charlie Hooker who has just belted a triple in Loudon's 11-1 win over Claxton.

TENSE MOMENT—Loudon shortstop Tony Lennox is shown with a determined look as he prepares to drive home a score in the second inning of Loudon's Dixie Youth Tournament game with Knoxville Claxton.

SAFE WITH A PETE ROSE SLIDE—Loudon base runner Joey Fox may not have the poise of a Pete Rose on this head first slide of a stolen base in Saturday night's Dixie Youth Baseball Tournament action, but Joey gets the message across with his hustle as Loudon prevailed in its first round test 11-1.

LC Junior Babe Ruth Team Seeks Area Championship

Lenoir City, the District IV Junior Babe Ruth Champion, is within a single victory of going to the Junior Babe Ruth State Tournament.

The young Panthers (13-15 year-old group) edged the Madisonville Americans 3-4 and then trounced the Elizabethton Nationals 10-7 to be the lone unbeaten in the Area Tournament to see who advances to the State meet.

Madisonville and Elizabethton were to have played on Monday night to see who must challenge Lenoir City in the double elimination round robin on Tuesday.

Bobby Morgan scored twice and Rex Hartbrook scored a run and drove home another in leading the Lenoir City win over Madisonville. Mike Hartline reached base on a catcher's interference in the bottom of the seventh inning with the score tied at 4-4. He was sacrificed to third and with two outs the Madisonville first baseman let a long ending throw escape him and the winning run came in Madisonville's Timmy Henderson had allowed just three hits to Lenoir City batters, but six Madisonville errors kept the rightshander in trouble much of the time.

Tom Wells, who struckout seven, walked four and permitted five hits was the winning pitcher.

Elizabethton paced to a 2-0 first inning score on a home run and added a pair in the second for a 4-0 advantage.

Lenoir City answered with four runs of their own in the second, moved up to a 4-4 difference after three, and hung one and three runs on the scoresheet in the fourth and sixth innings respectively.

Cook, who took over the pitching job in the third, gave up three runs in the Elizabethton seventh.

Ricky Walker (first baseman) was two for four for Lenoir City and scored three runs. Chuck Burton (third baseman) was also two for four and had four runs batted in for his night's efforts.

Terry Hand Hurls Loudon Past Claxton In Opening Round Of Dixie Youth Tournament

The Loudon Dixie Youth Baseball program was officially recognized as a state registered league last Saturday night as Loudon's Dixie Youth All-Star team participated in the District VII, Sub-District-North, Tournament being played at Harriman.

Loudon's first edition to the 11-2 year old tournament play was a highly successful one, clobbering unsuspecting Knoxville Claxton 11-1.

Loudon had but eight hits in the game, but five were "big ones"—doubles and one triple.

Terry Hand, meanwhile was Loudon's winning pitcher. The 12-year-old right hander gave up a lead-off double only to settle himself and pitch perfect ball for four innings. Hand, in gaining the mound decision, did not walk a batter and gave up only the first inning double while striking out six.

He received some excellent defensive play from second baseman Neil Niles.

Due to a pitcher being allowed just 13 innings per tournament in this age group of boys, Loudon coaches Frank Henson and Bill Lennox pulled their starter at the end of four innings with a considered safe 11-0 lead.

Neil Niles replaced Hand on the mound and had the Claxton All-Stars down in 12-3 order striking out one.

Billy Lawson received the pitching call in the sixth for Loudon. After striking out the first man he faced Lawson yielded a hit and two walks. Loudon's second base replacement Tim Kirkland came through with a dandy defensive play to his left for the second out that did score a run for Claxton.

Lawson then fanned the next batter on four pitches to end the game.

Joey Fox, Loudon first baseman, who scored three of the winners 11 runs, walked in his first time at bat and scored on a ground ball putout.

Loudon batters caught on quickly. Catcher Charlie Hooker hit a line drive shot back to the pitcher, but Troy McCaskill walked as did Terry Hand. Shortstop Tony Lennox, batting for the second time, really got the fireworks in motion with a screaming double. Joey Fox hit into a fielder's choice that ended in all runners being safe. Neil

Loudon Drops To Loser's Bracket In DY Tourney

The Kingston Dixie Youth All-Stars were the lone unbeaten team in the District VII, Sub-District-North (allowing Tuesday night tournament rounds).

Kingston knocked Loudon into the loser's bracket for Wednesday night's activities with a 4-1 triumph.

Kingston, winning its third game in the tournament, has now scored a total of 30 runs and given up only five.

The Kingston team will now face once beaten Harriman, who has won twice since losing its opening game to Rockwood 5-1. Harriman beat Lenoir City 13-10 and then clipped Knoxville Claxton 13-8 on Tuesday night.

On Tuesday night Kingston recorded five runs in the top of the second inning of Loudon's game. The winners hammered out six hits including three doubles to gain the upper hand.

Loudon left two runners on base in the bottom of the first inning but went down in 1-23 order through the fourth.

Ronald Jones, Loudon left fielder, delivered a hit in the bottom of the fifth, moved to second on a wild pitch, and reached third as David Grimes grounded out to the first baseman.

Catcher Charlie Hooker led a fly ball deep to center field and Jones tagged following the catch and scored ahead of the throw to home plate and two walks.

Niles, who received top billing from third baseman Mark McCaillie, breezed through the third and fourth innings. In the top of fifth frame a hit and four Loudon errors opened the gates for two unearned runs.

Kingston managed to place runners on record and third with two outs when Loudon forgot how many outs had been made and was about to leave the field with the ball "live" on in the ground between the pitching mound and home plate.

TSSAA All Star Games Saturday

Richard Welch, a speaker at this year's Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association Coaches' School held on the campus of Middle Tennessee State University, is not only a successful girls' high school basketball coach but also an entertainer.

Richard and his Young Harvesters will get a chance to show off their singing ability this Saturday when they will perform before girls' and boys' TSSAA All-Star basketball games at MTSU. The Young Harvesters sing and play for churches, civic groups, fairs and charity funds. Most of the groups songs and music consist of country gospel, conventional gospel and patriotic songs.

The All-Star basketball doubleheader gets underway at 4:00 p.m. in the air conditioned Murphy Athletic Center, and will be followed that night by the TSSAA All-Star football game at 8:00 p.m.

Another interesting aspect of this year's All-Star basketball games will be the use of the "shot" series. The new basketball rules will allow the dunk and during the game but prohibits the dunk before the game and/or during any intermission.

Officials for the girls' basketball game will be John Moore of Tallahoma and Fred Baker of Jackson. Doc Simpson, Knoxville, and Hixson's George Shivers will call the boys' basketball game.

The officials for the football game will be referee-Bobby Patey, Jackson, linesman-Bobby Bright, Sweetwater; back judge-General Hodges, Knoxville, umpire-Melvin Black, Nashville, judge-Donald Palmer, Memphis; timer-Brice Hall, Nashville.

Tickets for the All-Star games are $2.50 per person for the basketball doubleheader, and $2.50 per person for the football contest.

The annual TSSAA Coaches' School will start on Thursday morning and will conclude at noon on Saturday. Some of the featured speakers include Fred Pancost, Vanderbilt; Ben Harts, MTSU; Johnny Majors, Pittsburg; C.M. Newton, Alabama; Dick Campbell, Belmont; Brock Russell, Lambuth; Steve Moore, Tennessee Tech; and a number of outstanding high school coaches and speakers.

CAGED INDIANS—The Loudon Dixie Youth All-Star Baseball team made their debut into State registered tournament play last Saturday night with an impressive 11-1 win over Knoxville Claxton All-Stars. The Loudon team was most inspired for a good showing as the team members rarely used the dug out seats 16 feet during the game.

Loudon All-Star reserves played the final two innings as Loudon coaches prepared to lay ground for later tournament engagements.

Tony Lennox and Neil Schrimphire were the only Loudon players to get two hits.

Loudon was to play Kingston on Tuesday night at final contest. Kingston beat Lenoir City 16-4 and toppled Rockwood 8-2 on Monday.

Loudon, by winning, got a second round bye.

The double elimination tournament will end on Thursday night with the winner facing the District VII, Sub-District-South, winner in a best two out of three series starting at 7:30 on Monday night at Harriman.

The tournament opener saw the Mean Green nip Jack's Drive-In 15-14 with a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh. Buttons Cook tripled and Cindy Bell knelted the score with a single. Janie Berry, who went five for five with two doubles, laced a double for the winning hit.

Sharon Frange had four hits, including a home run, and walked once for Jack's Drive-In's best effort.

Elm Hill was a 13-3 winner over A. Williams's IGA. Elm Hill scored nine runs in the first inning as Sandy Thompson singled and hit a home run.

Kathleen Hammontree had two hits and scored twice for McCulloch's IGA.

City was fourth place finisher.

Not one of the Greenback League entries made it past the second round of play in the winner's bracket or loser's bracket with the exception of the Vantage Drag-on's who had an opening round bye in the winner's bracket and thus jumped to a third round slot in the loser's bracket draw when defeated.

RED CROSS ADVANCE BEGINNERS AND SWIMMERS—The Loudon Swimming Pool has been the site of between 160 and 170 young people learning to swim under the direction of a Red Cross training group headed by Mrs. Bernice Swiney. The two week sessions for beginners, advanced beginners, and swimmers will end this Friday. A course for swimmers and advanced swimmers will start on Monday at 6 p.m. for a two week run at the Loudon Pool.

Dear Units Changed

As Tennessee's deer natural expand through natural reproduction and restocking, the management practices must also change to reflect that expansion.

Hunting Guide this year which shows the bag limits for each of the different units in each of the five units. In units D and E (which includes most of east Tennessee) a person may take 1 deer (either sex) on the archery hunt or one deer (buck only) on the gun-archery hunt. He may only harvest a single deer from these two units. In other words, he may take a deer with either gun or bow from either unit D or unit E.

The nine deer units that have existed for the past several years were changed this year into five units. The number of deer that can be taken on the statewide open hunt was also increased. A chart appears in the

Lenoir City Plans Bass Tournament

A bass tournament sponsored by the Lenoir City midget football program, will be held on Fort Loudon Lake, Saturday, July 31, starting at 6 a.m. The tournament will get under way from the Lenoir City Park. Prizes will exceed $700 with first place being a foot controlled trolling motor.

The maximum number that can be taken on the open hunt is four. This means that a hunter who harvests his one allowable deer in unit D or E may only take three animals in unit A.

SAFETY TALK—Loudon Red Cross Swimming Instructor Mrs. Bernice Swiney rounds out her "learning to swim" program with brief safety orientation sessions that can be both a caution to the beginner and to a swimmer suddenly in trouble in deep waters. "Good water safety habits make good swimmers," states Mrs. Swiney.

RED CROSS SWIMMING AIDES—Loudon Swimming Red Cross Representative, Mrs. Bernice Swiney, had several certified life guards assisting in the training of beginner swimmers the past two weeks. Assisting in the two week program at the Loudon Pool are left to right: Brenda Crabtree, J.J. Board Cuts Budget $45,000

Reluctantly the Loudon County Board of Education cut some $45,000 out of their 1976-77 budget to meet what the Court Budget Committee says would recommend for adoption to the county court this past Monday night.

Superintendent Edward Headlee said he feels the budget committee has cut too deeply into the school department's surplus and that next year the court will either be faced with a huge tax increase to fund the budget at the same level as this year, or will force cuts in the program, meaning dropping teaching positions and some vital programs in the system. Headlee said the budget of $3,570,353.08, will mean the department will have only a $65,000 surplus next year. This past year the department used $100,000 of surplus funds. Headlee said that the four additional cents placed on the tax rate for schools will only mean an additional $10,000 for the county schools, because the Lenoir City system will be receiving one-third of the funds. The proposed county school tax rate is $3.57.

Cuts made in the budget by the Board that totaled $45,000 as instructed by the Budget Committee were as follows:

Administration
Travel $1,400.00
Communications $1,000.00
Contract Services $200.00
Office Supplies $300.00

Instruction
Teachers $1,072.00
Aides $15,000.00
Other Supplies $1,000.00
Other Materials $2,700.00
Fixed Charges $3,800.18

FOOD
Food Services $882.00
Other Personnel $1,000.00
Capital Outlay $2,000.00
Buildings $6,000.00
Equipment $1,500.00
Other Equipment $1,500.00
Handicapped $8,200.00
Teachers $8,200.00

These cuts came within a few dollars of the $45,000 cuts requested by the court. The board selected the cuts from about $55,000 in options outlined by Superintendent Headlee. He offered to take a pay cut of $800 himself but the board refused to consider it. His salary of $18,000 is too low now the board said. A cut in the salary of Supervisor Bob Cassidy of $600 was also refused.

The largest cut was in salary for kindergarten aides. The time the aides will spend in class has been cut 90 minutes per day which will amount to the funds that were cut.

Lanham At Home

Members of the family said that Lanham was reported to be recovering nicely but would be required to recuperate at home for some time. Visitors will also be restricted for a while it was said.

VOTE FOR AND ELECT . . .

Steve Samples

State House of Representatives
21st District
Republican Primary, August 5

The present Representative has said that if elected he would introduce legislation to make local school boards act only as advisors. The state would take over education of their children. (Loudon County Herald, March 11, 1976).

I believe there is already enough State and Federal control of the people. I believe you and I should be allowed to govern ourselves. I believe that we have local public officials capable of running our school systems and I would oppose any legislation which would allow more control of the people by State and Federal Government.

Teachers Support Nine Week Grades

About a dozen teachers from the Loudon County system attended the school board meeting Wednesday night to discuss the recent change in grade reporting periods from nine weeks back to six week periods.

Loudon parent, Dick Huff, who recently brought the concerns of several parents to the school board about the longer grade periods and convinced the board to change back to the six week schedule, was not present. No action was taken but there was considerable discussion.

John Napier, President of the Loudon County Teachers Association, said he had talked with several teachers and they agreed the board was taking a big step very close to the opening of the school term. "We believe the nine week period of grades is better for the students. We would be bogging the kids down with tests, as well as taking more of our classroom time in preparing tests, reviewing and testing if the six week grade period is used," he said.

"Using the nine week grading a student gets at least two more weeks classroom work, they would miss if we are required to give six weeks grades," Napier said.

Napier suggested that the school board retract their earlier action and take a year studying the grading system, and that teachers, parents, administrators and students be placed on the study committee.

Napier said he wished more parents had the concern Mr. Huff had, but he thought if the parents used the telephone to check on student progress instead of depending on the grade card, just as much or more could be accomplished.

At Loudon High School the change to six week periods will call for the complete restructuring of the English department which is broken down into mini-courses of nine weeks each in various sub-areas of study.

Wampler said he liked the study committee and appointed Ted Randolph, W.D. McCarroll, Napier and Huff to the committee with a principal and another parent to be named.

Mrs. Jamie James, a Loudon teacher, told the board the teachers were upset by the action because it was done without consideration of the teachers. "We resent it. We do the work and we were not even asked to come to the meeting," she said.

Taxi Franchises Given . . . Council Names Mayor To Energy Project Committee

Loudon City Council Monday night appointed Mayor Gene Lambert to represent the city on the newly organized Energy Project Coordination Committee made up of counties and towns in the area of the Clinch River Breeder Reactor and the Exxon Nuclear Fuels Recycling Plant in Roanoke County.

The purpose of the organization is to monitor development of the breeder and other related projects in the area. The Committee is receiving a $40,000 Appalachian Regional Commission grant to hire expert staff. The Committee will determine impact of the projects on surrounding counties and cities. When impact is determined the cities and counties will request funds from the developments to compensate for impacts to such areas of government funding as schools, law enforcements and other areas of county or city services.

County Looks At More School Sites

(Continued from page 1) seemed to be in general agreement on the use of a tract of land on the Rader farm on Highway 85 near Eatons, but discussed where in the 50 acre tract the county could purchase about 20 acres of the land without damaging the remaining portion, and still get a suitable location.

The Loudon Council approved an architectural contract for the design of expansion of the Loudon County Senior Citizens Center and for a small park in the Huntsville Community as part of the Loudon-Loudon County Community Development Program.

Final reading was held on an ordinance making changes in the City Code involving taxi cab franchises and requiring all taxi companies to reapply for franchises. The Council reviewed five applications for franchises and granted the following Raymond Russell, one cab, Wharf Street; Charles Lawhorn, one cab, 823 Summer St.; George Wood, one cab, Wharf St.; Charles Junior Key, one cab, Wharf St.; James C. Rowland, one cab, Wharf St.

FLIDCO Breaks Ground On New Building

A ground breaking ceremony was held last Thursday morning at the Lenoir City Industrial Park for the Fort Loudoun Industrial Development Company's 50,000 square foot building.

FLIDCO, a private industrial promotional company composed of Loudon County, is building the building which will be offered to industrial prospects. Officials of the City of Lenoir City and FLIDCO attended the ground breaking.

The site in which the building is being built is nine acres and was purchased by FLIDCO for the specific purpose of building a speculative building in hopes of promoting the park. Loudon County Industrial Agent Earl Iddins said the site and building are valued at more than $350,000.

franchises and granted the following Raymond Russell, one cab, Wharf Street; Charles Lawhorn, one cab, 823 Summer St.; George Wood, one cab, Wharf St.; Charles Junior Key, one cab, Wharf St.; James C. Rowland, one cab, Wharf St.

Council voted to place city firemen back on the Merit Wage System after a freeze on wages for the past 18 months.

A request by Larry Hixon that a roadway be built by the city into a proposed apartment complex which he is considering building was referred to the City Planning Commission.

Gasoline Savings With Van Pools

TVA estimates that its employee commuter van pooling program now has the potential to save about 100,000 gallons of gasoline each year, compared to the amount used if the same employees rode to work in cars.

The van pooling program is a cooperative demonstration between TVA and employees' credit unions at Knoxville, Chattanooga, and Widows Creek Steam Plant in north Alabama. The program was begun in Knoxville two years ago with a nucleus of six vans, and now has expanded to a total of 36 vans located throughout the Tennessee Valley.

Included are 18 vans operating in Knoxville, four in Chattanooga, one in Norris, and the remainder at TVA construction sites throughout the region. TVA estimates that use of the vans has removed about 300 cars from the highways that otherwise would be driven by employees to work.

TVA employees drive and maintain the vans and the credit unions administer the program. The vans are self-sustaining with fares paid by riders, and an average of 11 employees make up each van pool.
 The van pooling program is a part of TVA's overall commuter pooling demonstration which also includes express buses and car pools. Earlier this year, TVA estimated that its Knoxville commuter pooling saved 400,000 gallons of gasoline in 1975.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

CALVIN LUNSFORD

In the past weeks we have found some interesting old pictures of Lenoir City many years ago. We are always glad to have pictures from our neighborhoods and communities. Lenoir City, like Loudon, has been a very important part of East Tennessee. It's people have made a very worthwhile contribution in many fields. For many years it was the headquarters for Southern Railway car building facilities and the Lenoir City Car Works (as it was known) was an important link in the town's history. Like all East Tennessee towns, it had the lean years, but it's populace, a strong spirited people, coped with this and other things which came along over a span of many many years. Today it is growing and developing in a very significant way.

It's forty years like all East Tennessee towns, is interesting to look back on. The way of life a number of years ago was quite different from today as our pictures depict.

One of our pictures is of the old Ghoramley Livery Stable, which was located where Hawkins Funeral Home now stands. We don't know who the people in the picture are. The men in the wagon could be the operators of the Livery Stable. We don't know, the almost unlegible sign over the doorway reads, Ghoramley Livery Feed and Hitch Stable. The terminology was possible not so very strange in those days. The livery stables in those days was what the automobile dealers are to our present day mode of travel.

The horse and buggy days were a colorful part of our past way of life, the slow quiet pace of life, a far cry from the present. I think most people are proud of our progress in transportation, but let's take a look at the colorful and unusual past.

Our other picture this week was also taken in the downtown section of Lenoir City and the scene is well over a half century ago. The picture was made on Broadway at the Charlie Evans Grocery Store.

These were the days before paved streets and grocery deliveries were made by a one horse covered wagon. Each store had it's group of hang arounds, who were always glad to get in on any picture making. Note the whip in the wagon driver's hand.

We heard the other day about the man who had a snake with two heads, which is a freak of nature, and very seldom happens. We were thinking about the giant snake that was seen when they were moving dirt for the Maremont Plant. This was supposed to be a very large reptile. Some thought it could be a record size for this area, but nobody caught it or got a picture of it. The ones who saw it might be like me. As far as I am concerned all snakes are big but we would like to know more about this large snake. Wish somebody who saw it would give us a call. We would appreciate it.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Lynn Coordinator For David Bolin

Bruce Lynn, an automobile sales representative from Lenoir City, has been named East Tennessee Coordinator for the Young Tennesseans for Bolin, the youth division of the David Bolin for U.S. Senate campaign.

Lynn serves as a 2nd Congressional District Committeeman for the Young Democrats of Tennessee and is President of the Loudon County Young Democrats.

"Bruce Lynn is a young man who is very concerned about people and government," Bolin, Smyrna businessman and attorney, said, "and this is a concern with which we plan to deal in this campaign."

Lynn replied, "David Bolin honestly believes that the best form of government is that which involves all of the people - not just a selected few."

Lynn is a member of the First Baptist Church of Lenoir City.

Farm Safety Week Slated

The week of July 25-31 has been set aside by President Ford as National Farm Safety Week. Says John M. Hutton, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee of Loudon County. The week is sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The theme for this year's observance is "Educate for Safety."

American farmers pride themselves on being safety-minded and safety-motivated but accidents take the lives of farm workers each year. Serious injury can result from a moment's inattention or carelessness.

Agricultural safety education involves person to person training in a work situation. It requires a teacher aware of the hazards and an attentive learner who remains aware of danger.

Safety education pays off by preventing human suffering and economic loss. The best instruction is meaningless unless farmers, their families and employees remain constantly alert and use good judgment on the job. Mr. Hutton said.

Red Cross Offers CPR

The American Red Cross will offer a course in CPR at the Loudon County Rescue Building Monday through Wednesday, July 26-27-28 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The CPR course or Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation, which is restoring heart beat and breathing to heart attack victims, can be registered for by phoning the American Red Cross, 866-348, Monday through Friday.

A limited number will be allowed for this course, thus early registration is advised.

TVA Rates To Increase

Charges for TVA power will increase in August by 46 cents per 1,000 kilowatt-hours used, based on the TVA system's cost for fuel and purchased power last month.

This is the third straight monthly increase in charges reflecting fuel and purchased power costs, after a period when they had declined in seven of eight months. It will bring these charges to about the same level they had reached late last summer.

The increase in charges from July to August will be about 2 percent on a typical home bill. However, for most consumers with air conditioning the summer weather and its effect on power consumption will make a greater difference on electric bills than the increase in the charge per kilowatt-hour, TVA said.

Hooker Volunteers Set Entertainment

John Roberts, a volunteer for John J. Hooker's campaign for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate, said that live musical entertainment will be provided in front of the John J. Hooker, Loudon County headquarters at Colonial House on Broadway in Lenoir City.

Different bands will play at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

To The Voters In The Democratic Primary

Many times we have asked Mike Rowland to publish and discuss his record in the State Legislature - He has refused. Below is Mike's record on some key issues.

Bill 1646	No authorized Law officer shall photograph fingerprint, administer chemical test or otherwise obtain real evidence from the person of suspect without his consent with the prior approval of a magistrate.	Authored and introduced

Mr. Rowland favors repeal of death penalty for such crimes as first degree murder-robbery, kidnapping and rape of a child under 12 years of age
See House Journal ref. House bill No. 14
He also supported-increased sales tax - lease tax - severance tax on minerals and stumped the state in favor of state income tax.
Oliver Smith takes the opposite view from Mr. Rowland on ALL of the above issues.
We thought you would like to know. Vote for and support Oliver Smith for Congress in the Democratic Primary.

In Memory - In memory of our father, Herbert Beals, who died eleven years ago, July 25, 1965. My Dad didn't spoil me much, he made me earn my keep. I had to do my climbing, and most of it was steep. He taught me at an early age to earn what I received. To take without contributing was sinful, he believed. He taught me to hold up my end, and then a little more. He taught me to keep on going when I was tired and sore. He taught me how to take a chance, and not cry. If I lost, and when I made a bad mistake, I had to bear the cost. I learned from him that credit was as sacred as gold, but that debts incurred and money owed were paid by only me. And when a deal would turn out sour, and not be any good, to do just like I promised, do what I said I would. He'd been thru many adverse times, and this is how he felt: "If times get tough, just get tough too, and tighten up your belt." Don't look around my help, but use your hands and head. Don't cry about the plight you're in, but go to work instead. We hear and read most every day what our government should do. And of all the

In Memory - In loving memory of Charlie P. Cosner, who died two years ago, July 17, 1974. We watched you suffer so many days, until that afternoon when you just slipped away. Though time can never erase that awful afternoon, we know we'll see you one day soon. Our home will never be the same, we still find ourselves wanting to call your name. We miss you so much, your smiling face, no one will ever take your place. It was so sad when we had to part, but the love and happiness you gave all of us will stay forever in our hearts. Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

Herald To Offer Election Returns

Local election returns from the balloting on Thursday, August 5, will be available by phone from The Loudon County Herald office from 9 to 10:30 p.m. election night.

The staff of The Herald and the Loudon City News will collect returns when the polls close at 8 p.m. election night and should have the county totals in races completed by 9 a.m. Persons wishing returns should call 458-2087 or 458-2088 give the races they want totals for.

Court Tax Rate Session Monday

Loudon County Court will meet at 7 p.m. Monday at the courthouse in their second effort to adopt a budget and set a tax rate for the coming year.

The Court Purchasing Committee is slated to meet with the Budget Director Friday at 1 p.m. to go over a budget as prepared by the Court Budget Committee.

A tax rate of $0.10 has been recommended by the budget committee, but it does not include a needed $2 million to pay for the proposed $2 million in rural school bonds needed for school construction this year.

It is expected that the tax rate will be somewhere close to the $5.43 figure needed for the regular operations and the school bonds. This will be a 92 cent increase in the property tax rate.

Other items left over from last Monday's agenda are: selection of a County Medical Agency; Thursday after they were released from the sheriff's jail; appointment of library board members and ratification of county members for the East Tennessee Health Improvement Council.

Three Charged In Two Local Breakins

Three persons, one a juvenile, have been charged with two counts of second degree burglary of two local residences.

The two adults are Donnie Ray White, 23, of 2000 South Landon and Rachel Hensley of Thomasville, N.C. All three were arrested in a search of County South Carolina where they face charges in three home breakings.

Chief Deputy Luke Bright and Deputy Allen Cramer went to South Carolina last week after being notified by Cherokee County authorities that the trio admitted two breakings in Loudon County.

Three rifles, a watch and a camera taken from the Glenn Mealer home on July 17 were recovered. The rifles were in his favor in a $100,000 slander lawsuit against Williams Austin Goley of Loudon City. After considering the verdict for two hours the day long trial ended when jury foreman James McChoe of Greenback reported that the jury found that the plaintiff had been slandered by Goley, but did not find punitive or compensatory damages, but only nominal damages of $1.

The lawsuit grew out of an incident in the black community of Etowah on July 4th last year, which was followed by an appearance in County Court by Goley, at which time he made several statements, a home visit to Carruth and singled out Carruth. He allegedly stated that Carruth had killed a black in Etowah while on the police force there and that he had "nigger" written on his trigger finger.

After the jury was selected and Judge Willard Rittorf opened the trial Carruth's attorney Brand Wiefrey told the jury that his client had three claims of slander against Goley.

1-That Goley told a County Court meeting on July 7 that Carruth, while a member of the Etowah Police force killed a black man.

2-That Carruth had nigger written on his trigger finger.

3-That Carruth, while responding to a trouble call at Goley's home on July 4, had beaten a 14 year old boy and assaulted Goley's 12 year old son.

Wiefrey pointed out that as a result of the meeting the statements were made with malice and without investigation, the attorney said. He said Carruth had never killed anyone and as a result of the statements an FBI investigation had been made which covered a two or three month period, which resulted in no charges being brought against his client.

The plaintiff claimed as a result of the publicity and reputation suffered, had difficulty getting better employment, his family had been harassed and his name and reputation damaged.

Attorneys for Goley, Paul Gillemwater and Art Roberts, said Goley was within his rights to make the statements before the county court because it was a legislative body with power over the government of which the Sheriff's Department was a branch.

Goley was acting as a spokesman for his community, they said, reporting to the court, at the invitation of a court member, of difficulty in the black community caused by members of the sheriff's department. "His comments came in the free discussion period of the court and we say the system of government gives rights of freedom of speech. In this courtroom, before the county court, a legislative group, the statements were within his rights as provided by the constitution," Gillemwater said.

The lawyer said the proof will show that Carruth did assault a young man, did in fact have nigger on his trigger finger and was included in an investigation by the FBI over an incident in Etowah. "The prosecution must prove multiple in the statements Goley made in July 7 to seek relief. We will show you that this whole thing is a lot of something over nothing," Gillemwater stated.

Witnesses called by the plaintiff's attorneys were Ron Bridgeman, news editor of County Herald and Loudon City News; Larry Cate, editor of The Loudon County Herald; Chief Deputy Police Chief Clyde T. Dale, Carruth, deputy fire, and auxiliary deputy Bob Hampton.

Copies of both The Loudon County Herald and Loudon City News were introduced by the plaintiffs through the editors of the newspapers. They contained the story of the events of July 4th and the county court meeting where the remarks questioned were made.

Chief Bright said that Goley had been in his office prior to July 4 making the same statements about Carruth and at the County Court meeting he responded to Goley by telling him the place he wanted to make his complaints was to the FBI and they would make an investigation. Bright testified that nothing came of the FBI investigation and that a federal court suit against Carruth by Thelma Love and her 14 year old son Mike over the July 4th incident was not suited in federal court. Bright told the court that Carruth was an excellent officer, but because of the incident on July 4 the deputy was told not to patrol or serve papers in the black community unless necessary or in the company of another officer.

During the cross examination of Bright the defense began a strong push that their client was exercising his right of freedom of speech. Bright said that had the incident in county court not happened Carruth might have been named to the vacant post of Juvenile Officer.

Former Etowah Chief of Police Clyde T. Dale said that Carruth was not involved in any shooting deaths while he was a member of the force there. He told that Carruth knew the law and did his job. The cross examination stressed the fact that Carruth was fired at Etowah. Dale said that Carruth was fired from Etowah State College and not for any controversy over his enforcement of laws or treatment of persons he arrested.

Carruth, 35, father of four children, told the court he held an associate degree in law enforcement from Cleveland State and he had held law enforcement positions at Etowah, Polk County and Loudon County.

Asked about the Etowah firing he said he was told by the police commissioner he could drive the police car to school, but the mayor told him he could not. When he did he was fired by the mayor. He said he had never killed any man, black or white, or ever made a statement about having nigger written on his trigger finger.

Chief Bright said that Goley had been in his office prior to July 4 making the same statements about Carruth and at the County Court meeting he responded to Goley by

Utility Employees Win Union Recognition

WORKERS PICKET UTILITIES—Thirteen hourly employees of Loudon Utilities are shown picketing the company Thursday after they were released from employment after refusing to work because management would not sit down and discuss union representation and an 80 cent per hour wage increase. The workers won union representation Sunday.

Settlement Ends 3 Days Of Picketing

Hourly employees of the Loudon Utilities late Sunday afternoon won an agreement from the board of the system to recognize International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 560 as the bargaining agent for the employees, and to enter into immediate negotiations with the Utilities on a wage contract.

Last Thursday at noon 13 employees were separated from the Utilities, given their pay checks and separation slips after failing to return to work after what was termed as a "sit-down" Wednesday and Thursday morning. The Utilities Board Chairman W.F. Zimmerman was careful to avoid the use of the word "fired" when referring to the 13 men involved.

The employees, with Grover McCrary, a lineman, acting as spokesman, said that they had waited many times through broken promises and felt they had to take some affirmative action against the management. "We had just lost all confidence in the board due to past broken promises and their refusal to negotiate with us led to our action, knowing that we would be fired," McCrary said.

McCrary said that all of the employees affected had been members of Local 760 of the IBEW for some time, but there had been no success in getting the management to recognize the union.

Those released last week were McCrary, Sam Watkins, Earl Kirkland, Bill Gentry, Dee Dills, Larry Christian, Marvin Albright, J.L. Millspaugh, Odie Viers, Bill Russell, Homer Russell, Larry Roien and Raymond and Raymond Everett.

Zimmerman said all 13 were re-instated immediately Sunday afternoon and work would resume normally Monday morning and emergency stand-by service began when the agreement was reached Sunday. The agreement took place in a meeting between the board and a representative of the employees which took place about 7:45 Sunday afternoon.

Zimmerman said he, board members Randall and W.V. Kirkland, felt that in the best interest of the customers of the system the only solution was to agree to accept the proposal of the hourly employees to negotiate with their union. "We have had a number of power outages during the week and we only had three men working, but managed to keep pace with the demands of the system because of a pending $55,000 lawsuit involving the hourly employees. We had a stand-by time. This suit is pending in Chancery Court and we are confident that negotiation on wage contracts must jeopardize the pending lawsuit."

Earlier Zimmerman said that the board could not negotiate with the employees because of a pending $55,000 lawsuit involving the hourly employees. "We had a stand-by time. This suit is pending in Chancery Court and we are confident that negotiation on wage contracts must jeopardize the pending lawsuit."

Who Won? Goley Guilty Of Slander, Deputy Carruth Gets $1

State Representative Race Gets Most Local Interest

Although there are no county wide political office races on the August 5 election ballot, races for the Democratic nomination for United States Senate, the 21st Legislative District seat in the House of Representatives for the Republican nomination, and the constitutional convention question and the county road bill referendum led voter interest.

Polls in the county will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. All polling places in the county precincts remain the same, except Philadelphia. With the demolition of the school building, the precincts are looking for a place to hold the election. This place they have not been successful, but Chairman John Gibson said some arrangements will be made before election day.

The race probably kicking up the most dust in the county is the race for the 21st Legislative District seat in the House of Representatives for the Republican nomination, and the constitutional convention question and the county road bill referendum led voter interest.

The seven man race for the Democratic nomination for the 21st Legislative District seat in the House of Representatives is being contested by seven candidates. One of the candidates is the son of a former legislator, the late Foster Kefauver, and is a resident of the Loudon County area. Candidates seen as leading the vote in Loudon County are Jim Sasser and John Jay Hooker. Other candidates in that race are David Bolin, Edward Brown, William Thomas Hardison, Jr., and Harry Sadler. Application for cost-share on needed conservation measures will be accepted through July 30, says John M. Hutton, Chairman of the Loudon County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. The Agricultural Conservation Program offers to share the cost of conservation practices that will protect the soil from erosion and control water runoff from the hills of the county. It is a voluntary program open to any land owner or operator regardless of race, sex, color or religion. Specifications for practices require a current soil test report be used for any land to be seeded or improved and that the test be made by the Tennessee Laboratory of the Agricultural Extension Service. A current test is one made within the past 18 months provided no substantial change has been made in the use of the land tested. Boxes for submitting soil samples are available at the ASCS Office and at the Extension Service Office now located in the old hospital building.

CALVIN LINSFORD
458-2681

Every town or community has a person, who during their lifetime make an impression on people to the point that they are well remem-bered for years to come. I guess this is one of the great things about living in a small town or community. There is always a closeness among it's people. The common people seem to have bond among themselves. They share the trouble and happiness of the people around them.

The town of Philadelphia is such a town. Our man we are having reference to is the late W.W. (Cody) Byrum, who lived in Philadelphia all of his life, as far as I know, I could be wrong about this, but if not all of his life, the greater part of it. Cody, an ordained baptist preacher, liked people very much. He helped us one time a few years ago when I was doing a story on the one and only Philadelphia bank robbery. A few years later I found a copy of the Herald which carried the original story. Cody's account was almost to the detail like the original story. He had a fantastic memory.

Rev. Byrum, who pastored churches in Monroe, Loudon and Rhea Counties, was a veteran of World War I, and was on the Henderson Line when it broke in 1919. Along with being gassed, as were many World War I soldiers, he also had his toes frozen and lost his toe nails after this. He was in Co. K, 31st Infantry, 32nd Division. We have two pitchers of Cody. One is with his 1930 model A Ford. The other is a soldier picture with all of his field equipment on. Sometime ago we asked for soldier pictures and we were glad to receive this one from Cody's widow, Mrs. Essie Byrum, who now lives in Loudon.

We are always glad to have pictures of people and places in Philadelphia which has a warm place in our hearts. We called Philadelphia home for a few years during our youth. We have some very pleasant memories of some school days in this warm friendly town.

We were talking to Vernon McCullough the other day about Loudon and how it was a few years ago. Many things have changed and some for the better. All changes effect us in one way or another. Very few of us are happy with all the changes that take place. We have said many times that the past is important to us because we can recall the pleasant things and try our best to forget the unpleasant events.

Vernon grew up in Loudon, attended school with the kids his age and this gives a person an insight into a town and it's people. It is the best way to know the true heartbeat of any area.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Road Resurfacing Delays Costly State Study Shows

Tennessee could save $5.3 billion by resurfacing 24,718 miles of badly worn roads within the next four years—before they are beyond restoration, says a study released today.

Thirty-one per cent of the state's 81,042 miles of roads and streets will need to be reconstructed by 1980, if they are not resurfaced in the meantime, according to the Road Information Program (TRIP) of Washington, D.C.

This mileage, rated "fair" by the Federal Highway Administration, is expected to deteriorate to "poor" condition by 1980 because of increasing traffic volume, says the research and information agency.

The cost of resurfacing these roads is $1.5 billion, compared with a cost of $6.8 billion to reconstruct them, TRIP estimates. The average per-mile cost of reconstruction is 4½ times the cost of resurfacing, the agency adds.

TRIP reports that another 31,525 miles of roads in Tennessee now are too badly weakened with wear and age to be resurfaced. This mileage is rated "poor" or "very poor" by federal standards. The study says these roads could have been resurfaced earlier at a cost of $1.9 billion—a saving of $4.9 billion over the estimated $6.8 billion it will cost now to rebuild them.

"Resurfacing of badly worn roads is being postponed well beyond the normal renewal cycle because of a shortage of road funds," said W.T. Ratliff of Knoxville, who announced the study findings.

"It's a waste of money to let Tennessee's roads deteriorate to the point where they must be rebuilt when that isn't necessary," he added.

Ratliff is president of the Tennessee Road Builders Association, which requested the TRIP study. Findings are based on information from the U.S. Departments of Commerce, Labor and Transportation and the Tennessee Department of Transportation.

To avoid the need for reconstruction, state, county and municipal road agencies should resurface an average of 6,500 miles of roads and streets a year at a cost of $276 million, TRIP recommends. This does not include the cost of rebuilding the 31,525 miles of roads that are too deteriorated to salvage.

"By comparison, the state Department of Transportation and county and municipal road agencies have budgeted only $122 million in fiscal 1977 for all road programs," said Ratliff. "This is not even enough to keep up with resurfacing needs."

TRIP's study makes these additional findings:

- Original asphalt pavement should be resurfaced after an average of 12 years of service to prevent it from deteriorating beyond repair.
- A two-inch thick layer added to the original pavement will provide a minimum of six more years of service. Added resurfacing can extend the life of the pavement indefinitely.

A MESSAGE TO THE DEMOCRAT, INDEPENDENT AND DISSATISFIED REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF LOUDON COUNTY

I am John Roberts of Lenoir City, a former city councilman. I was a charter member of the Lenoir City Housing Authority that brought the first low income rental houses to Loudon County. I have been an appointed and elected official in Lenoir City and Loudon County since 1959. I am certified by the national board as a senior engineering technician, employed at ORNL — 22 years with the company. Music is my hobby and I manage a group called "Country Roundup." We have played for many charities and benefits for the people and clubs of Loudon County. I am stating this to qualify myself as a public spirited citizen of Loudon County. I think anyone who knows me can testify to this fact.

My wife, Essie, and I are volunteering to work and contribute to the election of John Jay Hooker to the Senate of the United States because we love our country, our state, and our county. We know John Jay is by far the most qualified. The Harvey Spraul political machine (the same one that unsuccessfully campaigned for Tom Wiseman) seems to be enjoying some moderate success in this campaign. Others are hard at work for David Balin, Lester Kefauver and Harry Sadler. All of the candidates are of high caliber and we pledge to support the nominee after August 5th.

Essie and I are not being paid for our work. We are doing it for you and John Jay. Mr. Hooker will easily win over all in the state. Help us put Loudon County in the winner's circle with John Jay. Help us make John Jay proud of Loudon County. Come on, you can do it. Don't be pulled into the trap of trying to get voter recognition for the lesser candidates for future elections. Make your vote count. Vote for the winner; vote for John Jay.

—John A. and Essie H. Roberts

Sub-District Finals Goes 15-Innings

Kingston Nips Loudon 2-1 For Berth In Dixie Youth District Play-off

Kingston won a marathon battle with Loudon Thursday night to take the championship in Dixie Youth Sub-District 7 North play. The Loudon team was able to mark the winning run in the 2-1 fracas.

Hobey Thomas, Tennessee D-Y District Director, called the game one of the longest and lowest scoring in D-Y baseball history, and said: "The play of these boys was just too much to believe."

Loudon took the lead in the first inning of the game, 1-0, and held it until the sixth frame when Kingston tied the the Kingston batsmen, and the victors did likewise in taking away almost certain hits from Loudon.

Loudon put on a tremendous display of fielding, recording 14 assists and three putouts.

Lennox's three putouts and 14 assists in the game. During the trophy presentation the Loudon team was complimented by tournament director Tom Palfrey when he said it was without a doubt the best game he had ever seen and surely neither team should be declared a loser.

TSSAA East Grid Stars Trip West 28-14

A big play defense propelled the East to a 28-14 triumph over the West in the 10th annual TSSAA football All-Star Game Saturday night at middle Tennessee State University.

Marlon Brown

Rick Melton

Loudon head football coach Jerry Ratledge served as an assistant coach on the victorious East squad. Loudon High School was also represented with two of its top griders of the past couple of seasons in Marlon Brown and Rick Melton.

Both Marlon and Rick started for the East's defensive unit, which received hearty recognition in the East's success.

Both teams posted seven hits. The Loudon pitchers had three strikeouts and allowed four bases on balls, while Kingston hurlers recorded seven strikeouts and allowed three bases on balls.

Loudon scored in the first inning when with two outs Neil Schrimphire doubled and the single Kingstons threatened in the first inning when their lead-off batter walked, but a heads up double play from McCallie to Neil Niles to David Grimes cleaned the bases and Kingston was unable to put any runs on the board.

Loudon Recreation Director Bill Birkholz said he was elated over the Dixie Youth All-Star Tournament showing. "I feel this is a tremendous boost to our program," stated Birkholz. "It can not say praise enough for the players, their parents, and the coaches. Frank Hanson and Bill Lennox, and the fine job they did in preparing the Loudon team for representation in the tournament."

Two opportunistic touchdowns in the second quarter enabled the East to raise its series advantage to 8-2.

With 8:28 to go in the first half and the East already ahead 7-0, the West was driving when Nashville Maplewood's Preston Brown bobbled a pitchout and the East's Curtis Lusk of Warren County, picked it up on the bounce. Lusk broke Brown's tackle and rambled 59 yards to score.

Seven minutes later the East defense came up with another devastating blow. Kingsport's Linc Jarvis ended a West drive by jarring the ball free from the quarterback Wilbert Jones of Brownville, Knoxville Central's 242-pound Tim Irwin caught the ball in mid-air and sped 63 yards to another East touchdown.

The two big plays followed a 20-yard drive by the East in the opening period. It was set up on a 46-yard punt return by McClain County's Hubert Simpson, who also got the first points on a three-yard run.

Jones, of the West, Irwin and Simpson all have signed grants-in-aid with Tennessee.

Coming back from the 21-0 deficit at halftime, the West used sustained drives in the final period to cut that margin to 21-14 with 7:12 left.

Brown scored the West's initial touchdown, following a 45-yard drive, with 9:43 to play on a 10-yard run. Two minutes later Memphis Bishop Byrne's John Peel blocked an East punt. Jackson Northside's Glenn Wilson scooped it up and ran it in from the 15.

However, the East put together one last ball-control drive behind the running of Simpson and Oak Ridge's Brian Roebuck, who capped it with a 19-yard run. Only 35 seconds remained.

Brown, of the West, was voted the outstanding back. Top choice for lineman was Doug Whetsell, linebacker from Kingsport Dobyns-Bennett.

There was plenty of fine college material to watch with stated Loudon's Ratledge. "The weather was really hot and I guess the temperature on the field (made of artificial surface) was at least 10 degrees hotter than it would have been had the game been played on natural grass."

Coach Ratledge was extremely proud of the way the East team performed. "We were billed in the underdog and I guess we were. The West had some big name people and more than it would have been (one lineman registered in on the scales at 225) and they could all play the game with overall team emotion and dedication to practice and basic fundamentals. I probably had its reward for us in the end."

The defense was alive when needed to turn back a last drive or off set a big play. Marlon (Brown) proved very well and so did Ricky (Melton). I was proud of how they matched up with the so-called best in the state for 75 minutes. Really feel some of the better players, particularly linemen, may have not all been selected. I know Jeff Nicholson of our team last year was on par with the talents of most of our All-Star linemen and there are others who did not get selected.

The TSSAA rules allow only two players from any one team to participate on an All-Star team, thus often times "robbing" a good back or lineman of a chance to play in the annual All-Star football or basketball games.

Melton received a shoulder bruise in the second quarter, but returned to duty in the third quarter, before calling it a night in the East's 28-14 verdict.

Coach Ratledge, Marlon, and Rick all acknowledged a fun week and Marlon and Rick stated they would always treasure the experience. Now that their official high school playing days are over Marlon will be looking anxiously to the start of fall football practice at Clemson University where he will be conditioning for a linemening job as a first year freshman. Rick will be heading to Mars Hill and hopes to compete for both an offensive running back position and a defensive back job.

Each tournament session will be a one dollar admission charge.

The tournament finals are planned for Sunday afternoon at Loudon's Legion field.

Trophies will be awarded to the top two finishers and a right man All-Tournament team recognized and a Most Valuable Player honored to round out the best nine individuals for the four day event.

The tournament opens up on Thursday evening with a 6:30 game between Madisonville and the Sequoyah Senior Babe Ruth and loser of only two league contests during the summer, battling Kingston, a team of only one league setback in summer play and the Loudon-Roane County Senior Babe Ruth team representative to the Sub-State held last week in Senior Babe Ruth.

Also on Thursday's card will be a game between Loudon, coached by Loudon High School coach Bill Thompson and Greenback, who played in the Eagleton Senior Babe Ruth League at Maryville this past summer. This game will start at 8:30.

the game went to strictly defense until the bottom of the sixth inning (regulation for Dixie Youth) when a sprinkle of rain made the ball a little slick. Loudon's pitcher, Joey Fox hit the first two batters and the Kingston catcher, Darrell Scott, singled to tie the game up. Both defenses tightened up for the next eight innings allowing but four hits per team until the bottom of the 5th. Loudon's third pitcher walked the first batter and Kingston's center fielder, Daniel Emch, got a double giving the men on second and third. John Franklin promptly stepped up and singled in the winning run.

The game almost broke two Dixie Youth play-off records, one for the most innings played and the other for Loudon shortstop Tony

This was Loudon's first year as a registered member of the sanctioned Dixie Youth Baseball.

Kingston was to have met Etowah on Monday night in a best two out of three series to determine the District Seven Champion.

Etowah will see the Sub-District South title by downing last year's defending district champion on Saturday night 8-1.

MOVES UP IN TENNIS RANKS—Miss Beth George of Loudon and a student at UT-Knoxville captured the Knoxville City Women's Intermediate Tennis Singles Title last week. Miss George also team with her partner Kellie Hascock in winning the City doubles title. The prestigious triumphs now qualifies Miss George for Advanced tennis play among the Knoxville tennis buffs.

Loudon Rec Dept. To Host Sr. Babe Ruth Tourney

The Loudon Recreation Department will end its summer program in Loudon with a 16-18 year old class Senior Babe Ruth Baseball Invitational Tournament. The double elimination tournament will be played Thursday through Sunday afternoon and will have a six day event.

The proceeds from the tournament will go toward the eventual purchase of a Curve Master pitching machine that will be used by both the older Loudon recreation baseball leagues and by the Loudon High School.

Each tournament session will be a one dollar admission charge.

The tournament finals are planned for Sunday afternoon at Loudon's Legion field.

Beth George Is Knox Tennis Winner

Beth George has played her last Knoxville City intermediate tennis match. She retires as undisputed champion.

Miss George, a University of Tennessee student and graduate of Loudon High School, downed Gail Smith, a well known tennis competitor of the Knoxville City Tour, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. The comeback decision provided Beth with the singles title last Thursday evening.

Miss George, who plans to tryout for the UT women's tennis team came fall, then teamed with Knoxville Doyle High School's number one singles player of this spring, Kellie Hascock for the doubles crown in intermediate play.

The champion duo need but two sets to accomplish their mission with a 3-6, 6-1 triumph over their challengers, Sue Scruggs and Jeanne Hue.

The Knoxville City Tournament Rules stipulate that all players who make the finals of any division automatically move up to the next division for all future tournament competition.

Thus Miss George is now considered an advanced performer. Also it might be noted that the Knoxville City tennis tournament will be played this coming weekend and Miss George will be a "late" entry into to test her newly rated tennis skills.

Miss George's hopes for the future is to play in enough tournaments, both Tennessee and surrounding states to someday become a nationally ranked in women's tennis circles.

Miss George will play only in the advanced City doubles this weekend, stating with a competitive smile "I feel I am a little more at ease in doubles play and can make a better individual showing. I am not as aggressive in singles play, I need to attack the net more and I know several of the advanced players I must not compete with and they don't make a trick as far as challenging an opponent's weaknesses. I plan to work toward improvement however and maybe in the next City tournament I can compete at out."

In other Knoxville City tennis tournament competition, Lenoir Citian Bill Cuttard teaming with Selden Strevella captured their mixed doubles semi-final match with Dennis McCorkle and Joy Walker, 7-5, 7-5.

Cuttard and Perrella were to have faced the duet of Dick and Annemsey for their mixed doubles championship.

Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes Seeking Weekend Opening

By Danny Gibson, Sports Editor

Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes, located just off the intersection of Highway 11 and new 95 in Lenoir City is practically complete. That is the word from owner William Robbe of the newest and most modern family recreation complex, estimated at a cost of close to a half million dollars, to be constructed in Loudon County.

"We are hoping to open the doors to the public this weekend (July 31)," declared Mr. Robbe.

"We will not be in full operation as far as stocking the lanes with recreation machines, completion of bowling leagues and the minorities of having everything running smooth until maybe September."

"Still we lack only the carpeting, seating, and dusting the place from being able to offer bowling to the people of Loudon County and the surrounding area," stated Mr. Robbe.

The Bowling Lanes will be open for use from 11 in the morning until probably midnight through August. Then a tentative opening of nine in the morning and a midnight closing through the week will be followed during the winter. The lanes will most likely stay open until 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights. No "official" times were declared at the time of this writing with local respect to no current un-fore-seen problems rising up to hamper the "tentative goals," being outlined by Mr. Robbe in the operations and policies of the new family sports attraction.

"There will probably be some free bowling made available in early Loudon Counties taking advantage of the lanes being open. AMF officials and engineers are to be on hand through the weekend in eliminating any bugs if any in the newest and most modern pin setting, ball return, and automated scoring tables and bowling accessories of any bowling lane in the country."

"We will have the top of the line in everything AMF can offer in making bowling more fun and enjoyable," stated Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes manager Rich Robbe, who will run the place for his father.

Rich quickly corrected this writer when touring the spacious and impressive Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes, when the giant complex was referred to as a "bowling alley."

"No longer is a recreation center such as this," referred Rich, "should it be called a bowling alley." "We, and those people associated strongly to the bowling world of today feel that the sport is an open sport for the entire family. Both men and women and children of all ages now find much pleasure and satisfaction from bowling. No longer is the bowling lanes today a place for "the boys" or the husbands to dash off to for a few beers and a late night of bowling."

"The bowling facilities of today are much more and offer much more to being strictly a family participation establishment, rather than catering to just the men," informed Rich Robbe.

Definitely Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes will be a major plus to Loudon Counties, who now travel to Knoxville, Maryville, or Athens for such bowling enjoyments.

Fort Loudon Lanes will offer a full grill and snack bar to spectators and bowlers.

Bowling leagues are currently forming for church leagues, industrial leagues, and independent leagues. League play is now being planned for Monday through Friday nights with starting times of 8 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. being made available.

People interested in forming a bowling league can gain more information through Rich Robbe at the Fort Loudon Lanes.

A grand opening for the Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes is presently being planned out for sometime in early fall (mid-September) with AMF officials attending. A nationally known professional bowler or bowlers are to be in attendance and will be bowling exhibition matches in an attempt to give pointers to a better bowling score.

"We would like to have Billy Harwick, who is one of the top ranking pro bowlers in the country at this time attend our grand opening," confided Rich. "But his touring schedule is always a changing one and AMF, for which he is backed in the professional circuit along with other top bowlers, will have the deciding word as to who will be here once our opening date has been announced."

Once the Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes are in complete operation free "learn to bowl" classes will be offered on a weekly basis and how to keep score of your games. A junior league for young bowlers will be a big attraction for Saturday morning school age groups.

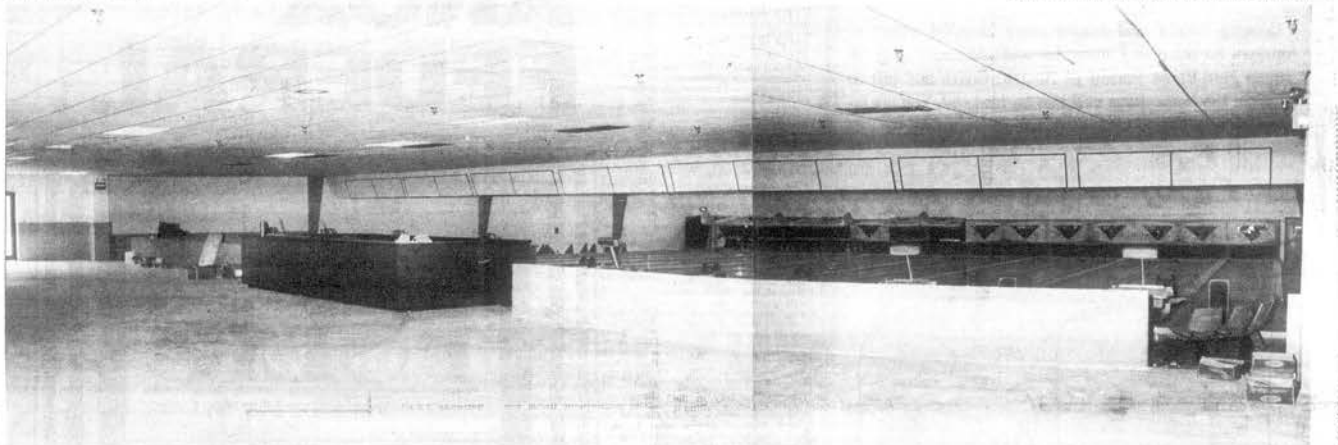

Rich says it is a possibility that some workable agreement could be extended to the high schools in Loudon County for physical education department classes to have the opportunity to make use of the lanes for learning how to bowl. "This would be speculative of course" states Rich. "Where would be channels to go through both with our operations schedule and with that of the respective high schools, the school superintendents and principals."

Knoxville, it might be noted has a city and county bowling league with in its high school grade levels although the recreation is not recognized as a TSSAA governed sport.

The Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes will employ six to eight people once full operations are underway.

DOORS TO OPEN THIS WEEKEND—The manager of the newly constructed Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes, Mr. Rich Robbe, announced to The Loudon County Herald this weekend. School Board Deletes Coordinator From Budget

The Loudon County School Board, seemingly under pressure from the County Court, Tuesday night, voted 3-2 to delete the new position of Transportation Coordinator from their proposed budget.

Immediately after eliminating the position they took the funds and added a reading resource teacher to be shared by Creechback and Glendale and added a half hour per day to time of 13 Kindergarten teacher's aids in the classrooms. The Glendale-Greenback position was cut from the budget earlier although the position was in the past year's budget. The teacher aides, who had a seven hour day last year, were cut in the budget which had earlier been approved by the budget committee to five and one half hours. The vote on this was 3-1 with Ted Randolph voting against it.

On the motion to delete the Transportation Coordinator for one year, which was discussed for almost an hour, was made by Gary Kimsey and seconded by Leonard Liles. Randolph and J.B. Hagler, both members of the transportation committee and highly supportive of the coordinator's position, voted against the deletion. Chairman Ted Wampler broke the tie.

Members of the board expressed concern that the court members would say their siding offering a pay supplement of $7500 for a coordinator's pay in the near future.

The subject of the bus owners contract, which has been called illegal by County school board what line items to take from its budget.

Kimsey led the discussion toward the delay of the idea because the board needed support and cooperation from the court in funding the building program.

Hagler and Randolph definitely opposed to dropping the idea because of problems in the student transportation system of using privately owned buses and felt that by waiting the board could improve its position through study of the survey made of the bus routes and mileage. Also that the state is considering offering a pay supplement of $7500 for a coordinator's pay in the near future.

The subject of the bus owners contract, which has been called illegal by County Judge Bill Russell because it was not awarded through the county purchasing department.

Hagler said in a meeting with the head of the State Education Transportation office they were told the contract held by the bus owners appeared to be legal. The board has asked that an opinion be given by the State Attorney General's office. The opinion is expected next week.

Loudon Dixie Youth All-Stars Out Slug Rockwood 10-9

Loudon with stood a seven run fourth inning last Wednesday night and squeaked out a well earned 10-9 Dixie Youth All-Star Baseball Tournament decision over Rockwood to advance to the Sub-District VII North finals.

Loudon had a 2-1 lead at the end of two innings and built the difference to 4-1 after three and one-half frames.

Rockwood exploded for two walks, two doubles, a single and two home runs in a commanding 8-4 lead after four innings.

Loudon answered with a five run fifth inning and Rockwood managed a fifth inning score to knot the game at 9-9 going into the sixth.

Loudon's David Grimes led off with a single, followed on a passed ball and rode home on the winning hit of second baseman Neil Niles.

ment. Hagler said in a meeting with the head of the State Education Transportation office they were told the contract held by the bus owners appeared to be legal. The board has asked that an opinion be given by the State Attorney General's office. The opinion is expected next week.

by Garner Henley and stocked with several of Loudon's standout high school players of the past spring, and Lenoir City, the lone league team to beat Kingston over the course of the summer.

Games will begin at 12 noon on Saturday and finals planned for Sunday starting at 2 p.m.

A meeting called by the transportation committee of the board was scheduled for last week, but the bus owners said they did not appoint a committee as asked by Board Chairman Wampler, because the owners have an opinion from their attorney that their contract is legal.

The refusal of the bus owners to meet irritated Wampler. He said he was for continuing the privately owned bus system, but if the owners did not want to participate in drafting a new contract and then will not accept a contract drafted by the board alone, the county will have no other alternative but to go into the bus business itself.

City Golf League Play Boiling Down To Final Week

The Loudon City Golf League is boiling down to the final week of summer play with both races in the Scratch and Handicap Division still up for grabs.

Jim Huff, who has led the Handicap Division for the last five weeks, registered just 10 points for the week and thus has fallen into second place with 171 points.

John Cobb is steadily moving up on Scratch Division leader Buck Kirkland, but here again the sudden end of the regular season scheduling may prove the deciding factor.

Cobb was the low medalist last week with a round of 34, two under par, and gained to within seven points of Kirkland with an up to date 180 points. Kirkland holds first place with 195 points.

Larry Millsaps (183 points) and Lynn Millsaps (180 points) are three and four in the Scratch Division standings respectively and despite excellent weekly efforts may not be able to better themselves by the season end.

The Loudon City Golf League Tournament will get underway the week of August 7 and will run for two weeks, capped off by a league cookout at the Loudon City Park on Tuesday, August 24th.

Greenback Eligible For Doctor Under National Health Service Program

Loudon County Memorial Hospital Administrator Gay Hamilton reported to the hospital's board Wednesday night that the Greenback area was eligible for a physician through the National Health Service Program because of the lack of fulltime medical services in the community. Hamilton said that work is now underway on an application for a doctor appointment to the area. He said the fact that there is a clinic there, now staffed by a Loudon doctor, and community support should present a good case for the community.

The conflict of several months over radiology services at the hospital will apparently come to a head at the August meeting. Board Chairman L.D. Conner said the application and letter of invitation had been approved and sent to doctors in the area who practice radiology (reading X-rays). Several percent. It adds more than $3 billion to the checks going up 27 million people.

The first such adjustment, one year ago, raised benefits by 8 percent, at a cost of $5.7 billion.

Under the new increase, the average retired worker, who received $2,488 last year, will be getting $2,616 now. Disabled workers will go from $2,736 to $2,904, on average. Elderly couples, where both are receiving benefits, will be getting $4,464, or $208 more than before. Payments to aged widows will rise to $2,496, which is $144 more than the previous average.

The net result, for Loudon County beneficiaries, is that payments to them will total approximately $6,345,000 during the next 12 months, as against $6,050,000 in fiscal 1975.

There will be no increase in payroll taxes to offset the increase in benefits. The tax remains at 5.85 percent each, for employee and employer. The increase will be paid for out of the first $15,300 of earnings.

months ago the hospital granted an exclusive contract to Dr. Harold Freedman, who has done that work at the hospital for more than 10 years, but Dr. Elsie Thompson, a board certified radiologist has challenged the contract under conflict of interest grounds, which led to Dr. Freedman's resignation from the board.

Board member John Roberts, with some sick moving, considered by a secret ballot vote on changing the meeting night from Wednesday to a night more favored by other board members. The vote was five for Thursday night, considered to be more difficult for newsmen to cover. Roberts has frequently disagreed with the news coverage of the meetings in the future all board meetings will be held on the third Tuesday of the month at 7:15 p.m.

The board adopted a new medical service program known as the Professional Service Review Organization. This is now a law and is required for a hospital to receive Medicare payments.

It consists of establishing averages of length of stay and certain prescribed treatments and tests and checks for different types of medical care and treatment given by the hospital. There were three scales of the service. The one adopted calls for fully delegated in house checks by the medical staff of the hospital in seeing that the prescribed treatments, tests, length of stays and other factors are followed. The PSRO will audit the hospital on the procedures quarterly. The audit and procedure checks are paid for by Medicare.

Hamilton told the board that the local doctors have conducted a study of various medical care charts for about 18 months and have established prescribed standards and have been following them for the past six to nine months.

Good news to the board was the fact that the hospital, which has in the past few years been in financial hot-water, ended the year with a profit of $121,000 and is currently near the 100 percent occupancy mark.

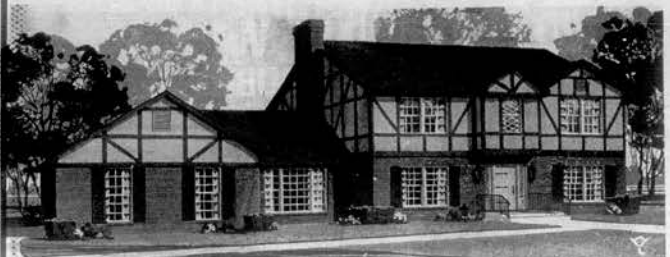

New revised medical staff by-laws were approved by the board. The revisions were made to make ready for a review by the joint commission on hospital accreditation.

Board member Jim Blair

asked that the hospital make more effort to have employees not to make comments about activity at the hospital concerning patients, doctors or anything that is of a confidential or private nature. Blair said he had heard several comments (not elaborating on what the nature was) which would lead him to believe the hospital personnel were talking about things that should remain at the hospital. He suggested that strong reminders of a hospital policy which could mean dismissal for discussing events in the hospital outside the hospital.

Administrator Hamilton said that he is now developing a new policy for smoking in the hospital for employees, visitors and patients. Mr. Hamilton said that the staff has been instructed to observe certain areas where smoking is disallowed and certain times when smoking is disallowed all together.

At the close of the meeting Hamilton said in his five years at the hospital there have been many difficult times, but he was very pleased with the way the board always met hard decisions head on in the best interest of the hospital. "I appreciate you more and more and want you to know it," Hamilton said.

Local Woodmen Have Picnic Here

Ted Lomax, Camp Secretary for Modern Woodmen Insurance Company was host to the Camps annual picnic for Members and their families on Tuesday, July 27th at the Loudon City Park.

After Bingo was played, drawings were held for door prizes and recognition was given to 25 and 50 year Members in the Camp Prizes were won by Ralph Bradshaw and Eddie Radledge.

Plans are being made for the swimming party for Members and their families in August.

What will the new increase in Social Security payments, which became effective at the beginning of this month, mean to residents of Loudon County who are receiving such benefits?

How much more will they be getting per year? How big will their average check be, compared to what it was formerly?

On the basis of the latest figures from the Social Security Administration, which show the number of local beneficiaries and the amounts being paid them, it is estimated that the new schedule of retirement and disability rates will add approximately $28,000 to their checks during the remaining six months of this year.

The current increase is the second one to have taken place under legislation enacted in 1972. The intention was to make the Social Security system inflation-proof. To accomplish this, payments are adjusted to compensate for the rise in living costs, from year to year, as indicated by the Consumer Price Index.

This year's hike comes to 8.4

(Continued from Page 1) assistance from Junior Teeters and Bob Hampton who were riding together. He said when they returned to Goley's there was a smaller crowd, but there was a lot of racket, several drunks and cursing.

He said two persons were arrested and placed in his cruiser and when the officers went to arrest others someone let the first pair out of the cruiser. He said they took the last two to the justice center, obtained warrants for the other two and went back to Buckhorn.

Carruth denied using undue force on any of those arrested and said he did not assault or beat anyone.

He told of hiring an attorney to represent him in the FBI investigation, the Civil Rights lawsuit and the outcome of the two matters. He said he had Three men are candidates for the Democratic nomination for Public Service Commissioner. They are Frank D. Cochran, James Record and Gabe Talario. One Republican is on the ballot, Bob Pitts.

Four members of the Court of Criminal Appeals are listed on the General Election Ballot. Instead of voting for or against the candidate, all unopposed, the voter states "yes" or "no" as to whether they shall be elected and retained in their division judgeships. They are John K. never had trouble getting employment before Goley's charges, but since that time he had applied for employment at Sweetwater PD, Oak Ridge and TVA security and had not had any reply from any of the three.

Under cross examination Carruth denied he had any prejudice against blacks or that he used excessive force during many of his arrests in the past. He also denied he was involved in any controversy in Etowah over excessive force in enforcing the law. He did admit he had been questioned by the FBI one time while on the Etowah force.

Both Deputies Junior Teeters, and part-time deputy Bob Hampton backed Carruth's story on the incidents of July 4. They said no beatings or abuse of persons arrested took place. Teeters was a co-defendant with Carruth in the Civil Rights case brought by Mrs. Love. As the prosecution rested its case Goley's lawyers asked for a directed verdict stating that under state law their client was using his right of freedom of speech before a legislative body and his remarks were privileged, that no malice was shown.

Winfrey responded that the remarks were made in an emotional appeal with reckless disregard and without investigation.

Judge Kittrell said malice was a matter for the jury to decide and over-ruled the defense motion.

Mrs. Arnold Hawkins, Rt. 3, Leeton City, told the court she arrived home from her job at Loudon County Memorial Hospital on the afternoon of the 4th to find a disturbance in the neighborhood. She said that a crowd of 15-20 people were around the streets near police cars.

She said Carruth got out and started grabbing people. She said Mrs. Love was grabbed and thrown in the cruiser, hitting her head. That Carruth struck the Love youth in the head and stomach and started for Goley's son when he ran away from him. Mrs. Hawkins said she had heard talk about how mean Carruth was and about the alleged shooting and words on his finger. She also agreed that the sheriff's department harassed the community and the people. "Everyone in the community is afraid of Carruth," she said.

Mrs. Hawkins said under cross examination that some of the people in the crowd during the disturbance were drinking and possibly drunk. She said Goley was not present when the disturbance happened, but he was the community spokesman and when he was notified he went to the sheriff's office on behalf of the community.

Goley, from the witness stand, told the court that after the new sheriff's administration came into office the black people couldn't sit on their front porch and play cards without being harassed by the deputies.

"We all have the impression that Carruth is real mean and are scared of him. We heard he had killed a black man in Etowah," Goley said. Goley said after the July 4 incident he went to Squire Curtis Williams who invited him to bring his complaints to County Court on July 7th. Goley said that his statements in the court meeting were misquoted. He claims he said he understood Carruth had killed a black man. And that he used the nigger on the trigger finger statement just to make a point.

"I never had any conflict with the sheriff's department before and we didn't want it now. We just wanted it stopped," Goley said as his reason for going to Court.

Under cross examination Goley, who said he was a machinist and gartering contractor, said he closed his tavern in Huntsville after the new sheriff took office. He denied that he sold liquor, but closed because the sheriff kept bothering his customers. Goley denied that he financed the Civil Rights lawsuit of Mrs. Love and her son just to get Carruth to drop his slander lawsuit.

Another Huntsville resident James William Howard gave testimony backing statements made by Goley, and that Carruth threatened to shoot him and his dog.

The defense had planned to call Squire Curtis Williams as a witness but Williams left the courthouse before being called.

Minutes of the County Court meeting were read and the agenda for the meeting was studied to point out that no official inquiry or investigation was underway by that body, showing that Goley was not speaking as a witness before an investigative body.

In his argument to the jury attorney Winfrey said it was proven that Goley made statements that Carruth had killed a man, had nigger written on his trigger finger and had beaten a 14 year old boy, all of which had been disproved.

"The only thing we can leave behind in this world is a good name," Winfrey said. "I doubt that the things said by Mr. Goley will do anything for the name of Mr. Carruth."

Goley's attorney told the jury that he told them the case would be much a-do about nothing, and it had proven to be just that. "This is a case of a grown man not being able to communicate as a child," he said, "there is something wrong when we can't state our complaints to our government, because we are the government and if we are run over by our government we are in a bad state of repair."

Goley was just exercising his rights, the attorney said. He stated that Carruth was saying his reputation had been damaged. The defense attorney blasted that a man had to have a good reputation before it could be damaged.

"These people don't want justice, they want a pound of flesh," Golenwater said in closing.

In behalf of Carruth, Winfrey, said that with rights comes responsibility and that Goley had not recognized his responsibility when he made untrue statements about his client. "One man's rights cannot be exercised at the cost of another man's reputation," Winfrey closed.

Third Of Income Of Residents Goes For Taxes

Because of the upward turn in the economy in recent months, Loudon County families find themselves in a more favorable financial position.

After a long struggle with depression and inflation, during which the cost of living rose faster than their incomes, the tide has turned in their favor.

Even though inflation is very much alive and continues to push prices upward, it is no longer as severe a problem as it was a year ago.

As a result, local families, bolstered by rising incomes, strong savings and a smaller than usual debt, have the wherewithal to launch a big buying surge.

After taking care of the four basic items in their budgets—taxes, food, clothing and housing—some 28 percent of their income, on average, is available to them for other spending.

This is based upon a study made by the Tax Foundation. It shows that taxes are the biggest item in most budgets. Most workers have to devote 2 hours and 39 minutes of their 8-hour day, one-third of the time, to pay their various Federal, state and local taxes. In Loudon County, translating this to an annual basis and relating it to the average level of income locally, it amounts to $3,810 per family.

With taxes out of the way, the remainder of the 8-hour day is apportioned as follows by the Tax Foundation: for housing and household operations, 1 hour and 22 minutes, for food and beverages, 1 hour and 5 minutes, for transportation, 39 minutes, for clothing, 29 minutes, and for medical care, 25 minutes.

That leaves a total of 1 hour and 11 minutes of the workday, the proceeds of which may be used for discretionary spending. It may be for recreation and amusements, for education, for savings, for personal care or for luxuries in general.

Based upon the national study, the average family in Loudon County has nearly three-fourths of its income going for taxes, food, clothing and shelter. In terms of earnings in the local area during the past year, it is equivalent to $8,320 per family.

It's time Washington heard You.

"As a child in rural Tennessee I grew up respecting those in public office. My father, Ralph Sasser, was Director of the Tennessee Soil Conservation Service. He worked in the public service over 30 years. From him I learned that public service is a public trust.
"I believe elected officials have a responsibility to the people to conduct their private and public lives honorably. We can no longer afford to be suspicious of those who hold public office.
"We can have a government that reflects our decency and inspires our trust. Together, we can make the difference."

45 Percent Of Loudon County Women Are Now Employed

In Loudon County, women at work is the order of the day. Each passing year finds more and more women in the labor force.

The current figures indicate that some 45.5 percent of the local female population over the age of 16 are now employed outside the home or are looking for such employment. In actual numbers, according to the latest findings, close to 4,630 local women, out of a total of 10,180 of working age, are in the labor force.

They are filling jobs in offices, in retail stores, in factories, in the educational and health fields and in a wide variety of other occupations. There is little that remains closed to them any more.

In contrast to the 45.5 percent of Loudon County's female population now in the labor force, there were only 31.5 percent in 1960.

The average nationally is 39.3 percent. It ranges considerably above and below that level in other sections of the country.

The changes that have taken place are depicted in facts and figures compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Department of Commerce and others.

They show that women have drastically altered the job market in the past decade or two. The number of them in the labor force has increased from 22,240,000 in 1960 to 31,500,000 in 1970 and to nearly 35,000,000 at the present time. Much of the increase has been due to married women, especially those of middle age, who have more time on their hands now that their children have grown up.

Among younger women, also, the trend is toward outside jobs rather than toward housework. A survey by the Institute of Life Insurance finds that only one-fourth of those under 25 prefer the housewife job.

The net result is that a greater proportion of jobs are held by women than ever before and, consequently a larger proportion of families have more than one income.

In Loudon County's regional area, as estimated 46.9 percent of those employed are women. Nationally, women have 46 percent of the jobs.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION NOTICE

AB2 (Sub-No. 9) LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY ABANDONMENT BETWEEN FRIENDSVILLE AND GREENBACK, IN BLOUNT AND LOUDON COUNTIES, TENNESSEE July 19, 1976

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that its Environmental Affairs Staff has concluded that the proposed abandonment by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company for the flowers and children during the death of our stepson and half-brother, Mark Cassidy. We also wish to thank the Rev. Lon Moneyman, H. M. Russell, Charles Dennis and O.G. Rainwater for their help in this time of sorrow for our loved one.
Mrs. R.L. Cassidy and children. 7-29-1tp

Nashville Railroad Company of its line between Friendsville and Greenback, a distance of 83 miles, in Blount and Loudon Counties, Tenn., if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. ss 821, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332 (2) (C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded among other things, that the associated environmental impacts are considered insignificant because the traffic generated by the line can be diverted to motor carriers without creating significant alterations in highway congestion, ambient noise levels, air quality, or fuel consumption. In addition, no definitive land use plans are dependent on the continuation of the subject line. The conclusion is contained in a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D.C. 20423; telephone 202-275-7011.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., 20423, on or before August 23, 1976. It should be emphasized that the environmental threshold assessment survey represents an evaluation of the environmental issues in the proceeding and does not purport to resolve the issue of whether the present or future public convenience and necessity permit discontinuance of the line proposed for abandonment. Consequently, comments on the environmental study should be limited to discussion of the presence or absence of environmental impacts and reasonable alternatives.
Robert L. Oswald, Secretary. 7-29-1tc

WHY HAVE A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION?

COURT MODERNIZATION: For many years, people have complained about the Courts being too slow, too costly to the taxpayers. This is an opportunity to examine ways to make our court system more efficient in time and administration.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT: Our Constitution still requires that we elect a Ranger in each county to round up stray cows. Outdated requirements such as this need to be examined and brought up to date in order to meet today's needs in local government.

THE GOVERNOR: The Present Constitution limits our governor to one four-year term. Many people feel that this has created a tendency to ignore the wishes of the people. There are pros and cons on both sides of all of these questions. But we need to examine this question to insure good leadership at the state level.

LEGISLATIVE PROCESS: The volume of business before our legislators has increased tremendously in the last quarter of this century. We must examine ways to make our governing process more efficient by considering such aspects as the times of legislative sessions and the Governor's inauguration, the signing of bills, filling legislative vacancies, and the means of appropriations.

ECONOMIC FLEXIBILITY: The economy of Tennessee must remain strong, competitive, and flexible at all times. Industry must have the capability to expand and provide additional employment. Consumers must have the capability to purchase needed goods and obtain housing. Tennessee's economy depends on the supply and demand for money. The section of our Constitution dealing with interest rates must be clarified and up-dated to assure a continued money supply to our citizens.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION: In 1970, the Constitutional provision giving citizens the right to have their homes protected from disposal for debt, up to a value of $1,000.00, at least provided for a roof over the heads of a debtor and his family. In 1976, this would not begin to provide a carport! The Convention must weigh this provision very carefully.

OTHER AREAS: Our Constitution still prohibits:

- the 18 year-old to vote
- integration in schools
- interracial marriages

These three provisions are in conflict with Federal law and should be changed.

IT DOES NOT CONSIDER:

- TAX INCREASES
- INCOME TAX

Light Voter Turnout Expected In Thursday Elections

Extremely low voter interest, especially in the General Election is expected to result in a very low vote in the balloting Thursday.

There are two good races in the Republican Primary, that for State Representative of the 1st district, and a five man race for State Senator. Over in the Democratic Primary the seven man race for the nomination for United States Senator, where the victor will face Republican Bill Brock in the November General. Three persons are also seeking the Democratic nomination for Second District Congressman to get a shot at John Duncan's seat in November.

Two items in the General Election will probably get more attention than the local office positions on the ballot. The proposed new Department of Transportation for Loudon County and the State Constitution Convention are part of the General Election, although they are on the opposite side of the machine ballot from the names of the local candidates.

A composite sample ballot of the machine ballot to be used in the election is published in this issue of The Herald. By state law it was to have been published last week, but had not been received by the Election Commission from the printers at that time.

Polls throughout the county will be open from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

The County Road Bill would create an entirely new highway department with one countywide elected Commissioner of Transportation to handle road maintenance, instead of three separate road departments as is the case presently. The new law, if passed, would take effect in September of 1979, and would bring the county under the provisions of the County Uniform Road Law which also goes into effect that year.

In the local election there is only one contested race. Two independents, Charles R. Settles and James Wheat are seeking the second district constable post. In the only countywide race Sheriff Guy Russell and Property Assessor Emmett Carter are both unopposed. Others unopposed for constable are O'Dell Justice and Dewey Russell in the first district; Raymond Rogers in the third; and Ray Hoak in the fifth district.

The race that seems to have most local interest is between incumbent State Representative Betty Stafford of Lenoir City and his challenger in the Republican Primary Steve Samples of Blount County. In November Eddie Tom Smith of Lenoir City, unopposed in the Democrat voting, will face the winner in that race.

High interest on the part of Democrats in the U.S. Senate race could see Democrat out numbering Republicans at the polls Thursday. Jim Sasser is expected to carry Loudon County and has had the strongest local organization. David Bolin, John J. Hooker and Les Kefauver (who lives in Lenoir City) also have local campaign groups. The only change in precinct voting places is at Philadelphia. Voters there will cast ballots at City Hall because of demolition of the Philadelphia School, the usual community voting place.

Herald To Offer Election Returns

Local election returns from the balloting on Thursday, August 5, will be available by phone from The Loudon County Herald office from 9 to 10:30 p. m. election night.

The staff of The Herald and the Lenoir City News will collect returns when the polls close at 8 p. m. election night and should have the county totals in all races completed by 9 a. m. Persons wishing returns should call 458-2987 or 458-2988 give the races they want totals for.

SHERIFF GUY RUSSELL is standing in the prescription department of Greenback Drug Store about 5:30 a. m. Friday looking at the spot where the store's safe and narcotic storage were stolen during the night. Deputy Jim Lindsey is in the background. The same and most of its contents were recovered Friday afternoon in a secluded area of Monroe County.

Greenback Drug Safe Stolen, Found

A large safe containing a large amount of prescription drugs, a small amount of cash, and store papers was stolen from the Greenback Drug Store about 3:30 a. m. Friday. The safe and what appears to be most of its contents were found about 11 hours later in Monroe County.

Sheriff Guy Russell said that Greenback officer Clarence Patty discovered the break-in. The lock in the safe and glass door had been punched out. One inside the safe was cut. The safe was stolen from the back door of the store and apparently loaded

Squires Raise County Tax Rate 65 Cents

Court Fails To Adopt Budget

Loudon County Court Monday night adopted two tax rates for the current fiscal year but did not adopt a budget. The County Tax Rate, not including property inside the city of Lenoir City will be $5.16 per hundred dollar assessment. Inside the City of Lenoir City the county tax rate was set at $4.78, because the property in the city will not be taxed to pay for a $2 million rural school bond issue which requires 38 cents on the tax rate.

In setting a tax rate and not a budget the court was instructing the budget committee to take the tax rate and make a budget that the rate will fund. The tax rate for the General School Fund is $3.53, cut four cents from the recommended $3.57, which means the school board will have to cut another nearly $11,000 from their budget, and then with the same funds for school operations they had last year. The cut will not affect the teacher pay raise.

No cuts were made in the bond debt fund. It was left at $1.25 as recommended by the budget committee. The big whack came from the General Fund which includes the sheriff's department, ambulance service, and all other county offices and departments. The adopted budget of 84 cents is 21 cents less than what was recommended $1.05 by the budget committee. This means $2,000 must be trimmed from that budget.

The $5.16 tax rate outside Lenoir City is a 65 cent tax rate for county residents. The $4.78 Lenoir City inside county rate is a 27 cent increase for non-resident owners. No date was set for the budget committee to meet and adopt a budget which can be funded with the tax rate. Where will the $4,000 come from in the General Fund Budget? Some squires said cuts in services, such as the sheriff's department, to equipment requests of various office holders, cutting out raises in county officials, county council members, and county employees, or cuts in the ambulance service. All of these are just some of the suggestions made in the meeting.

The budget committee will make the cuts and recommend them to the county court who will then set the budget. The votes on the tax rates were 63 for the Lenoir City rate, with squires Bill Brock, Roy Bledsoe, Boyd Duckworth, Curtis Williams, J. G. Goddard, and R. P. Hamilton voting for it. No votes were by I. D. Conner, Terry Vann and Jim Harrison.

The county tax rate vote was 54. Squire Blair changed from the 'yes' column to the 'no' column with the remainder of the court voting as they did on the first vote. Squire Boyd Duckworth led the discussions on setting the tax rate and made both motions involving the tax rates with seconds from Squire Hamilton.

When discussion on the budget and tax rate began Duckworth moved that four cents be cut from the general school fund, two cents from the rural school bond fund, and six cents from the general fund, with two cents of that coming from the sheriff's budget. He further requested that $7,000 be taken from surplus and placed in the General Fund budget, operate the Ambulance service on available funds until December and then put in CONTINUING WORK AT TELLICO DAM - Earthmoving equipment is still spreading dirt to build the earthenfill portion of the Tellico Dam (concrete portion in background). There is still about 600,000 cubic yards of dirt to move onto the earthenfill. Work is being threatened by an injunction in federal court.

Court Allows TVA To Complete Work On Dam, Cannot Fill Lake

BULLETIN -- An announcement was made from Federal Court in Cincinnati Tuesday, one day ahead of the expected schedule, that the court will allow TVA to continue with construction of the Tellico Dam and related work. The decision, coming in the wake of a possible injunction that would have stopped work on the project, also said that TVA could not start filling the lake, set to start in early 1977, until the question of the lawsuit pertaining to the Small Darter was settled.

"A delay in our work schedule right now in completing the earthenfill portion of the Tellico Dam, would mean a one year delay in finishing work," George Kimmon, Manager of Engineering Design and Construction for the Tennessee Valley Authority, told editor Larry Cate last Friday morning in an interview held on top of the Tellico Dam at Lenoir City. Cate and Lenoir City News Editor Ron Bridgeman were touring the project site Friday morning mainly to get photos in the wake of action in the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati last week which threaten to close down the project until a hearing to examine arguments the dam will eradicate the small darter is held. During the tour of the project, where construction engineer Louis Bledsoe described the various construction areas now underway, the trio met Kimmon and project engineer Lamar Pa. Understanding the strength and safety the hard rain can mean that the ground will be too wet to work on the fill for a week.

Mr. Kimmon said also that should a flood strike the region next spring and the height of the earthenfill portion of the dam is at its present level it could mean the destruction of the work now completed, adding more millions to the cost of the dam. "Our attorneys tried to show the court that the Little Tennessee River and the small darter are in no way endangered by letting us complete the earthenfill and continue with clearing and roadway work," he said.

After the stop work order was given last Wednesday, TVA won a "stay" in the injunction until Wednesday of this week, at which time the court was to issue a definite statement on the injunction.

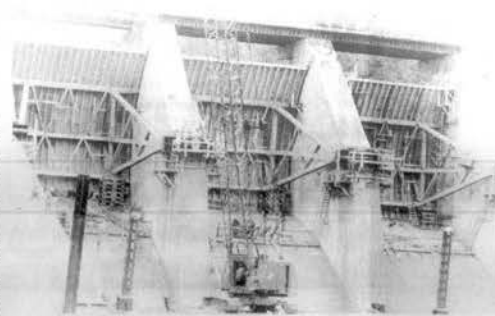

"At least during this one week we can continue work, not have to lay anyone off and make preparations for the worst, a full stoppage of the construction," Kimmon states. Large earthmoving equipment, more than 20 big pieces, have been working 24 hours a day, seven days a week, trying to complete the earthenfill during the critical favorable weather period. The squires are working at an accelerated pace building up one side of the fill to protect it in case of a full work stoppage.

The appeal on the small darter case has been set for hearing during the October session of the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. Dr. David Eimer of UT discovered the small darter in the Little Tennessee. Plaintiffs against TVA in their suit to protect the small darter's habitat include UT law professor Zygmunt J.G. City Recives $312,000

EDA Grant

Senator Bill Brock, while visiting The Herald office Saturday morning, announced that the regional office of the Economic Development Administration in Atlanta had approved a grant of $312,000 for the City of Loudon for use in constructing access roads into the Blair Bend Industrial Park. The 285 acre park, a joint City of Loudon and Loudon County, development on the Tennessee River, had previously been funded for a $667,000 Appalachian Regional Commission Grant and a total of $100,000 in loans from the P. R. C. Home Administration. Development of the $1.6 million project is now in engineering stages. Senator Brock told The Herald that the grant application has been sent to Washington D.C. for signature and formal announcement. The approval would be made from Washington within the next week.

DOWNSTREAM VIEW--TVA workers are shown placing the third of the three large spillway gates of the Tellico Dam in place on the controversial structure on the Little Tennessee River at Lenoir City.

Skipper Barron

Charged In Theft

Alvin Bart (Skipper) Barron was charged Friday night with larceny of a radio-tuner from the residence of Alvin Kerley, Taylor Drive, Lenoir City. The Tiller was reportedly stolen Tuesday night. Barron is being held at the Justice Center pending a preliminary hearing Friday, Deputy Jim Lindsey said.

Rev., Mrs. Cook

Lead Local

C-F Campaign

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Cook of Lenoir City has been named Chairperson of the Special Events Campaign to fight children's lung diseases, according to Mr. Al Miller, president of the Tennessee Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Rev. and Mrs. Cook will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and a condition called "childhood emphysema."

"Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C-F. It is believed that one in twenty persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C-F gene usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers.

Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C-F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood. That same kind of therapy is relieving and often curing children suffering from the other respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of C-F.

"Most people don't realize that there are six million children in the United States affected by pulmonary illness," said Rev. and Mrs. Cook. "For some of these children, breathing is not the natural function we who are lucky, take for granted."

The "Breath of Life" Campaign supports not only research, but also over 100 C-F centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country.

WHO NEEDS A TILLER—Jennings Clark doesn't plow his garden after it is planted, he mows the weeds down and adds leaves for mulch. It not only saves him work, but he has found yields using the method is giving him higher yields and healthier plants.

'No-Till' Garden Is Successful

The "no-till" garden a fairly recent introduction in vegetable gardening has proven to be a productive, time saving and work saving method for Jennings Clark of Sunnyside Road at Philadelphia.

Mr. Clark said he had heard of the "no-till" garden through several people and attended a garden clinic at the University of Tennessee where they endorsed the no plowing method.

The small garden of Clark's is a magazine show piece. He starts by sub-soiling each row three times and puts in his plants. A trench is dug along the upper side of each row, filled with manure, rich soil and fertilizer. If necessary during dry weather he waters the rows along the trench.

During the growing season, instead of a roto tiller Clark uses a lawn mower to keep down the weeds and adds mulch between the rows. He fertilizes with 6 12-12 and lime and uses lime and seven to dust the plants.

The garden contains green beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, and peppers. The tomatoes and beans are tied up on wire lines with the tomato plants in places being about eight feet tall and full of tomatoes.

Clark says he has found that when the plants start to wither he can add more fertilizer and they will brighten up again and start producing. He says he will have tomatoes until frost.

The "no-till" method, he says, saves quite a bit of preparation time, plus many hours in the hotter days of summer not having to plow plus he thinks the method gives a better yield.

Clark said he took the "no-till" idea, added the trench of manure, rich dirt and fertilizer, plus the adding of fertilizer at the end of each production period and thinks he has a workable system for the person who wants or does not a small garden.

New Coach Added To Staff

Ratledge Concerned Over Redskin Fall Schedule As Practice Starts

The Loudon Redskins reported for fall football practice last Friday. Coach Bert Ratledge issued football equipment to 48 prospects, none of which are incoming freshmen.

"The team looks to be in fair physical shape," noted Ratledge. "We have not really gotten involved in fall workouts as to place a lot of physical strain on them. Just routine early drills and conditioning exercises."

Coach Ratledge says he needs not be in too big a rush to peak his team, at least not at this point. Loudon has but eight games on tap and has been unsuccessful in finding any "interested" challengers.

Cleveland, who has announced indications of jumping up to Class AAA next fall, had an open date agreeable to Loudon's. The two schools discussed the possible meeting, Cleveland which dropped Loudon last year and McMinn Central this season, wanted Loudon to travel to Cleveland for the possible game. Loudon having attended the Blue Raider gridiron last, winning its lone road effort against the Cleveland eleven that year 24-14.

Coach Bert Ratledge, with five home games staged for Loudon, opposed the contract agreement, but unsuccessful to land another opponent or get TSSAA consideration of the Redskins scheduling problem that has been going on for the past three seasons, related to Cleveland officials he would discuss going to Cleveland.

He presently resides in Maryville and is seeking a residence in Loudon. He will work with the Loudon linemen and centers. Coach Blackburn will handle the down linemen and Larry Bridges will be working with the Loudon secondary. Coach Blackburn will be the high school biology teacher. Coach Clinton teaches social studies and Coach Bridges is the physical education teacher at Steele Elementary School.

WILL COACH LOUDON LINEBACKERS—Assistant Coach David Clinton will be in charge of rebuilding the Loudon linebacking corps, hit hard by graduation. David is a former Young High School standout and played at Maryville College, where he also served as a student coach.

Loudon Footballer Attends FCA Camp

Gene Gate of Loudon, who competes in football at Loudon High School attended a Fellowship of Christian Athletes conference last week at University of South at Seawane.

The five-day program of "inspiration and preparation" is one of 27 FCA National Conferences scheduled this summer involving 10,000 high school college and pro athletes and coaches and family members.

In addition to "Huddle" group discussions, the daily schedule consists of competition in a variety of sports, special events, workouts, coaches clinics, and evening assemblies where top sports figures share their Christian faith.

Wildlife Notice

The year-round program includes NCAA and NAIA coaches meetings, rallies, weekend conferences, bowl breakfasts, pro chapel services and Bible studies, national banquets, and athletes and coaches meeting in over 1,800 high school, colleges and college fellowships from coast to coast.

Wildlife Management Area big game quota hunt applications must be post-marked no later than midnight, August 11, in order to qualify for the computer drawing. If you plan on applying for one of the quota big game hunts on Catoca, Fall Creek Falls, Ocoee, Volunteer Army Ammunition Plant, etc., you must get your application in by this deadline. Applications are available from most license agents, or can be obtained by calling the Crossville TWRA Office toll free at 1-800-362-6704.

A couple of losses to these capable and talented foes and Loudon would be down to a 60 point finish in the Region II standings, and in the Region II-AA format sixty points is only a token effort toward a respectable finish, but no cigars.

Loudon is practicing once a day and is expected to follow the schedule through out fall preparation. The first Redskin game of now is scheduled for a home game with Knoxville Powell on Friday night, September 3.

TSSAA has set August 27th as the first date available for regular season grid play this fall. "We will probably attempt to get our season adjectives worked up along the way," stated Coach Ratledge. "Especially if we don't get any replies to our pleas for games."

Loudon lacking much backfield experience on offense and a large wipe-out of established players at the linebacker on defense due to graduation currently stares the Loudon Coach staff in the face.

Loudon quarterback of last year's "AA" State Championship team, Greg Deatridge, had less than a week of work in the spring, out with a badly sprained ankle. Back-up signal caller Carter Cartwright had his best showing of his career as Loudon regrouped for this fall's play.

Both are seniors, both are very talented field generals and both deserve to play. Thus to quickly get this reporter on to more important discussion, Coach Bert Ratledge acknowledged that both young men would figure into the Redskins offensive plans and both would be quarterbacks and both would be groomed as running backs to play with Mark Moore, Freddie Starritt, Steve Watkins and others.

The Redskins, while developing their team for fall are doing so with a couple of new coaches.

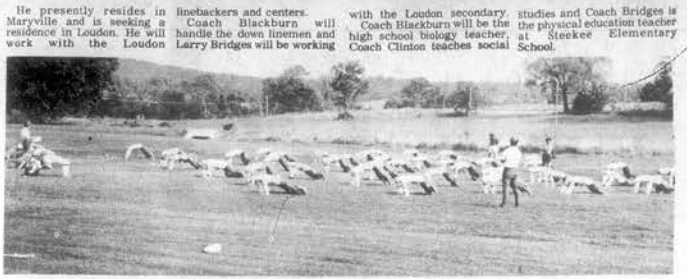

Henry Blackburn, former Lenoir City head master, is now the chief line coordinator, a position made available with the departure of Coach Jim Gibson to Scott County High School.

Another coach has been added, just recently to fill out the varsity staff.

He is David Clinton. Coach Clinton is 21, married, and a graduate of Maryville College. He played football at Young High School as a standout linebacker and offensive center. He ran some fullback in his senior year when the Yellow Jackets regular power back was injured. He played in the TSSAA All-Star game under Coach Ratledge along with Loudon's Gordie Walker of the 1969 State "AA" Champions.

He received his teaching certificate from the University of Tennessee. Coach Clinton assisted Maryville College coaches for three seasons.

BEND THOSE BACKS—Strenuous exercises designed to condition the muscles and prepare the Loudon Redskins for their demanding schedule of double-A opponents are on the current practice agenda which got under way this week in full detail.

REDSKINS EXERCISE FOR ALL FALL WORKOUTS—Loudon head football coach Bert Ratledge and his assistant coaches oversee the pre-practice exercises of the Loudon Redskins as fall drills started last Friday.

LET'S GET BUSY MEN—Loudon head football coach Bert Ratledge beacons the signal for the 48 Redskin football hopefuls for this fall to break into their respective groups for individual instructions by the Loudon football coaching staff on Monday afternoon.

Loudon Countians Flock To Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes As Doors Opened Saturday Night

The Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes opened their doors to the public around 8 p.m. this past Saturday. Mr. William Rhode said that all 16 lanes were in full operation with a waiting list of over 25 sitting in the lobby.

It was a tremendous welcome to us for so many people to turn out like they did," stated Mr. Rhode.

"We sure appreciate the patience that everyone has shown in us getting our operations going."

Fort Loudon Lanes has not only bowling for the family, but has recreation machines, a billiard table, and a snack bar and grill for just about all your food wants.

A nursery for league women bowlers only will soon be offered while they bowl. However Mr. Rhode wished to say that babies still in diapers could not be tended to. "We refer to toddlers and up," declared Mr. Rhode.

Fort Loudon Lanes and Mr. Rhode spearheaded the plans to best make the bowling lanes available to the public will start "learn to bowl" classes free as of Saturday, August 14th. The classes will run on the hour every hour until noon and will be a regular weekly program for several consecutive weeks.

"Once we get the bulk of the people in the groove for bowling then we will have only to worry of the such scheduled clinics to learn the essentials of bowling and keeping score.

Mr. Rhode said that on Thursday, August 12th that a most important meeting for men bowlers or non-bowlers seeking to learn will be held at 7:30 at the Lenoir City Utilities Board Room.

This meeting will be open to all men, 18 and over, and will concern the establishing of a Loudon County Bowlers Association. "I will attempt to find out if the Loudon Countians want a bowling association of their own or will join into the Knoxville Bowlers Association. This is a very important gathering and should be attended by as many men as possible," spoke Mr. Rhode.

There are over 300,000 members in the American Bowling Congress and if Loudon County is to become a member then officials must be elected and a charter drawn up, all of which Mr. Rhode will work in assistance to see that Loudon Countians have a sound organization.

The women will then have their meeting the following night (Friday) at 7:30 at the L.C. Utility Building.

A film will be shown to both groups.

City Golf Leaders To Finish With Easy Week

The Loudon City Golf League swings into its final week of the regular season play, but the individual championships may well be decided.

Up until last week both City Golf divisions were headed for a dog fight finish. Now the Handicap Division, which pits leader Ted Lomax and challenger Jim Huff against each other for the title may be meaningless.

Huff had led the Handicap Division for the longest period of time during the summer, but dropped to second place as Ted Lomax over took him two weeks ago.

Lomax, who had remained in contention of the division leadership through most of the summer, finally slipped into a four point working margin and now currently has a 10 point difference with 167 points.

Huff has 177 points.

Earl Millsaps, Harold Grimes, Jim Hamill, and Ed Svenson are all capable of a third place handicap finish with only six points separating the four.

Division title. Kirkland fired a 36 for low medalist score and now has 214 points. Cobb lost eight points to Kirkland last week and trails by 18 points with 199 to date.

Larry Millsaps with 196 points and Lynn Millsaps with 192 points are much in the picture for runner-up status.

FORT LOUDON BOWLING LANES IS SIGN OF ACTIVITY—The Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes, located just outside of Lenoir City on new Highway 95 was a scene of buzzing activity over the weekend as the doors and lanes opened to the public for the first time. Pictured are various "happenings" that was part of the family participation showed by the people of Loudon County. While several people make use of the beautiful 16 lanes for bowling, others checked out shoes for future bowling during their stay while still others made use of the recreation machines and pool table, while still others just enjoyed watching from the snack bar area.

LARGE MOUTH CATCH—Loudon's Dwight Orr has registered another standout catch. Orr, while fishing on Watts Bar Lake last Wednesday landed a 5 lb. 10 oz. large mouth bass, measuring 21 and three-quarters of an inch long. The fish was caught on spinner bait.

Lenoir City Footballers Gone To Camp; Defense To Be Stressed

Lenoir City's Panther football team is currently "sweating" out the kinds of fall with a week of football camp in Ashville, where they will scrimmage teams daily and concentrate on football the entire week.

BEING GROOMED AS PANTHER WORKHORSE—Lenoir City's senior running back Wall Thaxton will be counted on heavily to make the Panther's new offensive operations designed to give the added punch for more points on the score board the "real thing."

The Panthers, who will fashion a new offensive wrinkle come the real thing this fall, Coach Conner has labored diligently during the last few weeks of the Spring in getting the Panthers instructed in the "Notre Dame Box."

We are told this offense centers on a hard running offensive back, a slashing line of blockers and a stout blocking back on the order of a fundamentally sound line man that can "open the door" in spring the ball carrier free.

The running back looms as Walt Thaxton, a hard driving ball carrier with hustle and experience. His chief blocker from the "new offensive line-up" will be 190 pound Herbert Sartin.

Coach Conner also has a new assistant, Rick Dudley, Coach Dudley worked with Coach Conner when he was a coach in the Georgia school system.

The Panthers spent their entire spring on offense and a finish before fall the Panther out distanced Oneida 21-18. The Indians, Class-A, are going to support one of the top lines in size of any team in the area. Coach Conner was not overly impressed with his first taste of "Panther success", but neither was he discouraged. Fumbles and

SCOTT CONNER—Lenoir City's new head football coach Scott Conner has taken the Panthers to football camp for a week in getting an extra jump on the fast approaching high school prep grid season.

Greenback Schedules Morning Workouts

Greenback opened its fall football camp early Monday morning with football gear being issued.

Coach Keith Bailey plans to practice once a day starting at nine o'clock each morning for the first week. Light gear, helmets, shoes, and shorts are being worn to get in practice condition. Contact work is scheduled to have begun on Wednesday and go through Friday.

Two-a-day drills are planned for Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week if the players can all meet. "Heat will also be a factor," reported Coach Bailey. "We are getting some fine 'start' weather with sunny but cool days. I'm afraid it will not last."

NEW CHEROKEE INSTRUCTOR—Greenback assistant, Eddie McCollum, sends the Cherokee offensive backs through an agility drill in opening football workouts at Greenback on Monday. Eddie was an assistant at Knoxville Gibbs for the past three seasons. He once starred as a Quarterback at Greenback.

KEN PHILLIPS

Greenback is seeking to participate in a full scrimmage by the latter part of next week.

The Cherokees, with around 30 players working in drills, will face Townsend in a "Chilhowee Foothills Conference Football Jamboree on Friday, August 20th. The Greenback team will follow with an August 27th engagement with Tennessee School for the Deaf on Cooper's Field.

Coach Bailey expressed concern over the Townsend jamboree clash and regular season meeting. "Rumor has it that the Tigers don't have enough interest to field a football team this fall," declared Coach Bailey. "It is true we will be needing a game and it is just too late to start looking now for possible opponents. We hope they can work something out as nothing definite has been released."

Greenback will have a new face on the side lines this fall in assistant coach Eddie McCollum. Eddie, 27, is a former Greenback High School standout quarterback. He played as a senior, when Coach Bailey first came to the Cherokees. He attended the University of Tennessee and has been a football assistant at Knoxville Gibbs High School for the past three years. He is married to the former Nancy Evans of Greenback, a standout hoop star. They have two children, ages one and three.

Coach McCollum will be working with the offensive backs. He joins assistant Ronnie Hudson in directing the Greenback footballers under Coach Bailey. Assistant Jerry Masings, who is also the head girls basketball coach, is not expected to help with Greenback football at this time since girls basketball practice can start earlier than boys workouts. Coach Masings doubled for the past several seasons from football to basketball, scheduling girls basketball practice after football workouts.

mistakes bogged the performance. However when everything clicked as expected the Panthers gained real estate remarkably well. Actually they were never checked by the Oneida defense, only by their own

Thousands Of Deer Killed Through Illegal Hunts

Each year Tennesseans lose thousands of deer through illegal kills. These deer are not harvested by Tennessee hunters but by thieves—wildlife poachers who steal from every Tennessean who enjoys our state's growing deer population. And this is the strange part about all this is that most Tennesseans don't even know it's happening.

That's because the great majority of this activity occurs at night—a time when poaching is most easily done and least detectable. These poachers ride slowly along roads shining bright lights into open fields where deer are often grazing during the late evening hours. When a deer is spotted, the car stops and while the light keeps the deer's attention a hurried shot adds another deer to the vandal's list.

To minimize events like the one just described, the Tennessee Legislature passed a law a few years ago which prohibited persons from shining for deer if the individual had a weapon in his presence. This allowed room for those people who just like to look at deer at night to continue to do so. But there's always loopholes in laws and ways to abuse them.

something had to be done!" So the Tennessee Legislature passed a law to curtail this abuse of the landowner and the wildlife. It is now unlawful for any person to use any artificial light from a motor vehicle to locate deer, regardless of whether or not that person has in his possession a hunting device (rifle, shotgun, bow and arrow, etc.).

There are some counties in Tennessee which have great deer habitat but very low deer populations, mainly due to illegal hunting. With help from the local citizens these deer herds should be able to show remarkable increases over that of past years. The problem of harassment to landowners, livestock, and wildlife will enable the wildlife officers to become more effective in squelching these problems. So whether you're a hunter, photographer, or a person who just enjoys seeing deer, the end result is more respect, and a rougher time for the poacher.

In Great Britain, it was believed that the seventh son of a seventh son could stop bleeding.

Stafford Proposes State Take Full Education Control

State Representative Benny Stafford, told newsmen following the Loudon County Republican Executive Committee meeting Saturday, that he planned to introduce legislation to have the state take over the public responsibility of public secondary education in Tennessee.

Stafford said there was still considerable research to be made on the idea, but felt that the state was spending more than 25 percent more than the complete education costs of the kindergarten thru High School grades.

Under the proposed Stafford school board would act as advisors in the operation of the school system in the district and would have the authority to hire school personnel. He said this would take the load off school buildings and local funds for schools off the property tax payer.

On funding the program he mentioned a heavy beer and liquor tax, but said this was not advanced enough to speculate at this time.

Plater, UT assistant dean Donald Cohen; and Hiram Till, a law student at UT.

They appealed the case after District Judge Robert L. Taylor of Knoxville, in an April 29 and 30 hearing, said the dam was too far along and too much money had been spent to stop construction. Judge Taylor agreed the snail starter would probably be exterminated if the Tellico Dam is completed.

The Tellico project, begun March 7, 1967, is now about 80 per cent complete and TVA has said it will start filling the reservoir with water in January 1977, provided the injunction is not upheld.

$1.4 Billion In Farm Goods Sold In 1975

Farmers in the Tennessee Valley region sold nearly $1.4 billion worth of farm products last year, about $68 million greater than the year before and the second highest total on record, according to Dr. Gerald G. Williams, TVA director of agricultural development.

"The economic effect of these sales was multiplied several times," Williams said. "Farmers bought an estimated $1 billion of supplies at local stores throughout the region, and as farm products moved off the farm toward the consumer, an estimated $5 billion of total economic activity was generated. This is roughly 25 percent of the total economic activity in the Valley."

Williams said this kind of activity creates many jobs for Valley residents. Of the estimated 1 1/2 million workers in the region, about one-third are employed in agriculture and agriculturally related businesses.

He said cash receipts from crops in 1975 were down nearly 4 percent compared to 1974, but sales of livestock and livestock products increased by more than 10 percent, totaling more than $800 million.

"Prices received by the farmer for all products sold during 1975 decreased by 1.6 percent," Williams said. "Crop prices showed the biggest decline, more than 9 percent, and this partially contributed to decreased sales during the year. At the same time, prices paid by the farmer for production items, interest, and wages increased by about 10 percent.

"This cost-price squeeze has put a great deal of pressure on the farmer's managerial ability, if he is to realize a profit," Williams said.

Wrights Get Contract

Wright Brothers Construction Company of Loudon was awarded a State Highway Department contract to repair a fill slide on Sugarlimb Road, a half mile southeast of 1-75. The contract was awarded on a bid of $198,274.

One lane of the road is currently closed due to the collapse of the 40 foot fill. Repair of the slide will require that the road be closed during construction. The contract allows for 175 days to complete the work.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Possibly Loudon was hardest hit by the depression years than at any other time. Of course, the building industry and the buying power was at a bottom peak. Prior to the time, Loudon had enjoyed a booming growth, with several manufacturing plants in operation, but, our town, like all others, fell the loss of jobs and plants, due either to the depression or the buying trends of those years.

One of the old plants in Loudon was the John J. Lutz Mig. Co. The Company made mantels of various types and price. The plant was located where Greers Warehouse and sales room is located today. This company's facilities covered a large area in this section of town. Their mantels were made of several grades of oak lumber and some of the more elaborate mantels would definitely be top-notch collector's items on today's market. As our picture shows, the plant was a large and modern operation. I guess the thing we remember most about this plant was the old chain drive truck that made a trip to the Post Office and Depot every morning. Maybe others recall this.

Our other picture this week is another picture of Cody Byrum. Last week we had a picture of Cody in full battle dress. This week the picture is of him in his World War I dress uniform. I guess we can never forget past summers we have lived in Loudon and how hot it was those years. We have been hearing a lot of people talking about how hot it has been this year, and we agree. It has been a scorcher, but I guess we wonder how in the world we ever got through those hot summers when we were growing up. No air conditioners, no fans, (that is electric), no ice water, etc., but somehow we made the hot summers just like we did the cold winters. Maybe our old hides just got toughened to it. And we will be the first to say, we like it better like it is today. Maybe my tough hide has got tender. Along with a lot of others who would search in nothing flat if the air conditioner quit.

HOSPITALIZED AFTER BEATING—Johnny Seymore of Lenoir City is shown being treated before being taken to Loudon County Hospital following a beating he took outside the Coaches Corner at the Loudon-Knox County line at Dixie Lee Junction. Seymore was admitted and a friend, Ed Hoken was treated and released. Local officers say the pair was in a fight with Jim and David Bridges outside the tavern. No one has been charged in the incident.

WE always have to mention the 20's when the river almost went dry and Loudon almost burned to the ground. It was a bad time, not only for Loudon, but the surrounding area was parched from lack of rain. I would guess it was the driest summer on record for our area. Of course, I said I was guessing, I am not sure. As far as rain is concerned, I suppose we have had enough to make things grow pretty good. We have seen some dandy tomatoes and other things this year. The number of gardens, both large and small have possibly set some what of a record. Reminds me of the Victory Gardens during World War II.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

STORM DAMAGE—A summer thunderstorm Thursday afternoon took the tops out of three large trees at the residence of Hugh Scott on Bell Road near Loudon. The fallen trees knocked out power in the area and blocked the road near the Scott residence. Luckily the giant limbs of the falling trees missed the house.

Giles Back From Convention

IGA Retailer Harold Giles recently returned from the Independent Grocer's Alliance 50th Anniversary Convention in Chicago and he said he has never seen so many IGA people under one roof before. He said the convention in McCormick Place on the Windy City's lakefront attracted some 5,000 people from all over the nation.

IGA convention is unique in the supermarket field because it brings together food retailers operating under the same banner, but each fiercely independent in his own marketing area. "It just so happened that our convention had that kind of theme this year," Mr. Giles said. "Our theme was 'Spirit of Independents.'"

"I was really impressed by the size and dedication of our organization when I saw all those people assemble during our morning business sessions and for the big banquet in one mammoth hall at McCormick Place," Mr. Giles said. "The business session featured several outstanding speakers, headed by former astronaut James A. Lovell. 'But the sessions were not merely convention programs and speeches,' he declared. 'They were lived up by

Ingram Attends Juvenile Judge Meeting

To engage in educational training and research activities, ten juvenile court judges representing Tennessee at the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges Meeting (NCJJ) July 11-16 in Providence, Rhode Island. Over 250 juvenile court judges and court workers from across the country convened at the annual meeting to encourage and afford the opportunity for NCJJ members to keep abreast of developments and approved principles relating to juvenile courts.

These judges in attendance from Tennessee were Judge John Ray, Coffee County; Judge Thomas Ingram, Loudon County; Judge Verda Cope, Scott County; Judge Carol Catalano, Montgomery County; Judge Shirley Underwood, Johnson City; Judge Clinton Webb, Jefferson County; Judge J.P. Kennedy, Monroe County; Judge Kenneth Turner, Memphis-Shelby County; Judge Richard Douglass, Knox County; and Judge Taylor Rayburn, Maury County.

Also attending were Judge Elizabeth McCain, executive secretary of the Tennessee Council of Juvenile Court Judges, and Jere Ledinger, executive director of the Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth.

During the meeting Council members combined their resources to help in seeking solutions to problems peculiar to their positions as judicial and administrative officials. The judges explored such timely topics as child abuse prevention and treatment, status offenders and uses of judicial power.

JUDGE THOMAS INGRAM is pictured with juvenile court judges who represented Tennessee at the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges Annual Meeting in Providence, Rhode Island recently. Bobby Thomas In Evacuation Group

Navy Chief Aviation Electrician's Mate Bobby Thomas, son of Mrs. Lillie M. Thomas of Lenoir City, recently participated in the evacuation of civilians from Beirut, Lebanon, while serving as a crewmember aboard the aircraft carrier USS America.

His ship provided direct support during the evacuation of more than 270 civilian refugees from the beleaguered Lebanese capital. The civilians (men, women and children from 25 nations, including the United States, Canada and Britain) were ferried to the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove by landing craft and transported to Athens.

As part of a task force under the direction of Vice Admiral Frederick C. Turner, commander of the U.S. Sixth Fleet, Thomas' ship was on station in the eastern Mediterranean for assistance. His ship, homeported in Norfolk, Va., is currently deployed as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. A 1967 graduate of Marion County High School, Jasper, he joined the Navy in July 1967.

Industrial Park Holdup... City Ok's Suit For Land Survey

The City of Loudon is going to court to get permission to survey property it will have to cross with roads, railroad spur and utility lines, to serve the $1.6 million Blair Bend Industrial Park.

Following a meeting last Thursday night with property owners Jim Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Webb, the Webb refused to give the city permission to engineers to survey and make other examinations of their property in order to plan right of way needs across the property. Blair agreed to the survey, but the Mayor called a meeting of the Council for Monday night to consider a resolution giving the City Attorney Arthur Fowler permission to take what legal steps are necessary to gain access to the Webb property for the survey.

In a unanimous vote Monday night the resolution was adopted. Mayor Lambert said that as soon as possible the city will file a petition in Chancery Court and hopes to get an immediate hearing before the Chancery and get a court order to allow the survey work to begin.

However the rail spur and sewer lines were tentatively shown to cross both the Webb and Blair property in the river bottom near the TVA flood easement.

At the meeting Monday night Mrs. Webb was represented by attorney Ivo Sanders who asked for copies of the resolution and any preliminary maps the city might have.

When he asked about the plan the city has Mayor Lambert said there can be no definite plans until after the survey is made and the engineers can furnish a map of the best route for services into the park.

The City has received a $687,000 Appalachian Regional Commission Grant, and a $112,000 Economic Development Agency grant for the project. The city of Loudon will furnish $40,000 for the project and the county will furnish $200,000. These local funds have been secured through Farmers Home Administration loans.

Auto parts and accessories valued at $700 were stolen from a car parked in a barn on the property of David Long, Himes Valley Road, about 75 yards from the owner's home. Long found the items missing from the Oldsmobile car as he was going to work last Friday. Deputy Larry Frogs listed the missing items as four radial tires, four factory mag wheels, a Holly carburetor, tools and other miscellaneous items.

In Loudon County Vote...
Sasser, Stafford, Rowland, Ledford Win

The majority of the only 3657 Loudon Countians who voted last Thursday cast their ballots for winners in district and state races. Getting majority votes in the major contested races on the local ballot were Jim Sasser for United States Senate, Benny Stafford for State Representative, Carl Koella for State Senator, John Duncan and Mike Rowland for United States Congress, Penobdy Ledford for State Representative, and "for" the Constitutional Convention. All the above mentioned were winners in contested races.

Locally the main interest, and biggest surprise of the election was the passage of the private act which will create a Department of Transportation under the leadership of one countywide elected Commissioner of Transportation. The Commissioner will operate a countywide highway department doing away with the present three separate highway departments in the county in 1978 as provided in the new transportation act.

Looking first at items on the United States Senate, Benny Stafford for State Representative, Carl Koella for State Senator, John Duncan and Mike Rowland for United States Congress, Penobdy Ledford for State Representative, and "for" the Constitutional Convention. Countywide Commissioner Elected In 1978 Voters Approve County Road Bill

Hospital Receives Three Proposals On Radiology

Three proposals to provide radiology services (X-ray readings) for the Loudon County Memorial Hospital were received last week by the Radiology Committee of the hospital board.

The radiology service contract at the hospital has been a matter of considerable controversy for some months. Earlier this year the hospital awarded an exclusive contract to Dr. Harold Freedman, who has provided the service for some 10 years, but the contract was challenged by Dr. Elsie Thomkinson, a board certified radiologist who also has a general practice in Loudon. The controversy led to the resignation of Freedman from the hospital board earlier this summer.

The three proposals now being studied by the radiology board are from Dr. Freedman, Dr. Thomkinson and Dr. Julian Ahler of Hartman. Members of the radiology committee are Board Chairman I.D. Conner, Hospital Chief of Staff Dr. Walter Shea and Roy Bledsoe.

Dr. Thomkinson proposed to provide six days a week radiology service for 25 percent of the collectable gross of the department. Dr. Freedman said he would provide five day a week service at 25 percent of the department gross.

Dr. Ahler offered four day a week service at 30 percent of the department gross.

Thomkinson's proposal said that reports on readings would be available to physicians the following day, but requested the hospital provide clerical-typing service for the reports. Dr. Freedman apparently prepares the reports on the readings with his own staff.

Dr. Shea and Hospital Administrator Gay Hamilton were asked to make reference checks and qualifications of the three applicants and report back to the committee, who would then interview the applicants and make a recommendation which would then go to the full hospital board for further action.

The surprise of the elections last Thursday was the passage of the County Road Bill which will create a Department of Transportation in 1978 which will be operated by one elected Commissioner of Transportation.

By a vote of 1155 to 740, with just more than 50 percent of the 3657 voters voting on the question, the matter was approved. It was the third time in 10 years local voters had had the opportunity to approve legislation that would do away with the three separate road departments in Loudon County and create a countywide highway department.

The new law, which will go into effect on Sept. 1 of 1978 when the terms of the present three road commissioners expires, is the strongest and gives the Commissioner more authority than any of the two that were turned down in the past.

County Judge Bill Russell, who was the principal author of the bill, said after the election he knew many people were growing more and more less satisfied with the present road maintenance system, but due to the seemingly lack of interest in the election overall and the absence of the road bill proposal, was surprised it was approved. He said he was glad to see the measure passed. He gave credit to the county court who worked with a court committee to modify his original proposal and to representatives Benny Stafford, Anna Belle O'Brien and Senator Carl Koella for getting the legislation approved in the state legislature.

Supporters of measures to change the local road department, which since 1952 has been operated as three separate road departments, have said that having one road department, under one man would mean less money spent on equipment and more on actual road construction and maintenance. The new measure calls for a five year road plan, regular public meetings where the commissioner, who is elected countywide for a four year term, needs with the citizens to hear complaints, requests and discuss road matters.

The first six sections of the act and the caption of the act are as follows:

AN ACT to provide a system of Public Transportation for Loudon County, to provide for the creation of a Department of Transportation; to establish the Office of Commissioner of Transportation; and to provide for the election of the County Commissioner of Transportation; and to provide for the powers, duties, and compensation for such Commissioner, and a general plan for the construction, repair, and maintenance of the roads, highways, and bridges in said County by providing that the said

Department of Transportation will be operated under and in accordance with the provisions of the Tennessee County Uniform Road Law (Public Acts of 1974 (Adj. Sess. Chapter 738, Sections 1-10); and to repeal Chapter 194 of the Private Acts of 1957, (3rd Extraordinary Session), Chapters 3, 4, and 273 of the Private Acts of 1953, Chapter 224 of the Private Acts of 1955, Chapter 367 of the Private Acts of 1968, Chapter 318 of the Private Acts of 1974, and all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act.

SECTION 1. BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF TENNESSEE: For the purpose of providing an efficient system of roads, highways, and bridges and the building, reconstruction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of roads, highways, and bridges in Loudon County, Tennessee, and to provide for the development of other public means of transportation, the Department of Transportation for said County is hereby created.

SECTION 2. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED: There is established the office of Commissioner of Transportation. The said Commissioner of Transportation will be elected for a term of four years, the first election for said office to be by the qualified voters residing in Loudon County, in the general election to be held on the first Thursday in August, 1978, as now provided by law, and every four years thereafter. The said Commissioner shall be a bona fide resident of Loudon County, and shall have said that having one road department, under one man would mean less money spent on equipment and more on actual road construction and maintenance. The new measure calls for a five year road plan, regular public meetings where the commissioner, who is elected countywide for a four year term, needs with the citizens to hear complaints, requests and discuss road matters.

November General Election Match-Ups

For United States Senate
For United States Congress

Incumbent Republican Senator Bill Brock, unopposed in the primary received 1501 votes and faces the biggest test of his political career against Sasser in November, most political campaign veterans think.

Mike Rowland, a Knoxville State Legislator, defeated Democratic nomination for Second District Congressman and will face John Duncan in the November vote. Duncan received 1715 votes in Loudon County against 75 votes for Patty Rowland easily defeated his closest rival Oly Smith both in Loudon County (633 to 434) and throughout the district. The third candidate Margaret Francis received only a small number of votes.

Sept. precinct by precinct vote charts on the General Election, Republican Primary and Democratic Primary appear elsewhere in this issue.

Following his defeat by Stafford Samples issued the following statement: "I want to thank all those who worked so very hard in my behalf. It was certainly a combined effort of several people in Loudon County. I ran as a Republican and was defeated by a Republican and I am supporting Representative Stafford 100 percent. I would like to ask all my friends and supporters to support Stafford in the November General Election."

Knocked from Foundation—A house owned by Mrs. James Allen, Spring Street, Philadelphia, was knocked from its foundation Tuesday morning when a dump truck at the nearby demolition job at Philadelphia School rolled from the school into the house. A car owned by Mrs. Allen was also damaged when struck by the truck. No one was living in the house, which was being re-leased.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Loudon County Herald
Loudon, TN 37774

Dear Editor:

The recent action by County Court regarding the school board hiring a transportation supervisor is to be deplored. The Court has said in effect, "We the Court will wear the pants and act on policy making and board related business."

It is this writers opinion that any enlightened person who can perceive the problems, and challenges, associated with pupil transportation can readily see that the board can more than justify the hiring of a competent transportation supervisor. He will more than justify his salary. This was the general consensus of the school board before the Court used intimidation to change their minds.

The following are documented facts on the pupil transportation system in Loudon County as of 1974-1975 school year:

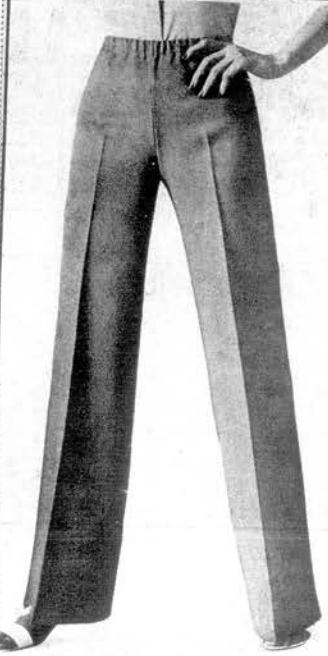

1. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1974 the cost of pupil transportation in Loudon County was 8.7 percent of the expenditures.
2. The system utilizes approximately 31 vehicles which travel 2,275 miles per day and transport 2,948 pupils per day to 12 school centers. For a daily average of 73.3 miles per day per vehicle.
3. Contractors receive $7 per seat and 27 cents per mile.
4. Ninety seven percent of the bus fleet have undesirable route lengths.
5. Twenty -one are overloaded.
6. Five drivers are over 65 years of age.
7. Two drivers had no chandlers licenses.
8. The board paid $75.52 per transported pupil. This is considerably more than the state average. Knox County only paid $42.82 per child. If there is evident that the interest of the contractors is being served and not the students and taxpayers.

One could elaborate indefinitely on why Loudon County School System ranks 98th out of 146 school systems in Tennessee but to merely point out the problems will not solve them unless we can identify the source of the problem. We need to begin by changing the procedure for selecting school board members, at present they are elected by County Court, two are elected at large and five by district for seven year terms. This will be changed soon if our children are to receive a quality education in Loudon County School.

The new method of selecting board members should be by popular vote at large for four year terms. This will ensure us of having a board which can act independently of County Court and for the most part eliminate political factions.

Every parent who is genuinely seeking a quality education for their children should begin insisting that this change be made. If the Court and the State Legislature fail to act then we have no recourse but to take our case to the public in the form of a voter referendum.

Sincerely,
Harold Dameron

Redskins Show Need For Practice As Waverly Has Better Scrimmage Effort

MORE YARDAGE AHEAD—Loudon junior fullback Mark Moore is escorted by a wall of Redskins blockers, Gene Cole and Steve Lyke, as he rambles for about a 30 yard gain in an early pre-fall scrimmage at TMI last Thursday against Waverly.

SANDWICHED BY TIGERS—Loudon quarterback Carter Cardwell is sandwiched between two Waverly Tigers as he attempts to find running space.

The Loudon Redskins may have played the card before the horse as they labored toward the start of another high school football campaign. The Redskins, with only three actual "working" days to their credit, journeyed to Tennessee Military Institute in Sweetwater last Thursday afternoon for live scrimmage with mid-state "AA" power Waverly.

Waverly, along with Morgan County and Erwin High School combined for a week long camp at the TMI campus.

Waverly, with an experienced group of lettermen returning for this fall had found little opposition in a scrimmage earlier in the week.

The Tigers with a high spirit of enthusiasm for the defending "AA" State Champion Redskins played well. In fact the Tigers, who are in a mid-state Class AA region with Hartsville and Goodlettsville, yielded little to the larger Loudon gridders.

The scrimmage, conducted on a lined off practice field of only 50 yards, saw Loudon's defense dig in for a valid first ball possession. In five downs the Waverly offense was practically checked in its tracks. Only a draw play up the middle moved the ball for any real noticeable yardage (five to six yards).

Loudon, getting an opportunity with the ball called on Freddie Starritt for two yards, fullback Mark Moore blasted for 15 yards and Greg Deatridge, alternating with Carter Cardwell at the controls, dashed into the line for a three yard effort.

Loudon tested the Waverly line once more before Deatridge faked a sneak into the line and quickly retreated to roll a 30 yard play to a fleeing Conway Duke. Had the play been called on a regulation field Dukes would have been end zone bound and, thus Loudon was awarded a score.

But the hot sun and early stage of fall drills were to soon show a set of downs in the Redskins ranks. Although Loudon never really permitted the Waverly team to escape much past the line of scrimmage on offense the Waverly team itself proved a determined defensive unit, handling the veteran Loudon linemen with unexpected and often times surprisingly easy efforts.

Loudon Coach Bert Ratledge, who admitted his men were maybe still a little ways from scrimmage preparation, expressed early efforts from the Loudon defense of Jim Brown, David Black, B.J. Moore, Junior Roien, Dennis Stewart, Sam Thearpe, Greg Deatridge, Freddie Starritt, Carter Cardwell, Mark Moore, and Sam Stewart was not too bad out of kilter.

"Waverly did some things that we were not prepared for at this stage, but I think we sealed off the big play routes they were trying to establish," spoke Coach Ratledge. "They ran the draw play well, but our linebackers are unskilled at this time and this is just a matter of them wanting to over react to getting to the football. This can be corrected easily enough."

Loudon was not in good mental shape for Waverly's efforts and this is not good, nor was Coach Ratledge pleased with the late breakdown of offensive blocking and ball maneuvering by the "Skins in the late stages of the headsolid tackles from the Loudon secondary. Loudon junior lineman Gary Brown (255) twisted an ankle late and had to be helped from the field.

The Redskins with a lot of hard work being stressed since last Thursday will travel to McMinn County this Thursday morning for a 10 a.m. three way scrimmage with the "AAA" Cherokees and Chattanooga Hixon.

Both teams parted satisfied apparently. Loudon realizing they had several loose ends to sew up before the season is official. Waverly believing that their defense might be suitable for a challenge for a post season play-off berth in their respective and highly competitive region.

Carter Cardwell and Freddie Starritt had some by a fired up middle Tennessee scrimmage foe Waverly 1-0 at TMI where the Tigers took part in a week long football camp.

DEATHRIDGE PEDALS FOR REAL ESTATE—Loudon's elusive senior quarterback Greg Deatridge turns an off tackle option into one of the top ground gainers of the afternoon last Thursday as Loudon edged REDSKIN SCRIMMAGE RECEIVES ACID TEST FROM COACH—Loudon head football coach Bert Ratledge is in a solemn and serious tone as he brings to the surface the many mistakes the Loudon football players made as individuals and as a team in their live scrimmage with Waverly last Thursday. Coach Ratledge, while keeping in mind the Redskins had been in pads only a few days, was still not over joyed by some of the erratic play that resulted in the workout. Coach Ratledge stressed the point that future practices and scrimmages and then the actual battle of a real game required the same amount of dedicated preparation and the slightest let down could mean defeat.

Ratledge Plans Loudon Booster Club

Loudon Head Football Coach and Athletic Director, Bert Ratledge, is currently attempting to establish a Loudon Booster Club.

"There is a great need for a well organized community group interested in the Loudon Athletic program and its future," declared Coach Ratledge.

"We need to establish a solid organization and maintain it throughout the school year," reasoned the knowledgeable grid master.

Thus a meeting of all interested athletic backers and Redskins fans are requested to meet at the Loudon High School this Friday night at 7 p.m. to meet the new football coaches to be associated with this fall's Loudon team and to supply organization ideas as to how the booster club might best be of the most benefit to the high school athletic program.

Loudon's Ken Phillips After Atomic Win Sunday

Charles Hughes, it now appears, is the latest driver running the cycle at Atomic Speedway.

At the beginning of the season, Buddy Rogers of Knoxville, who had never won at the speedway, picked off a couple of big victories. Then it was H. E. Vineyard, also of Knoxville, who dominated the scene. Now it is Hughes, from Dalton, Ga.

In the space of six weeks, Hughes has grabbed off four triumphs in the late model sportsman division.

Will Hughes continue his spree next Sunday night at the three-mile dirt facility? Will it be Ken Phillips or Tootie Bates or Doug Kenner or Steve Smith's turn?

Phillips, Estes, Kenner and Smith are all winless at the track this season. Each has run well most of the time, but never quite fast enough to take home the top prize.

A 40-lap feature for sportsman drivers heads the weekly program. Class B and bomber division drivers also will run features. Time trials for sportsman competitors begin at 7:30 and racing at 8:30. Tickets are $3.50 and $3.

Hughes notched one of the most top-sided victories in the history of the speedway last Sunday night in winning a special 100-lap affair. Hughes was just short of lapping runner-up Vineyard when the checkered flag dropped.

Joy Wilkerson, the woman driver from Hollywood, Calif. never was in the running. Her oil pressure in her Javelin dropped before getting to the quality. Unable to run in the 100-lapper, Joy borrowed a racer and ran ninth in the consolation race.

UNION CARBIDE GOLF CHAMPS—The Union Carbide summer golf league has ended with Jack Dilaney (left) and Charlie Helms (right) winning the overall team championship for the second time in three years. Helms also prevailed as the individual top point producer for the summer.

Loudon Frosh To Meet

The Loudon High School incoming freshmen that are interested in playing freshman football are asked to meet this Friday at 4 p.m. at the Loudon football dressing room for issuing of equipment and medical slips for physicals. Practice will get underway on Monday.

Greenback To Scrimmage Tellico Today

The Greenback Cherokees have 28 football players working out for the start of the 1976 grid season. Coach Keith Bailey's gang started their early fall jamboree on Tuesday at the practices from twice a day to lengthen single sessions. "Our team attitude and work has been very favorable thus far," announced Coach Bailey. "We have experienced some stiff muscles and a couple of minor injuries that has sidelined a couple of our players for a day, but other wise we seem to be progressing." The Cherokees are still uncertain of their August 20th jamboree opponent. Greenback is slated to face Townsboro in the 12 minute "game-type" affair at Maryville College field. The Tigers had just six players to show up for spring football drills and are said to have but no interested grid prospects for the fall.

If Townsboro is unable to field a team they will not only alter the jamboree schedule at this time but will pose a open date for Greenback in the regular season schedule, set for October 15th. It is supposed Harrison Calhoun Baptist or maybe Gallaherburg Pittman would accept an invitation to fill out the jamboree card," noted Coach Bailey.

A final announcement on the status of the Townsboro football season is understood to be known following a final Football Conference Jamboree coaches' meeting this Monday night. "We hope to be informed of the Townsboro official plans for fall at that time," confessed Coach Bailey. Coach Bailey has a full week's work in pads guided for this week with a live scrimmage with Tellico Plains at Tellico on tap at 4 p.m. Thursday (today). The Cherokees and Bears also scrimmaged in the spring. Coach Bailey stated he would decide after Thursday as to whether or not to attempt another scrimmage with anyone before putting in a game plan for the jamboree the following Friday night.

FORT LOUDON BOWLING LANES OWNERS—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rhode and their son Richie, owners of the newly opened Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes in Lenoir City, want to urge everyone who feels they may either become active bowlers or will some day want to learn to bowl to be in attendance at this week's respective men and women's bowling association meeting at the Lenoir City Utilities Buildings.

Bill Rhode of Fort Loudon Bowling Lanes said that meetings will be held Thursday and Friday which will decide whether or not Loudon County will form its own Bowling Association or become members of the Knox County Association.

He said persons interested in bowling even if they do not know how to bowl but plan to learn to bowl in league should attend the meetings. The men's league session will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Lenoir City Utility Building. The Women's league session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Lenoir City Utility Building.

It is important that everyone interested in league bowling—even though they may expect to learn and begin bowling later—attend, Rhode said.

If attendance is small, then the bowlers here will simply go into the Knoxville Bowling Association. If attendance is sufficient, the group will vote whether or not they want to form their own association or they may vote to join with Knoxville.

If the local association is formed, officers are to be elected, some of whom will serve for three years, Rhode pointed out. He emphasized that it is important that anyone interested attend in order to have a voice in the formation of the association and the election.

Former LC Star Athlete Is New Maryville AD

Billy Henry is going to be a busy man in Maryville College athletics.

The all-sport standout at Lenoir City and Carson-Newman College in the 1960s will assume the duties of MC athletic director, basketball coach and baseball coach. Henry will also serve as assistant professor in the Department of Health, Recreation and Physical Education.

He will replace Boydson Baird, who stepped down as AD, a post he had held for many years. This past spring, Henry began the MC job "sometime this fall" after completing duties at Baptist College.

"To me, it's a chance to come back and be with the home folks," Henry said. "Ever since I got into the coaching profession, I've always wanted to come back to East Tennessee."

Henry has worked on the physical education staff at Baptist College for three years. He made that move after leaving the University of Florida—and an assistant coaching job under his former high school and college mentor, Tommy Bartlett.

While Union University was dominating the Volunteer State Athletic Conference in the late 1960s, Henry was head basketball coach and athletic director. The 1964 basketball team won the VSCA crown and a spot in the NAAU tournament.

Henry spent 1962-63 as a graduate assistant under UT's Ray Mears. He is married to the former Martha Anne Porter, a native of Morristown. They have three girls and two boys.

PANTHER SHIFT—Lenoir City's offensive backs shift into their new offense they plan to spring on opponents this fall. The new offensive formation is labeled the Notre Dame Box and consists of a short punt formation with the ball being centered directly to the tail back.

Panthers Benefit From Football Camp

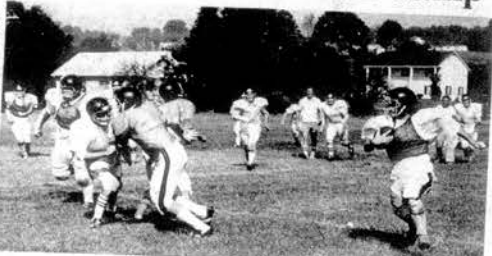

Lenoir City's Panther football team is back from a week of camp that featured only hard work and daily practice in getting better prepared for the fast approaching football season.

Coach Scott Conner took his team to Asheville, N.C. for a week of uninterrupted football.

"We accomplished quite a lot. I feel we may have grown up considerably during the week," stated Coach Conner.

"There was not as many teams there as had been expected or that usually attends. Only McMinn Central joined us during the week. But as it turned out they were enough," declared a believing Coach Conner. "Central is going to be a tough team in 'AA' play this fall, no one should sell them short or 'thin'. They have about 60 kids out and they have terrific size and balance. At least three of their seniors are pre-season major college material. Their line is big and as any you would want to open the holes and their backs are powerful and strong with capable speed."

The Panthers staged two scrimmages with the Chargers, who states Coach Conner are anxious to start regular season play. "Our first scrimmage wasn't much, but our last scrimmage told us a lot and we graded it as a plus for our team," committed Coach Conner.

MORNING SCRIMMAGE RUN—Lenoir City running back Jackie Ryan cuts to the side lines for some extra yardage as he has escaped the line of scrimmage in a morning practice session by the Panthers.

Lenoir City got first try with the football and smoothly engineered a touchdown drive. A stinging Panther defense checked the Chargers and then stole a pass interception.

The Chargers finally prevailed 21, but a jubilant Panther squad of 30 felt the battle was not on the score board but in the trenches where they were being worn down by the many Central reserves. "They really had us in depth, but I was very proud of our team effort on offense and defense. Our boys played extremely tough and was just as physical despite the size difference," related Coach Conner.

Lenoir City is going twice a day this week with morning and late afternoon workouts. The morning sessions are consisting of plenty of contact. Three players are currently plagued with bruises that have held them out of this week's early drills. They are Frank Underwood, Kenneth Flynn, and Steve Porter. All three will be first team regulars and are expected to be back in pads by late this week.

Lenoir City will break for team pictures this Thursday at 4 p.m. (today) and then will entertain Knoxville Web at 7:30 on Friday night in a live scrimmage. The Panthers will then evaluate their play on Monday and Tuesday before journeying to Sweetwater on Wednesday evening for a bout with Sweetwater.

Coach Conner said he would not select team captains this fall that he would self appoint new team leaders each week. The Panthers open their regular season activities on August 27th against Knoxville Holston a triple-A foe.

ABOUT READY FOR CONSTRUCTION—The demolition of the old portions of Philadelphia School is just about complete as this picture shows. Superintendent of Education Edward Headlee said the delay in selling the $3 million in bonds for the Philadelphia, Greenback and two middle school projects, may delay the completion of the architects work and the bidding, originally set for September.

The architects contract calls for partial payment before the bid letting. A payment of more than $10,000 is due and if not made could delay the project. When school starts part of the Philadelphia students will attend class in the remaining portion of the present building and the remainder will have class in the old Loudon High School.

GETTING READY FOR STUDENTS—An electronic engine diagnostic system is examined by Vocational School Director Coy Gibson in the automotive engine shop of the modern facility on Harrison Road. Construction on the facility is expected to be complete in about two weeks, just in time for the opening of school. An open house at the facility will be held in Mid November.

Wild Animals Not Advised For Pets

The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency is charged with preserving, conserving, managing, protecting and enhancing the wildlife of Tennessee. It is the policy of this agency to place the welfare of the wildlife and its environment first and foremost and therefore discourages the use of wild animals as pets. In order to keep a wild animal as a pet a permit must be issued by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency. Numerous requests are received by the Agency for these permits. Wild animals, especially young ones, rarely survive the rigors of captivity. Even if they survive, as they grow older their demeanor often changes to the extent that they may become a nuisance or potential danger for humans. Disease danger exists, veterinary care may be necessary, special food may be required, and safety and sanitary standards must be maintained.

Only the following types of wild animals are considered acceptable as pets: (1) specified native small game animals, (2) resident game birds, and (3) some migratory birds. The latter also require a Federal permit.

Big game animals, rare, threatened or endangered species, and venomous reptiles are not acceptable as pets.

H-O-W Helps
Save Wildlife

"No one can be in two places at the same time. This truism is especially applicable to the wildlife officer who is called upon to be in several hundred places at the same time.

To protect our wildlife resources, a program called "Help Our Wildlife" (HOW) has been developed. This program is designed to allow the thousands of eyes and ears of concerned sportsmen to become actively involved in wildlife protection.

HOW is a nationwide project that provides sportsmen with a violation report card that can be carried into the field and used in collecting information that can in turn be used by wildlife officers to prevent illegal abuse of our wildlife.

The cards will soon be distributed to all license agents by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency. You can help our wildlife and here's HOW!

If you are looking for a "different" pet, it is recommended that you obtain your pet from a reputable pet store, not from the wild.

SB To Discuss Bus Contracts

The Loudon County School Board will meet with the school bus owners Thursday night during their regular monthly session at 7:30 p.m. in Superintendent Edward Headlee's office in Loudon.

The board and bus owners will presumably discuss school bus contracts a matter which has seen much heated debate between the two groups most of the summer.

Nine new teacher interviews and transfer of three teachers are set for action. The new teacher applicants, schools and positions are Susan D. Groer, Loudon High, French; Richard H. Blackbora, Loudon High, math; David Clinton, Loudon High School, social studies; Pat Guim, Eatons, 6th grade; Karen Clear, Davis, 3rd grade; Irene Duckray, Highland Park, 2nd grade; Sharon Layne, Highland Park, 6th grade; Karen Warren, Highland Park, Kindergarten; and one position with applicant not named for Loudon Elementary, Title I.

Transfers to be acted on are Judy Witt, from Davis to Greenback 839 program; Nancy Vann from 839 Davis to Eaton 839; and Rosemary Kerr, 839 Eaton, one year leave.

Other items are approval of the school lunch program, reports on maintenance, utilities, budget and building program by Superintendent Headlee.

Cafeteria Broken Into

Seven one gallon cans of vegetables were found in a creek near Hines Valley School cafeteria and found Sunday by a Harriman man, Jack Brannon.

Deputy Junior Troopers checked the nearby Eatons School cafeteria and found that the door had been broken and the building entered. A check of the cafeteria stock showed the seven cans were taken from the school.

Thanks Voters

I appreciate the support given me by Loudon County voters during the recent state senate race. I am particularly gratified that voters in my home county of Blount supported me to the extent that I carried the county.

I want to especially thank those who supported my candidacy in Loudon County and to express my appreciation to all voters who participated in the election, regardless of which candidate they supported.

Also, I want to take this opportunity to publicly declare my full support for the nominee during the campaign ahead and during his term in office.

BACK IN THE

business, which was established in 1911 by the late W.H. Ghoramley. This old business operated for many years on Broadway. It was first housed in a small building on B Street. Mr. Ed Ghoramley had the honor of selling the first Ford in Loudon County. The firm built a new building on Broadway in 1933. It was, in its day, an ultra modern sales and service facility for Ford automobiles. The Ghoramley family operated the business until 1964, when it was sold to the late Gillis Purdy and Cotton Easter. The firm's span of operation saw the automobile grow from rugged model T Ford to the total acceptance of Ford to the total acceptance of with Loudon Countians. The building, now occupied by an insurance firm, will long be referred to as the Lenoir City Ghoramley Motor Co. The dealership now owned by another firm is located in the late Cotton Easter on new highway 95. Our other picture is one taken in downtown Lenoir

City. It was taken possibly around the turn of the century. The store was operated by Louis Kochat and opened in 1899. Standing in the front of the store are (left to right) Louis Kochat and James W. Hair and the others are unknown. With all the interest in bicycles today, cross country rides, bike hikes and what have you, we thought of a man who possibly held the record for distance bike ridings. His efforts were not to gain notoriety, but out of the need to get from one place to another and he didn't have any other way. So, he rode his bike. Would you believe to Miami, Fla. and back to Loudon, not once, but two or three times. We believe this is a record. Do you know of any one that can top this? The man was Joe Worley. Joe, who was a Loudon street vendor, selling anything from peanuts to hot tamales, did this for many years. I have heard that when he saved up a little money, he would be on his bike and on his way to Florida. We don't have any idea how long the trip took him, but as we remember Joe when we were growing up, he didn't get in a hurry about anything he did. He used to slowly ride his bike up and down Loudon's main street. We are not real sure about this, but we believe he used to operate a peanut roaster which had a little whistle on it, which he would blow. At that time he sat it in front of what is now the Economy Store in front of the bank. For many years Joe was a part of downtown Loudon. He always knew what to sell that was appealing to kids. I guess he is now deceased. I believe I remember his passing, but I am not sure. Anyway, many people remember him. Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Lenoir City

If we don't wash our wastewater he may have to drink it.

Every day, a million people living in a typical American city generate about half a million tons of wastewater.

Sewage systems in many cities cannot cope with these amounts. So wastewater is not cleaned thoroughly before it's discharged into rivers and lakes, and contributes to their pollution. The same rivers and lakes we rely upon for our drinking water.

Union Carbide has developed a wastewater treatment system called UNOX. It cleans the dirty water of towns and cities faster, cheaper, and uses less energy and space than any system devised before it.

The UNOX System uses high-purity oxygen instead of air. The oxygen is forced into a series of closed treatment tanks where it increases the efficiency of the microorganisms that feed on pollution and improve water quality.

Nearly 100 cities are now using or installing the Unox System. As the population of America grows, so does our need for clean water. And if we don't clean our dirty water, no one is going to do it for us.

Today, something we do will touch your life.

You Were On vacation. your Home Wasn't

While you were sunning on a beach, your refrigerator and freezer were using electricity to keep foods cold. (Remember, you were going to set up their thermostats before you left.) You probably kept a light burning for security. And if you forgot to turn off the electricity to your water heater before you left, it kept water hot for no purpose.

Another major factor is the date of the meter reading. Half of your vacation time may appear on one bill and the other half on another.

These are some of the reasons a power bill is often higher than expected when you return from a vacation.

Squires Adopt $8.8 Million Budget, Cut Juvenile Officer

Loudon County now has a budget to support the tax rates that were set almost two weeks ago by the County Court. The nine squires voted 5-3 on the recommendations of the Budget Committee in a 15 minute session Monday to adopt the $8 million county budget.

When the tax rates were set the court ordered the budget committee to cut $70,000 out of the proposed budget, which held the 1976 tax rate down by some 2 cents.

To cut the budget, the committee anticipated $69,767 in Federal Revenue Sharing money that has not yet been approved by the United States Congress.

Some $46,000 in salaries and benefits for ambulance service personnel were deleted (six months salaries) to be added when the RS is approved, then added to the Federal Revenue Sharing Fund dispatches salaries and fringes of $40,000, another $30,000 for three months of deputies salaries and fringes of $25,000. This left a deficit from the Federal Revenue Sharing fund of $32,517 and would give the fund a $43,869 balance at the end of June 1977.

Other deletions were $12,705 which ended the Juvenile Officer position, cut the Overlook Mental Health Center budget by $1,000; County Matching Retirement $3,000; deleted the County Court pay raise saving $3,150; Dispatchers salaries and fringes $40,000 transferred to Revenue Sharing; Dispatchers salaries and fringes $26,000 transferred to Federal Revenue Sharing. Added was $2,750 for Planning Commission dues which saved the planning program from being scrapped. Also $400 was added to the Central Accounting office budget to allow for the lease of a copying machine.

The planned deletion of $7,723, the county's share of a $17,000 purchase of a new ambulance was also included in the original deletions, but was put back in by amendment by Squire J.G. Hudson who made the motion on the budget adoption.

An amendment to place $2,500 for a three month trial program for a county process server and collector for court costs, ambulance service and hospital was approved.

The vote on the budget Monday was Squires Roy Bledsoe, Boyd Duckworth, Terry Vann, Curtis Williams, Hudson and T.P. Hamilton voting yes. No votes were from Jim Blair, I.D. Comer and Jim Hartsock.

Hudson at a meeting of the budget committee last week insisted that Greenback County Ambulance Service this year. He said that the County Ambulance Squad unit of the Loudon County RS provides the service free and ambulance. Squire Blair and Judge Bill Russell said that at an earlier meeting the budget committee promised the Squad the best ambulance service had since the ambulance was placed in service. Hudson said he would not be satisfied with nothing less than the new ambulance.

Monday morning Squire Blair said that the Greenback ambulance made only 140 calls in 1975 compared with 1984 by the County Service and he did not think a new ambulance was needed at the balance was needed at (Continued on page 10)

Council To Hire Appraiser

Loudon City Council Monday night authorized City Manager Gary Hensley to hire a professional appraiser for the rights-of-way across the property of the Jim and Charles Blair, and of Mrs. Cecil Webb leading to the Blair Bend Industrial Park. Manager Hensley said it will be some time before the appraisals are needed, after the engineering studies are complete and right-of-way needs established, but he wanted the authority to hire the appraiser when the time comes.

The Council also agreed to improve a short city street to Highland Avenue when a planned apartment building to be developed by Larry Hilton is under construction.

Two Arrested As Car Is Stripped

A car stolen in Loudon last Wednesday afternoon was recovered about midnight, with the night as it was being stripped in a wooded area in the Cave Creek section of Roane County. Two Loudon City men were arrested at the scene.

Sheriff Guy Russell said information was received Wednesday night that a car stolen from Willard Parks, Pine Top, Loudon, was being stripped in Roane County.

Officers set up a stake out. They said the car was found with the front windows, C.B. radio and radiator already missing. A chain from a tree limb was hooked to the engine of the car indicating the engine was to be pulled.

When two men in a pickup truck backed into the area about midnight, with the radiator in the truck they were arrested. The men, charged in Roane County with Concealing Stolen Property and in Loudon County with Larceny of an Auto, were identified as Kludus Skidmore and Harrison Jenkins, both of Loudon City. They were taken to Roane County Jail.

In the truck the two men were reported to have been driving, a loaded pistol and three bags of marijuana were found. The 1966 Mustang was impounded by Roane County officers for further investigation and was released to the owner Saturday.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW PLANT—Tony LeSelva president of Loudon Sportswear, Inc., turns the symbolic first shovel of dirt at the official groundbreaking of the firm's new 20,000 square foot plant on Carding Machine Road in the Loudon Industrial Park. Construction Underway On New Sportswear Plant, To Add Workers Construction is underway on the new Loudon Sportswear, Inc., plant in the Loudon Industrial Park on Carding Machine Road. Company president Tony LeSelva and a delegation of local officials met at the construction site Monday for a symbolic groundbreaking.

Loudon Sportswear was established in Loudon about three years ago by LeSelva, a former automobile sales building on Maxey Street in the West End of Loudon.

The new building will have 20,000 square feet under roof of a steel and concrete building. The plant is on an eight acre wooded site which was purchased from the Fort Loudoun Industrial Development Company, Inc., that developed the industrial park.

LeSelva said the building is to be completed in about 60 days and he hopes to move the operation and current 70 employees into the plant shortly in October. He said that when the plant is opened he plans to increase the employment by an additional 50 persons and then add others until the employment reaches 120 to 170. LeSelva said he will announce later in the summer when the company will begin accepting new applications. He asked that persons interested in employment not make applications until the firm is ready to handle them.

The wooded plant setting is of particular interest to the owner. He said he took pains in locating the plant on the site to preserve as many trees and the natural landscape of the area.

He said that the new $250,000 facility has been made possible by the cooperation of many people, and he appreciates the cooperative effort that is making the new plant possible. "The completion of the plant will allow Loudon Sportswear to become a more vital part of the community and add more employment and dollars to the economy of Loudon County," he said.

The Loudon County Board of Education adopted motions Thursday night asking for action that would lead toward securing property for the two new middle schools.

On the Loudon Middle School the board approved a motion by Ted Randolph that the Purchasing Committee obtain three independent appraisals of 30 acres of property owned by James J. Griffiss property on Highway 95 just west of the City of Loudon park beyond Loudon High School.

The appraisals are to set a price that the purchasing committee can offer for the property. If not accepted the next step would be condemnation of the property. The school board had considered a tract of property on the Thomas estate that joins both the high school and Griffiss property was considered but the board decided in favor of the Griffiss property.

Board Asks Appraisals Of Loudon Middle School Site

Supr. Headline told the board that he was going to instruct the principals of the schools to prohibit use of the facilities for other than school use during the year to conserve heat and power use because of the extreme light budget.

After considerable discussion the board asked that the use of schools be left as is with the principals in charge of making any decisions on the use of the facilities by outside groups.

Ten new teachers were hired and placed by the board. Another two were transferred and one was granted a one year leave.

New teachers are Susan C. Green, Loudon High, French; Richard Blackburn, Loudon High, math; David Clinton, Loudon High, Social Studies and Assistant Football Coach; Pat Quinn, Eaton, 6th grade; Karen Clear, Davis, 3rd grade; Irene Doekray, Highland Park, 2nd grade; Sharon Layne, Highland Park, 6th grade; Karen Warren, Highland Park, kindergarten; Rita Layman, Loudon Elementary, Title I; and Janice McLean, 8th, Davis and Browder.

Transferred since July Will from Davis to Greenback 839; Nancy Vann from Davis to Eaton 828; and Rosemary Kerr of Eaton was given a one year leave.

Chased Car Strikes House, Three Injured

A car driven by a Loudon teenager, allegedly running from the law, ran through an intersection, uprooted a tree, struck another, then plunged into the side of the Claude Bridges house on Corinth road, knocked down a retaining wall and fell onto a car and truck in the Bridges' driveway and became wedged between the vehicles. The three occupants of the car were

Med Building Proposed Again

The Institutional Planning Committee of the Loudon County Memorial Hospital has recommended to the Hospital Board of Directors that authorization be granted to develop a certificate-of-need proposal for the construction of a medical office building complex. The building would have space for future hospital expansion as well as offices for physicians.

The recommendation also asked authorization of funds for the development of drawings for the facility in order to take advantage of possible funding through a public works grant.

Members of the committee present at the meeting held last Wednesday were Jim Lincoln, Paul Titus, Jack Aikens, Harvey Goodman, Rose Keener, Buddy Jenkins, Ted Wampler, Gary Mabrey, Harvey Sproul, Walter Shes, Bart Liddins, Sue Patterson and Gay Hamilton.

Discussion on the program dealt with eligibility requirements of grant funds. One of the requirements stipulates that construction must begin 90 days from approval of the application. Mr. Hamilton pointed out that in order for construction to begin, much of the preliminary work must be completed. This includes the certificate-of-need approval and development of working drawings.

The committee also saw the new physician recruitment film produced for the hospital and received a report on the physician recruitment program for the past six months.

Discussion of the National Health Service Corps physician for the Greenback clinic centered around participation of the medical staff, community and the Loudon Health Council. The consensus was to further investigate the possibility of participating in local health council.

trapped for about 30 minutes and to be towed out by the Loudon County Rescue Squad. Chief Deputy Lake Bright said he was going home about 9:30 p.m. when a blue Mustang passed him and several other cars going South on U.S. 11 just outside of Loudon. He said he kept pace with the car driving about 55 miles per hour and tried to stop the vehicle at the intersection of the Philadelphia Connector and Highway 11.

Bright said the car turned onto Fork Creek Road but he managed to stop the vehicle after about two miles of additional chase. He said he recognized the driver, Eddie McDonald and when he asked him to get out of the car the young man started opening the door, shoved the door into him, knocking Bright down. The deputy alleges McDonald then sped off without running over him with the rear wheels of the car.

Bright again began chasing the car. When McDonald came to the end of Fork Creek road where it intersects with Corinth Road he failed to stop running into the Bridges' yard Bright said he knew the car wrecked but could not find it. He stopped his car in the Bridges driveway and the occupants of the car were wedged between Bridges' car and truck.

The two Bridges' vehicles were both heavily damaged, but were pulled away from the Mustang which was resting on its side. The Rescue Squad had to saw the car off the three occupants who were trapped inside.

Eddie McDonald, 18, sustained a minor leg injury and lacerations at the head. Susie McDonald, 15, sustained a broken leg and another passenger, Tony Yates, 16, had a shoulder injury.

Bright charged Eddie McDonald with assault with an automobile including charges of reckless driving and violation of the vehicle registration law was brought by the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

Besides heavily damaging the two vehicles in the driveway at the house, uprooting one tree, and knocking down a retaining wall, a basement window in the house was knocked out and a brick wall at the end of the house was damaged.

The accident attracted hundreds of persons and Corinth Road was completely blocked for about a half-mile by cars and curious persons attracted by the emergency vehicles called to the scene.

END OF CHASE—Three Loudon teenagers were injured Monday night when the teenager car crashed into the end of their house, which sits about 100 feet off the road. The car was being chased by County Chief Deputy Lake Bright. A car and truck owned by the Bridges' were also heavily damaged when the Mustang landed on top of them.

Show Ring Named For Riley Wampler

The memory of an outstanding Loudon County businessman, civic leader, church leader and avid horseman was honored by the Eaton Ruritan Club Saturday afternoon at the start of the Loudon County Horse Show, the first to be held at the new show ring.

"It was by the foresight of the late Riley M. Wampler and other members of the Eaton Ruritan Club that this park and horse show ring came into existence. Mr. Wampler worked to help the Eaton Ruritan Club purchase this land so that they might develop it into a recreation center which he did not live to see completed," show master of ceremonies Ross Wilkerson said during the brief dedication at the national and state colors were in the well designated ring.

The remainder of the Wilkerson remarks by Mr. Wampler's life goes on in our community. I would like to mention briefly a few of the things he has contributed to this community.

"Founder of Wampers Sausage Company, which is an asset to Eaton Cross Roads community.

"He was a longtime member of Pleasant Hill Church.

"He was one of Loudon County's most avid horsemen and was sometimes referred to as "Mr. Horse Show Man of Loudon County.

"He was a charter member of the Eaton Ruritan Club. He was also a booster of the Lenoir City Civitan Club and helping promote the annual horse shows.

"He spent much of his time during his last years in pursuit of his hobby which was pleasure horses and ponies.

"Uncle Riley as he was affectionately known in this community, taught many young people how to ride and handle horses.

"It is with humble gratitude and sincere appreciation that we the members of Eaton Ruritan Club dedicate this park and horse show ring to the loving memory of the late Mr. Wampler.

"The members of the Eaton Ruritan Club extend to each of you a most cordial welcome to this our first horse show held here."

DURING DEDICATION—With the colors in the ring at the beginning of the Loudon County Horse Show at the Eaton Ruritan Park Saturday evening Master of Ceremonies Ross Wilkerson read a dedication statement for the show ring and horse show ring named in honor of the late Riley Wampler, an avid horseman and one of the people who promoted the development of the park.

Loudon Basketball Assistant Takes Texas Tech Job

Loudon High School will have a new assistant boys' basketball coach this winter. Jimmy Hamilton, who served as the assistant varsity coach to head mentor High Watson last season, has resigned his position to join the basketball staff at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Coach Hamilton's chief duties will center around recruiting and part-time basketball coach.

The talented young basketball mind was instrumental in Loudon's season ending turn around that carried them to the Class AA State Tournament, a first in boys basketball at Loudon.

Hamilton became the second former Harriman basketball player to take a major college position this year. Recent grad Eddie Oran took a similar job at Ole Miss. Oran and Hamilton were in high school at Harriman during one year together, although they did not play on the same basketball team. Hamilton graduated in 1967 from Harriman.

COACH JIMMY HAMILTON

Hamilton was captain of the TWC basketball team in his senior year, and was an assistant to Richard Pickell at Harriman for two years after completing teacher certification work at University of Tennessee. He graduated at TWC in 1971.

Prior to coming to Loudon, Hamilton earned his Master's degree at Tennessee Tech. Hamilton, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Hamilton of Harriman, left Tuesday for his new assignment.

He informed the news media Monday that Rex Dockery, a former Harriman and University of Tennessee football coach, helped him get the job. Dockery is an assistant to Steve Sloan at Texas Tech and was a prep teammate at Bradley County High in Cleveland (Tenn.) with Sloan.

Hamilton said his primary duty at Texas Tech will be in recruiting, but he also expects to do some on-court coaching. He said the head coach, Gerald Myers, has also talked with him concerning possible coaching duties with the junior varsity.

No immediate plans to replace Coach Hamilton at Loudon have been made at this writing.

Loudon Football Scrimmage Labeled As Major Improvement By Coaches

The Loudon Redskins may have gotten the message in gearing for the start of the fall prep football season. The coaches (Coach Henry Blackburn, Larry Bridges, and David Clinton) have really had the boys busy in the last week making up valuable ground over the many mistakes we made at the Waverly scrimmage.

"I am not disappointed with today's team performance against this type of football teams," acknowledged Coach Hattiegate. "This is not to mean we will stop with our efforts, we made mistakes today too, mistakes that will beat you but our mistakes were just not as often and the linemen were by far in better shape for playing defense and blocking with more consistency on offense."

Junior defensive end Jim Brown turned the ball carrier a summer-salt in an attempted end reverse and Loudon's defense was suddenly making great strides of improvement over its early lack of practice aggressiveness.

Greg Deatridge introduced himself to the Hixon defense with a first play 40 yard scamper that had Loudon coaches smiling great about the fresh Hixon defense did not last as Loudon coughed up a fumble at the Wildcat 20.

The Hixon offense became a series of power sweeps, rotating left and right. The Wildcats stepped off two first downs despite consistent showing by the Loudon linebackers and savage tackles of Dennis Stewart.

The Loudon defense got a team tackle from Freddie Starrit and Carter Cardwell on a sweep right to limit the play to two yards.

Junior, Dennis Stewart, Sam Stewart, Sam Thorsp, B.J. Moore, and Jim Brown finally checked the Redskins of the morning. Just short of the 20 yard line.

The Redskins then punished the Hixon defense with Carter Cardwell threading the needle to senior receiver Conway that they over the middle for 30 yards. Greg Deatridge stepped out of would-be tackles for 40 yards as he got an opening from the right side of the offensive line to go all the way for a touchdown.

Steve Watkins, a sophomore, bulled for 12 yards and a first down. Freddie Starrit turned up field for 15 yards. Carter Cardwell combined with end Ben Fields for a 20 yard pass completion as Loudon continued its offensive march on a McMin defense following a sideline play.

The Redskins getting a sound job from linemen Gene Cate, Rick Lovin, Brian Curtis, Steve Lyles, and Fields appeared destined for another touchdown, when a pass from Deatridge to Dukes fell into enemy hands at the goal line.

McMin escaped their goal line with a nifty pass to the sidelines grinding out a pair of first downs before the Loudon defense refused to give any more yardage.

In answer to a common question at this juncture, Coach Hattiegate stated he would put no more pressures on this year's team than what he felt that the Redskins did have some talent and depth in the line where 12 lettermen returns with game experience. He also had good praise for quarterbacks Greg Deatridge and Carter Card-

CAPTURED WILDCAT—Loudon's defensive back Greg Deatridge gives a Chattanooga Hixon ball carrier a ride to the side lines as he prevents a possible scrimmage touchdown last Thursday morning.

CRACKING DEFENSE—Loudon's defensive efforts were very much improved over an earlier scrimmage effort as the Redskins allowed but a single touchdown in a three way scrimmage with McMin County and Chattanooga Hixon. Loudon tallied four touchdowns in the Thursday morning workout.

Loudon was to review their scrimmage mistakes this week, continue with their physical conditioning, and start to install a punting and kick-off phase of their fall preparations.

Stations at the Cherokee 25, the Redskins managed six yards in three plays, but untracked wirey junior Freddie Starrit for a pitch out right and a 12 yard jump to pay dirt.

Starrit was by far a more impressive ball carrier last Thursday than he had been during the Waverly Tigers.

Loudon linebacker Mark Moore stole the spotlight for Loudon's defense on McMin's next offensive series with two tackles forcing a punt.

Continuing the football with Moore and Starrit getting the call when a fumble put the yard sticks back, forcing a surfer of the ball in a punt situation.

B.J. Moore, who is a rookie sophomore linebacker, must play far ahead of his grade in making tackles.

Loudon back on offense at its own 20, traveled 40 yards on the legs of Carter Cardwell, who faked the pitch outside and turned inside off the back of Junior Foley to move into McMin territory.

Greg Deatridge replaced Cardwell on the next play and giving the Cherokee defense a chance to recover whipped a 30 yard goal line pass to Conway Dukes for a third Loudon score of the day.

McMin moved 90 yards in eight plays. Loudon reserves and young linemen experienced players for a score.

Over the 80 yards came on a half back loss in the end zone of 18 yards.

Junior quarterback Eddie Estes took charge of the Loudon offense. Hixon returned to the field.

Estes leaned heavily on fellow classmate Carter Cardwell for real estate as the junior runner picked up 64 yards in three carries and his final run on fourth down ended in a 20 yard touchdown dash.

Ben Fields, Bo Be Hawkins, and Rick McCrary led the Loudon defense in its final activities of the morning, turning back the Hixon offense.

Loudon Coach Bert Hattiegate was by far a more relaxed and pleased man following the one and hot scrimmage. Coach Hattiegate made special note of the improvement of the overall team and how much better the defensive linemen reacted to certain situations.

"We have made a great deal of improvement and I think it was very noticeable today," stated Coach Hattiegate. "The coaches (Coach Henry Blackburn, Larry Bridges, and David Clinton) have really had the boys busy in the last week making up valuable ground over the many mistakes we made at the Waverly scrimmage."

Deatridge and Carter Cardwell would put no more pressures on this year's team than what he felt that the Redskins did have some talent and depth in the line where 12 lettermen returns with game experience. He also had good praise for quarterbacks Greg Deatridge and Carter Card-

LOOSE PIGSKIN—Loudon's junior running back Freddie Starrit loses the handle on the football after a seven yard run through the McMin County defense. The Redskins managed to recover the ball but not far enough up the field for a first down.

HIGH GRAB—Loudon senior Conway Dukes goes high to haul in a Carter Cardwell pass for a 20 yard gain and a Loudon first down against Chattanooga Hixon last week scrimmage that included McMin County.

Loudon High School Athletic Booster Club Organized

At the request of head football Coach Bert Hattiegate a meeting was held last Friday night at the Loudon High School for the purpose of organizing a Booster Club to help support the athletic program at Loudon High School.

Coach Hattiegate discussed the numerous items needed to help promote the athletic program and that the Loudon High Athletic Association has to pay its own way as the County does not pay anything toward athletics at the school.

After a brief discussion the group decided to organize the Loudon High Athletic Booster Club and officers were elected.

The new officers are President C.P. Chabaz, Vice President Harrison Crabtree, Secretary, Tom Delaney, and Treasurer Don Carter.

The Board of Directors are Jim Fields, Ernie Black, Hutch Early, and Ted Stidler.

The Club set $5.00 as membership fee which will include reserved seating privileges at the home games and a special entrance gate for all members.

The Club will meet each Monday night at the high school at 7:30 P.M. and part of the program will be the Loudon Coaching staff showing game films of the previous week's game.

The purpose of the Club is to promote and assist all athletic programs at Loudon County High and to promote good will and good sportsmanship at all times.

The Club's first fund raising project will be to give away a beef on the hoof at the half-time of the Loudon Lenoir City game scheduled for Friday night September 17th. A one dollar donation will purchase a chance on the beef. Tickets will be on sale by booster members as soon as possible. Anyone interested in joining the club may contact any officer or board member and we urge all sports minded individuals to get behind the club and help Loudon High School have one of the finest Athletic Programs in the State.

This Club is not organized only to help the football program, but basketball, baseball, tennis and any other sport at the high school.

Fall Football Drills To Peak This Week

Loudon head football coach Bert Hattiegate hopes to end pre-fall drills this weekend for the first time with a 100 percent healthy squad. "We have had several of our key players and top reserves hampered by bruises and sprains thus far this fall," noted Coach Hattiegate.

Loudon's junior tackle Gary Brown, 6-3, 250 plus pounds has been on shell for over a week with an ankle sprain suffered in the Waverly scrimmage. He returned to active play on Tuesday of this week.

"We came out of the Thursday scrimmage at McMin County in pretty fair shape," continued Coach Hattiegate. "Only the normal aches and pains of such a thorough practice are to be expected, still no one was unable to take part in last Friday's workout."

Following this week's practices, Loudon will travel to Knoxville Central (Class AAA) for a full scale scrimmage on Wednesday evening (Aug. 25). Should bad weather prevail the scrimmage is understood to be in order for Thursday.

Loudon has still not worked out details for a ninth or 10th regular season game at this time. "We still have just eight games for sure," stated coach Hattiegate. "I have found a couple of teams in the area with corresponding open dates but no agreements have been reached for the present."

Meanwhile Lenoir City was to have scrimmaged at Sweetwater yesterday (Wednesday) before putting together the final plans for their August 27 opener with Knoxville Holston.

Greenback will be in full dress this Friday night when they take on Townsend's Football Pools at Townsend's College field.

Panther Scrimmage Receives Crowd Pleasing Results; Down Webb 20-0

Lenoir City's 1976 Panther football team staged its first complete scrimmage of the pre-fall workouts last Friday night on its home grass practice field at Knoxville.

Over 300 interested Panther fans attended the "game like" scrimmage, hoping to be an early judge of what to look forward to for fall under new coach Scott Connor.

The home town locals were not to be disappointed as Coach Connor's forces hustled, blocked, scored and ground out a three touchdown drive over the visiting Spartans.

Coach Connor's newly installed offensive line, more Darns Box propelled the Panthers to a whopping 18 first downs and 271 yards on the ground.

The fired up and inspired senior tailback Walt Thaxton was the key man of the drive with 15 yards on three carries and a 17 yard pass to Steve Porter capped the drive with a 21 yard conversion kick for a 7-0 score.

Webb answered back with 20 yards of offense and was awarded a first down, second down and third down on a 15 yard march that left the ball on the 30 yard line.

The Spartans exploded from their own territory only to have their offensive efforts blocked by Panther line backer Richard Vest.

Lenoir City then beat the first half scrimmage clock with a 12 play, scoring effort. Herbert Sartan logged out 27 yards in five carries and a 27 yard strike for the touchdown.

The second half may have proved an indicator as to how good a physical condition the Panthers are in. Steve Porter and Herbert Sartan combined for 12 yards and a first down only to have the quick start halted by a lost fumble.

A 30 yard Webb offensive drive ended in a humble recovery by the Panther's Keith Amos.

An illegal procedure walk off on the Panthers set the stage for Jackie Ryan's 61 yard scoring run.

Webb had only received the ball however and punted to the 40 yard line.

A questionable call of "batting" the ball ended up in a 12 yard Lenoir City penalty and a shanked punt kept the Spartans from being backed against the end zone double stripe.

Webb still managed to get no closer to the Panther goal than the L.C. 30.

Lenoir City concluded the scrimmage with the second team backfield of Bobby Morgan, Ken Jones, Barry Lies and Clay White driving yard line when the scrimmage ball inside the Webb 40 was stopped.

Loudon High School has filled a void in its teaching and coaching ranks with the recent hiring of math teacher Richard Blackburn.

Richard, 33 and single, will replace Mr. Keiron in the Loudon math department, who has returned to teach at Cleveland State Community College.

Mr. Blackburn will also serve as the Loudon Tennis Coach for Spring, replacing Gordie Watson, who left the teaching profession at the end of the past school term.

Mr. Blackburn is a 1962 graduate of Lenoir City High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society, French Club, Vice President of the Student Council and Senior Class President.

He graduated from Carson Newman, receiving a Bachelor in biology with a minor in mathematics.

He also attended UT-Knoxville on a National Science Foundation Grant. He received a Master of Science in education in 1972.

He has taught for five years in the Lenoir City School system. Mr. Blackburn was at Cleveland High School for a half year, before becoming the head of the Cleveland Day School Math Department for the past two years.

It was at Cleveland Day School Mr. Blackburn worked in the coaching ranks as the Tennis Coach, Cleveland Day School won five of 12 matches last spring despite having only one player with any prior tennis experience in boys and girls standings.

Mr. Blackburn is acquainted with the Loudon tennis prospects having played the Hedskin tennis this past year.

Mr. Blackburn looks forward to the job assignment at Loudon and the potential the tennis program offers.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blackburn of Lenoir City. He has a younger brother Edwin and sister Marietta.

RICHARD BLACKBURN

Jackie Ryan, who replaced Walt Thaxton in the second half following a chest brace to the Panther fans to their feet with an electrifying 61 yard run aided by the blocking of Frank Underwood, Chris Wampler and Keith Amos.

The stirring run ended in the end zone for a 20-0 score. Doyle Varner, darted for Lenoir City's other touchdown on a 21 yard jaunt and had 33 yards of running for the night.

An aggressive Lenoir City defense was led by the play of Jeff Gates and Steve Porter. Chris Wampler and Keith Amos anchored the right side at tackle and guard respectively. Roger Landrum and Frank Underwood balanced the defensive line on the left side.

Linebackers Herbert Sartan and Richard Vest were also busy individuals with hard hitting tackles and forcing Webb turnovers.

Both Sartan and Keith Amos stopped Webb offensive advances with clutch fumble recoveries, while Lenoir City's offense fumbled the ball away once.

Panther Coach Scott Connor was not ready to label his team as "prepared" for the fall campaign. "We made the same things happen and then we had some things to happen to us," noted the determining grid leader. "Our offense displayed some balance. Our defense was speedy but we seemed to have several players close to the ball when it counted and this is a start of what we want more of on every play. Our overall team blacking can improve and hopefully will by the time of our first game. We have some following the game to scrimmage and to build from before we can go to Sweetwater on Wednesday, still it was a very worth while effort by our entire squad."

The aggressive Lenoir City defense yielded just five yards to the Spartans in the evening's first contact series. Lenoir City paraded for three first downs before a missed pitch out lost 12 yards and Phil Reed boomed a 45-yard punt.

Herbert Sartan led a defensive rush that left Webb with a fourth down and 10 yard punting situation.

Lenoir City used eight plays to cover a 50 yard area in posting its first score of the night. Senior tailback Walt Thaxton was the key man of the attack with 15 yards on three carries and a 17 yard pass to Steve Porter capped the drive with a 21 yard conversion kick for a 7-0 score.

Webb answered back with 20 yards of offense and was awarded a first down, second down and third down on a 15 yard march that left the ball on the 30 yard line.

The Spartans exploded from their own territory only to have their offensive efforts blocked by Panther line backer Richard Vest.

Lenoir City then beat the first half scrimmage clock with a 12 play, scoring effort. Herbert Sartan logged out 27 yards in five carries and a 27 yard strike for the touchdown.

The second half may have proved an indicator as to how good a physical condition the Panthers are in. Steve Porter and Herbert Sartan combined for 12 yards and a first down only to have the quick start halted by a lost fumble.

A 30 yard Webb offensive drive ended in a humble recovery by the Panther's Keith Amos.

An illegal procedure walk off on the Panthers set the stage for Jackie Ryan's 61 yard scoring run.

Webb had only received the ball however and punted to the 40 yard line.

A questionable call of "batting" the ball ended up in a 12 yard Lenoir City penalty and a shanked punt kept the Spartans from being backed against the end zone double stripe.

Webb still managed to get no closer to the Panther goal than the L.C. 30.

Lenoir City concluded the scrimmage with the second team backfield of Bobby Morgan, Ken Jones, Barry

Coast Guard Reports On Mishaps

Reports to the Coast Guard indicate a substantial number of boating accidents in which the operator or a passenger fell overboard. Many of these falls occurred while on the water. Handrails or pedestal seats did not support the weight load placed on them. In many cases, the person drowned or was subsequently struck by the boat or propeller.

Pedestal seats are particularly popular on bass boats. They are also installed on center console boats. Handrails, or only to help a person maintain balance while walking on slippery or narrow deck spaces and may not be capable of supporting a person's entire weight.

The Coast Guard has found that some manufacturers use wood screws or self-tapping screws to secure pedestal seats and handrails to the deck. As a result, placing pressure on them may tear them from the deck.

Atomic To Slate Rich Dirt Track Race

The Southern 300 Wynn's X-Tend line model sportsman race will be run Sept. 5 at Atomic Speedway.

It will be the richest race ever run on dirt for sportsman cars in the South. The champion will earn $4000 of the $15,000 purse.

The field will be limited to 28 starters. The first 20 are to be decided in time trials at 7:30 p.m.—Sept. 4. A 25-lap qualifying race to determine the final eight starters will be run following time trials at the third-mile, high-banked oval.

More than 75 cars from the South, Midwest and East are expected to be on hand for qualifying. A bonus of $1000 to the leading qualifier.

Davis Oil of Knoxville is sponsoring the event. Firestone Rubber Co. is posting $500 contingency money to be split between the two top finishers running Firestone tires.

Besides qualifying for the 30, a championship race for Class B drivers will be on the Sept. 4 program.

This race promises to be the most competitive ever at the speedway," said Bob Martin, track promoter.

"When you bring together the type of drivers and equipment we expect, fans can look for a record performance."

Drivers will be shooting at the track record of 13.47 seconds in time trials. H.E. Vineyard of Knoxville set the standard of 78.00 miles per hour earlier this season.

Entry fee for drivers entering thereafter will be required to post a $40 fee.

Second place will be worth $2,000, third $1,450, fourth $1,100 and fifth $800.

The 300 will be split—150 laps being run and a 15-minute intermission coming before the final 150. Drivers will be permitted to make any type repairs during intermission.

The 300 will start at 8:30. A regular weekly show is scheduled at the speedway next Sunday night. A 40-lap heads the affair. Class B and bomber features are also on the schedule.

Tickets for weekly programs are $3.50 and $5.

Greenback, Tellico Battle To Two Touchdown Stand-Off

Greenback tested its fall football progress with a Thursday evening scrimmage at Tellico Plains. The Cherokee and Bears battled for close to an hour and 45 minutes with both teams crossing the others goal line twice.

Senior Cherokee quarterback Roddy Kizer scored Greenback's first touchdown on a one yard sneak. Running back Stanley Breazeale accounted for the other Greenback touchdown on a five yard scamper off tackle.

Tellico scored both of its touchdowns on passes of 70 yards and of 10 yards.

The two teams had clashed in the spring with Tellico rolling up a wide margin of yardage with its use of the veer offense, but fumbles stopped several penetrations. Greenback on the other hand was not very impressive on the offensive side of the ledger in the spring but did show a determined team effort on defense.

The Cherokees were much the improved last Thursday as Roddy Kizer, quarterbacking for his third straight season, handled the on running Tellico linemen to his advantage, dumping off short passes or carrying out executed handoffs to passing backs.

Greenback's ground attack was held in check early by the large line of the Bears, sparked by major college prospect Tim Coffey, a 6-3, 235 pound tackle. The Cherokees thus turned to the pass with excellent protection given Kizer, who threw short on his first attempt to an open receiver.

The Greenback defense was tough for two plays, only to be broken by a seven yard pass and a first down. Tellico's offense, however, as a pitch out was poorly executed.

Greenback lineman Tony Arnold knifed through the Tellico ranks to down the Bears' field general on a pass attempt that might have been ruled a fumble in a more strictly officiated game.

Greenback was very poised on its next offensive series. Kizer found senior Glenn Quillen on an eight yard pass for a clutch first down.

Stanley Breazeale rambled for three yards and Kizer returned to the airways for a 16 yard strike to tight end Lynn Rucker. Kizer slashed the right side for five more yards and Breazeale chucked up a four yard plunge.

Greenback left the football on the ground on first down the Tellico 12 yard line and the Bears quickly claimed the pigskin.

Tellico punched out an advancement to the Greenback 40 before a valid Cherokee defensive front wall stopped the Bears.

Greenback's offense was once more non-effective but Tellico's manager to have the ball but a play when Mike Raines recharged the Cherokees with a fumble recovery at the Bears 40.

Roddy Kizer had the Tellico defense realize he was making a seven yard scoring march.

Stanley Breazeale took a quick pitch for seven yards. Danny Dotson drove into the line for a five yard gain. Senior Mitch Smith got his first taste of currying the football and made the short a good one with eight yards.

The Tellico defense overpowered the Greenback blocking on a pass attempt for a loss of two yards, but Kizer came right back, hurling a 30 yard aerial to tight end Lynn Rucker and made the short at the Tellico one yard line.

Breazeale was stood up at the goal line, but Kizer inched over the double stripe on second down.

Tellico however answered immediately with a passing attack that saw Greenback defensive back Glenn Quillen zeroing in for an interception only to trip in some tall grass.

The pass was on the mark and the Bears Stanley Martin raced untouched 70 yards for a 1-1 tie.

Tellico seemed to gain some life from the touchdown and was a tough group of gridders on defense and offense. Greenback tried to re-establish its rank.

Tellico taking charge on the guilty running of 3-4, 179 pound senior Tim Watson, drove to Greenback eight yard line.

Cherokee corner back Chris Blair proved a touch man to move as the Bears sought to go wide.

Greenback Linemen Eric Belcher, Steve Linginfeller, Jeff Crisp, and Roger Hampton picked up the defensive slack and in three straight plays the Bears were held to a misadventure. A strong rush by the Bears on fourth down appeared to have the Bears trapped only for them to escape into the end zone with a short 10 yard pass maneuver.

Trailing 2-1 Greenback swapped defensive tussels before rallying on a pair of stellar offensive plays to draw inside the Tellico five yard line and eventually tie the scrimmage 2-2.

A three yard pass to Glenn Quillen got the Cherokees moving. Breazeale added six yards and Kizer sneaked for three yards.

Mitch Smith countered on a cross back for a nifty 30 yard run and Breazeale added two more yards on a draw play into the heart of the Tellico defense.

Three straight passing attempts were broken up by the Tellico defense. On fourth down Kizer hooked up with senior Lynn Rucker across the middle for a first down at the Tellico five. Stanley Breazeale blocked off Tony Arnold and Steve Linginfeller to go untouched into the end zone.

Tellico sought to fire a deep pass on their first offensive play and a cautious Glenn Quillen was waiting the play and intercepted the ball, returning it 40 yards to the Tellico when the scrimmage was declared over.

Greenback Coach Keith Bailey, who doubts his Cherokees will scrimmage anyone else before taking part in the Foothills Conference Jamboree this Friday night at Maryville College Field, was pretty well satisfied with his team's scrimmage showing.

"Our line opened some good holes at times and we seem to be deeper in backs that can pick up yardage than had been believed in the spring," spoke Coach Bailey. "Roddy showed a lot of poise at running the offense and both Glenn Quillen and Lynn (Rucker) looked good at catching the football."

Rucker had three catches for 63 yards in the scrimmage. Coach Bailey also made note of the fact that Greenback did not have quite the size in overall team members as has been the case in recent seasons, nor does the Cherokees show much reserve depth. Still the Cherokees do have some experience and determined spirit as shown at the Tellico scrimmage.

STRAIGHT AHEAD DIVE—Greenback quarterback Roddy Kizer has just planned the football into the arms of his fullback Danny Dotson as he approaches the Tellico Bears defensive line in a Thursday evening scrimmage.

EIGHTY YARD SCAMPER—Greenback running back Mitch Smith carries the football for an impressive eighty yard gain on the Tellico Bears as the two teams battled to a 2-2 deadlock in a Thursday scrimmage.

SOLID TACKLE—Greenback quarterback and defensive back, Roddy Kizer applies a head first tackle on Tellico's Danny Lynn in a fall scrimmage last week. The match-up ended in a 2-2 tie.

DRIVING FOR REAL ESTATE—Greenback running back Stanley Breazeale follows behind the blocking of Tony Arnold in hitting the hole for real estate against Tellico in a scrimmage last week.

SURE RECEPTION—Greenback tight end Lynn Rucker finds himself all alone in claiming this pass thrown by quarterback Roddy Kizer near the Tellico goal line. The clutch reception led to a Greenback touchdown.

GETS INTERCEPTION—Greenback end and defensive back Glenn Quillen attempts to cut out distance Tellico's Tim Watson following a pass interception and run back to the Bears 10 yard line in a Thursday football scrimmage. Quillen had several key pass interceptions for Greenback on offense as well.

Vol Mentors Halt Recruiting Activity, Look To Preparing A Football Winner

Tennessee football coaches will call a halt to their recruiting activities this week to concentrate on the more immediate problems of fielding a winner for the Volunteers in 1976.

Recruiting relates to future seasons, specifically the campaigns of 1977 through 1980. Looking Duke in the eye less than a month away, Bill Battle and his resigned staff are of no mind to worry about problems way out there on the horizon.

Dissatisfied with the lackluster nature of last year's workhorse, a 7-6 log marred by two home field losses, Tennessee mentors are intent on formulating a winning mixture of potent offense and stingy defense. They'll take up where they left off in spring practice, a lively session in which the Vols converted to a predominantly Washburn attack.

Starting today (Aug. 16) the coaches will meet daily to set up a workout schedule and establish goals for the three weeks they'll have between the opening practice Monday, Aug. 23, and the Sept. 11 curtain-raiser in a most dangerous Duke at Neyland Stadium.

Battle, at 34 a seasoned head coaching veteran with six years at Tennessee behind him, is like a kid with a new toy as he anticipates the first practice session. "I can't wait to get started," said the man whose 53-17-2 record figures to be best marks in the nation.

Part of Battle's enthusiasm can be traced to the presence of a corps of seniors that he thinks can be the nucleus of an outstanding team. "We have a chance to be a good football team, but we'll need total commitment from the players and coaches," Battle declared. "Our off-season program and the results of spring practice convinced me we will have that kind of dedication."

The seniors of 1976 are a star-studded group, including such proven performers as split end Larry Seivera, wingback Stanley Morgan, linebacker Andy Spivey, offensive guard Mickey Marvin, safety Mike Mauck and quarterback Randy Wallace. "It's the best group of seniors I've been associated with," said Battle.

The condition of Wallace, once a source of concern, apparently is no longer a problem. The sore shoulder of the senior field general has responded to treatment, and he should be ready for full participation beginning with the first practice.

Four new coaches will be on hand, including a new offensive coordinator, Dal Shely, who had been coach at Carson-Newman before being employed at Baylor the past two years. A couple of ex-Vols, Bill Baker and Robbie Franklin, and a former Southern Mississippi coach, Bob Conlin, are other new Battle staff members.

The players are scheduled to report Friday, pose for news photographers Saturday and begin workouts without pads as prescribed by NCAA regulations—bright and early Monday.

Getting The Most From Your Tractor

By Charles F. McCall Extension Leader

Improving total tractor efficiency is important for maximum power output, traction, and fuel savings. Charles F. McCall, University of Tennessee Agriculture Extension Leader, offers tips for improving the overall efficiency.

To improve tractor fuel efficiency: —Keep the engine tuned and serviced to assure a higher conversion of fuel energy to mechanical rotation energy of the engine crankshaft.

—Keep the transmission and other parts of the power train serviced to help get the crankshaft energy to the drive wheels.

—Select engine and transmission speeds that combine to develop the exact power needed for each individual job.

—Minimize engine idle time. Do only those jobs that produce positive benefits, such as plowing only when it will pay off.

—Keep proper implements in good repair and proper adjustment.

—Keep proper air pressure in tires for maximum efficiency.

—Add weight to the tractor for heavy drawbar jobs and remove weight for light drawbar jobs.

—Carrying out the last two suggestions will reduce wheel slippage and rolling resistance," says McCall.

"When the wheels slip, power is wasted, the time required to do the job is lengthened, and tires are needlessly worn away."

Achieving optimum traction efficiency involves matching weight and tire size to the tractor's power and field operating conditions. Too little weight permits excessive slippage, while too much weight increases compaction and rolling resistance.

Wheel slippage can be checked with little effort or complication and could save the largest return of any activity you might do. The procedure requires one person to drive the tractor and one to make the wheel revolution count. Two stakes and a piece of chalk is the equipment you need.

—Choose a field and working conditions typical of the work you will do. With this load, operate the tractor in the same gear and throttle setting as usual.

—Put a single chalk mark on one of the drive wheels so that it can easily be seen from the side of the tractor.

Position the stake at an arbitrary point.

Class B Women Softball Teams Needed

There will be a Class B Women's Softball Invitational Tournament next weekend, August 26, 27, 28, and 29th on John Tarleton Institute Field in Knoxville.

John Tarleton Recreation ball field is located on Southland Avenue, just off Kingston Pike.

Teams are needed to fill out the double elimination bracket. A $40 entrance fee is required. Wynne Thomas is the Tournament Director and can be contacted by phone for entering the tournament at the following Knoxville phone numbers: 524-8020 or 583-5900.

All interested teams or team sponsors are urged to contact Mr. Thomas by the weekend.

Both teams will now advance to the State "B" Softball Tournament in Knoxville, which starts this Friday. The Tri-Stars, who made the state tournament last summer, will be in action twice on the tournament's first day. The Bank of Loudon County meets its first challenge at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

The winner of the Class B Women's State Softball Title does not advance to any higher level of play, while the Class A Tournament winner goes on to compete nationally.

COMING DOWN THE LINE—Loudon senior quarterback Carter Cardwell takes a handoff into the Hedekin line before he sets off on an off tackle run for 40 yards as Loudon scrimmaged against McMinn County last Thursday morning.

Tri-Stars, Bank Of Loudon County Win Berths In State Softball Tournament

The Lenoir City Tri-Stars have captured the District Softball Tournament Title in Knoxville.

The Tri-Stars had to come out of the loser's bracket, winning five straight contests including two on Monday night. They had lost in the second round to the Bank of Loudon County in their regular season summer league.

Both teams will now advance to the State "B" Softball Tournament in Knoxville, which starts this Friday. The Tri-Stars, who made the state tournament last summer, will be in action twice on the tournament's first day. The Bank of Loudon County meets its first challenge at 8 a.m. on Saturday.

YOUR GARDEN

Help Flowers Enjoy Beautiful Longevity

It's not just a lot of flowery talk but good gardening sense to help your flowers live to a ripe old age. Here are some suggestions to help you keep your garden looking lovelier longer.

Don't overwater. Learn how tall and how wide each plant will grow and seed accordingly. If you have to thin them later, they'll have a better chance of surviving if you do so just after the seedlings have sprouted.

Don't pick your posies in full bloom. Select a cutting just before it reaches its prime, and your flowers will look lovelier longer.

By following these good gardening suggestions, that lovely little corner of the world—your garden—will stay wreathed in beauty a lot longer.

Greenback. Squire Hartsock said that the Greenback service was being provided at little cost to the county (only the furnishing of an ambulance) but he also felt one of the present vehicles would be sufficient to meet needs there.

Duckworth said that if the Greenback Squad Unit did not require about $4,000 a year for the county to provide service in that area of the county.

Squire Vann brought up the Process Server proposition saying that the ambulance service and hospital need the services of a collector and the sheriff's department would have more men available for enforcement if someone could handle those duties. He also said that there are thousands of dollars worth of uncollected court costs the person in the position could attempt to recover for the county.

Vann suggested that a three month budget of $2,500 be established for the position which would be partly paid with fees.

When asked who the man would work for Vann said he would be an employee of the hospital and ambulance service but needed to be a bonded deputy with stipulated duties in order to serve civil papers. He said the hiring of the person and who he would be responsible to could be settled as the job position was established.

At the end of the brief meeting Judge William Russell read a letter to the court from School Superintendent Edward Headice for the court to move on the selling of the $2 million in school bonds and for permission to let the department use surplus funds to pay preliminary expenses of the building program until the bond proceeds are received.

CREDIT CARD BUYS. Deputy Allen Clemmer and Chief Deputy Luke Bright look over items believed purchased with forged credit cards in the Loudon County area by three persons who were arrested Saturday after a service station manager reported them purchasing gasoline with a voided credit card.

Three Charged Using Forged Credit Cards

Loudon County Deputies Saturday arrested three persons they said were using forged credit cards and false identification to make purchases in a five county area. About noon Saturday the Justice Center received a call from Lester's Texaco on Highway 95 in Lenoir City that gas had been purchased with what proved to be a voided credit card.

Deputy Allen Clemmer stopped a car near the 99-7 interchange with two of the subjects, a juvenile and Johnny Anderson, 19, of Huffland Drive in Loudon.

Later Chief Deputy Luke Bright arrested William Kuhn at his residence on Main Street in Loudon. He found four stolen credit cards and a number of receipts where purchases had been made in

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

One of the earliest industries in Loudon County was possibly the many sawmills that operated in many sections. Of course, wood products were in much demand in this era, this before the days of man made building materials. And except for stone and brick, wood was about the only material.

Many of our old time family heads earned a livelihood for their families by working of sawmills, which was also big industry, which was also big industry. One of our pictures this week is of an old Loudon County sawmill owned and operated by T.T. Simpson.

Our other picture this week is also from the Lenoir City area and possibly is no strange place to many of those from the Good Old Days of the City of Lenoir City. It is made inside the old Eskon Norwood Hardware Store, which operated in downtown Lenoir City for many many years. It but also was a wholesale establishment serving a large area of this part of East Tennessee. The business was a well known landmark in Loudon County.

We were down in Philadelphia getting election tallies the other day and we were talking to Tommy Neal. Our conversation was about the days when we were boys growing up in that part of our area. The town of Philadelphia has changed like all other towns have in the past 20 years. A lot of the activity has shifted to adjoining towns. Although the business section has just about ceased to exist, the people are still the warm outgoing people they have always been. We enjoyed the years our family lived in this town. We have many memories and many friends. We always find people to be willing to help anyone we think in contact with and we come this is great.

Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Be Careful Around Power Lines

You wouldn't stick your hand in fire, would you? Of course not, but when you neglect the electrical safety rules around power lines, you're practically playing with fire, says Loudon utilities Manager Charles Burnette.

Power lines have the potential to kill. In fact, the electricity required to light a small seven-watt bulb is enough to electrocute you, not to mention a power line carrying 7,200 volts!

If serious most outdoor electrical fatalities now occur during the installation of a radio or TV antenna. You should never install an antenna within talking distance of power lines. If the antenna accidentally contacted a power line while you were looking it, more than likely, it'd mean death for you. And even if you were lucky, you'd still receive a severe shock or electrical burn.

So follow the safety rules around power lines. Always know and remember where power lines in your work vicinity are located. And before you stick a long metal pipe or ladder in the air, look up!

For more information about electrical safety, stop by your power distributor's office for the free booklets, Danger: High Voltage and Stop Shock.

HAY AND TOBACCO LOST—A fire started by lightning during a storm Sunday afternoon destroyed a large barn on the Ada Plemons farm at Philadelphia. The barn contained about 100,000 worth of hay, tobacco and farm equipment. The Loudon County Rescue Squad was called to the scene to protect other nearby farm buildings that were threatened by the blaze.

Thomas Helps In Beirut Rescue

Navy Chief Aviation Electrician's Mate Bobby Thomas, 38, son of Mrs. Lillie M. Thomas of Lenoir City, participated in the rescue of more than 300 American and foreign evacuees from Beirut, Lebanon as a crewmember of the aircraft carrier USS America in support of "Operation Fluid Drive."

Coronado. The extraction of the civilians from the beleaguered Lebanese capital was accomplished without incident and the evacuees arrived safely aboard the Coronado for transport to Albama. In a message from President Ford, the task force was commended for its high degree of professionalism which contributed to the success of the operation. His ship is homeported in Norfolk, Va., and is currently deployed as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

A 1967 graduate of Marion County High School, Jasper, he joined the Navy in July 1967.

By Edward Headlee
Loudon County
School Superintendent

School Begins
The 1976-77 school year will begin on Monday, August 23, 1976 when all teachers report to Loudon High School at 9 a.m. All students will register on Tuesday, August 24 and classes will begin on Thursday, August 26. Even though the budget has been unnecessarily delayed this year, and we do not anticipate any problems with scheduling this year.

Immunizations
All children entering Loudon County Schools this year for the first time are required to have the following shots: Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Tetanus, Polio, Measles, and Rubella. In addition to these shots a complete physical examination and a dental examination are also required. Immunization against mumps is NOT a requirement for entry into the Loudon County Schools.

Building Program
The county-wide school building program is experiencing a "temporary" slowdown due to the county's inability to pay some outstanding bills involving the architects and the demolition of old Philadelphia Elementary School. We hope that this problem will be soon remedied by the sale of the $2,000,000.00 in rural school bonds which the County Court approved when they set the county tax rate.

Care of Buildings
We regret that the schools will not be as clean as they should be when school opens next week, but due to the operating procedure which we are under by the Purchasing Act we were unable to order any custodial supplies because we did not have an approved budget. Unless the money is available it is illegal to order any items. We sincerely hope that this will not occur again next year.

At Reserve Camp
Cadet Robert D. Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rose, 508 W. Fifth, Lenoir City, is receiving practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced camp at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The six-week ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate Leadership capabilities in a field training environment. Most cadets are fulfilling their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. However, there will be a number of graduating seniors who will receive Army commissions at the completion of camp.

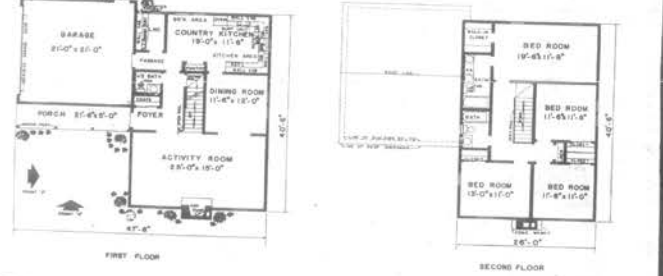

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:
About three months ago, I read in your paper that a new committee may be set up, consisting of a few persons that would go around to all the roads in the county and see what improvements needs to be made. Also, lately, I've read and also heard on T.V. that we could save alot of money if we get improvements made now. I would like to know at what stage of development this project is? Or is it? I wish to call attention to the road that I live on, Easter Road. About five miles from Loudon, turn right at Dutton's Store off of Vance Road. This road is washed out very bad and is hard to pass on and is hard, rough wear on your car. I think this type of road is needless in this day and time with as much traffic that travels on it. Before very long, our children will be travelling on it in the big school bus which makes it even more dangerous and hard to pass other cars on it, not to mention the one inch thick dust that stays in my basement most of the time. We have tried several things to get someone that could help to come out to even look at it. I would like to know why we can't have it straightened up and paved so it won't wash out worse until someone has a accident. We have to work every day for our house and cars. I don't see why we can't have a decent road to travel to work on. If there is good reason why we can't, that is what I would like to know but I'll try to make sure it won't be neglected because of lack of attention. We have to give it attention. We live here and have to travel over it every day.

Ruling On School Bus Contracts Stalls Decision

With the start of school only a week away, a matter of a bus contract for the owners of the 26 school buses that transport Loudon County school children is still unsettled.

Earlier in the summer county Judge William Russell said in his opinion the school bus contracts were illegal and void because they were not signed by the Purchasing Department.

A committee of the School Board had made a study of the bus routes and costs and determined that the transportation of students was far out of line, which was also the opinion of the state department of education.

The School Board had hoped to get a new position in the department to coordinate student transportation. Pressure from the county court to get the school budget passed forced the board to drop the proposal.

Then the board asked that the State Attorney General rule on the validity of the contract signed by the school board chairman and superintendent with the bus owners. The present contract has two more school years to run. Superintendent Edward Headlee said the opinion had been written but not signed by the Attorney General, but the contents of the ruling was not known.

School bus owners have refused to meet with the board's contract committee, stating that their attorney was of the opinion that the contract was legal and that if a new contract was to be drawn it was too early to be setting the details.

At Thursday night board meeting the school bus owners (18 were present) asked that the board to raise their pay from 27 cents per mile and a seat base of $2 to 30 cents per mile and an 88 seat base. In making the proposal W. B. Cosner, the owner with the most school buses under contract to the county, said Loudon County was paying the least amount of any of the surrounding counties for privately contracted buses.

The bus owners also asked that they be paid for 180 days as they had been proposed by the board committee. The owners also contended that the four cent per gallon gas supplement paid last year should have been eight cents.

They said that the board gave a four cent supplement the year before, but when figuring the increase in gasoline costs for the past year somehow forgot about the four cents that gas went up the previous year.

Cosner told the board that if the board wanted to set new mileage figures for the routes they left were out of line, the bus drivers were certainly willing to drive the routes to set the miles. "We don't want anything we are not due, but the things that have been said in this ruling would leave us in the hole," he said.

Board member Ted Randolph said that paying the drivers for five days they did not run cost the county $5,000. Instead of that, the county should state supplement for transport allow that the 180 day school year, which was what their pay was figured on.

Board Chairman Ted Wampler said that both the board and bus owners were spending needless time talking about the situation because the board was waiting on the ruling on the legality of the contracts before they would take any kind of action.

"If the contract is illegal and the purchasing department is supposed to handle them, then we will let the county court handle the matter because it will not be our responsibility," Wampler said.

Randolph said, "You (the bus owners) have done yourselves more harm by asking for a raise."

Cosner retorted, "Big boy, you didn't hesitate to walk the picket line in Union when seeking a raise did you? You did what you thought you had a right to do." Randolph agreed saying, "You are right."

Bus owner Ben Hammon asked, "Do we have a contract to start school in October?" Superintendent Edward Headlee said, "Until something different is proven you have a contract."

The bus owners questioned the board about published statements from a bus contract committee meeting. "Member W. D. McCarroll said, 'The things discussed in the meeting were only recommendations. If you (bus owners) had met with us some of them might have been thrown out.'"

Light Bulb Savings
One way to save is with the size of light bulbs. A standard 60-watt light bulb lasts 1,000 hours while a 100-watt bulb lasts only 750 hours. When possible, use fluorescent tubes because a 40-watt fluorescent tube gives more light than three 60-watt incandescent bulbs. One-third less electricity. Keep all bulbs clean since dirt absorbs light. Concentrate lighting in reading and working areas and areas needing light for safety.

Ralston Purina Plans Major Mushroom Plant Here

Ralston Purina Company Tuesday announced that it will begin construction in September on its fifth major mushroom production facility. The new facility will be located near Loudon, according to Dennis C. Zensen, Division Vice President and Director of the Agrobiology Division of the Company. Ralston Purina has purchased the 200 acre farm of Ben Galyon on Highway 72 West of Loudon for the project, specifically the excellent effort exerted by Jack Hammett of the East Tennessee Regional Office in Knoxville. The new production facility will be a multi-million dollar installation and will produce fresh mushrooms under environmentally-controlled conditions. The opening production capacity will be 11 million pounds annually. The new facility is scheduled to be completed and in operation by the summer of 1977. It will employ up to 350 people, most of whom will be from the local area.

Purina officials James DeBoard, director of Engineering and Technical Services of the Agrobiology Division and David M. Reeves, Manager of Industrial Real Estate made the local announcement of the facility Tuesday morning in the offices of the Loudon County Judge Paul Alexander, with County Judge William Russell and Industrial Agent Bart Iddins. Fresh mushrooms grown in the new facility will be distributed in the surrounding five state area. The company maintains its own fleet of refrigerated trucks for rapid delivery of the fresh mushrooms which are sold under the trade name of "Country Stand". Ralston Purina Company's other four mushroom production facilities are located in California, Texas, Florida, and Illinois. "The demand for fresh mushrooms continues to be greater than we can meet," Zensen said in making the announcement. "We look forward to becoming a part of the Loudon, Tennessee community and are optimistic about our potential contribution to the economic welfare of the area."

RALSTON PURINA ANNOUNCES—The Ralston Purina Company, headquartered in St. Louis announced Tuesday the location of a mushroom farm in Loudon that will employ 350 persons. Purina official James R. DeBoard is shown presenting County Judge William Russell with the official announcement of the plant as County Industrial Agent Bart Iddins and Purina official David M. Reeves look on.

Board Contracts Legal, State Says

Superintendent of Education Edward Headlee told the County School Board in a called session Monday night that he had received telephone notification that the State Attorney General had issued an opinion that found that the school board had the only authority to sign contracts for teachers and school bus owners. The question had been a matter of contention for several months since Judge William Russell gave his opinion that both the teacher contracts and school transportation contracts were invalid because they were issued through the County Purchasing Agent's Office and not signed by that office. Headlee said he is expected to file a letter outlining the detailed opinion this week to the board. What was outlined as a 30 minute meeting to hire some needed teachers and change a couple of bus routes turned into a 90 minute affair as the board discussed the transportation problems.

Approval was given to change in the Melton Hill area route and mileage was added to the State Line route. After considerable discussion the board approved paying additional miles for three buses to transport students in the 4-6 grade from Philadelphia to the old High School where they will attend class this year because of construction of a new school there. W.B. Coates, one of two of the buses, said he wanted to be sure that the miles were added to the present contract miles for his two vehicles. He said if they were not he would just let the owner of the vehicle do it and he would take the present contract miles and not signed by their present

Approval was given transferring two bus routes from Paul Alexander to Robert Iddins, subject to a check of the mileage of the routes. School Bonds To Be Sold Sept. 15

The sale of $2 million in county rural school bonds, half of the $4 million approved by the county court for school construction, is scheduled to be sold on September 15. County Judge William Russell after the budget committee approved the sale ahead with the sale said he expects the court will approve the sale at their meeting on September 13. He said machinery necessary for the sale has been started allowing for the sale just after the court meeting.

The Budget Committee also approved letting the Department of Education use their surplus funds to pay the architect on the Philadelphia school and demolition contractor until the school bond funds are available. Superintendent Edward Headlee said that he thinks bids on the Philadelphia School will be let last week of September or first week of October. The Philadelphia project is budgeted for $750,000. Students at Philadelphia will be housed in the part of the school not demolished for the new construction and at the old Loudon High School. Headlee said he is hopeful that the $750,000 improvement project at Greenback School will be ready for bid shortly after the Philadelphia work is let for bid.

Tavern Owner Charged With Murder

MURDER VICTIM'S BODY EXAMINED—Criminal Investigator Clarence Robbins lifts a sheet away from the body of Hobart Hendrix who was found shot to death in the parking lot at Green's Package Store and Tavern on old Highway 96 Friday night. Owner of the tavern, Wayne Green was later charged with murder and his wife with aiding and abetting in the crime.

Hendrix Found Shot

Hobart R. Hendrix, 27, of White Wing Road, R1, Loudon City, was shot to death outside Green's Package Store on old highway 96 at Loudon City about 11 p.m. Friday. Charged with first degree murder in the incident is Wayne Green, owner of the tavern. Green's wife, Vivian, was charged with aiding and abetting in first degree murder. Loudon County Chief Deputy Luke Bright, said it is believed the shooting grew out of an incident that occurred some three weeks ago where the tavern owner assaulted another man at the tavern. Charged in that case were Judge Tom Ingram, who set bond for Green at $25,000 and $5,000 for his wife at their arraignment. Saturday morning preliminary hearing on the murder charges will be held at 9 a.m. September 10 at the Justice Center. The Greens were released from jail Saturday morning after having their bond secured by another property owners. Green reportedly called the Justice Center about 11 p.m. and reported that a shooting occurred at the tavern. Chief Bright was the first to arrive. He said Green told him he did not know what happened and he did not know anything about the shooting. Although most of the people who were at the tavern at the time had left a few who remained reportedly gave officers a different story. One witness alleges that it was known there had been bad feelings between Green and Hendrix for sometime over a prior incident, and when Hendrix came in the tavern Friday night Green started a fight with him, Chief Bright said. It was learned a witness said that when Hendrix, known as Hobie, left the tavern Green asked his wife for his gun and went outside. When he came back in, according to a statement allegedly given by a female witness, he said, "I killed the f---in' gun."

Hendrix appeared to have been shot in the neck with a .38 caliber pistol. The bullet exited through the top of the skull. He was sprawled in a parking lot of the tavern, face up. There were other marks on his body indicating a fight had preceded the shooting. Green also had blood on his shirt and bruise on his body. Attorney General Kenneth Deatheridge, Criminal Investigator Clarence Robbins, FBI Agent Leon Miller, Coroner Ray Houk, Loudon City Police Chief Joe Sims, several county deputies and Loudon City policemen were involved in the investigation. It was about 2 a.m. before the body was moved from the shooting scene. Officers were unable to locate the alleged murder weapon until that time and repeated attempts to get a factor to the scene to act as a medical examiner showed the investigation. As officers searched the inside of the tavern for a gun, Mrs. Green reportedly said she knew nothing of a gun. A witness later told officers that Mrs. Green gave her husband and then hid it when he came back in. The gun was found wrapped in a bath towel in a box of garbage inside the tavern. At least three men outside the tavern reported they saw Green in the parking lot with a gun in his hand after the shooting. County Medical Examiner Dr. Pete Stimpson was in Alaska and attempts to get a physician to examine the body at the scene were unsuccessful. The body was taken to Loudon County Memorial Hospital and was examined by Dr. W.B. Harmon on duty that night. It was later released to Blount Memorial Hospital for an autopsy which was ordered by Attorney General Deatheridge. Throughout the three hours officers were on the scene and later at the Justice Center, officers said that Green maintained he knew nothing of the incident and he was innocent. Hendrix was employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority. He was a veteran of the Vietnam war and attended Church View Presbyterian Church. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Hendrix, Sr., sister Mrs. James (Patsy) Babo, 3 brothers, Max, Fred and Leo, Jr., all of Loudon City, several nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held Monday at Click Funeral Home chapel with Rev. Frank Harmon officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery.

Antiques Are Stolen

Antiques valued at $240 were stolen from Rebel Antiques Shop on Highway 411 last Friday night. The store owner, Bobby Tarwater said the thieves entered by breaking the back off a sliding door. Taken were two wall telephones, numerous plates and sets of cut glass, mirrors, bowls, a walnut top table, jewelry and a set of irons.

Construction Material Taken

Some $2,000 in building materials were stolen from a home construction site off Highway 72 near Dutton Store last Wednesday night. Contractor Gid Fossell said that 300 eight foot 2 x 4's, 50 sheets of plywood and 2 pieces of blackboard were taken. Deputy Larry Proaps investigated.

Contract Expires, Union Pickets Eaton

The 286 members of United Textile Workers of America Local 297 employees at Eaton Corporation in Loudon City have been picketing the plant entrance since their wage contract expired at midnight Friday. Last Wednesday the company asked for a three day extension on the contract but the union membership voted against the extension. Friday the company offered 30 cents per hour for each of three years for production workers and 25 cents per hour for three years to non-production members of the local. The union members were to meet yesterday (Wednesday) to vote on the company proposal, but union members contacted by The Herald indicated they felt the company proposal would be turned down leading to a strike vote. The Textile Workers are asking for $1.50 per hour increase for each of the three years of the wage contract. Presently production workers are reportedly paid $2.96 and non-production employees of the union get $2.16 per hour. Although the Textile workers were not on strike from Friday through the first part of the week, they were walking pickets with signs of "No Contract - No Work."

Members of the Tool and Die union at the plant and what appeared to be most other hourly non-union employees were honoring the pickets.

their contract expired. On the picket line are Robert Smith, Jim Reeves, Roy Moats and Dennis Williams.

UNION PICKETS AT EATON—Members of the United Textile Workers of America Local 297 employees at Eaton Corporation are shown on the picket line at the main plant entrance. The Union walked out Friday at midnight when MURDER SUSPECT Wayne Green (in cap) is led from Green's Tavern following the shooting death of 27 year old Hobart Hendrix at the joint on Friday night. Accompanying Green are Deputy Jake Chapman and Constable-Coroner Ray Houk.

Teacher To Seek Election To State Convention

Mrs. Garland (Brenda T.) Lee, Loudon County teacher, has announced her candidacy for delegate to the Tennessee Constitutional Convention from the 21st Legislative District.

Mrs. Lee, 32, begins her eleventh year of teaching this month, having taught three years at Eatons Crossroads before transferring to the high school level at Greenback. She is a Liberal Arts graduate of the University of Tennessee with majors in political science and history. She is currently working on her master's degree in social science education.

Throughout her teaching career, Mrs. Lee has been an active member of the Loudon County Education Association. In 1973, she served as a delegate to the T. E. A. Representative Assembly in Nashville. For the past two years she has served as the chairperson of the local association's Bicentennial Committee. This year she will be the office of vice-president of the Association. Mrs. Lee is also the Greenback nominee for Teacher-Of-The-Year in the Loudon County School System.

"I am interested in becoming a delegate to the Constitutional Convention because it would provide an opportunity for me to learn, to contribute and to represent the interests of the people of Loudon and Blount counties in the 21st District," she said. "My educational background several courses in state and local government and the state, will be elected in the non-partisan positions in the November 2 election.

government, provides a background preparation for the convention. I have followed the preparation from its beginning when the legislature voted approval of a convention call to be presented to the voters. During this time I have read and collected newspaper accounts and information from various sources on the issues to be dealt with by the convention. I have talked with people who are informed on the issues and process of the convention and I feel I can fairly and adequately represent the people of this district. Certainly I am eager to discuss the issues with them and hear their opinions," Mrs. Lee stated.

The Lees reside in the Glendale Community where Mrs. Lee assists her husband in the operation of their farm. The Constitutional Convention does not convene until the summer of 1977, but the 99 delegates, one from each legislative district across the state, will be elected in the November 2 election.

Panthers, Coach Conner, Set LC Sites On A Winning Season For '76

Lenoir City football will again attempt to stir from the ranks of the off-beats and regain some gridiron respect it once knew with the start of the 1976 football season. As its leaders will be a newly constructed football coaching staff, headed by the 10-year veteran of the coaching ranks, Scott Conner. Coach Conner has experienced wide success in the North Carolina and Georgia football prep leagues and Lenoir City patrons are hoping he can do an equal job for the sagging Panthers. Assisting Coach Conner will be his right arm assistant from his previous coaching assignment at Fort Valley, Georgia, Coach Rick Dudley. Also moving up to the varsity will be Lenoir City middle school coach Bill Satterfield. Coach Conner does not declare himself any more than human, but does assure the Panther people that the desire to play hard and the fire to win will burn from the hearts of every boy on the Lenoir City team while he is their head coach. "They have to want to win, they (the players) have to sell football to their friends, their friends must show the spirit of believing for the school to have better football," stated the coach.

Lenoir City has 28 varsity players in uniform. None have credentials of being anything more than average football players. No size, no depth, average to none in backfield speed, yet the Panthers will shoot to turn around a tail spin that has been in operation for near 20 years. The past two Panther teams have won two while losing 18.

PANTHER GRID BOSS OPTIMISTIC—Lenoir City's new head football coach Scott Conner, a coaching veteran of some 10 seasons that covers from Enoch North Carolina to Fort Valley Georgia, is optimistic as to how the season might fair for the Lenoir City griders. "We have a lot going against us as a team, the players are in good spirit, and we probably will get beaten some, but a winning season would be start back in the right direction for the Lenoir City football program," acknowledged Coach Conner. Coach Conner, optimistic of the regular season start is anxious none the less for the leather to start popping for '76.

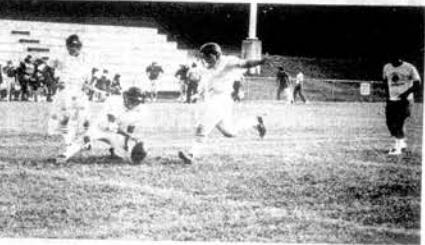

Nevertheless the Panthers have a new fire about them, Coach Scott Conner is a prime reason. He spent the entire last six weeks of the spring to install a new offense that will change from a "walking" Notre Dame Box to a straight T formation. Misdirection plays and guts to win again will subside the offensive cadence of the swing of the Panthers into offensive gear that should well surpass the scoring output of last year's 41 points.

The defense, currently the weakest point of the Panther team, has no size and no depth. About 17 players will be trucking on and off the field in a two way effort each Friday night. The punting and kicking game seems to be in very capable hands with Keith Amos practicing a 42 yard field goal in practice and Phil Reed booting 45 yard punts on almost every try.

"It's continuous drilling, explosive savvy, a growl of anger, and a comforting arm of reassurance constitutes a winner then Coach Scott Conner will lead the Lenoir City football team.

PANTHER KICKING GAME TO BE STRONG—The Lenoir City football coaches are most pleased with the Panthers' kicking game. "We are very fortunate to have both an excellent punter in Phil Reed and a placement kicker in Keith Amos," stated Coach Scott Conner. Amos has 92 punts uprights with a 42 yard effort once this fall in practice sessions. Reed is a

Loudon Herald Football Contest Runs For 15th Fall

Many area high school football teams opt to campaign this weekend and right along with them the first of the 12 weeks of The Loudon County Herald Football Contest opens also. The contest will feature $25 each week in prize money for the winners. The contest operates as its always, except with one exception. Contestants in the past had been limited to one entry, but this year a person may enter under their own name five times. But cannot submit entries in the names of persons other than their own immediate family. There are some 30 Loudon County business firms that are co-sponsoring the Football Contest which provides $25 for the winner each week, $8 for second place and $5 for third place. The contest entry blank has the 10 weekly games already entered, but the contestant must look in the sponsors

LENOIR CITY HIGH SCHOOL 1976 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Aug. 27	at Knox Holston
Sept. 2	at Hartman
Sept. 10	at Loudon
Sept. 14	Knoxville
Oct. 1	OPEN
Oct. 8	Kingsport
Oct. 15	at Rockwood
Oct. 22	Knox Powell
Oct. 29	at Lake City

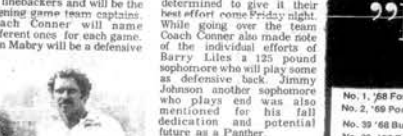

The players should respect his manner. Observing followers are still undecided. But all Coach Conner wants in his team to set a goal and reach it as a team. That goal is to have a winning record, build a tradition.

The Panther schedule has been reshuffled but still the opposition is no patsy. Knoxville Holston is triple-A. "AA" State Champs and appears to have cornered the technique of keeping the number one ranking, again featuring a tough team.

The schedule really never gets much better as almost every team either has the size, depth or speed to be a threat to the Panther present model of fashioning a winning record. The Panthers will win some touchdowns with a long range guess of a sure three successes and without injury, a little luck, a giant effort and maybe, just maybe five wins can be achieved in 1976. The Panthers will be surprising. The team personnel for offense looks much like this with Phil Reed lining up at right end at 375 and a senior.

Out Of State Racers Coming To Atomic

Howard Meadows of Princewick, W. Va., and Charlie Minney of Acteworth, Ga., are the first out-of-state entries for the Southern 300 Wynn's X-Tend late model sportsman race Sept. 5 at Atomic Speedway. Meadows, who competes regularly at three West Virginia tracks—Ohio Valley, Fair Plains and Beckley Speedways—will drive a 1968 Camaro in the race. The $10,000 event, with a first-place payoff of $4,000, is sponsored by Davis Oil Co. of Knoxville. Firestone has kicked in $500 contingency money. The 300 will be the richest sportsman race ever staged on dirt in the South. "Howard also pointed out that a $15,000 race for unlimited sportsman cars is unheard of back in completing the secondary."

Coach Conner says his team has worked very hard and determined to give it their best effort come Friday night. While going over the team Coach Conner also made note of the individual efforts of Barry Liles a 125 pound sophomore who will play some as defensive back. Jimmy Johnson another sophomore who plays end was also mentioned for his fall dedication and potential future as a Panther.

LC Football Backers Form TD Club; To Have Pep Rally

The interested football fans of Lenoir City have formed a Panther Touchdown Club to better inspire the play and posture of the Lenoir City football program. "We are pure Panther people," stated a TD Club board member. "Our first goal is to be a helpful effort to restore the high school football program to a winning one. We by no means wish to slight the basketball program or baseball. But right now we feel our duties are to the backing of the football squad, this does not mean we won't be right there at every high school across the state." The Panther Touchdown organization will have a caravan for this week's Lenoir City regular season opener at Knoxville Holston. A pep rally will be conducted at the Lenoir City football stadium on Thursday night (tonight) at 8:20 p.m. Hot dogs and cakes will be available at the concession stand. Panther Touchdown officials include Benny Stafford as President, Richard Vest-Vice President, Alice Vest-Secretary, Carl Mabry-Treasurer, and Jim Riner-Chaplain. Directors for the club will be Hank Siddimers, Jerry Park, Kenneth Flynn, Pat Reed, and Buddy Jenkins. High School Principal Hulon Watson and head football coach Scott Conner will serve as Panther Touchdown Club advisers. Lenoir Citizens interested in reconstructing the football spirit of the Panther following the pep rally and inquire through a club official in becoming a organization member.

Redskin Line Play Will Have Big Role In Keeping Loudon At Top Of "AA" Charts

The 1976 football season is here and with it must come the traditional question of recent seasons, "can Loudon win the Class 'AA' Championship a third consecutive year and a fourth time in eight years?" The man with the best idea on the issue is Redskin Head Football Coach Bert Ratledge, a past master of fundamental blocking and tackling and winning football games. He is not talking!

"Sure I want to see Loudon win the Championship again," declared the Coach. "But there must be an end to all good things, this year might end ours. We will have to play the games out and see who is alive for the playoffs."

Area coaches are again rating the Redskins as a solid team to be dealt with. And their thinking is pretty sound. Loudon will feature an experienced line that will average 6-2 in height and average the scales out on the average of 230 pounds a man or better. Some solid colleges would like to be so well blessed. The squad itself is over 45 strong, and the backfield candidates are not of all star status for any one or two individuals this time.

The line will be where things will either happen or not happen. The linemen must do an unheralded job for Loudon to be again in the running for any post season honors.

Sam Stewart (185), Gary Brown (225, Jr.), Sam Theary (255, Sr.), or Steve Lyle (225, Sr.), or Steve Lyle (225, Sr.) will form the right side of the line. Stewart, Theary and end Brown, Theary and tackle Bobby Moore is a promising 190 pound will lend support to the backfield duties for carrying the football. All mentioned are worthy backs for any varsity.

Senior Kenny Starritt will line up at flanker after recovering from a collar bone break in Loudon's first playoff game of 1975. Ricky McCrary or sophomore Robert Henson could develop as capable replacements.

Split receiver Conway Dukes is the sure handed ball hawk back for his senior season. Dukes has improved on his speed and can latch on to the ball, whether it be on a long punt pattern or a scrambled crowd across the middle.

Junior Steve Schrimsher will rest Dukes at split end. Ben Fields, a cool and talented 180 pound sophomore will hold his own at tight end position. He can also catch a pass and is no easy receiver to tackle.

Rick Lovin, near 200 and a senior and Charles White a hard playing 180 pound tackle and a senior will get plenty of playing time in as the season goes along. Dennis Stewart will most probably back up Moore at center.

LOUDON HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

On defense the Redskins will feature the same big front wall as on offense and the line must be out-quickied if the Redskins are to keep opponents out of the end zone. Steve Lyle, who must be careful of winter knee operation and slow recovery, will be used only on offense. Jim Brown will be a Trojan on defense, making big plays from his defensive end post. Ben Fields, who has to be one of the top sophomore talents in the area, will land a 7'6" at the corner of the line also or stand a runner up at Linebacker. Sam Stewart or Rick Lovin will wrap out over the course of a game.

The Redskins' defensive line will be "wild-man" Jim Brown, Ben Fields, and Dennis Stewart. Dennis is not big at 170, but his quickness and rugged, savage play makes him a mean man to block or escape as a ball carrier.

Mark Moore and Bobby Moore will back up the line, most positions that will get better as the season develops and experience is obtained.

The defensive secondary will have a couple of "oidies" handling the corners in Greg Deathridge and Carter Cardwell. Both can provide a cracking tackle and are tough at defending the pass.

Freddie Starritt and David Black will guard the deep secondary and both will be open to starting roles, although both played some at the positions as sophomores.

Steve Watkins another bright spot and only a sophomore will get a taste of strong safety. Conway Dukes could play free safety with Rick McCrary. Bo Bo Hawkins or Chuck Johnson being groomed for reserve duties in the secondary.

Coach Ratledge rates the Redskins as being talented enough to play with any team on the 1976 schedule. Loudon has but eight games better yet in Loudon efforts for another showing in the playoffs might as well have suffered losses before the first whistle is ever blasted to symbol a kickoff. A small amount of interest seems to stem from a couple of possible foes for the October 29 open date on the Loudon schedule.

Coach Ratledge, dislikes the deep safety chores on open dates, but feels that until the ISSAA finally imposes a rule "fixing" a number of games that must be played within each regional to help in achieving a 10 game regular season slate that teams fearing defeat will continue to avoid the stronger teams if they can.

The Redskins are expected to be a strong blocking, ground machine, with such big and experienced linemen. Don't rule out a pass and not just in have-to situations. The Loudon quarterbacks can all throw this fall, even junior back-up Eddie Estes can thread the needle and will be logging some varsity time in preparing for next fall. The Loudon weak point has just one or two as for catching and holding on to the football. The Loudon weak point has to be in its punting and kicking specialties. Freddie Starritt, David Black and Steve Watkins are all trying a hand at punting. Jim Brown has the strongest leg in toeing the ball up for kick-offs and extra point conversions. Loudon will be working daily at trying to improve the kicking and punting skills in the next 10 days.

Freddie Starritt will handle the deep safety chores on opposing punts and kick-offs. Still the season and the question comes down to will they or can they, not have a winning season, but winning another state title!

The answer will be told in the course of the next 13 weeks and based on the unusual heretics of just how good the Redskin front trenchmen are or will perform when the season unfolds.

sophomore at center while Junior Rollen a steady blocker at 230 and Bryan Curtis a little heavy at 257 balance the left side of the line. Both will interchange with the tackle and guards on the right, so that all might stay rested.

The offensive backfield has senior Greg Deathridge back at his biggest but nose the slower or less the quicker position of quarterback. Greg is throwing the ball better than in past seasons. But an equal at the position is senior Carter Cardwell. Carter can do everything that Deathridge can do with a little difference being in actual top end speed.

"A team could win with either at the throttle," stated Coach Ratledge. While both will share the field general role, both will and must carry the ball as real estate agents. Coach Ratledge has been quoted as saying Deathridge might carry the ball up to 30 times on some nights. But don't set your sites for him. Cardwell will spring free or swift and wiry Freddie Starritt might stir by on a touchdown jaunt of his own. Mark Moore takes over the fullback position left by the graduation absence of Marlon Brown.

High School Football To Open 1976 Campaign Friday Night

With football jamborees out of the way and fall practice scrimmages under their belts the young inexperienced players moving into varsity roles, can forget the glories and jitters of determined preparation and can start settling on the long haul of season play and a possible bid for post season play.

Loudon County teams will see action in this Friday night's first card of regular season activity. Lenoir City, with a complete set of new coaches, will seek to ease the cloud that has hung over them in recent seasons. The Panthers, 2-16, in the last two seasons, travels to Knoxville Holston for an 8 p.m. clash with the triple-A Warriors.

TON OF BEEF—Although they lack a few pounds to the weekly headlines, it stands to reason the continual "State Championship" tradition will rest on the play of these up halting opposing offenses and blasting gate opening holes for Loudon's ball carriers to do their job of scoring touchdowns.

Greenback will open its 10 week grid slate with a home game opposite Tennessee School for the Deaf.

Loudon, still with an eight game schedule to date, will not see regular season battle until next week, September 3, when "Knob" Powell arrives for a 8 p.m. test.

Loudon was to have visited Knoxville Central on Wednesday of this week for an after school scrimmage, the last of the fall for the Redskin team.

Lenoir City ended its fall scrimmage sessions last Wednesday with a less than impressive 7-3 tangle with Sweetwater. "We were pitiful. I don't think we will just lay down when the going gets rough any more."

Scoring touchdowns for Lenoir City in the scrimmage were Walt Thaxton, Steve Porter on a 40 yard pass, and Herbert Sauter.

Greenback got off on a good start with a 6-0 jamboree win over Townsend. Roddy Kizer cashing in a two yard drive with 3:57 left on the clock.

LC Women Softball Teams Finish In State's Top Five

It all started back in early spring, with some 800 women softball teams forming leagues and sub-districts and districts in two districts for summer play all across the state.

The past weekend saw the long haul draw to a close with the Women's Class A and Women's Class B State Championships up for grabs.

The Class B Tournament, which was held in Cookeville, with the best of some 500 teams of the B group meeting in the double elimination event.

Pee Wee's Loudon Team's Defeat Visiting Homestead

Loudon's Quarterback Club sponsored Pee Wee football program opened its 12 week, regular season activities this past Saturday night at the Old Loudon High School football field by hosting Homestead, a community near Crossville.

The Loudon Grasscutters, coached by Sonny Downs and Jerry Kiser, won the first game by a 24-6 count. Timmy Potter was the spearhead in the Loudon win, scoring 22 of the Grasscutters' 24 points.

Potter carried just four times for 139 yards and three touchdowns. The Loudon Grasscutters used a stout defense and the offensive running of Mike Viars, Rodney Jones, and Troy Kiser to win their game 28-4.

The Loudon Pee Wee football games scheduled for this Saturday night have been rescheduled for the Loudon field on Monday night, August 30th.

Planners Leave Purina Land As Agricultural

It was learned at the Loudon County Planning Commission meeting Thursday night that Ralston Purina Company, the world's largest company, has purchased a 300-acre farm in Loudon for a major agricultural business operation.

Jim Schmar, of Ralston Purina, appeared before the Commission concerning the zoning of the property, which is being purchased from Loudon Dairy Farmer Ben Galyon Jr., who is also chairman of the county planning commission.

The Ralston Purina and Loudon County Committee of 100 are planning a formal announcement of the firm sometime in the next couple of weeks, Schmar said.

The farming operation planned by the Ralston Purina and Loudon County Committee of 100 is something very unique in this section of the country. They will build a plant that covers some eight and one-half acres of ground which will produce mushrooms.

The farm production of mushrooms in a highly controlled atmosphere has become a sizeable agricultural business for the company.

They now have plants in operation in California, Florida and Texas with one under construction in Illinois which will go into production in April of next year.

The Loudon mushroom farm will be built in the center of the Galyon farm which is just off Interstate 75 on State Route 72 West of Loudon.

The Purina official appeared before the Commission concerning zoning of the property. He said that in other states where they have mushroom farms the farms were left in an agriculture zone. The local board agreed and no action was taken to change the zoning. The company was also allowed to purchase building permits for only the office and packing areas of the plant, the remainder being exempt under its agriculture use status.

Action on a request of Dr. Kenneth Lyn to relocate a section of Rest Camp Road in the third district was postponed until County Road Engineer Tom Davis can look at the 1200-foot section of road in question and other property owners can be checked with Attorney Harrison Crabtree representing Dr. Lyn. Dr. Lyn would relocate the road to county specifications at his own expense. He said that a farming operation requiring massive amounts of water to produce bamboo chutes and sub-tropical fruits. He said that an irrigation system would have to be placed under the road and the amount of water involved were the reasons for wanting to relocate the road.

A rezoning request by J. B. Whaley to rezone two acres of land on a farm he owns from agriculture to residential to allow for the construction of a five-unit apartment complex with swimming pool and tennis courts was denied on a 4-2 vote.

State Planner Steve Campbell recommended against the rezoning stating that such approval would be a definite need for apartments in the Loudon area, but this being in an area dominated by farming could lead to problems of compatibility. Henry Mitchell and Dick Huff voted for the rezoning. Forke, Wolfe, Carwell and Wilkerson Chairman Galyon and Charles Harrison Galyon. A parcel of land on old highway 82 at Interstate 75 was approved for rezoning to allow for the construction of a billboard by Clyde Davis.

CORONER TAKES OATH—Loudon County's new coroner Ray Houk (center) takes his oath of office from County Judge William Russell as county medical examiner Dr. Pete Stimpson looks on. Houk was elected to the post by county court recently succeeding Dr. W.B. Harrison who resigned as coroner and medical examiner.

MOTHER, TWO CHILDREN HURT—Mrs. Pat Steigler, 38, Rt. 1, Buttermilk Road, and two of her children, Carl, and Erik, 8, sustained minor injuries Monday when their car went off of White Wing Road, and overturned in a field. The injured were taken to Oak Ridge Hospital by the Loudon County Ambulance Service.

$3 Million Spent On Improvements

In Loudon County, as in many other areas of the country, homeowners are a fix-up, spruce-up crew. They are spending a record amount of money on home improvements. And they are tackling much of the work themselves.

The modernization boom goes in various directions. Some families are remodeling their bathrooms and kitchens. Some are replacing old heating systems or adding wings, porches and breezeways to their houses. Others, worried about fuel supplies and costs, are putting in storm windows and adding insulation to walls and attics.

In the past year alone, it is estimated, Loudon County homeowners spent no less than $3,787,000 on alterations, additions, repairs and replacements. That is separate and distinct from the spending estimate in the ordinary operating costs based upon a region-by-region survey made by the Department of Commerce as well as data from the National Home Improvement Council and others.

The findings are that the average expenditure for residential upkeep and improvement in Loudon County's general area was $602 per dwelling unit, compared with $500 in the prior year.

In general, throughout the United States, homeowners spent an average of $450 per unit for such purposes. Some local residents—those who went in for major alterations and additions—had expenditures that were much greater than the average. Others, who may have done considerable overhauling earlier, had less to do in 1975. All in all, it added up to record outlay of $25.2 billion nationally. That was $4.1 billion more than in the previous year.

How did Loudon County homeowners spend their portion of this total? A breakdown, based upon the overall figures, indicates that about 46 percent went for additions and alterations and 17 percent for major replacements.

In Memory

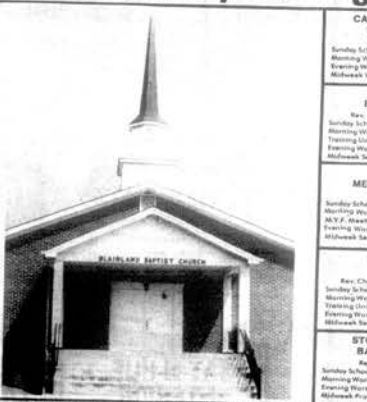

In remembrance of Ruby E. Russell, who died three years ago, August 26.

Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall. The voice is mute and stilled, the heart that loved us well and true, Ah, bitter was the trail to part from one so good as you. You are not forgotten loved one nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last, we will remember thee and wish you were here with us. We miss you now, our hearts are sore. As time goes by, we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face, No one can fill your vacant place. Sadly missed by husband, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

SEARCH FOR GUN.—Investigating officers are shown searching Green's Tavern for a gun believed to have been used in a murder at the tavern Friday night. Left to right are Ray Houk, Clarence Robbins, Leon Miller, Kenneth Desbridge, Jake Chapman and Lake Bright. The gun was later found in a box of trash.

SUSPECTED MURDER WEAPON.—Chief Deputy Lake Bright and Criminal Investigator Clarence Robbins have just unwrapped a towel from around a .38 caliber pistol found in a box of trash at Green's Package Store which was believed used in the slaying of Hobart Hendrix.

Medical Building Planning Funds Ok'd

Directors of the Loudon County Memorial Hospital voted Tuesday to authorize the Attorney General.

Four new teachers were hired and placed by the board. They are, Dannie Green, Loudon High, General Science; Susan Delostier, Loudon Elementary; Resource teacher; Sandra Coffey, Loudon Elementary, Title I; Margaret McQueen, Highland Park Elementary, half-time librarian.

The board reversed an earlier move to return to the six weeks grading period and re-instated the nine week grade reports.

A survey is being made this week to get parent feelings on the issue. Each student was to receive a letter Tuesday to give a preference on the grading periods. A committee of teachers, board members, and parents is making a study on the grade reporting period, but no action on changes is expected until the end of the school year.

Teachers have been instructed by the board to notify parents when a student is failing a subject.

development of a certificate-of-need and working drawings for a proposed new medical office building.

Such a medical building, seen as a tool in attracting new doctors to the county, had been recommended a week earlier by the Institutional Committee, a citizens committee advising the hospital board. Administrator Gay Hamilton told the board that a Public Works grant, with 100 percent financing, is to be available from the government this month. He said that if the hospital could obtain a certificate-of-need and the plans for the building, there would be a better chance of grant approval, because there was only a 90 day period for construction start-up after approval.

The board was told the certificate proposal will not cost any money and the architect has agreed to draw the plans at no charge until the project is bid.

Hamilton had previously shown the board preliminary plans for a three-story office building to house doctors' offices, patient beds and storage. The building is proposed to be built onto the west wing of the present hospital and to tie in with the administration wing. The proposed additional 15 hospital beds would be on the second floor of the new building.

For the second time in two months the hospital board changed its meeting night. Newspapers had informed the board after a secret ballot vote last month when the meeting was changed to Tuesday night, that the vote might be in violation of the open meeting law.

Board Chairman I.D. Conner in calling for an open vote on the meeting night said the board had nothing to hide from the public and if he had known there was any possible violation in the vote he would not have allowed it. The vote this time around was to have the monthly meeting at 7:15 p.m. on the third Monday of the month. They also decided to have a dinner meeting each quarter.

Chairman Conner reported that the radiology committee is still considering the three proposals to handle the hospital X-ray work and expects a report and recommendations at the September meeting.

John Roberts, board member who has several times directed remarks to local newspapers over their coverage of the board meetings, again accused the papers of sensationalizing the meetings. "It seems the reporters have reported on their emotions rather than the facts," Roberts said. "They seem to be trying to create news just to sell newspapers," he stated.

He made a motion to have the administrator to write the papers requesting an apology to the board and citizens of the county for the coverage. The motion failed 4-2. Roberts and Young, who seconded the motion voted for it. Gene Hamby, Roy Bledsoe, Homer Simpson, and Jim Blair voted against it. Members Nola Elam and Calvin Atchley did not vote.

TVA Power Rates Level

Charges for TVA power will show almost no change in September, leaving them at about the same levels as in September a year ago.

Charges each month reflect changes in fuel and purchased power costs on the TVA system. September charges will be based on costs experienced in July and these overall from the previous month's levels.

Under the most widely used power, the basis electric bill in September for a home using 1000 kilowatt-hours of electricity will be $26.18. That will be one cent above the comparable amount this month and eight cents above the September 1975 level, or a cent from the year-ago amount.

Charges for power had declined over a period of several months from last summer to this spring, then rose again over the past three months as costs increased to about the same levels as those a year ago.

Board Contracts Legal, State Says

points. Gary Kinsey questioned whether the mileage on the contract is part of the agreement. Chairman Ted Wampler said the miles are written in below the signatures and he thought they were out there by the superintendent's secretary for purposes of computing fee and were not part of the contract. He said he had always thought anything covered by a contract had to be above the signatures to be valid. Ted Randolph pointed out again that the present bus contract was in conflict with school board policies on contracts.

Kinsey said until a clarification on the contract is obtained the board had no choice but to add the extra miles.

The board did vote to get a clarification on the present contracts on whether the stated miles were not subject to change as is stated in the policy. Superintendent Headie was instructed to get that opinion from the state

Cannon Receives Scholarship

A scholarship to Carson-Newman College has been renewed for Steve Cannon of Loudon.

Carson-Newman College is a four-year, co-educational, liberal arts college owned by the Tennessee Baptist Convention. C-N is small enough to think each student is important, yet large enough to offer 26 different majors from the liberal arts and professional areas.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cannon, Loudon.

Thanks

... to the people of Loudon County for their support in the recent Republican Primary in my candidacy for the State Senate. The race was a close one and it was a pleasure to meet so many of you and to see the political process as a candidate.

GOOD OLD DAYS

Although our area has gained new and different types of industry, it has lost some also. Some due to economic reasons and others due to the change in demands or processes. One of our pictures this week is of a group of workers at the Lenoir City Car Shop, which at one time was the largest industry in the area. As all of our old timers know, it was located on West Broadway in Lenoir City and was operated by Southern Railway. As I have been told, at that time all of Southern's box cars were built at this plant. In later years, Southern moved it's car shops to South Carolina. Many of the men moved with them while others stayed on in Lenoir City. The foundry part of the car works remained in Lenoir City for many years and later it was closed. Many stories have come out of this industry. One was about the switch engine (steam powered) which was left one night without pulling the fire from the boiler. Sometimes during the night, the throttle valve slowly opened and the engine began to slowly move toward the main Southern Line. It slowly gained speed and went out the switch to the main line. Another engine pulling a train was headed south. The switch engine collided head on with the other engine, causing a serious and costly wreck on the main line. Maybe some of the old timers will recall something about this.

My father-in-law, the late H. G. Watts worked there as a car builder. He didn't tell me the story about the run-away engine, but he did tell me that they worked on piece work and you really had to work hard to make a living. At that time he lived about half way to Loudon and walked to and from work every day for many years. He later worked in Alabama and Virginia. He said appliance he worked in those days was hard, but jobs were scarce. Oh Yes, the picture was made around 1909. Our other picture this week is also from Lenoir City. It is of a well known Lenoir City business many years ago. This was the Tom Foster Barber Shop. We don't know where it was located, possibly in downtown Lenoir City. We are sure many of our readers will recall this popular Barber Shop.

We have enjoyed the pictures we have had from Lenoir City. We appreciate our many readers of the Good Old Days from there.

Well, thank it for now. See you next week.

ASCS Verifying Information

The ASCS Office is verifying information carried on office records, says John M. Hutton, Chairman of the Loudon County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. To do this, double post-cards have been mailed to most farms, several showing the name of the operator, the owner and the acreage of farmland and cropland carried on office records. Producers are asked to indicate if this is correct and return the cards.

MOVING PHILADELPHIA EQUIPMENT—Equipment for five of the eight grades at Philadelphia School were moved from the school cafeteria to the old Loudoun High School Friday where the classes will be held during the construction of a new school in Philadelphia. Due to a shortage of help and time, Superintendent Edward Headlee, Supervisor Bob Cassidy, Principal Buddy Bos, a number of Philadelphia teachers and students did much of the work loading and unloading numerous trucks with furniture and supplies.

By Edward Headlee
Loudoun County
School Superintendent

School Opens
School has officially begun for the 1976-1977 school year. Students were registered on Tuesday, August 24th and classes began on Thursday, August 26th. The only lucky folks are the five-year-olds. Kindergarten children wait until Tuesday, September 7th before starting their classes. We hope that we can have a successful and safe school year and those of us in the school department are eagerly looking forward to our studies of the curriculum and the possible revisions that may result as we attempt to improve and up-grade our schools. As we begin to work on this and other efforts to better our schools, we sincerely hope that parents and other citizens will become more interested in what goes on inside the school buildings during the school year. If you are asked for your opinion or your assistance on matters concerning our schools, we truly hope that you will readily be involved in helping us to improve our schools for our most precious natural resource - the children of Loudoun County.

School Buses
It is normal to have a few problems with transportation as school opens in the fall. Folks move into the county and others move away during the summer months. We hope that any parents who have problems with bus transportation will try to bear with us as we attempt to work out these situations. Without the Transportation Coordinator which the Board of Education requested but the County Court felt impelled to deny, it means that the superintendent must try to find the time within the already crowded schedule to work on these bus problems.

Two Sites Are Recommended For Historic Register

Two historic places near Loudon are among 40 potential historic sites in the East Tennessee Development District included in a staff report which will be used to contribute to the Parks, Recreation and Open Space Plan of ETDD.

The report forty places have been recommended for the council of 12 district superintendents, 650 ministers annually to 1,050 local churches and over 100 clergy to special ministries.

Before election as Bishop in 1964, Bishop Finger had served as President of Mississippi College, pastor and Navy chaplain. He is married to the former Mamie Lee Ratliff. They have 3 children.

The clergyman, whose recall of names is incredible, has served his church on many boards and agencies. Recently he has been named President of the general church's top financial agency and President of the Southeast Jurisdiction 1.5 of United Methodist Programing Council.

When notified about his appointment to Holston, Bishop Finger said, "To be identified in the ministry of the Church with United Methodists of East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia, and with other believers, is an enormous challenge and a great joy. The opportunities for the religious community have never been greater."

On returning to Holston, the Bishop commented, "I eagerly anticipate a renewed identification with Holston United Methodism in the 1960's, Mrs. Finger and I came to love this part of two great states. We are overjoyed to be back at work among agencies people."

Redskin Coaches Say Mistakes Can Be Mastered In Practice

Game Type Scrimmage Leaves Loudon With 7-6 Loss On Sale; Booster Parking Made Available

The Loudon Redskin football team and coaches have been working feverishly over the past four days of fall drills. The Redskins, who must have their grid act down to perfection by this Friday night when Knoxville Powell will be on hand to challenge the defending State "AA" Champions, lost a Wednesday evening scrimmage to Knoxville Central last week by the narrowest of margins, 7-6. The scrimmage set back the team as a bit of a shock to the near 75 Redskin boosters that were in attendance. The Redskins, who in recent years have been highly rated competitive grid team play-offs only to be stopped by a pair of Tennessee High of Bristol state triple-A grid kings, Knoxville Central tagged the lone defeat of the 1976 season on eventful Friday. A state-titled Oak Ridge fall in regular season play. Only two starters return to the Bobcat ranks from the 1975 team, yet with 2000 students to field a team from the yearly outlook is not always as dismal as often times experienced by the smaller populated schools of the Class AA and Class A systems. The Bobcats are not expected to be triple-A contenders this fall, as they are formed to be in a rebuilding season. But the Bobcats still managed to unveil their best practice effort of the fall for the Loudon scrimmage last Wednesday.

The Bobcats fashioned a quicker and more aggressive line than any scrimmage opponent the Loudon grid has encountered and the result proved to be a 7-6 Loudon loss and some immediate observations by Loudon coaches and a sudden realization of Redskin players prompted a full and busy practice schedule for the remaining time left before the Knoxville Powell contest.

REDSKIN SOPHOMORE GLITTERS IN SCRIMMAGE—Loudon sophomore running back Steve Watkins had his best day of the fall last Wednesday evening as the Redskins scrimmaged host Knoxville Central. Watkins, a promising sophomore, carried the ball for six downs in the scrimmage and gained 71 yards with his efforts. In this picture Steve runs off tackle for a six yard gain, past the Loudon 30 yard line.

take-down in the Loudon backfield to end the scoring threat. Loudon's quick stepping Greg Deatridge, instrumental in the success of the Loudon drive, turned ankle and was not as effective the remainder of the afternoon although he participated in the scrimmage to the final whistle.

Central punched the ball out to the 35 before staging its first part of the day. A slender Bobcat senior, Kicky Floyd, proved to be an awesome individual at the art of booting the pigskin as he boomed a 41 355 yard punt to the Loudon 10 and later drove a 29 yard punt that was grounded at the Loudon four yard line. The Bobcats punted five times for a 31 yard average.

Loudon's punting was shared between David Black and Steve Watkins, with Black hitting a 37 yarder for the best of four boots by the Redskins. The overall quickness of the Linemen, outstanding in the scrimmages, and a shanked punt for a first down dilemma, left the Redskins facing a stiff challenge at their own 25. The Bobcats wedged into the Loudon line for five yards. The Central quarterback rolled right and then threw back to his left with a perfect pass that gave the Redskins a touchdown and the extra point kick was good. The first half time also expired on the scoring.

Central again got the football to start the second half. A first down, and a slickout defensive effort by Loudon's junior linebacker Mark Moore, Steve Watkins, who totaled 71 yards in his best individual showing of the fall, rammed six yards. Greg Deatridge added a six yarder to the score board. Black blasted for five yards and Watkins punched out an impressive 12 yards. The

The Loudon High School Redskin 1976 Fall Football Campaign will open this Friday night with a home game opposite Knoxville Powell. Game time is set for 7 p.m. at the gates on game night will sell for $2.

Loudon athletic officials have announced a home game season ticket offer of $10 for reserve seats for adults and $5 for students. Nine more rows have been added to the Loudon reserved section that covers the area between the 40 yard line. Reserved seats in the past have covered from seats 9 thru 29, this fall's seating will include seats one through 37. Season tickets can be purchased at the Loudon High School main office. Many Redskin boosters have already purchased season tickets.

Loudon home games for 1976 include Knoxville Powell, Loudon City, Kingston, Harriman and Rye. The perennial clash of East Tennessee double-A play-off games, Loudon-Maryville home game, will be played on Friday, Oct. 24 at the gates on game night will sell for $2.

Loudon ground game was halted as Central claimed a loose fumble. Jim Brown led a defensive stop of the Central offense. A 50 yard punt backed Loudon into its own end zone and a couple of second effort escapes prevented a safety in the Loudon end zone. Steve Watkins rammed the ball out from the one foot line to the 21 yard line on a nifty jump. But Loudon could not advance past the 29 and had to punt.

A swap of the football had Central again battling Loudon from its own 36. The Bobcats drove to the 50 only to have Jim Brown and Dennis Stewart grab a fumble for the Loudon cause. Loudon gained a first down only to be thrown back by a 15 yard holding penalty. Carter Cardwell launched a 50 yard bomb to senior Conway Dukes as Loudon hit the score board. Jim Brown's conversion try was ruled wide and the score stood 7-6.

Loudon received a sound defensive effort from lineman Junior Reilly and Carter Cardwell landed on and Cartwright as Loudon was able to get two more offensive series. Cartwright only to have one die at the Central 20 and the other at the Central 43 that ended the scrimmage.

The Bobcat linemen offered Loudon a new wrinkle that must be considered as the season fast approaches. Will the wack 180 to 190 pound linemen be too fast for the Loudon bigger and stronger linemen to keep under thumb. Certainly the Knoxville Central fundamental play and fast pursuit forced numerous Loudon mistakes and offensive break downs.

Loudon head coach Bert Rallege was not of major concern as far as expressing his thoughts. "We needed the scrimmage from such a team as this. We made mistakes and we learn on people a lot rather than block them, but the weather is hot and muggy and this can reduce the effectiveness of big linemen at this time of year. It won't be this warm in October and November," reminded the head coach. "Our mistakes can be improved on with practice and work, this type problem is not as difficult to correct as one where the weakness can not be shored up."

Concerned or not Loudon coaches were using every available minute of remaining practice time to "upgrade" their fundamental techniques and a lengthy skill session was to be conducted prior to Monday's final week of season opening planning.

Domestic cats were used to hunt birds by the ancient Egyptians.

EXTRA POINT EFFORT—Loudon's junior defensive end Jim Brown puts a foot into an attempted conversion kick following a Redskin touchdown in a practice scrimmage at Knoxville Central last Wednesday. The foot was ruled wide of the uprights as Loudon suffered a 7-6 point loss.

RAYMOND WATKINS FAMILY Sweeps Contest Money

The first week of The Herald Football Contest for the 1976 season was won by Neil Watkins with a 30 point tie-breaker. Others that were close were Mary F. Stevens and Jerral G. Phelps. The second week of The Contest features the Loudon Redskins back in their number one slot on the entry blank and the tie-breaker was decided by the breaker as five per cent missed only one game. The correct tie-breaker was 21 points (Lessor City 10-Holston 11; With 27 points was Phil

STACKED UP BLOCKER—Loudon blocker Bryan Curtis does not appear to be getting a fair challenge from a "hoop" of Knoxville Central defensive players. Curtis looks to be about even in strength in tracking up a trio of Bobcats. One of Loudon's supposed better assets this fall will be a strong and aggressive line.

STACKED UP BLOCKER—Loudon blocker Bryan Curtis does not appear to be getting a fair challenge from a "hoop" of Knoxville Central defensive players. Knoxville Holston Stuns Panther Gridders With Two Point Conversion Pass In Overtime, 11-10

There is never much reward for losing, but apparently Lenoir City's 11-10 overtime season opening football defeat to triple-A Knoxville Holston last Friday night was not a complete bust. The determined Panther spirit which has been rekindled by the fire and savvy of new head football coach Scott Conner and the best Panther football fan following in recent seasons may be paying dividends already.

Coach Conner and his determined group of Panther gridgers were naturally a heart broken bunch following Friday night's nightmarish opening game that had ended in a defensive struggle 3-3 deadlock. And then the valid offensive punch of a first down 10 yard scoring romp by senior Walt Thaxton in overtime to heighten the spirits of the Panther cause.

The Warriors countered however with a touchdown of their own and the desperation conversion pass was to the mark and the Panthers had tasted a bitter defeat and the possible setback of months of hard work and preparation of a winning note. But as the dark cloud may have seemed to be darkest, Coach Conner and his Panthers were met at Monday's practice session by three new varsity prospects wishing to join the football ranks. Also four new freshmen were issued pads by freshman coach Hill Satterfield.

"Any time you get the attention of seven prospective players who have been waiting their turn in the stands, you can't count things a total loss," stated Coach Conner. "We feel the addition of these people will contribute to both programs."

Such enthusiasm definitely must be catching on and maybe soon the Panther boss will be blessed with such numbers that he can field both a team of quality and quantity.

Friday night at Knoxville Holston saw the Panther football spirit at a very high and emotional peak. The crisp blocking and tackling displayed a new fire of pride and desire to compete.

Lenoir City opened the game with a stick-on defense surge that allowed just one first down before a fourth down punt was in order.

The first Panther offensive try was short circuited, as

Thaxton, Matlock Named LC Leaders For Alcoa Game

Lenoir City football coach Scott Conner announced Tuesday that game captains for the Panther-Alcoa football game Friday night would be starting quarterback Jimmy Matlock, who was credited with 11 down field blocks in the 11-10 Knoxville Holston overtime loss, and running back Walt Thaxton who was involved in 14 tackles despite playing a safety position.

THE PAIN OF DEFEAT—As if caught up in a nightmare, Lenoir City coaches, players, and managers display expressions of disbelief as Knoxville Holston opening football loss. Lenoir City would start its offensive rotation once more and Porter answered with 11 more yards. Thaxton and Varner coupled for 13 yards, as first downs registered like bells ringing at a fire hall. The heat was taking its toll on the triple-A Warriors. A personal foul penalty tacked on 13 more yards and still another Panther first down.

From the Holston 20 the Warriors became too eager and five more yards were marked off on an offside penalty.

Ryan, Porter, Thaxton, and Herbert Sartan legged the ball to the Holston one yard line and a fourth down and goal.

Early Greenback Touchdowns Stave Off Battling Vikings 13-7

The Greenback Vikings, who would tacklers had the following a Friday night rain postponement of their regular season football opening at Tennessee School for the Deaf, got things moving on Monday night with a slim 13-7 triumph over the Vikings.

The Vikings won the toss and following a seven yard kick-off return by fullback Danny Dotson, continued on the march in rolling 62 yards for a touchdown.

Junior tackle Steve Linginfelter split the uprights for a 7-0 score, just 4:38 into the game.

Fullback Dotson, a 175-pound senior, was instrumental in the Cherokee opening drive with six carries for 30 yards and the final three yards to pay dirt.

The Cherokee chalked up four first downs in the impressive parade down the field.

A 12 yard punt following a gang busting defensive effort by the fired up Greenback

Danny Dotson, Chris Blair and Jeff Crisp were instrumental in a Greenback defensive charge that returned the ball back to the Cherokee with 6:42 to play in the first half.

Chris Blair downed a 24 yard TSD punt with a fair catch at the Viking 36.

Two minutes and six seconds remained in the half when Steve Linginfelter topped the extra point, trying leaving the score 13-0.

TSD received the second half kick-off and only a shoe string tackle by Lynn Rucker kept the ball carrier from going the distance.

The Cherokee, showing a trace of tiredness and not tacking with the power showed in the first two quarters, finally halted the Vikings at the 40 and a 36 yard punt had the Cherokee Steve Linginfelter cannoned on 48 yard punt to once again put the football back to the middle area.

TSD's determined offensive spirit had the ball moving once more and this time the Viking's would collect three first downs and reach the Greenback one yard line, only to be denied a score as Glenn Quillen stole a pass and returned it 33 yards to the 36.

The Vikings, with the ball to open the fourth quarter, staged a 13 play 62-yard drive that gave them their only touchdown of the game. The initial scoring thrust took three efforts from the Greenback one yard line before the Cherokee defense would yield.

Sweetwater Pee Wee Teams Take Three Wins From Loudon

By Joe Williams

Sweetwater Midget Footballers played a regular scheduled visit to Loudon this past Monday night, winning three of four games.

The Sweetwater Grasshoppers piled up 21 yards of total offense behind the ball toting efforts of Tim Gibby and Brian Shoppe in clubbering the Loudon team 38-0. It was Loudon's youngest age group gridder's first loss of the season in two games. Loudon did not record a first down and had a minus 21 yards total offense. Timmy Potter managed 10 yards in seven carries for the Loudon Grasshoppers.

The Sweetwater Grasscutters untracked Terrance Cleveland on a 58 yard third quarter romp that proved the difference in the second game, Loudon losing 6-0.

The lone Loudon bright spot was a 19 yard pass received by Randy Aikens that accounted for the only Loudon first down of the game. Sweetwater had four first downs and 120 yards of offensive effort.

Loudon's only success of the night came in the third game with the Mustangs penning a 2-0 decision on a third quarter safety. Mustang defensive back Reggie Brown tackled Sweetwater's Kevin Sharp in the end zone to score the two-point.

Tim Lennox carried the football for 28 of the Mustangs 64 yards of total offense. Kevin White with 13 carries for 39 yards made up the other half of the Mustang offensive power.

The Loudon Indians, who received a forfeit from Homestead last week when the visitors showed up with nine players over weight, were not so lucky Monday night. Sweetwater capitalizing on a blocked punt at the one yard line tied the game at 8-8 in the third quarter and went on to win the contest by a 14-8 score in overtime.

Loudon had scored on the alertness of Terry Hand, who recovered a Zell Hawkins fumble in the end zone to cap a scoring drive. A two point conversion pass was good.

Billy Moxer carried the ball 12 times for 44 yards as Loudon dominated the statistics with seven first downs to two and 113 yards rushing and 46 yards passing. Sweetwater totaled only 47 yards of offense for the entire game and two first downs.

Mark McCallie and Terry Hand anchored the Indians defense.

Loudon will travel to Crossville this Saturday night. Loudon midget football fans are reminded that the Crossville area is in another time zone and normal five o'clock games starting in Loudon will start an hour later there.

Panthers Lose Grid Opener yards out as Lenoir City closed the first period with a 3-0 edge.

Walt Thaxton, who paced all individual tacklers in the game from his safety position with 14 was assisted by big Roger Landrum in forcing a Houston punt at mid-field. A tremendous rush on the Warrior punter by Richard Vest, Frank Underwood, and Landrum paid handsomely as the punt was shanked for two yards in distance.

Panther miscues once again took the momentum away as Porter lost the handle at the 50 with 7:22 to play in the half.

Chris Wampler, Thaxton, Jackie Ryan, and Underwood teamed to halt the Warriors, once applying an 11 yard loss as Houston punted away to the Lenoir City 20.

The Panther offense bogged and Phil Reed hit a 35 yard punt.

Houston ran only one play as Roger Landrum lowered the boom on the ball carrier with the best Lenoir City defensive stop in four to five years. The ball was literally knocked loose and Chris Wampler recovered the ball.

The Panthers hurriedly ran up two first downs as the Lenoir City offense battles both the Warrior defense and the half time clock.

Finally from the 12 yard line the Panthers were stalled and Amos tried a 31 yard field goal. The junior guard got a little under the ball and the football lost its steam just short of the cross bar as the half came to a close.

The second half was packed with one surprise after another. The Panthers were unsuccessful at moving the football after the kickoff. A holding penalty of 15 yards and a low snap from center on the fourth down punt ended with Houston taking over the ball on the Lenoir City eight.

A three yard carry moved the ball to the five and a score was soon to be expected. The Panther defense tightened with a cracking performance. The ball became separated from the Houston ball carrier and Richard Vest claimed the prize in the end zone for a touchdown and the Panthers took charge at their own 20.

The Panthers moved the ball to mid-field and as Houston took their turn once more on offense Don Mabry, Sartan, and Porter, and Thaxton grouped to apply the defensive stops and Chris Wampler claimed his second fumble recovery late in the third quarter to protect the 3-0 Panther lead.

Early in the final quarter Houston had traveled to the Panther 40 and then punted to the LC 3. The Panthers wedged the ball out to the 10 before Phil Reed hit a 33 yard punt that was returned to the Panther 34.

Eight minutes remained in the game. Houston ran three plays in 12 seconds and a first down was in order. Lenoir City linebacker Steve Porter came through with a hard tackle, sending him to the sidelines for the night with a bruised neck and the Houston ballcarrier to the hospital with a cracked bone in his leg.

The Warrior penetration did not end until they had reached the 18, here on fourth down the Houston offense went for a field goal. From 35 yards away the ball barely made the cross bar at the 5:55 mark of the final quarter for a 3-3 1976 season. Game time is a deadlock.

The ball swapped possessions with both teams:

Lenoir City 300047-18
Houston 802938-11

keeping the ball for two series each before official time expired.

The overtime period followed with Lenoir City winning the toss for choice of possession. Walt Thaxton from Notre Dame Box offense faked a hand off to a cutting rack and ran right untouched for a easy score.

Keith Amos made the count 16-3.
Houston answered back with a touchdown on three plays and then went for a two point conversion. The quarterback looked hopelessly trapped when he threw a desperation pass that some how found its target and the Panther reach for victory had been snatched away.

Walt Thaxton was the Panther leader in both offense and defense with 16 carries for 54 yards and a touchdown. He added 14 tackles on defense.

Steve Porter ran for 37 yards in six trips. Doyle Varner 23 yards on five snaps, and Jackie Ryan, who suffered a blood vessel break in his right wrist late in the game, had 40 yards on eight carries.

Herbert Sartan had seven yards on four calls. On defense Thaxton was assisted by Chris Wampler's seven stops, Herbert Sartan had nine, Roger Landrum seven and Don Mabry added the Houston play host to Aloos this Friday night for their first home game for the 1976 season. Game time is a deadlock.

The ball swapped possessions with both teams:

The extra point kick was good.

Greenback could manage but a single first down after the kickoff and Linginfelter punt the ball to the TSD six.

With 3:01 to play TSD sought to rally with a chance to win or tie the game, the Greenback goal line 94 yards away.

The Vikings were unable to advance past their own 14 and a punting effort with 1:24 to play saw ranging junior tackle Steve Linginfelter slice through the TSD ranks to block the punt and Greenback took over exhausting the clock parked on the Viking eight yard line.

Linginfelter was shaken up on the blocked punt, as leg and knee cramps forced him to the dressing room. Linginfelter, retired for the night with eight individual tackles and three assists to go with his blocked punt.

assists and Eric Belcher with a sparkling All Conference showing of 12 individual tackles and 12 assists led the Cherokeees in the defensive play.

Other top Greenback defensive stars were Danny Dotson, Jeff Crisp, Chris McNeily, and Glenn Quillen.

On offense the Cherokeees stumbled some following the first half, but still individually the Cherokee backs combined for 135 yards rushing. Danny Dotson carried the ball 10 times for 40 yards and a touchdown. Roddy Kiser ran 10 plays for 53 yards. Mitch Smith added 28 yards on seven carries and Chris Blair four yards on three calls.

Lynn Rusker with two pass receptions for 73 yards was the top individual in registering air coverage.

Greenback will be at home again this Friday night, encountering Seymour at 7:30 p.m. on Cooper Field.

QUILLEN HAS ROUGH NIGHT—Greenback senior split end Glen Quillen had the misfortune of a rough season opening football game last Monday night in the pass receiving department. Glenn's long reception came on a pass interception of a TSD or the throw was just not hardy strong enough to reach its intended destination as seen in bottom picture. Nevertheless Quillen will be out to snag his share this Friday night as Greenback hosts Seymour.

Vo Ed Board Hears Reports

School began at the multi-million dollar Loudon County Vocational Center last week, but the bathroom facilities were not yet useable. The sewer pump station had not yet been delivered but was expected this week. The Vocational School Governing Board Thursday night asked that Loudon County make some $4500 available to run a line from the pump station to the sewer line near the school. The County Court agreed to provide the pump station and inspection some time ago when they got state approval to purchase the Jim Fine Property on Harrison Road for the school. Later the state agreed to furnish the $15,000 pumping station leaving only the line hook up to the county. The matter will be taken to the county court budget committee at their next meeting.

The Vocational Board approved the hiring of Harry Bumgardner of Anderson County as Welding Instructor at the school at a first year salary of $9,000. Bumgardner is a graduate of the Knoxville Vocational School and has had five years welding experience. The construction of a three bedroom, two bath home of some 1500 square feet in size was approved to be built by the building trades classes. The house will be sold at between $35,000 and $36,000. School Director Coy Gibson said the board approved the purchase of a lot from the Lenoir City School Board in the Harrison Hills Subdivision subject to the LC board approval.

Her announcement follows:

"I am a candidate for Delegate from the 36th Representative District, consisting of parts of Roane and Cumberland Counties and two precincts each of Loudon and McMinn Counties—to the Tennessee Constitutional Convention.

"This is a non-partisan office and candidates for it must run as independents and not as party nominees. I have been a Democrat all my life and have worked for Democratic nominees throughout Tennessee since I attained voting age, but I will welcome the votes of Democrats, Republicans and independents on November 2, 1976.

"I have been associated with or worked in County and State government almost all of my adult life and feel that I have a good knowledge of the working of these governments, and that consequently I am well qualified to represent the people of the Thirty Sixth District in the Constitutional Convention which convenes August 1, 1977, in Nashville.

"I plan to campaign extensively and want to meet and talk with all the people in my district, in order to be better informed as to how each of its citizens desires me to vote on the various amendments to the constitution which may come before the convention. As your delegate I will be your representative at the convention and my votes will reflect your wishes and not my own personal opinions."

SUGARLIME WORK UNDERWAY—A construction crew began work on correcting a large fill slide on the new Sugar Limb Connector last week. The present work is being done in the area of a concrete culvert at the base of the massive fill. The culvert will be lengthened to allow for a broader fill slope. Under heavy rains the roadway at the top of the 120 foot fill collapsed. Repair to the road is costing the state over $300,000.

At New Ralston Purina Plant . . . Mushroom Growing Will Be Exacting Science

Trays will then be placed into environmentally controlled room air, either fresh air, or recirculation, and steam is used for humidity while spawn is growing.

Trays will be in this room for approximately 12 days. By this time spawn should be fully grown throughout the several inches deep compost in the trays. Then the trays are taken out and put through the machine again, and an inch and three-quarters pasteurized peat moss will be put on the compost surface.

Next the trays are put into what are called the "pinning" rooms. Here again humidity, heat and air conditioning is controlled for a period of seven to nine days, where the air is recirculated (no fresh air). At the proper time fresh air will be added and cause mushrooms to form on the peat moss. This is called "pinning."

rooms. There are 30 of these growing rooms in the Madisonville, Texas, farm, more are planned at Loudon. Each room holding stacks and stacks of trays. In the growing rooms the trays are watered by hand to proper level, fresh air introduced and heat or air conditioning added to keep the room temperature at 64 degrees (bed temperature to 70-72 degrees).

After four to five days the first "flush" is ready to be picked. After each flush trays are watered again to bring out the next flush, so about four flushes (crops) are produced per tray for each 30-day period.

When the last flush is completed, the large trays are taken out and dumped. The trays are taken to the "post crop" room, using live steam where 150 degree temperature for four hours to kill everything which might contaminate the trays, which will be used for the next 30-day crop cycle. Three crops are kept in various points in their cycle at all times in the plant to insure full production of mushrooms.

Not only the trays but the used compost is also sterilized in this room. The used compost, still rich in nutrients, will be bagged and sold as a by-product for fertilizer or potting soil.

Once again the trays are dumped and cleaned, then go back to be filled in Phase I and the process starts all over again.

The Pentagon said there were no survivors among the 18 persons aboard the plane that crashed at 12:45 p.m. The Air Force said there was no apparent connection between the two large four-engine Starlifters. Both planes were out of McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey. Melton's plane left McGuire early Saturday. Authorities said that the crash that killed Melton and the others was in enroute to Mildenhall Royal Air Force assigned to the school, although not all of it has been received and installed. "If we had waited for everything to be complete we would have lost the entire year of instruction. It is always a little disorganized at first and the incompleteness is not making this any more of a problem than they would have been anyway," Gibson stated. "I think we will be in our full instructional process by mid-October," he said. The 14 areas of vocational instruction which will allow students completing the full program to find employment in skilled positions are Radio and TV repair, Commercial Foods, Child Care, Office

Occupations, Small Engines, Drafting, Printing, Auto Body, Auto Mechanics, Welding, Machine Shop, Air Conditioning and Heating, General Building Trades and Nursing Occupations. Director Gibson said that he believes the Loudon Vocational Education Center will have the most experienced and skilled group of instructors in the state. He said that many of the instructors have over 20 years experience in their field and are willing to take teaching positions at $9,000 which is much less than they made following their trade. An open house for the general public will be held at the school after it is completed and the equipment is all installed.

State Opinion Selby Joins Backs School First Heritage Board Contracts Bank Staff

The written opinion on the question of who has legal authority of signing teacher contracts and contracts with school bus owners in Loudon County was received late last week by Superintendent Edward Headlee. Headlee had received a telephone notification of the opinion earlier that said the School Board and not the County Purchasing Agent had the authority over such contracts as had been questioned by County Judge William Russell. The opinion was written by State Assistant Attorney General Richard Lodge. Portions of the letter are as follows: "You ask whether the County Purchasing Law of 1967, is applicable to employment by the Loudon County Board of Education of bus drivers and school teachers. The Loudon County Board of Education has drivers and school teachers. The Loudon County Board of Education has been under the approval of the Commissioner of Education, since 1967. "It is the opinion of the Attorney General that contracts between the Loudon County Board of Education and its school teachers and bus drivers do not come within the County Purchasing Law. "The County Purchasing Law is a general statute which provides for a means of contracting for supplies, materials, equipment and contractual services. It does not specifically apply to regular employment of necessary personnel. "As a general law, the County Purchasing Law is subordinate to contrary specific statutory provisions. Two such statutory provisions are T.C.A. 49-2-1(1) and T.C.A. 49-2-201. These provisions provide that county school teachers and county bus drivers shall be chosen by, employed by and under contract with the county boards of education. "The general provisions of the County Purchasing Law, if construed broadly enough to include regular contracts for school teachers and bus drivers, must yield to the specific provisions of the educational statutes. Sincerely, Richard Lodge Assistant Attorney General

A Message From Marvin Woods

Dear Customers & Friends:
Nineteen years ago Woods Mercury Sales announced its opening in cramped quarters on North Main Street. Since that day it has been our policy to provide excellent products and courteous, efficient service, thus let the end results govern our growth.
Your response to our efforts has been the indicator to this growth. In the beginning we had only one car line to sell - the Mercury. Since that time we have added Lincoln Continental - Chrysler - Plymouth - Dodge and Dodge Trucks.
We now can offer our customers a complete choice of any size and price.
We have also built new modern facilities and added the finest mechanical equipment and acres of outside display space.
Our volume has increased 8 times over that our first year. While we have had the opportunity of serving the finest people in the world, your response to our effort has been terrific.
I would like to say thank you and invite you to our 19th anniversary celebration. Look over our inventory of approximately 100 new and used cars and let our experienced salesmen assist in making you a satisfied customer.

Mairs Enters Convention Delegate Race

Mairi Hood Mairs of Louisville, Blount County, has announced her candidacy for delegate to the Tennessee Constitutional Convention from the 21st Legislative District, which includes the western portion of Blount County and most of Loudon County.

Mairi Mairs, a lifetime Republican, as never before participated in party politics in the 21st District, she said, "I have always been interested in government at the local, state and national level, and feel that this convention is of vital interest and importance to all the citizens here, as well as to the state of Tennessee itself. I have studied the issues and am looking forward to going out and meeting the people in the 21st District, discussing the issues with them, and most importantly determining their views so that I can best represent them at the convention."

She is the daughter of Marco and John W. Hood of Louisville. Hood having retired here after serving as chief metallurgist for the Aluminum Co. of America. Mairi left Alcoa at the age of 19, completing her schooling in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and receiving a Bachelor of Science Degree from Bucknell University.

She was employed as a laboratory technician at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and as a biochemist for several years at the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Hospital for Cancer Research as head technician in the surgical-physiology

Business Booming In Loudon County

Loudon County's economy moved into higher gear in the past year, according to a national survey of business activity released.

The added momentum was powered, principally, by heavier spending on the part of local consumers, most of whom had more money at their command than the year before and less hesitancy about using it.

The facts and figures on income and spending in the area, with comparable data for communities in other parts of the country, are contained in a copyrighted study made by Sales and Marketing Management, Inc. called "Survey of Buying Power."

It shows that the overall income of Loudon County residents was at a high level. Net earnings, after payment of personal taxes, amounted to $97,466,000, topping the previous year's total of $84,494,000.

Just what this was equivalent to, in terms of the individual family, is indicated by the median income per household, which marks the midpoint on the income scale. It came to $9,866 per household. The year before it was $9,544 per household.

agree, almost without exception, that the business outlook is bright for the near future.

They expect that, with incomes rising faster than the cost of living, which has been the case lately, with unemployment declining somewhat and with inflation staying within bounds, the confidence of consumers will improve and they will return to their freer spending habits.

Their ability to do so is enhanced by the fact that most of them have more savings than usual saved away, due to their cutback in spending during the recession.

And, the reasoning goes, since consumer spending is the backbone of our economy, once it gets into full swing again, industrial production will increase to meet the demand, opening up job opportunities for more people.

In Loudon County, the improvement is already underway, the figures show, with the past year's local retail stores recorded gross sales of $50,092,000, as against the previous year's total of $45,215,000.

It was a rise of 10.3 percent, which compares with 5.8 percent in the United States and with 7.0 percent in the East South Central States.

she spent a summer at Oak Ridge, taking a course in the use of nuclear isotopes in medical research.

She then accepted a position as research instructor at Vanderbilt University Hospital, Nashville, to design, set up, and run the clinical research center laboratory for the hospital.

In 1970 Mrs. Mairs and her husband, E. D. Mairs, a lifetime employee of the Aluminum Co. of America and Vice-President in charge of Personnel and Industrial Relations, retired to Louisville.

Since her husband's death in December 1972, Mrs. Mairs has devoted her time to charitable activities. She is currently a member of the board and second vice-president of the Blount County Chapter of the American Red Cross where she devotes a day a week as a volunteer.

She is active in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church of Maryville, having served as president of the Women's Auxiliary and is currently an officer of the Vestry as well as chairman of the memorial committee and a member of the finance committee.

our modern supermarkets and asked for these items in gallon measure, they possible would be laughed at, just part of the changing times.

Our thoughts along these lines was prompted by one of our pictures this week. This picture comes out of the era of those times when things were very different than they are today.

Of course, this picture is of a hardware store. They have also come under some drastic changes. A lot of the items (like the supermarkets) now come pre-packaged for customers.

This picture was made in downtown Lenoir City many many years ago. It was the well known Cardwell Hardware Store. Pictured in front are John Wesley Cardwell and Roy G. Cardwell, Sr. This picture was possibly made when electric lights were something new. Note the maza signs and display in the store window. They might have been the only dealer in Lenoir City who sold electric light bulbs or lamps. We can't make out all the printing on the poster.

Our other picture is of a Lenoir City baseball team of many years ago. The town was noted for having an outstanding team and played Loudon quite often during those years as well as they have many years since that time.

Body Recovered Monday...

Cruiser's Wake Flips Fishing Boat, One Man Drowns

BODY BROUGHT ASHORE—A double line of Rescue Squadsman passed the body of Jackie Lynn Chastain, hand to hand some 100 feet to a Rescue Squad Ambulance after the drowning victim's body was recovered from below Fort Loudoun Dam Monday.

VICTIM'S BOAT RECOVERED—The small fishing boat in which three men were fishing when it was overturned in the wake of a cruiser below Fort Loudoun Dam Saturday is shown after it was found a half mile downstream from the accident scene. Helping pull the boat in is Ronnie James, 14, one of the three in the boat that overturned. James and Bill Morgan managed to get to shore, but fishing companion Jackie Lynn Chastain, 25, drowned. The fishermen recovered the boat were Verlin Pierce and Eddie Evans.

Two Swim To Bank Safely

After 41 hours of dragging operations in the Tennessee River about two and one-half miles below Fort Loudoun Dam the body of Jackie Lynn Chastain, 25, was recovered less than a 100 feet from where he was believed drowned about 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Chastain and two others were checking a trot line in the river about 200 yards above from the old landing off Riverview Road at the Lenoir City Industrial Park when their boat was swamped by a large cruiser that was going down river. The two survivors of the incident Ronnie James, 14, of Monterey, and his brother-in-law, Bill Morgan, 22, Church Drive in Lenoir City, said the wake from the big boat caused their 12 foot aluminum fishing boat to nose-over throwing them into the river. Morgan managed to swim out along with James who was the only one wearing a life jacket. Chastain was wearing a pair of heavy boots and apparently could not swim out, although he was said to be a good swimmer. Morgan and James said they heard him yell for help and then disappear in the water.

After the two got out of the water they went to a nearby home and called for an ambulance and the rescue squad. Chastain lived in the Riverview (Backtown) area, as did his parents. His grandmother said he had a grandfather who was the fisherman in the area of the accident in his life.

The men had set up a ramp across the river campsite across the river from the old landing and were preparing to fish over the Labor Day weekend. Chastain was employed at Maremont. His wife, Terry, was at the Riverside during most of the dragging. They have an 18-month-old daughter, Donnie. Morgan and James told Loudon County Deputy Allen Clemmer that a large cruiser, a triple decker, white with yellow or brown trim was going South on the river and the wake from it caused the accident. Officers from the Roane County Sheriff's Department using a patrol boat and Wildlife Resource Officers Ed Witt and Rex Collier were investigating to try and locate and identify the boat responsible.

A large cruiser was stopped several miles below Loudon that had cleared the Fort Loudoun Dam locks about 10 or 15 minutes before the accident, but it did not match the description given by the officers. It was unclear if the responsible boater was found if they would be accountable for the accident.

By 4:25 p.m. Captain John Parris of the Loudon County Rescue Squad had units in the water dragging. Two fishermen, Verlin Pierce and Eddie Evans, who were in the area when the accident happened, but did not witness it, found the boat three-quarters of a mile down nearly a half mile downstream. Later during the dragging operation Rescue Squadmen located a tacklebox and gas tank from the boat. Within an hour the Loudon County Squad had five boats in the water and continued to work throughout the night.

Sunday morning they were joined by Squadmen and equipment from Knox, Blount, Monroe and Roane Counties. There were 92 squadmen and 13 boats in the operation that continued all day. The Squadmen were fed by the wives and volunteers who brought food to the scene. Squads from Anderson, Rhea, Sevier, Cumberland, Meigs and Morgan Counties and the city of Etowah were added early Monday morning when the body was located by a boat of Morgan County Squadmen. About 20 boats were on the water when Chastain's body was found and more were on the way. Captain Parris said Parris and Loudon County Squadmen Tom Jensen and Dennis Moldenhour brought the boat ashore.

The site of this accidental drowning was about one and one-half miles downstream from where two fishermen drove over the July 4th weekend.

Captain Parris said the local law enforcement agencies and Auxiliary Police officers helped and especially the efforts of the Squad wives and those who made donations to help feed the men in the operation.

After the body was recovered every body found at the scene then formed two lines and passed the body to a waiting rescue squad ambulance that took it to the hospital.

Squires Consider Industrial Land Sale

Loudon County Court will consider a joint proposal with the City of Lenoir City to sell seven acres of land in the Lenoir City Industrial Park to Johnson City Chemical Company at their regular monthly meeting at 9 a.m. Monday.

It is understood that the tentative agreement with the firm also depends on other factors such as obtaining a rail spur and other items.

The Court will hear a presentation from George Tidwell of the Tennessee Division of Property Assessments on methods of property appraisal the county could use to bring the real property to a more equitable level.

The final approval on the sale of 22 million in rural school bonds to finance part of the present school building program is expected. The bonds are scheduled for sale on Thursday, Sept. 16.

Consideration of allowing the Loudon County Humane Society to use a portion of the remaining $10,000 balance they say is owed them from operation of the Loudon County Ambulance Service.

The Hospital will also ask that appointment of hospital board members now due to postponed until the board completes a revision of the hospital bylaws.

Memorial Hospital is expected to ask the court to pay the remaining $10,000 balance they say is owed them from operation of the Loudon County Ambulance Service.

The Hospital will also ask that appointment of hospital board members now due to postponed until the board completes a revision of the hospital bylaws.

SARAH JANE ADKINS

17 Month Old Girl Falls In Farm Pond

Apparent Drowning Victim Revived, Dies Day Later

A desperate 26 hour struggle for life by 17 month old Sarah Jane Adkins was lost at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Since about 6 a.m. Tuesday when the little girl was found floating in a farm pond near her home on Fox Creek Road, near Loudon, efforts of her parents, emergency medical technicians, doctors at the Loudon County Memorial Hospital and Children's Hospital in Knoxville using every method from simple artificial respiration and heart massage to the most advanced medicines and medical machinery to save her life.

Sarah was found in the pond by her mother, Mrs. Frank Adkins who quickly summoned her husband and the two began using artificial respiration and heart massage to revive the lifeless form while waiting for the Loudon County Ambulance Service.

Ambulance Service Director Mike Langley, an emergency medical technician, and O'Dell Justice answered the call to the home about five miles from Loudon. Langley said he saw the situation was very grave and that the child had no pulse, heartbeat or breathing action.

He and the parents continued to try and revive Sarah on the way to the hospital.

Dr. Sam Harrison, on duty at the hospital immediately used medicines and equipment at the hospital to save the child. During the next 90 minutes to two hours, Dr. Harrison, Dr. Pete Stimpson, Joyce Stimpson, Langley and emergency medical technicians Ronny Willis, Danny Kincaid and Hay Hook worked with the child until they got a heart beat, pulse and breathing action.

Keeping the child on mechanical breathing equipment and a heart monitor she was taken to Children's Hospital in Knoxville.

The fear when she left Loudon was that irreparable damage had been done because of the length of time the brain had been without oxygen. Dr. Stimpson said that in the case of a drowning victim continued and prolonged periods of time are used in trying to revive the victim.

In some types of apparent death there is little use in prolonged actions to revive the victim, but in drownings sometimes the victim can be revived and recover, Dr.

Doctors, EMTs Restore Heart Beat

Survivor of Apparent Drowning Dies Day Later

Stimpson said. "In this case it just took too long," he said.

At Children's Hospital the battle was continued but the efforts there got no response beyond a heart beat. Tests showed that there was no brain waves and no kidney functions but the heart continued to beat for several hours in a body that had no chance to survive. Finally the heartbroken parents were told their daughter was dead. Mr. Adkins said the longer his daughter sustained a heart beat the stronger she appeared, but the fact that her brain was dead meant there was no chance.

Sarah was the only child of the Adkins who moved to Loudon from Meigs last November. Mr. Adkins said that everyone who was involved in the effort to save their daughter's life did a remarkable job and they wanted to thank them publicly. Every body did all that was possible and we are thankful," he said. The family are members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Survivors other than the parents are maternal grandmothers, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Battersworth, Casper, Wyo.; paternal grandmothers, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, Dayton, O.; great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Jane Hill, Dayton.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with Bishop Brent Miller officiating. Burial will be in the family cemetery, Mann Mortuary in Knoxville was in charge.

Two Charged After Fight

Two Knoxville men were charged with felonious assault following a fight and shooting at the farm. When he arrived at the farm, he said he took a shotgun and pistol from James Bailey who said that he and a son-in-law, Jimmy Larry Ray, 20, of Knoxville had been in an argument when Ray's friend, Melvin Cooper, Jr. got a gun. Bailey said they fought over the gun.

Chief Deputy Luke Bright said a woman called the Justice Center saying that there was a fight and shooting at the farm. When he arrived at the farm, he said he took a shotgun and pistol from James Bailey who said that he and a son-in-law, Jimmy Larry Ray, 20, of Knoxville had been in an argument when Ray's friend, Melvin Cooper, Jr. got a gun. Bailey said they fought over the gun.

Bright said when he arrived he chased Ray and Cooper through fields into Philadelphia, catching Cooper in a cornfield near the First Heritage Bank. Sheriff Guy Russell, other deputies and city of Loudon officers went to the scene to assist. Ray was later found in the same cornfield. Bailey took warrants for the two. Bond was set at $300.

Lake Drawdown Set

TVA has begun its annual autumn drawdown of water levels in Tennessee River main stream reservoirs to provide capacity for regulating winter floods.

The following are the dates that drawdown begins in each lake, the lake levels (in feet above sea level) on September 1, and scheduled levels for January 1:

Reservoir	Drawdown Begins	Level on Sept. 1	Scheduled Jan. 1 Level
Kentucky	Under way	335.2	354
Pickwick	Under way	411.2	408
Wilson	Dec. 1	306.7	304.5
Wheeler	Under way	292.0	294.5
Guntersville	Sept. 8	254.0	250
Chickamauga	Oct. 1	480.1	493
Watts Bar	Oct. 1	745.4	735
Fort Loud	Nov. 1	815.6	807

Target date for Kentucky Lake is December 1. TVA plans to hold Nicksjack Lake near elevation 632, the normal minimum level, for about six weeks beginning September 19 to help control the growth of waterlily and other aquatic plants. The Agency also plans to hold Guntersville Lake near elevation 292 for about a 6-week period beginning September 19 to help control the growth of waterlily.

Lake levels also continued to fall during August at TVA storage reservoirs on tributary streams. This is part of the normal annual pattern in which stored water from these reservoirs is used to generate electricity during the late summer and fall, lowering these lakes to provide capacity for regulating winter floods.

Board To Hear Reports

The Loudon County School Board, at their 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday night, will hear a report on the school bus contracts with the county following a meeting held Wednesday with State Schools Transportation official Bob Sharp. He is expected to outline to a committee what parts of the present contract are legal and what is illegal. A report and recommendations from the board committee is expected at the meeting.

In other areas of transportation a new contract for 859 program students at Greenback, Glendale and New Providence will be considered. A request for a bus route reversal in the Eaton Forest area will be discussed. The board will hear a request from eight schools to offer competitive foods, soft drinks, candy, popcorn and other items. Such food sales must have board approval and is a practice common at most schools.

Approval is expected for two assistant principals at Loudon Junior High and one at Philadelphia. Approval of a voluntary aide (Julie Millaps) for Philadelphia is also expected.

A budget transfer of $2,000 to construct a chain link fence at the Greenback football field will be considered. There will be building program reports on the Philadelphia, Greenback and two middle school projects, plus a request for a survey of 30 acres of land on Hickory Creek Road for the Eaton-Highland Park Middle School.

Starritt Brothers Team With Deathridge In 32-12 Opening Grid Win For Loudon

The Loudon Redskins broke the ice for the 1976 football regular season last Friday night by hosting Knoxville Powell. The Redskins, who opened the 1976 season with a 38-21 win over the Panthers, found the Friday night tussle a much more competitive one. The season opening test ended in a optimistic 32-12 score, before a packed Loudon stadium crowd.

TOUCHDOWN RECEPTION—Loudon senior flanker Kenny Starritt (21) who missed out on the final two play-off games of last fall with a broken collar bone, is off to the races after taking this over the shoulder pass from Greg Deathridge in the first quarter for Loudon's second touchdown of the night against Powell covering 40 yards.

MOORE HAS DOZEN CARRIES—Loudon junior fullback and linebacker, Mark Moore (40), was a busy player for Loudon last Friday night as the Redskins defeated Knoxville Powell 32-12. Moore, cutting off a block by Kenny Starritt (21) moved the chains some 66 yards on 12 tries with the ball. He also figured in on nine tackles.

The Redskins gleamed bright in several categories, although as an overall performance it was nothing more than a season opener. The Panthers came with an improved team that tried to attack the Loudon defense with a combination wishbone offense and power. The "quicker" Panthers experienced little success in its straight ahead offense, but the wide sweeps and roll outs often proved for larger chunks of real estate than the Redskins could actually afford to yield in a game of equals.

Despite their lack of game control efforts, the Loudon line did not dominate the line of scrimmage but once in nine offensive series; nor did Loudon tackle with a consistent sign of superior strength; the Redskins never trailed in the game.

Junior scat-back Freddie Starritt put Loudon in the driver's seat soon after the opening kickoff. Loudon set up operation on their own 35.

Quarterback Greg Deathridge planged for four yards, a second down pass was out of the reach of split end Conway Dukes. Starritt, enjoying a tremendous step-off on the grid season ripped out a 15 yard sprint for a first down going wide to the right. Deathridge again called for Starritt to carry the mail and the junior rounded left end.

WHAT A DEVELOPMENT THIS IS—Loudon junior scat-back Freddie Starritt (22) appears to be expressing a facial expression of just how bad the situation does appear for Loudon's home grid opener last Friday night. Starritt took the punishment of with a perfectly executed pitch from the Loudon field general and raced untouched for 46 yards to a touchdown and only 1:25 elapsed in the ball game.

The Panther defense denied a Loudon conversion kick as the ball was hobbled.

Loudon had the Powell offense in check at its own 30 after yielding a first down and a punt gave the Redskins the ball at their own 37. Mark Moore lumbered for 12 yards in two carries and Deathridge stepped back into the pocket to loft a touchdown to 40 yards to flanker Kenny Starritt.

Kenny, senior brother of running back Freddie, was not to be denied a TD following the over the shoulder reception. Still Loudon could not convert on the extra point try.

The Powell offense stormed into the Loudon would-be takers for a yard scamper and a first down before defensive end Jim Brown and line backer E. J. Moore could lead a charge that would bog the Panther running game. A 15 yard holding penalty also assisted the Loudon cause.

Loudon's early taste of scoring success took a turn in the opposite direction late in the first quarter. Junior fullback Mark Moore used a key block by big Gary Brown to reel off a 30 yard dash into Powell territory, but the Panthers dug in and Loudon had to give the ball away on downs at the 35 yard line.

Powell was not able to find a weak spot in the second quarter got underway. The Redskins forcing a punt, turned Freddie Starritt loose for a gully 29 yards. Mark Moore battled for 13 yards more and Loudon was down to the Powell 17 when the offense again misfired and the Panther defense wore Loudon without a second chance as defensive end Jim Brown collared a loose fumble at the Panther 13. Powell received an equal break with Mark Moore catching up the ball on first down.

REDSKIN OFFENSIVE LEADER—Loudon quarterback Greg Deathridge takes off on a 31 yard touchdown run against Knoxville Powell Friday night. Deathridge has Steve Lyle (77) and David Black (42). Deathridge also scored on a 62 yard pass interception and run.

The Panther offense bloomed for the first time following the fumble swap out and in nine well executed plays had cut the Loudon lead to 12-0.

The Powell touchdown coming on a six yard pass capping a 71 yard march.

The kick-off came to Freddie Starritt and the swift back returned the ball 24 yards before being tackled and fumbling the ball away. Powell trying to gamble and tie the score in desperation launched a pass in the side line direction of corner back Greg Deathridge with just 15 seconds left in the first half. Deathridge intercepted the up for grabs pass and returned it through a heavily congested group of Loudon and Powell players in galloping 62 yards for a touchdown. Jim Brown split the up rights for a 19-6 halftime lead for the Redskins.

Loudon's kick-off team landed a wild tackle and Skip Poynter recovered a Powell bobble, but Loudon was unable to run an offensive play before the halftime.

Powell completely dominated the third quarter to the surprise of the loyal Loudon fans and the Redskins themselves. The Panthers ran 11 offensive plays in the 12 minute stanza and scored a touchdown in topping a 54 yard drive with a 22 yard scoring pass that even bounced off the helmet of Loudon defensive back Greg Deathridge, who had the play defended from the very toes of the pass. The fluke TD had put Powell back into game again, trailing 19-12. A solid rush by Sam Stewart saved the extra point try from leaving the ground.

Meanwhile Loudon could manage but six offensive plays and lost two fumbles during these snafus. Sam Theard did delay a Powell offensive series with a fumble recovery.

The Redskins woke up to the task of hand in the final quarter as Freddie Starritt glibbed 34 yards for a first down at the Powell 31. Greg Deathridge streaked the final 31 yards on the most offensive call just 19 seconds into the fourth quarter.

A confident Powell drive of nine plays was short circuited by senior Rick Lavin (Continued on page 10)

Bruce Tuning In On Football Contest

Judges in the Football Contest are still looking for their first perfect entry after the second week. Winners last week all had nine of the 10 games correct and it was almost another family sweep.

First place with a near perfect tie-breaker of 42 (Loudon 32, Powell 12, 44) for the $12 first place is Bob Palmer, Steeple Road in Loudon.

Second and third go to Byron and Monty Lawson respectively. Byron had a 35 point tie-breaker and Monty 34. They receive $8 and $5 for their efforts.

The games most often missed were Hartman over Kingston, and Clinton over Crossville. Rule over McMinn Central was another that fooled many people.

Others who came close with only one miss were Helen Lawson, Bill Lawson Jr., Deanna Sue Blankenship, and Bruce Lawson.

Contestants are urged to read the new rules. Many are not taking advantage of the new multiple-entry rule.

A new slate of 10 games is in the contest page this week with the Loudon vs. Kingston contest leading the pack.

Dotson, Belcher, Linginfelter, Crisp Are Defensive Stars

Kizer Takes Charge In Leading Greenback Past Seymour 8-7

The Greenback Cherokees have suddenly drawn some quick glances as a team not to be overlooked in the Football Athletic Conference Football race for this fall nor the Region One Class A standings.

The Cherokees, practically no depth to their credit, and speed and size only wishful thoughts, had squeezed by a make-shift Townsend team in the annual fall jamboree 6-0, and then hung on in the second half to win their season opener a week ago over TSD by 13-7.

Seymour this last week was to be a much tougher test than either of the others. The Seymour team had played defending Class A state champion Walland to an 8-0 score in their first week's action.

The Sevier County team, with both depth and some speed to its advantage, rolled unstopable with the football on its very first offensive series to notch a 7-0 lead and then found the Greenback double stripe unreachable for the rest of the game as the Cherokees pulled together a gallant fourth quarter effort to score a touchdown and then gamble against the odds, trying for a go ahead two point conversion that proved the game's difference, an 8-7 Greenback win.

close as the Seymour 36 yard line to start the second period and again reach the visitor's 16 yard line on a 38 yard pass from Roddy Kizer to Glen Quillen. Three straight minus yardage plays and a blocked punt plainly showed the Seymour team would soon wear the Cherokees down.

Greenback had held Seymour on two straight series when they mounted a and from their 37 drove determined to the Greenback one yard line only to be forced off of downs and Greenback's offense taking over.

Steve Linginfelter blasted a 36 yard punt with no return and Mark Roberts claimed a third down fumble at the Cherokee 38 to add breathing room to the Greenback play.

The strategy was set, the Cherokees would sink or swim with over half a quarter still before them of tough play. Kizer called his own number and Belcher and Linginfelter responded from the three just as they had from the six the hole was opened and the two point conversion made, Greenback led 8-7.

Seymour roared back like buffaloes. From their own 35 they recorded three consecutive first downs and with the clock ticking down camped on the Greenback 14. The Greenback defense rallied held their ground and the offense took over to run out the clock and preserve the win.

Kizer was Greenback's to rush with a net of 56 yards. The senior field general was tossed for 31 yards in losses trying to pass which cut down on his overall total yards.

Defensively the second half glittered for the Cherokees. Roger Hampton had seven tackles assists. Steve Linginfelter finished the game with 11 tackles and five assists. Danny Dotson made seven individual stops and 10 assists and Eric Belcher eight tackles and 10 assists.

Jeff Crisp was praised for a clutch performance, going all out on defense and offense the entire second half with little rest. He once caught the passer behind the line and sailed a ball carrier for a seven yard loss.

Tony Arnold, Chris McNelly, Mark Roberts, and Glen Quillen also stood out. Greenback now goes on the road this week to tangle with the dangerous and highly regarded Lanier Eagles.

Seymour punted from their own 15 as Greenback got its best field position of the second half to open the final 12 minute quarter.

Two plays lost one yard. Senior quarterback Roddy Kizer, who carried the ball a total of 21 times in directing the Cherokee Veer offense, scrambled for a first down on a 15 yard run.

A three yard pass to Quillen opened the gates for Kizer to again run and 15 more yards to the Seymour six yard line. From the six Kizer darted into the end zone on the stout blocking of Linginfelter and Belcher.

Nine minutes and 24 seconds remained in the game. Greenback was a tired unit. Kizer convinced his Coach Keith Bailey that the team could not weather a tie game and possible over time against DEFLECTION—Greenback end and defensive back Glen Quillen appears to be showing up close to the football this fall, especially when it is up for grabs in the air. Quillen (83) rabs this Seymour receiver of a pass last Friday night.

Redskins Finally Land A Ninth Football Game

Loudon High School Principal Dr. Gary Dutton, informed the press over the weekend that Loudon has tentatively scheduled a ninth game for the current 1976 Redskin football season. The game will be played on Friday, October 29th, at Murphy, North Carolina. A home and home contract is understood to be under construction with still final approval having to be authorized by the TSSAA.

VOLS Open

Saturday Night

Tennessee will be looking to "uneven" the series record against Duke in the opener for both teams Saturday in a series which started in 1895.

Tennessee and Duke stand even at 10-10-2 going into the 23 meeting of the two clubs.

Both teams are also looking for improvement after a 7-5 record for the Vols and a 4-5-2 record for Duke in 1975.

In the last meeting of the two clubs, Sept. 13, 1973 in Knoxville, Duke led 17-14 with two minutes left when Condredge Holloway made one of the great plays of his Vol career.

The then junior quarterback, facing a fourth-and-three situation at the six, avoided a tackle at the five by flying down to the one. Haskell Sanback, who had a big day with 104 yards in 25 carries, scored the winning touchdown on the next play. After leading 17-7 at the half, Duke led 21-17.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. and a crowd of over 75,000 is expected for the opener.

Coach Bill Battle is looking to a solid nucleus of seniors to lead the way for the University of Tennessee's return to football glory in 1976.

SARTAN LOWERS BOOM—Lenoir City's leading tackler Herbert Sartan lowers a head into Alcoa runningback Greg Osborne during Friday night's Panther home grid opener. Jackie Ryan (26) is on hand as back-up for the Panthers.

TOUGH TO BRING DOWN—The Lenoir City defense had a tough time of hauling down the Alcoa ball carriers last Friday night, losing 38-0. Alcoa fullback and college prospect Barry Lail sheds Panther would-be tacklers. Pictured for Lenoir City are arms around ball carrier, and Richard Vest (12).

Mabry, Flynn LC Captains For Blue Devil Game

Lenoir City head football coach Scott Conner has selected senior lineman Kenneth Flynn for his fundamental overall play against Alcoa last Friday night and senior Don Mabry who was in on 18 defensive hits in the ball game as this week's game captains for Panthers when they play Harriman this Friday night on the Blue Devils home soil.

Coach Conner also stated the Panthers had lost the services of junior kicker Keith Amos for an indefinite period of time with a knee injury suffered in the Alcoa loss last week.

Coach Conner has had to move senior fullback Herbert Sartan back into the line in an effort to add extra offensive punch to the Panther scoring efforts.

Panther Offense Is Stalled

Alcoa Whirls Through Panther Ranks For 38-0 Blasting

The Lenoir City Panthers were dealt a sharp blow on Friday night when Alcoa arrived in Fabertown with their best football team since Albert and David Davis starred for the Tornados in the mid-sixties.

The shallow depth of the Lenoir City team also had a deciding influence in the Mount Countians one-sided 38-0 victory.

The Tornados dominated the game in every phase. Alcoa defensive backs intercepted two Lenoir City passes and twice Panther fumbles found their way to the Alcoa defense.

Offensively Lenoir City had just three first downs for the night, one in the first half, and managed to exert but 88 net yards in total offense for the game. Alcoa had 17 first downs and posted over 300 yards in total net yardage for the game.

The Tornados swept to a 12-0 first quarter edge by starting the game out with an electrifying 65 yard punt return for a TD with 9:48 to play in the first quarter. Lenoir City's offense being forced to punt on the first offensive series of the night.

The Panther night seemed filled with good turns for the Tornados. Walt Thaxton never got a clean hand on the kick-off and a fumble resulted at the LC 34. Alcoa used the excellent field position for a four play scoring march and took a 12-0 lead with 7:41 still on the first quarter scoreboard clock.

Thaxton brought the kick-off back 30 yards to the Panther 39 but still the Lenoir City offense could not register a first down and had to punt.

Alcoa began a quarter ending drive that not only covered 80 yards in impressive fashion that saw the Tornados cross the Panther's double stripe six seconds into the second quarter on a 12 yard run. The ball had been moved to the LC 12 from the 20 on a 16 yard first down pass to struggling Panthers lost the valuable series to the senior tailback Walt Thaxton on a late hit infraction that not only cost the Panther defense 15 yards in penalties. Thaxton was thrown out of the game.

Trailing 18-0 and the ball for the first time in the second quarter, Lenoir City posted its initial first down of the night on a 22 yard run by Doyle Varnner to the Tornado 42. The Alcoa defense tightened and the Panthers were soon punting again.

Lenoir City's Jack Thomas was a key figure in forcing the Tornados first punt of the night to the LC 35.

Neither team could launch an offensive threat and swapped punts as the half came to an end.

The Panthers were unable to regroup their forces however for the second half and Alcoa took charge with the second half kick-off to move 74 yards in eight plays, tipping the count to 24-0 on a 20 yard rush with 9:34 to play in the third period.

Lenoir City was then forced to attempt to play catch-up football in a hurried form, taking to the air way. The Tornado defense was waiting and intercepted the Panther efforts.

Alcoa was not able to score despite a couple of first downs recorded. Lenoir City was totally disorganized and lost 10 yards in two minus yardage plays and a yard penalty.

A third down pass was caught by enemy hands and returned for 20 yards and six points as score tacked on the Alcoa growing total making the scoreboard read 30-0.

The play was called back to the LC 27 as Alcoa was guilty of a clip on the interception return.

Nevertheless the Tornados made a short drive of their rewards with an eight play march that delivered their count to 32-0 with 2:28 left in the final quarter.

Lenoir City never able to mount an offensive threat was backed deep into its own territory late in the final act only to have Paul Reed boom a 35 yard punt past mid-field.

Still Alcoa was not content keeping the ball in time on six straight downs and on a fourth down and short yardage sweep the left side and down the sidelines for a 55 yard touchdown jump with just 28 seconds showing on the game clock, making the final score a bit worse at 36-0.

Lenoir City found itself the closest to the Tornado end zone as the clock ran out, stationed at the Alcoa 22.

The loss was the Panthers second straight, while Alcoa is unbeaten after two outings. Doyle Varnner's 44 yards on his carries was the Panthers' best back of the game.

Richard Vest had a 22 yard run on his lone try with the ball late in the game.

Frank Underwood came up with an Alcoa fumble late in the fourth quarter and Herbert Sartan's nine tackles was the top Panther tackler for the game on defense.

Lenoir City meets a strong Harriman team this Friday night in a key game.

Slim Living, A Diet Exercise Class

At Y Martel

Y Martel's fall schedule will include Slim Living which is a new class especially adapted for the overweight person. The program helps the individual support group and self-motivation to develop acceptable eating habits. Good nutrition and proper diet are discussed. Awareness of the body through movement designed and adapted to the overweight person is stressed. Class members will be given recipes which follow the diet and are such that the entire family can enjoy them. An individual diet plan will be set up that allows you to eat well and still lose weight.

TORNADO DEFENSE CAUSES PANTHERS TO COUGH UP BALL—Lenoir City runningback Walt Thaxton (44) was stopped for no gain on his only carry in the game against Alcoa Friday night. Thaxton is hit with such a kick that the ball was fumbled free and recovered by the Tornado defense.

LENOIR CITY FUMBLE LOSS—Lenoir City runningback Steve Porter (20) is tugged down by an Alcoa would-be tackler and as he is tripped up manages to become unattached from the football. Alcoa made use of several Lenoir City mistakes to log a 36-0 triumph.

SLIPS AWAY—Alcoa quarterback Jim Sinnett eludes a possible Lenoir City tackler in his own backfield as he steps out around left end.

Panthers Travel To Harriman

Hungry Yellow Jackets Hope To Sting Loudon Friday Night

The high school football season is solidly underway following last week's second week of prep action.

Defending state champions Oak Ridge, Loudon and Walland have thus far maintained their rankings with early season games. Still the rough and rocky road to Thanksgiving Day at Murfreesboro and the chance at another title will call for a demanding and continuous fight the next two and half months.

Loudon was less than state championship sharp in posting a first game win over Powell "stung" Kingston Yellow Jacket squad this week. The Kingston team was rudely whipped by their county rival Harriman last weekend for a second straight year. The proud Yellow Jackets are considered a tough and capable team this year, much improved offensively than last fall and the defense has long been a calling card of top East Tennessee football.

The Redskins could be in for a rousing night if they try to "loan" past this Region II rival.

Lenoir City is still looking for a win under new coach Scott Conner and a trip to Harriman is unlikely to help the problem come Friday night. The Panthers will be up against a team that came from behind on a tough Kingston team last week, and has had eight starters that have been first team regulars since their sophomore season. Only a first up and complete turn around of the team that was so plentiful in the Alcoa defeat could put sunshine into the Panther Greenback, with two early season victories, and a most impressive win over Seymour last week, travels to Lenoir. The Eagles are thanking playoffs with only one starter gone from a stinging season last fall. The Cherokee have proved they have the fight to play with the best of Region One, but with the games at Lenoir and the Eagles remembering a hard to swallow 7-6 loss last fall by the Greenback team could turn the momentum over to the Eagles.

Redskin Footballers Win Over Knox Powell recovering a fumble at the Loudon 20.

The Loudon Line exercised its ruseful potential a well maneuvered 14 play march that produced five first downs and a touchdown plunge of one yard by sophomore Steve Watkins with 2:50 to play in the game. Jim Brown botched the extra point.

Powell was unable to beat the clock for any further damage and Loudon settled for the triumph, 32-12.

Freddie Starritt led all ball carriers with an impressive 125 yards of rushing on just 12 carries. Fullback Mark Moore got the call on a dozen snaps and answered with 66 net yards.

The Loudon quarterbacks, Greg Deatridge (40 yards) and Carter Cardwell (43 yards) were also big real estate contributors. Steve Watkins and David Black added 17 and 19 yards respectively in an instrumental role that gave Loudon its last touchdown.

Loudon carried out 14 first downs and did not have to punt a single time in the game.

Loudon's defense, which was not in a sharp performance, was held to just individual statistics of Sam Stewart, Junior Rolin, Dennis Stewart, and Mark Moore.

"We need to do more running," spoke Coach Hatfield.

"We experienced a lot of cramps. No Loudon players suffered any real bad injury though all should be ready for the Kingston game Friday night."

"Our linemen lack a lot of yards by not being where they need to be, and our line is going to have to get more physical if we are to improve on the season," discussed Coach Hatfield.

Greenback, Lanier In Battle Of Unbeaten

Loudon Midgets Sweep Past Crossville Teams

By Joe Williams

The Loudon Midget Football program sponsored by the Loudon Quarterback Club swept a four game road trip this past Saturday night at Crossville.

The Loudon Grasshoppers, coached by Sonny Downs, and Jerry White, topped their season record to 2-1 with a first game win of 20-8.

Crossville's young gridder's jumped out to an 8-0 score with a first quarter touchdown run of 57 yards and a successful two point conversion run.

Henry Huff rambled 17 yards in the second period and Tim Potter carried for a two point conversion to knot the score at half time 8-8.

Potter continued his scoring in the second half with touchdown runs of three and seven yards that sparked the Grasshopper triumph.

Potter ran the ball 17 times for 91 yards and was aided on offense by Stan Riser and Henry Huff.

Loudon's youngsters footballers rolled up 12 first downs and 166 yards of offense with Crossville being limited to four first downs.

It took Frank Henson's and Bill Lennox's Grasscutters five overtimes to crack the tough Crossville counterparts in capturing the stellar defensive battle 6-0, and boosting their record to 2-1.

With both teams logging but three first downs in the entire game, and the thick of the battle barely moving the football past midfield the game went into overtime.

Neither team could find a weak spot in the defensive walls that controlled both offenses. Finally Crossville moved to the Loudon one yard line in the fifth overtime, only for the Loudon defensive efforts to be saved by Troy Riser's alert play, recovering an enemy fumble.

Loudon then took the offense with Riser again being the hero with a eight yard scoring burst to end the game. John Hutton and Andy Wood were singled out by the Loudon coaches for stout defensive play during the game.

The Loudon Mustangs kept their record unbeaten with a 18-6 triumph. Byron Goble intercepted a Crossville pass in the first quarter and returned it to the nine yard stripe in keying Loudon's first touchdown. Kevin White threw to Goble for the touchdown. The extra point try was very good.

Loudon increased their lead to 12-0 in the third quarter on a three yard run by White.

Crossville scored the first points of the season on the Mustang defense with a one yard sweep in the fourth quarter.

White then gave Loudon an insurance touchdown with a 20 yard touchdown romp on Loudon's next offensive series for the final count of 18-6.

Kevin White was the top ground gainer in the game with 68 yards on 12 tries. Tim Lennox was also a leading ball carrier. Byron Goble caught four passes.

Coley Woody, Sidney Locke, and Goble led a Mustang defense that left the Crossville team with a minus 24 yards of rushing net yardage.

The unbeaten Mustangs are coached by Melvin Hawkins, Mike Byvans, and Steve Kiser.

The Loudon Indians concluded the Saturday night sweep with a 29-9 shutout decision.

Gel Hawkins passed to Terry Hand covering 33 yards for Loudon's first TD. Hawkins running for a two point conversion.

Billy Moore carried for a 29 yard touchdown in the second quarter and whipped a 31 yard scoring pass to Hawkins as the Loudon scoring took place in the first half.

Moore's 68 yards on 10 snaps of the ball and Pat Brown's 32 yards. Alec Eldridge 30 yards were leading rushers for the game.

Terry Hand caught five passes for 95 yards.

Coaches Buster Custard and Red Walker's forces pounded out 14 first downs and allowed only one to Crossville in running their season mark to 2-1.

The Loudon Midget footballers are off this Saturday night in the Volunteer Conference Football activities, returning to the gridiron next Saturday night (Sept. 18) at Lenoir City.

All the Loudon Midget football teams will have their team pictures made this Thursday afternoon at the old Loudon High School football field at 5 p.m.

Capitol Commentary

By M. Lee Smith

State Atty. Gen. Ray Ashley announced last week an unexpected decision to resign his office with his resignation remaining in his term. Ashley said he wanted to return to private law practice in Dyersburg. He also cited limitations of the job and uncertainty about the future of the office.

Ashley believes the state attorney general should be given authority the office does not now have in such areas as consumer protection and anti-trust regulation. But in the past two legislative sessions the General Assembly has declined to enact these and other Ashley proposals.

Likely candidates to succeed Ashley include Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. C. Hayes Cooney of Nashville and William L. (Dick) Barry of Lexington. Barry formerly served as Speaker of the House of Representatives, Executive Assistant to Gov.

Buford Ellington, and assistant attorney general. Both Cooney and Barry are well qualified for the post. Ashley's successor will be selected by the 5-member state Supreme Court. And the decision could embroil the court in political disagreement as it did two years ago.

In filling the post in 1974 court members initially divided between then Atty. Gen. Milton Rice and Nashville lawyer George Barrett. Ashley was selected as a compromise choice. The decision prompted Rice to level sharp public criticism at the court.

Whether the court will again become involved in political controversy remains to be seen. But in any event the Ashley resignation has renewed discussion about the method of selecting the state attorney general.

Tennessee is the only state in which the attorney general is chosen by the state's highest court. All other states provide for popular election or gubernatorial appointment. The constitutional convention which will meet next year will consider the selection method.

There are two distinct views of the role and scope of the office of attorney general. One holds that the attorney general is the chief lawyer for all state agencies. This is essentially the role of the office now in Tennessee.

The other view is that the attorney general is or at least should be the people's attorney with important administrative and legal functions in such areas as consumer protection and environmental control. This is the expanded role Ashley and others believe the office should assume in Tennessee.

If the Tennessee attorney general is to continue to be primarily the lawyer for state agencies, it seems appropriate that he be appointed by the governor and serve as an official of the executive branch of state government.

Appointment of the attorney general by the governor would result in a better integration of administrative activities under control of the chief executive.

On the other hand, if the role of the office is to be broadened and the attorney general is to be considered the people's attorney, statewide election is at least arguably appropriate. By making the attorney general directly responsible to the electorate, he would remain subject to the ultimate source of power and be more responsive to public needs.

Researchers Study Public Opinion Of Breeder Project

UT researchers are studying public opinion on the proposed Clinch River Breeder Reactor Plant and are interviewing community leaders in a six-county area.

Approximately 120 governmental officials, business and labor leaders, technical experts, media executives, and members of interest groups will be interviewed in an effort to determine attitudes about the plans to build the nation's first large-scale breeder reactor power plant.

Dr. Eugene Stansbury, professor of chemical and metallurgical engineering, is directing the interdisciplinary effort, which includes UT Knoxville staff members from engineering, sociology, political science, physics, mathematics, and communications. The group has been conducting a detailed investigation of the technological and social issues associated with the proposed reactor plant.

"About a year ago we became interested in trying to assess knowledge and attitudes toward the Clinch River Breeder Reactor Plant project by opinion leaders in the counties which would be affected by its construction," Stansbury says. "We are finding out what people know and feel about the social, economic, environmental, and health and safety aspects of the project."

"The project seemed particularly appropriate for a public opinion survey since it represents a significant development of a potential new energy resource. Breeder reactors, which produce more fuel than they consume, are being evaluated as the next generation of nuclear power plants."

The UTK researchers proposed to the Energy Research and Development Administration that an in-depth interdisciplinary study of the CRRB be made including the assessment of community leader opinions through personal interviews. Interviews, which will take about an hour for each participant, are being conducted in Anderson, Knox, Loudon, Morgan, Campbell and Roane counties. Persons to be interviewed will be contacted in advance.

County Free Lunch Policy Is Adopted

The Loudon County Board of Education today announced its policy for free and reduced price meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk under the National School Lunch, and Special Milk Programs.

The board adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size	Free Meals & Free Milk	Red. Price Meals
1	3,680	5,730
2	4,030	7,230
3	5,980	9,200
4	7,130	11,110
5	8,030	12,770
6	9,240	14,410
7	10,200	15,910
8	11,150	17,290
9	12,010	18,740
10	12,870	20,000
11	13,730	21,450
12	14,590	22,770
Each Additional Family Member	860	1,340

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the school principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Edward Headlee, Drawer D Loudon, Tenn., for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each school principal and the office of the superintendent of schools has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Stafford Blasts "Blanton Obsession"

Rep. Benny Stafford (R-Lenoir City) last week called Administration plans to restructure Tennessee's dependent Wildlife Resources Agency "part of Gov. Ray Blanton's over-all obsession with power."

Stafford, chairman of the House GOP Caucus, said putting the WRA under the State Conservation Department would not save money.

"Unless the agency's services are cut severely, its operating expenses would be about the same," he said. "It seems Blanton just wants to get everything under his thumb."

"He can't control the agency the way it is now, and since he can't stand not being in control, he wants it changed," Stafford said. "Tennessee's sportsmen want the agency left out of politics, but Blanton's prime reason for wanting the agency under Conservation is political."

"If the Governor really believes in consolidating state agencies and departments, why did he set up a separate and better-financed Department of Tourism?" Stafford said.

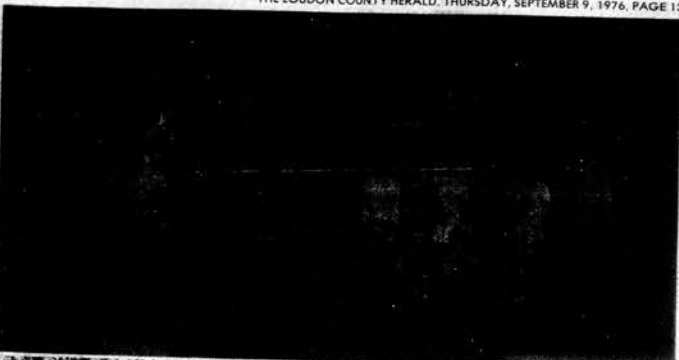

"Blanton manipulates state employees like pawns in a chess game, he lets his cronies give the state away, and yet, he has no regrets, no apologies — just tells the people it's for their own good."

Stafford said the Governor is "using countless tax dollars through patronage and favoritism to set up a powerhouse to put him back in Washington."

"State employees and state issues are used as stepping stones by Blanton just as Jim Sasser has been," Stafford said. "The Governor hand-picked Sasser for Democratic Party chairman and then handpicked him to run for the U.S. Senate."

"Blanton has total control over Jim Sasser and if Sasser would go to Washington, it would be the same thing as putting Ray Blanton there," he said. "Sasser is just part of Blanton's get-back to Washington plan."

"The Governor has been seeding since Howard Baker beat him in '72 and he will not be satisfied until he can find a way to go back," he said. Stafford also criticized Blanton for "harping" about Sen. Brock's voting record.

picture was taken in front of an old store building on Bon Street. Someone told me that the school was started in this building and later got a regular schoolhouse. I guess it is also gone or closed now, with school consolidation of recent years. If we are not mistaken, the store building still stands and is occupied by the Shoe Barn. We believe this same building housed McConkey's Store also. We could be wrong about that. If we are, someone will let us know. Anyway, the teacher when this picture was made, was Mrs. Minnie Gregory Rutledge. I am sure many of these students are still living in Lenoir City. We would like to hear from some of them. Maybe they could supply us with some interesting things about this old school and it's pupils.

BACK IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Calvin Lunsford 458-2881

Our other picture this week is also from the Lenoir City area and maybe it is a place well known to many from the Good Old Days. I am not sure where it was taken, but it was known as Lover's Lane. I first thought it might be somewhere along Town Creek, or it might be along the river. Anyway, it is along side a stream of water. Our information says the picture was made in the year 1930.

We have had a whole bunch of Lenoir City pictures the past few weeks. We have had many comments from our readers, not only from Lenoir City, but from other sections. We are happy to have comments from our readers. It is always good to hear from folks along the way. We are proud of the response we have had from

Lenoir City. We have several hundred readers in that section of our area and we are always glad to write about the Good Old Days in that city. We feel that we have many friends in the Lenoir City vicinity. One of our pictures this week is of a school group. The picture was taken in 1914. The

There are some unidentified people walking along the road. Maybe some of our readers can tell us just where it was located and if it still exists as such. We are grateful to a person who loaned us all these old photos of Lenoir City. This response we are happy to comply with, but still are grateful for their kindness. Well, that's it for now. See you next week.

Rader Assigned To Lowry AFB

Airman James T. Rader, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rader of Rt. 1, Greenback, has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks training at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Rader will now receive specialized training in the munitions and weapons maintenance field.

He graduated from Greenback High School.

County Loan Is Approved

Congressman John Duncan announced last week that formal approval of a $300,000 Farmers Home Administration Loan to the County of Loudon had been approved.

The loan to the county, along with one for $400,000 to the City of Loudon that was approved several months ago will pay the local share of developing the 285 acre Blair Bend Industrial Park.

A grant of $607,000 was received from the Appalachian Regional Commission earlier for the project which is expected to cost up to $1.8 million.

Rainfall Low

Rainfall across the Tennessee Valley in August averaged only 2.8 inches, about an inch below normal. This is the second straight month that Valley rainfall has been below normal.

The highest August rainfall total reported to TVA was 7.1 inches at Widows Creek Steam Plant in the northeast corner of Alabama, and the lowest was .10 inch at Burnsville in northeast Mississippi.

SPECIAL TWO-STORY PLAN OF MINIMUM SQUARE FOOTAGE

The rear portion of the first floor includes a large family room, with real wood burning area, fire place, and access to rear wood deck. The adjacent kitchen, breakfast room and dining room. Each of these areas is sized larger than usually expected in a plan of this square footage. Stairs to the second floor are partially exposed to the floor to basement and double garage.

The three upstairs bedrooms are all adequately sized, the master bedroom being extra enhanced by horizontal wood paneling, large sliding door, six paneled doors with side-lites and balanced wings. The exterior style is Garrison, and provided with large side-lites and attic storage access.

The central full bath services feet. For further information, write W. D. Farmer, P. O. Box 49102, Atlanta, Ga. 30320.

Vestal To Expand Sweetwater Facility

A. D. Cochran, President of Vestal Manufacturing, announced last week that the Board of Directors of the Jim Walter Corporation has approved a major expansion of the Vestal operations in Sweetwater.

Groundbreaking was due last week for a $1.5 million 100,000 square foot building at the site of the firm's existing Foundry Operations in the Sweetwater Industrial Park.

The new facility will house production of a new product line of Zero-Clarence Fireplaces and Pre-Fabricated metal chimneys. The fireplace and chimney can be installed in both new and existing homes for approximately one-third the cost of conventional masonry fireplaces. With the strong trend among builders to reduce the selling price of their homes, this product is expected to achieve strong market acceptance.

The new facility is expected to be completed in approximately nine months with limited production scheduled to begin in about a year. It is estimated that the new operation will add some fifty jobs to the already existing 350 employed by Vestal in Sweetwater. This figure is expected to increase as demand for the new product line increases.

Vestal Manufacturing is a Division of The Celotex Corporation, a Subsidiary of the Jim Walter Corporation. Vestal provides a broad line of Cast Iron and Steel building products marketed throughout the United States and Canada. The Jim Walter Corporation, a leader in the Building Materials Industry, offers a wide variety of building products for residential and commercial use, as well as for industrial application.

With the new addition, Vestal will operate a three-building, 336,000 square foot facility which will include a steel fabricating plant, an automated and commercial fireproofing and the warehousing facility. This fourth major new construction plant complex in Sweetwater, Va., by Vestal in Sweetwater since being bought by Jim Walter in the middle sixties.

Gordo Watson In Convention Race

Rufus "Gordo" Watson announced this week that he will be a candidate for election as Delegate to the Constitutional Convention from the 21st Legislative District.

Gordo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Watson, and resides in Loudon County. He is presently the Administrative Assistant to the County Court of Loudon County.

In making his announcement, Gordo emphasized his interest in Loudon County and his desire to represent the 21st Legislative District as the delegate to the Constitutional Convention. "I was born and raised in Loudon and believe that I am knowledgeable as to the beliefs and interests of the Loudon County people. I want to go to Nashville to act as a voice for the people of my district in order that their interests might be protected."

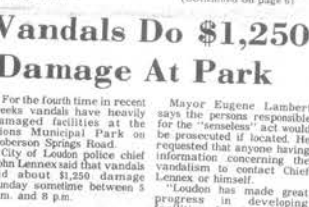

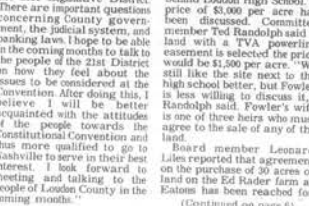

Gordo attended Loudon High School graduating in 1950. After a preparatory year at MIT, he went to Davidson College in Davidson, N.C. where he spent one year, after which he transferred to the University of the South at Seawater, graduating in December 1954 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science. While at Seawater, Gordo was a member of the student governing body, football team, and was named to the American Colleges and Universities his year. Upon graduation, Gordo returned to Loudon where he taught school for one year before accepting his present position of Administrative Assistant to the County Court.

In closing, Gordo said "The Constitutional Convention beginning next August in Nashville will examine some very important matters, many of the sections to be considered for change will directly effect the people of the 21st Legislative District. There are important questions concerning County government, the judicial system, and banking laws. I hope to be able in the coming months to talk to the people of the 21st District on how they feel about the issues to be considered at the convention. After doing this, I believe I will be better acquainted with the attitudes of the people towards the Constitutional Convention and thus more qualified to go to Nashville to serve in their interest. I look forward to meeting and talking to the people of Loudon County in the coming months."

Thomas Farm Considered For School
The current school building program and the continuing discussion of school bus transportation dominated action at the Loudon County School Board meeting Thursday night.

Another change in plans for the site of the $1.25 million Loudon Middle School was announced. Superintendent Edward Headlee said the site committee had abandoned plans to try and secure 50 acres of land from Chattanooga attorney J. J. Griffin and had started negotiations with Loudon attorney Arthur Fowler for 20 acres of land from the Thomas estate.

The Committee, Headlee said, has been talking with Fowler about the purchase of 20 acres on Steeple Road, behind Loudon High School. A price of $3,000 per acre has been discussed. Committee member Ted Randolph said if land with a TVA powerline easement is selected the price would be $4,500 per acre. "We still like the site next to the high school better, but Fowler is less willing to discuss it," Randolph said. Fowler's wife is one of three heirs who must agree to the sale of any of the land.

Board member Leonard Liles reported that agreement on the purchase of 20 acres of land on the Ed Rader farm at Eaton has been reached for $1,250,000.

Greens Boundover On Murder Charges
After a 30 minute hearing in General Sessions Court Friday morning Judge Thomas Boyd Wayne Green to the Criminal Court Grand Jury on a first degree murder charge in the shooting death of Robert (Bob) Hendrix at Green's Package Store on Highway 95 at Lenoir City on August 20, Green was able to see some of what was going on although it was quite dark at 11 p.m. She said they started fighting again, she heard a shot and saw Hendrix slump to the ground. "Wayne came back in and told Vivian, 'I shot the son of a bitch, hide my gun,' and then I went out the back door and left," Miss Coates testified.

Under cross examination the woman said that Green had been drinking beer all day but that he was not drunk. She said that when Hendrix came in, some 15 minutes before the fight and shooting, he was intoxicated and that she and Mrs. Green had both refused to sell him a beer.

Miss Coates said that during the fight inside J. W. Lane and Ellis Addition in front of the store, she saw Hendrix and Green went outside he had the gun in his hand and she saw the store fire came back in and she hid in his hand also. She said she did not actually see the shot fired, but two men were fighting.

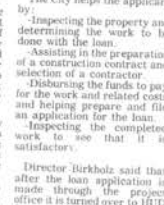

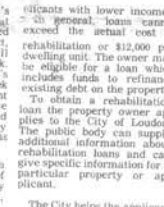

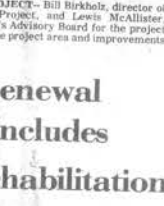

Chief Deputy Luke Bright testified that Green told her that Green told her that he knew nothing about the death of Hendrix.

Court Postpones Action On Property Reappraisal
Loudon County Court Monday postponed until its October meeting a decision to have the State of Tennessee Division of Property Assessments conduct an update property reappraisal program in the county.

George Tidwell of the TPA, a former State Revenue Agent explained the reasons for the delay. He said that the first time in the state to do this was in 1968 and to date there are still six counties using old assessments.

Under the state program, financed with $30 million in state funds, the state will reappraise in the same manner as the professional firms, update the present property values, update the maps and gather proper characteristics to be placed in the state computer.

The county must furnish office space and from one to three clerks for the operation.

Mexico Renewal Project Includes Home Rehabilitation
The City of Loudon's Community Development Program has been designated the Mexico Renewal Project, program director Bill Kirkholz announced this week.

At a meeting of the Citizen's Advisory Board last week Lewis McAllister, a resident and businessman in the project area, was named chairman of the Citizens Advisory Board. Billy Carmack was named vice chairman.

The Development Program was funded as a joint City of Loudon-Loudon County project by a $500,000 grant, requiring no local funds.

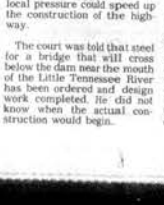

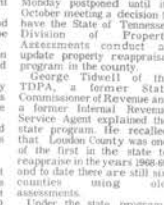

The county portion of the program will include street improvements in the area of the Bacon Building and Senior Citizens Center and a planned expansion of the Center Building. The county also plans a small recreation park in the Huntville community at Lenoir City.

Most of the work by the City will be in street improvements in the Mexico area along with utility improvement such as larger water lines and five projection equipment.

There will be funds available for housing rehabilitation within the area and in some cases the city will purchase sub-standard housing, clear the property and make it available for re-development to owners who must bring their property up to the present standards for decent, safe and sanitary housing. If the cost of rehabilitation exceeds available HUD financing the loan may be made only if the applicant can furnish assurance that all the work required will be completed.

Residential rehabilitation loans may be used for repairs and improvements. A loan may also include an amount for general property improvements. This amount is limited to a percentage of the required items in the loan. The borrower must own the property and must be located in the designated CD area and must be an acceptable risk. Priority in processing is given to applicants with lower incomes.

"In general, loans cannot exceed the actual cost of rehabilitation or $12,000 per dwelling unit. The owner may be eligible for a loan which includes future refinancing existing debt on the property.

Tellico Roads Will Be Ready, TVA Tells Squires
Tennessee Valley Authority officials involved in the road project affected by the Tellico Project and the construction of the project told the County Court Monday that all roads in the project where citizen access is involved will be ready when the Lake is filled. Should TVA be the pending Sall Darter lawsuits they plan to start filling the lake in January of 1977.

Fox said that only portions of relocated State Route 72 and the Tellico Parkway will be owned by TVA which will be completed as needed to relocate residents in the reservoir property.

In the road construction will continue west the completion of the dam and filling of the lake." Fox told the court.

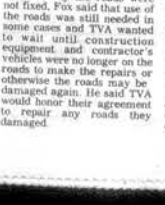

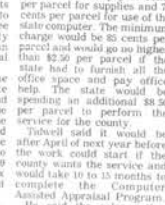

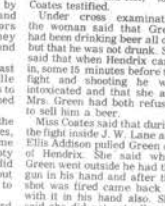

He said that TVA now has most of the rights of way on Highway 72 in Loudon County and several bridges are under construction, that road design was complete. On Highway 72 he said TVA will do the earth work and drainage and the state will build the bridge.

Fox suggested that local pressure could speed up the construction of the highway.

The court was told that steel for a bridge that will cross below the dam near the mouth of the Little Tennessee River has been ordered and design work completed. He did not know when the actual construction would begin.

Fox was invited to the court to answer questions concerning repair of county roads being damaged by landslides on the lake and signed agreements to repair Bailey Road and the Paul Bailey Road and the Paul Bailey Road and the Paul Bailey Road.

Asked why the roads were not fixed, Fox said the roads were still needed in some places. TVA wanted to build a road to be used to pull until construction equipment and contractor's roads to make the repairs or otherwise the roads may be damaged again. He said TVA would honor their agreement to repair any roads they damaged.

Vandals Do $1,250 Damage At Park
For the fourth time in recent weeks vandals have heavily damaged facilities at the Lions Municipal Park on Roberson Springs Road.

City of Loudon police Chief John Lennex said that vandals did about $1,250 damage Sunday sometime between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Chief Lennex said that three coolies in the rest rooms were completely destroyed, a sink torn down and one park bench taken apart.

Persons owning property in the Neighborhood Development Program may receive loans at three percent interest for up to two years to rehabilitate or improve or repair their property.

The loans are made through the local agency (City of Loudon) carrying out the program. The loans are a substantial aid to owners who must bring their property up to the present standards for decent, safe and sanitary housing. If the cost of rehabilitation exceeds available HUD financing the loan may be made only if the applicant can furnish assurance that all the work required will be completed.

Residential rehabilitation loans may be used for repairs and improvements. A loan may also include an amount for general property improvements. This amount is limited to a percentage of the required items in the loan. The borrower must own the property and must be located in the designated CD area and must be an acceptable risk. Priority in processing is given to applicants with lower incomes.

Anderson-Janeway Vows Exchanged

Arrangements of pink and white daisies, gladioli and mums atop white columns and an elaborate display of candelabras provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Brenda Kay Anderson and Stanley David Janeway on August 6 at Loudon United Methodist Church. The exchange of vows was performed by Rev. Lon N. Moneyhun.

The ceremony joined together the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milas Anderson, Daisley Avenue, Loudon, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Janeway, Monte Vista Drive, Maryville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white organza and Venice lace, featuring a V-neckline and V-back with caplet and sleeves. Daisy Venice lace appliqued the bodice, skirt and ruffled bouance, which fashioned the attached chapel train. A pink satin ribbon accented the empire waist with daisy Venice lace applique. For her headpiece, she chose a picture hat of white organza and daisy Venice lace applique. The hat featured chapel and elbow length illusions with a length illusion low at the back of the hat. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace belonging to her mother. She carried a colonial style bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, white daisies and babies'-breath with white streamers.

They carried white lace parasols with pink sweetheart roses, white daisies and babies'-breath. The flower girl wore a pink satin dress covered with pink organza and carried a white lace basket filled with pink petals.

Mike Janeway of Maryville and Wendell Tipton of Greenback served as best men. Ushers were Wayne Anderson of Loudon, and

The bride and groom's table was overlaid with a white crocheted cloth made by the groom's mother.

Owners Of 100 Year Farms Honored At Fair

The Tennessee Valley A & F Fair in Knoxville, a member of the Tennessee Association of Fairs (TAF), hosted 186 descendants of families who have continuously farmed the land in 17 counties of East Tennessee for a century or more. Eleven of these farms are located in Loudon County.

Tennessee Agriculture Commissioner Edward S. Porter awarded the 118 farms of these honorees the Family Land Heritage Century Farm Certificate of Honor at special ceremonies Wednesday at the Bicentennial Bandstand on the Chilhowee Park & TVA & 1 grounds," said George Sliger, fair manager.

I am very proud to have recognized and honored a segment of American life that is often overlooked in our urbanized and industrialized country. The certificate which I presented reads, "For a century or more of continuous ownership and operation as a family agricultural enterprise. To the dedication and perseverance of the founders and heirs of these lands, we owe the basic wealth of Tennessee." This project has afforded the nine percent of our state's population of farmers an opportunity to formulate a living history of agriculture as we trace settlement patterns, analyze the effects of machinery, electricity, transportation and specialization on farming the 58.2 percent of Tennessee To our land and its farmers we owe our future," said Commissioner Porter.

"I especially want to thank the county historians, the University of Tennessee Agricultural Extension Service, the media and particularly our farmers for supporting this program initiated by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture. Efforts are being made to compile a Family Land Heritage Directory for use in validating genealogical work and sharing our agricultural heritage. Century Farmers will receive copy of this publication upon its completion as will the State Library & Archives.

Among the people in Loudon county who have contributed to the success of this ongoing program are County Historian Edmund McQueen, Bicentennial Chairman Mrs. Earl Alexander, and The Loudon County Herald.

The Loudon County farms are as follows: Greenway Farm, established Feb. 1, 1885, in the third district, by William A. Jones. Current owners are M.C. Greenway Jr., and Joe Greenway, Rt. 3, L. Lenoir City.

Shipley Farm, established March 18, 1853, five miles northwest of Lenoir City on Hotchkiss Valley Road, founded by Alexander A. Kollock. Now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edwin Shipley of Lenoir City.

ROWLAND IN LOUDON—Democratic nominee for Congress Mike Rowland is shown with campaign manager Jim Caldwell and other local supporters.

Rowland Opens Campaign

In an unprecedented move, State Representative Mike Rowland made a two-day, 23-city tour through the second congressional district, to kick-off his Fall campaign for the United States House of Representatives.

"I'm taking my campaign to the people and directly to the doorstep of the incumbent congressman," Rowland said.

"I'm going to make the individual come out of hiding and answer to the people of East Tennessee for his poor voting record."

"John Duncan has built his reputation on constituent service. But constituent service is the very least we should expect from our representative. I will take care of individual constituent's problems, but I will do more," Rowland said.

"I want to sponsor legislation that will help the people of the second district. I don't want to see our senior citizens go hungry because they can't live on their meager social security benefits. I don't want to see the young family go hungry because neither the husband nor the wife can find a job. I want to see the time when once again the average person can afford to buy a home and a car."

Rowland said. "And I won't vote against legislation which will help you, like the income tax deduction for home mortgage interest."

"That's why I am running for congress. In the next seven weeks, the voters of the second district will see more of me than they have seen of the incumbent in the past 12 years," Rowland continued.

"We are planning the most massive congressional campaign ever seen in East Tennessee and we're going to do it with people and very little money. We're going to run hard, and we're going to run long."

The kick-off began with a turning news conference at 9 a.m. Monday in front of the Main Post Office Building in downtown Knoxville. Rowland was in Lenoir City at 9 a.m. on Tuesday and in Loudon about an hour later.

AEC Starts Annual Fund Campaign

Approaching their second year of operation the Loudoun County Adult Activity Center, Association for Exceptional Citizens, is attempting to raise $2,000, which is 15 1/2 percent of their annual budget. The remainder is funded through the state under a program known as title XX. To be eligible for the big state funding the local residents must provide the local share.

Paul Hayes, director of the center said, "This is the only agency of its kind in the state that has raised its own matching funds." She said, "When I tell people from other counties that our funds come directly from the people they can't believe it. It is something to be proud of."

Day care services given at the center include individualized training that emphasizes teaching its patrons to care for their personal needs and vocational training.

Several fund raising events are being planned. A recent rummage sale netted the Center some $1,900. Another rummage and bake sale are slated for Sept. 25 at the Colonial House basement in Loudoun City from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Donations of clothing or other salable items from individuals and organizations are needed. They may be taken to the Colonial House. An All-Sing will be at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 25, in the auditorium of Loudoun City High School. Mrs. Ronald (Barbara) Easter is chairman of this event. Entertainment will include selections by the Loudoun County Choral Society, a quartet from the Sweet Adelines of Knoxville, a woman's barber shop singing group, a country-western singer, the Hamilton Family and others. Tickets are $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door. Children under 12 will be free.

LEGION HONORS BRADSHAW—Rollen Bradshaw who served as Second District Commander of the American Legion last year received several awards recently at the 100 percent district membership in Kingsport. He is shown with a ribbon. The Jim Salbia Award for exceptional outstanding accomplishment. The National Achievement Award for outstanding membership enrollment, and a certificate of appreciation from the Second District Posts for his services as District Commander.

Thomas Farm Considered For New Middle School

(Continued from page 1) $3,000 per acre. Closing the purchase agreement is expected in the next week. The site will be used for an Eaton-Highland Park Middle School. Both middle schools will be of steel and brick construction and built on the same design and are the second part of the $4 million Phase I of the total school building program.

Plans for the $756,000 Philadelphia school, also steel and brick are ready for bid and the architects expect to open bids within the next month, Headlee said. The Greenback plans, also a $750,000 new construction and renovation project, are in Nashville for preliminary approval and should be bid in about two months. Transportation of students and the school bus contracts with the school board has been talked, re-talked and all kinds of opinions given about the number of miles for the routes. Again Thursday night the most time-consuming part of the school board meeting was on transportation. Robert Sharp, legal counsel for the State Department of Transportation, told a meeting of board members Wednesday with the school bus owners was binding, including the number of miles for the routes whether or not they are correct or not.

Planners To Meet Tonight

The Loudoun County Planning Commission and Board of Zoning Appeals will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday. The Zoning Appeals Board will consider a request by Mary Davis for permission to locate a mobile home on a lot with a commercial structure, and request by Bill Frazier for permission to locate a mobile home on a lot with a commercial structure. The Planning Commission agenda as released this week is as follows: Rezoning request, a portion of Parcel B9, Tax Map 12, R-1, to M-1. Mr. Charles Eichen. Rezoning request, Parcel 6.0, Tax Map 42, from A-1, Agriculture to R-1, Suburban Residential. J.B. Whaley. Consideration of road relocation proposal by Mr. C.T. Linn. William Crabtree, R-1, Linn. Rezoning request, Parcel 7, 3, Map 18, from A-2, Rural Residential to C-2, General Commercial. George Sargent. Consideration of acceptance of roads in the Forest Harbour Subdivision. Tom Davis. Rezoning request, parcel 2B, Map 48, from A-2, Rural Residential to C-2, General Commercial. Margie Stockebery.

Sharp said in his opinion the school board could not give the bus owners a raise, nor could the bus owners trade buses during the term of the contract which has two more years left. Likewise he said the school board could not change the routes without issuing a new contract to the bus owner and to do that both parties had to be in agreement. Board Chairman Ted Wampler again called on a committee to work with a board committee to draft a new contract. "We may need an new contract soon because of changes in routes, needs for more money by the bus owners, etc."

"It would force us into the bus ownership business if we the board drew up a contract that the bus owners would not accept," Wampler said. "It looks to me they would want to help settle a contract as early as possible." A number of problems involving bus and school early pickups, and students having to walk long distances at times from bus stops was another transportation topic. Wampler said that most of the problems in the second and fifth districts are because there are only nine of the 26 buses in those districts, but they carry more students than the other 17 put Approval of the sale of seven acres of land in the new Loudon City Industrial Park to Johnson City Chemical Company for $40,000 was given by both the Loudon County Court in their meeting Monday morning and by the City of Loudon City Monday night.

 Johnson City Chemical, formerly Agricor, is a fertilizer company. Their planned operation in Loudon City would be a blending and storage facility housed in a 120 by 350 foot building. It would employ some 25 persons with a potential of 50 if it is said.
 Other items to be worked out before the company purchase will be the land definitely makes the land purchase will be getting approval of construction of a barge terminal on the Tennessee River to bring in raw materials and an agreement from Southern Railway on the construction of a rail lead to the plant.
 County Squires at the request of Loudon County Humane Society official Mrs. Joyce Stimpson approved allowing the Society use one acre of ground at the Solid Waste Transfer Station for the construction of an animal shelter. Justice William Russell is to assist the Society in determining a suitable location for the shelter.
 The court approved entering into a joint operation of the National Guard Best Camp as a county park for about a year. The Fraternal Order of Police will be given use of the park and allowed to construct a fitting range on the property. In exchange they will maintain the property for public use and handle scheduling of the facility, Pop Lodge. President - Voyd Carruth told the court.

 A request for rezoning a parcel of agriculture land to residential for an apartment complex near Loudon that was turned down by the Planning Commission will be on the court agenda in November.
 In a split vote the Planning Commission turned down the request calling it spot zoning and inviting future pressure for providing urban services in what should remain an agriculture area.
 At the court meeting Squire Jim Blair said that the pressure for rental property in Loudon is so great that the developer, J. B. Whaley, was not asking for urban services but was planning to drill wells for water and install a package sewer system for waste disposal.
 The court asked that the request be considered at the November meeting after the required 30 day notice is published. State Planner Steve Campbell stated that the Planning Commission is expected to discuss the request at a meeting this week and may change its stand on the proposal.
 A budget amendment taking $6,000 from school surplus to pay for installing a sewer line from the pumping station to the Loudon City Sewer lines at the Vocational School was approved.
 On a 7-1 vote the court approved the sale of $2 million in rural school bonds by the county. The bonds are scheduled for sale Thursday of this week. Only Squire I. D. Conner voted against the motion.
 In other budget amendments funds were included to secure the final three rights of way for improvement to the last portion of Stockton Valley Road.

Mrs. Watkins Named Campaign Chairman

Mrs. Mavis Watkins of Loudon, has been named Chairperson of the "Breath of Life" Campaign to fight children's lung diseases, according to Mr. Al Miller, president of the Tennessee Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.
 Mrs. Watkins will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affecting by lung-damaging diseases like Cystic Fibrosis, Severe Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, Bronchiectasis and a condition called "childhood emphysema".

Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C-F. It is believed that one in twenty persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C-G gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers.

Because of improved therapy, and constant research, many C-F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood. That same kind of therapy is relieving and often curing children suffering from the other respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of C-F.

"Most people don't realize that there are six million children in the United States affected by pulmonary illness," said Mrs. Watkins. "For some of these children, breathing is not the natural function we, who are lucky, take for granted."

Appointment of Loudon County Memorial Hospital Directors by the court was delayed to allow the hospital board to complete revisions to the hospital by-laws required under the Joint Commission of Hospital Accreditation rules. Changes in the by-laws will be staggered terms for directors and the number of successive terms.

Hospital Administrator Gay Hamilton said the board should have the revisions ready for the court to act on in October along with the appointment of board members.

SURGICAL PATIENT AIDED-Mrs. Julia Williams of Loudon (left) is being presented a $100 check from the Daughters of Iris of Almas Court 157 of Alcoa, by the Court. Mrs. Williams recently underwent surgery and has been unable to work. The money was given her to help with medical and living expenses.

Loudon Defense Shows Vast Improvement

Sam Stewart Is Tackle Leader

First Quarter Fireworks Decides Loudon-Kingston Verdict As Redskins Prevail 14-7

LOUDON'S DEFENSE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT—Loudon, giving a much better account for themselves on the defensive side of the ledger last Friday night against Kingston...

The Loudon Redskins ripped long time football rival Kingston last Friday night by the score of 14-7. The close score has long become tradition of the two teams football meeting...

short act of what is believed they are capable of on a full game basis if the Loudon line can ever develop into its potential. Meanwhile the Redskins line rarely flexed their muscles in producing a running room for Loudon backs.

However it must be noted the same linemen did fill the running posts sought by the Kingston offensive backs better than the week before when Knoxville Powell came to town.

Slickouts for the game for end Sam Stewart, who led all Redskins tacklers in his best performance ever with nine individual tackles and five assists. Jim Brown was also active on nine overall stops.

Junior fullback Mark Moore ran with more authority in his second varsity offensive start with 46 yards on 14 carries and one pass reception of three yards. Freddie Starrirt remained out the Loudon ball carrying with 38 yards on nine tries with the football.

Yellow Jackets surprised Loudon on its second possession with a 37 yard touchdown bomb that had the Loudon secondary flat footed, four minutes into the game.

Kingston, who has lost but once in their last 27 football games and won back to back games and won back to back games and won back to back games.

GROUNDING YELLOW JACKET—Loudon junior linebacker Mark Moore (40) puts a hard chest tackle on this Kingston runner last Friday night in sending him to the ground.

The Loudon defense was not able to record a first down in its first two offensive series and after checking Kingston on its third series with the ball, gave the pigskin right back on a fumble off a fourth down punt.

Kingston, who moved from their own 33 to the Loudon 30 in the second quarter with 6:25 left, was intercepted by Carrier Cardwell at the Loudon four yard line.

Deathridge and Gary Brown claimed Kingston fumbles. Deathridge was the Loudon leader in overall offense. The senior field general was charged with 18 offensive snaps and had 95 yards of rushing, while passing for 35 more yards.

Junior fullback Mark Moore ran with more authority in his second varsity offensive start with 46 yards on 14 carries and one pass reception of three yards.

AP Prep Poll table with columns for CLASS AAA, CLASS AA, CLASS A, etc.

BIG INTERCEPTION—Loudon defensive back Freddie Starrirt goes high to intercept this first half Kingston pass and return it 31 yards to the Yellow Jacket 42.

Presented with their best field position of the game thus far, Loudon took over at the Kingston 42. Seven players in the Redskins were in the Kingston end zone as Greg Deathridge plunged for a one yard score.

The equaling TD was set up by a clutch pass reception and run of 46 yards by sophomore tight end Ben Fries to the Roane Mustangs' one yard marker. Freddie Starrirt contributed 16 yards of rushing on the 42 yard march, with a couple of carries.

Kingston could not get past the first down as Loudon's Freddie Starrirt intercepted a long pass and returned it 31 yards to the Kingston 29 with 1:26 left in the first half.

Loudon was checked in the tie to the score as time to go. Loudon got the second half kick off at their own 40 as the Redskins lined up.

Redskins Out To Even Grid Series With Lenoir City As Rivals Meet For 48th Time

The 48th meeting between Loudon and Lenoir City High School football teams will be Friday night. In the past 47 meetings Lenoir City has the edge, 24 to 23, in the series.

Loudon has won the previous three meetings and the last 10 to gain the momentum in the series that dates back to 1928. Should the Redskins win this week, as they are favored to do so it would be the first time the series has ever been deadlocked.

The game is expected to be a real helmet buster with Lenoir City visiting the Loudon Panthers with a new offensive formation. Not only will the Panthers feature a T-formation, but will run misdirection plays from Notre Dame Box or variation of the single wing. Also the Panthers have been experimenting with an unbalanced line.

Loudon will resort to its veer offense, the same offense that has produced yardage but one defeat in 27 games and has brought the Redskins three Class AA State Championships since 1969.

Both head football coaches, Loudon's Bert Ratledge and Lenoir City's Scott Conner had similar things to say in reviewing the upcoming game.

Coach Ratledge said after viewing the L.C. film that the Panthers appeared to give the Blue Devils a fit with their execution from the unbalanced line. "The Lenoir City team seems to have mastered the new offense they use very well."

Coach Conner noted that Loudon was sound and ap- Kingstons game despite the one touchdown difference. "They more quality players, but I just hope we have a greater determination," spoke Coach Conner. "I feel both teams will show emotional preparation for they are such great rivals."

Loudon will be minus only a couple of its players, who are regular performers on both offense and defense for the Redskins in their first two games, went down with a knee injury following a 16 yard pass reception to sit up Loudon's first touchdown night. Fields will undergo surgery this Thursday and is not expected to be back before spring practice.

Lenoir City will miss only the injured Keith Amos. The junior linebacker and standout placement kicker has a bad knee bruise.

This game will be Wait Thaxton, Lenoir City's leading ball carrier against Harriman was credited with much of Thaxton's yardage with a standout blocking performance.

Game time is set for an 8 p.m. kick-off. Loudon's marching band will sport new uniforms, having performed in blue jeans and red tie shirts in the first two Redskins home games.

Greenback meanwhile will attempt to regroup from its first loss of the season with a 7:30 p.m. clash with Friendsville on the Falcons home field.

Lenoir City will miss only the injured Keith Amos. The junior linebacker and standout placement kicker has a bad knee bruise.

HOLE IN ONE WINNERS. Winners in the Loudon Rotary Club Hole In One Golf Tournament last weekend are shown receiving their prizes from Tournament Director Gordo Watson. Bert Ratledge won $50 for a hole in one and also $25 for Larry Cate, fifth, and Eddie Ambrun, seventh. Other winners were not present at the end of the tournament.

Bert Ratledge Swaps Roles, From Grid Master To Golf Pro

He said there was no luck in it, just skill in knocking in the only hole-in-one during the two day Loudon Rotary Club's Hole-In-One Golf Tournament. Who is he? No other than Loudon High School Football Coach Bert Ratledge. The shot was described by Watson as a three dribbler that hit the flag and fell in.

Ratledge not only won the $50 first place cash prize provided by Curtis-Tipton Motor Company, but claimed the $25 cash prize pot up by the Rotary Club for second place with a shot 164 inches from the cup. About 170 persons tried their luck, uh, skill, during the two days hitting the little white ball at the flag some 75 yards away.

Third place, 28 inches from the hole was Andy Hill, who won a $20 savings account from the Bank of Loudon County.

Fourth was the extremely lucky Luke Bright who rolled one the length of the course to cup. Just kidding, Luke hit a good shot, he said.

Fifth place, six pair of socks from the Charles H. Bacon Company, was taken by Larry Cate, who closed his eyes and sliced one 33 inches from the hole.

Kingston Stings Loudon Freshmen Gridders In Overtime

The Loudon Freshman football team, coached by Jerry Foster and Bill Thompson, opened up their season play last Monday night at Kingston. The young Redskins frosh were the victims of a 30-14 overtime defeat.

Kingston took the opening kick-off and drove 67 yards in nine plays for an early 8-0 lead. Loudon tried to answer back with a very impressive march of 60 yards in 17 plays of their own, but was unable to cross the Kingston double stripe as the offense was halted at the Kingston 16.

Kingston mounted a drive that carried the ball back to Loudon territory that ended at the Redskins 19 on downs. Neither team could generate an offensive thrust before the half following the extended drives.

The third period was a defensive stale mate with Loudon not able to pass the mid-field stripe, and losing one fumble. Kingston had the ball for the longest time of possession in the quarter but was only able to cross a few yards into Loudon territory, driving from their own 27.

The Redskins, with a standout offensive blocking performance from its line and determined running by John Cardwell, Ronnie Tallent, Richard Sampson, Jeff Iddis, and finally a 40 yard scamper by Billy Halcomb lifted Loudon to a touchdown with 6:01 to play. Halcomb's run topped a nine play, 90 yard drive, that also had 20 yards in penalties to overcome.

Loudon fired up, regained possession of the football with a fourth down stand at mid-field with time running out. The Redskins then moved the chains on a 21 yard pass completion to end Kerry Braunhofer, runs by Iddis and Cardwell tacked on an offside and Cardwell then darted for 12 yards and the go ahead touchdown with 1:13 left in the game. Jeff Iddis bulldozed over from three yards out for the two point conversion and Loudon needed only to play conservative defense to protect their 16-0 score.

Less than 13 seconds remained when Kingston attempted to unload a desperation pass. Both Loudon defenders in a double coverage of the pass fell down and the pass was completed for a 23 yard touchdown and a score, 16-14.

The extra point was no good. Kingston received the ball in overtime and was limited to one yard on first down. Second down produced a fumble, but the ball bounced down to the one yard line and was recovered for an eight yard gain.

Jackets crashed into the end zone on the next play for a 20-13 edge. The extra point try was no good.

Loudon was stopped short of the goal line, making it to the three before running out of downs to suffer the defeat.

OPTION RUN—Loudon freshman quarterback John Cardwell (13) option to run the ball appears to be for only a short gain as a Kingston defender closes in. Outside receiver for a possible pitch is Loudon back Jeff Iddis.

Loudon Punt, Pass And Kick Contest Held

The annual Punt, Pass, and Kick contest sponsored nationally by the Ford Motor Company and conducted on district, zone, and regional levels before the national finalists are advanced was held in Loudon this past Saturday for the local youth ages 8-13.

Mr. Ron Johnson and Mr. Charles Jones conducted the Loudon (district) contest, sponsored here by Curtis-Tipton Ford.

The winners of each district advance to zone contests. This area's zone meeting is set for Sept. 25th at Alcoa. Top individuals representing the Loudon youth are Eddie Clark (age 13), David Waits (age 12), Mike Davis (age 11), Archie Cosner (age 10), Paul Hart (age nine), and Chuckie Hughes (age 8).

Eddie Clark had the best overall effort with 247 points, his best effort being a 111 on the punt. His closest rival in the 13 year old class was David Grimes with 137 total points. Greg Hensley was third in the 13 year olds.

David Waits won by nine points over Charlie Hooker in the 12 year old group. Randy Lettgo placed third.

Mike Davis had 190.5 score beat Bruce Schrimsher in the 11 year olds. Handy Campbell barely edged out Clayton Stamey in the same age bracket by a single point for third place.

Archie Cosner was an easy winner in the 10 year old division, over doubling the score on runner-up Mark Giles.

It was Paul Hart, Tommy Giles, and Paul Stevens respectively in trophy awards for the nine year olds.

The eight year old class featured a first of firsts. A girl, Jim Stevens, entered the competition and placed second to Chuckie Hughes.

Chuckie took the top eight year old award with 67.5 points while Miss Stevens, the first girl to ever enter that age group.

yard pass carried the ball over the double stripe and a 26-0 score.

The try for a two point conversion was halted short of the goal line despite completing a pass for two yards.

Greenback managed just one play following the fourth quarter scoring fireworks by the Eagles as time ran out.

Greenback, whose offense was not at its potential peak for such a game of Football Conference rivals, got just 16 yards rushing from quarterback Roddy Kizer on 16 carries. Danny Dotson made 96 yards on seven tries.

Mitch Smith added 13 yards on three runs.

Passing, Lynn Rucker caught two for 29 yards. Glenn Guillen also had a pair of grabs for 20 yards.

On defense it was Steve Linginfelter with eight individual tackles and four assists for the Cherokeees joined by Jeff Crisp who was in on 10 stops, twice making

Investigation Continues Into Labor Day Boating Death

A boating accident that took the life of a 23 year old Lenoir City man during the Labor Day Weekend when a large cruiser allegedly caused a sinking severe enough to tip over the 12 foot fishing boat, the victim and two other men were killed, has prompted a number of questions of boating laws and liability from such accidents.

The Boating and Water Safety booklet of the Tennessee Wildlife Agency says: "All motorboats being operated within 300 feet of a slow, no wake speed. No person shall operate any motor vessel, or surfboard or similar device in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger life, limb, or property of any person."

Federal regulations which can be enforced on the local lakes by the United States Coast Guard are stronger. The Coast Guard Boat Safety Act of 1971 has this to say on the matter:

"No person may use a vessel in a negligent manner so as to endanger the life, limb, or property of any person. Violations involving use which is grossly negligent subject the violator of fines of not more than $1,000 for each motorboat, or fine, or both."

Flex Collier of the Tennessee Wildlife Agency said this week that a full investigation is being made into the accident and one boat has been located and identified as suspect in the matter. Collier stated he is going to discuss the investigation with the Attorney General's office.

Officer Collier said it could be well that the cruiser was not being operated in a negligent manner, he did not know, but the operator of the cruiser is responsible for his wake and possibly be liable in a civil action. He said his investigation is attempting to get the authorities to make the decision if it would be up to other authorities to make the decision if it was negligent, or just responsibility because of normal wake caused by a boat.

United States Coast Guard Petty Officer First Class Don Curlin said his agency had not been requested to enter into the investigation, but confirmed the laws governing operation of boats so that they would not cause damage to objects or endanger life or limb of people in or on the waterways.

William S. Powell, a United Airlines pilot, and boat owner, who said he is concerned with boating safety, said the accident should serve as tragic example of the dangers in boating.

"There is insufficient enforcement of laws and regulations on the water," he said. "The manpower and equipment available from the Wildlife Resources Agency and Coast Guard are very limited and the local Sheriff's Department has no authority at all to patrol the water."

Powell said: "One or two men and one boat just cannot give the type of enforcement of laws that keep boat owners aware of their responsibility," he said.

Petty Officer Curlin said the local Coast Guard Unit has four men and one boat to patrol 11 lakes in the area.

The Wildlife Agency staff in Loudon County consists of two men, one assigned directly to Loudon County, and one boat. They have duties across the entire scope of wildlife sports and water safety, leaving only a limited time to patrol the water.

Curlin said his unit is attempting to control traffic on Fort Loudon following 175 football games where large numbers of cruisers, houseboats and other vessels, large and small have caused considerable damage in the past.

A patrol boat belonging to the Boone County Sheriff's office was used after the drowning incident to attempt to locate the boat that caused the accident. Sheriff Guy Russell said if Loudon County had such equipment it may have been some assistance in locating the boat. He stated that the active investigation by his department in the matter is continuing along with that of the Wildlife Resources Agency.

KICK-OFF RETURN—Greenback's Mitch Smith (41) is seen cutting into the middle of the Lanier team as he attempts to find an opening on a kick off return last Friday night. Other Cherokee players in on the return are Chris Blair (20) and Lynn Rucker (34).
